PREFACE TO THE 1891 STATUTES.

In efforts towards the reduction of statute law to a symmetrical and convenient form, three stages may be noted, viz., compilation, consolidation, and revision. To the second, only, of these does the present work aspire. Its editor is not clothed with the powers of a reviser, and he has not attempted to prepare a revision of the statutes, however desirable such an achievement may be.

Nevertheless, it has been sought to make this more than a mere compilation in which laws should be arranged according to a chronological or other mechanical plan, or no plan at all, or in which the system of arrangement employed by some pioneer codifier should be followed with slavish exactness. The design of this work is that of a consolidation of existing laws, and accordingly great pains have been taken to group all analogous acts under titles at once the most comprehensive and appropriate, so that the investigator, in any subject upon which the legislature has spoken, may be able to consult in one place all its kindred enactments which are now in force. This is one of the distinctive aims of the work; how far it has been accomplished is for its patrons to determine.

As to the ground plan of a work of this nature, such as the naming and insertion of chapters, two systems are now in vogue. The more modern of these, which may be termed the analytical, is that formulated by Dr. Thomas Erskine Holland in his treatise on Jurisprudence; adopted by Mr. F. J. Stimson in his exhaustive work on American Statute Law; and first, to my knowledge, employed in an edition of statutes by Emlin McLain, whose Annotated Code of Iowa has thus become a model of systematic arrangement and precise legal nomenclature. By this system the entire body of the law is classified upon a scientific basis, and each act and chapter is distributed according to its subject-matter.

The other system, the alphabetical, is the one most commonly employed by codifiers. Under it, the chapters are arranged and inserted in the order of the first letters of their titles. While the first named system is unquestionably the more logical, it has not been deemed wise to make too radical a change from the plan so long in use in this state. The external features of the alphabetical system are therefore retained, but, as stated above, care has been taken to make the titles of the chapters sufficiently comprehensive to include the whole law of the subject, and thus to avoid that severing and scattering of kindred subjects, which is one of the most serious defects of the old plan. The analytical system has been thus dwelt upon, in order to call attention to a plan of arrangement whose merits will hardly fail of appreciation the more they are studied.

The theory of the chapter, according to this work, is that of a group of acts; and it has been the aim to reproduce each act as nearly as possible as in the original.

The title is inserted in the text, and only those portions are omitted which are local or obsolete. The plan in distributing the different acts throughout a chapter is to group, first, those whose provisions are general; second, the more specific; and lastly, those of a miscellaneous character. For economy of space, as well as for convenience, the original session laws are referred to by the year and page only. For enactments prior to 1866, the revision of that year is cited, as the legislature has made it the best evidence of what the law of that period is; and has declared it to be the standard in case of discrepancies between it and the sessional volume. (R. S. 1866, p. 683, sec. 2; Laws 1867 (Ter.), p. 7.) The titles and sub-headings of the Codes are printed as in the original.

I have employed the "interior catch word system" in every instance where it was at all available, because (1) it adds nothing to the section which is not a part of the law; (2) it is a saving of space; and (3) it is believed by giving prominence to appropriate words distributed through the section a much better idea of its contents can be conveyed, than by the old bracketed initial word system, and especially would this advantage be seen in the long sections. As this system was new to my assistants, as well as to myself, we may not always have been judicious in our selection of words to be made prominent by the black letters, but this does not militate against the general merits of what I believe will be the system of the future.

The consecutive numbering of sections has been adopted as that used in the best statute compilations of to-day. The original code numbers have also been retained where those sections have not been repealed.

In the annotations the aim has been to give in a few words the gist of the decision as it affects the particular statute under consideration, remembering that an annotated statute is not intended to take the place of a digest, and in grouping the several annotations under one section, to place the more specific first, and those which merely refer to the section in a general way last. To meet the general demand of the profession outside of the large towns, I have referred to the Northwestern Reporter as well as to the state reports: with this double citation the title of the case is not necessary, it has therefore been omitted. The volume of the state report is printed in black letter or antique type to distinguish it from the page of the report which immediately follows it.

In indexing I have referred to section numbers.

I am indebted to Charles S. Lobingier, Esq., known to the bar as a contributor to the American & English Encyclopædia of law, and as the assistant reporter of the supreme court, whose work and suggestions in all of its branches, but especially in the matter of arrangment, have been very valuable. In preparing the annotations I was also assisted by L. M. Pemberton, Esq., S. D. Killen, Esq., and R. W. Sabin, Esq., of the Beatrice bar, and T. D. Cobbey, Esq., now of the Denver bar, and to their thorough and painstaking labor much of the excellence of this branch of the work is due.

It has been generally understood that where the legislature passed laws without an emergency clause they took effect, under our present constitution, three months from the day on which the legislature adjourned; and as the supreme court had never passed upon that section I followed the generally accepted rule in stating when each act took effect. After much of the manuscript for this work was prepared the attorney general, at the request of the secretary of state, gave an opinion construing that section so far as it applied to the laws passed by the last legislature. Under that opinion, which is law until the supreme court speaks, the laws of the last legislature take effect August 1 instead of July 4, and I have so marked them. But in the absence of an opinion by the supreme court I have not given this opinion a wider application, though there is no reason why it should not apply to all laws passed, under our present constitution, without an emergency clause. Following is the opinion referred to, furnished me by the attorney general for publication at my request:

OFFICE OF ATTORNEY GENERAL,
LINCOLN, NEB., April 30, 1891.

Hon. John C. Allen, Secretary of State.

DEAR SIR: Your favor bearing date April 29, 1891, has been received by me, and the same has been placed on file in this office. I note that you desire an opinion as to the date the laws passed by the 22d Legislative Assembly go into effect. I have the honor to reply as follows:

The constitution of the state of Nebraska provides that "No act shall take effect until three calendar months after the adjournment of the session at which it passed, unless in case of emergency (to be expressed in the preamble or body of the act) the legislature shall, by a vote of two-thirds of all members elected to each house, otherwise direct." (See section 24, art. 3, Const. of Nebraska.)

The word "calendar" means a recorded division of time into periods; a register of the year; an almanac. The word "month" means the twelfth part of the calendar year. A calendar month is a solar month as it stands in the almanac. I take it, the constitution makers did not desire the laws to take effect in ninety days, or they would have so stated. They in their wisdom elected the time to be three calendar months. This in my judgment precludes us from considering any part or parts of calendar months. The laws take effect at the expiration of three full calendar months. The legislature adjourned April 4.

I have examined this question with much care, and find no authority which will justify you in doing other than excluding the part of the calendar month known as April. The laws passed by the 22d Legislative Assembly, without an emergency clause, do not take effect until August 1, 1891.

I remain, your most obedient servant,

GEO. H. HASTINGS,
Attorney General.

Before entering actively upon this undertaking, I sent out a large number of postals, asking for suggestions from attorneys and others versed in such matters, as to the questions liable to arise in its preparation. I was gratified by the large number of responses, and the valuable suggestions made. As my powers were only those of a compiler, and not of a reviser, many of the changes suggested could not be made. The numerous repetitions and other errors which creep into a statute with successive legislative enactments, and the vast body of laws (demanded by the growth of the state) enacted since the revision of 1866, impresses upon me the necessity of a thorough and speedy revision of our laws by act of the legislature. I give a translation of the original magna charta, which Green in his History of the English People says: "Marks the transition from the age of traditional rights preserved in memory to the age of written legislation, parliaments, and statutes, and which is looked back to from age to age by patriots as the basis of English liberty." But on account of lack of space it was impossible to include much preliminary matter asked for that might properly find place in such a work.

In conclusion, I desire to again express my thanks to the many hundred friends for valuable suggestions made, and if this work shall prove to be a step in advance toward a perfect statutory compilation, my corps of assistants, as well as myself, will feel that our labors have not been in vain.

Beatrice, Nebraska, December 20, 1891.

PREFACE TO 1893 EDITION.

In preparing this edition I have made many improvements which I think will be appreciated by the users of statutes. The titles of cases referred to have been inserted, thus giving additional safeguard against error. The decisions in United States supreme and lower courts construing our statutes now in force have been cited. The United States statutes on naturalization, and the election of United States senators, have been added to the preliminary matter. Many cross-section references have been inserted. The index has been made anew; and, in addition, a numerical or sectional index has been inserted, showing the corresponding section number in this compilation for each section of the Revised Statutes and subsequent Session Laws now in force, and when and where amended; also a like index comparing this compilation with the Compiled Statutes.

While it is not expected that the sales will compensate for the expense of these improvements, it is hoped that the users of statutes will see in these improvements a step towards the model statute, which it is the ambition of the compiler to prepare at no distant day.

In citing this statute it is only necessary to give the number of the section, as that remains the same through all editions.

MAGNA CARTA.

THE GREAT CHARTER OF LIBERTIES OF KING JOHN.

Granted at Runnymede, June 15, A.D. 1215, in the Seventeenth Year of His Reign.

John, by the grace of God King of England, Lord of Ireland, DUKE OF NORMANDY, Aquitaine, and Count of Anjou, to his Archbishops, Bishops, Abbots, Earls, Barons, Justiciaries, Foresters, Sheriffs, Governors, Officers, and to all Bailiffs, and his lieges, greeting. Know ye, that we, in the presence of God, and for the salvation of our soul, and the souls of all our ancestors and heirs, and unto the honour of God and the advancment of Holy Church, and amendment of our Realm, by advice of our venerable Fathers, STEPHEN, Archbishop of Canterbury, Primate of all England and Cardinal of the Holy Roman Church, HENRY, Archbishop of Dublin, WILLIAM of London, PETER of Winchester, JOCELIN of Bath and Glastonbury, HUGH of Lincoln, WALTER of Worcester, WILLIAM of Coventry, BENEDICT of Rochester, Bishops; of Master PANDULPH, Sub-Deacon and Familiar of our Lord the Pope, Brother AYMERIC, Master of the Knights-Templars in England; and of the Noble Persons, WILLIAM MARESCALL, Earl of Pembroke, WILLIAM, Earl of Salisbury, WILLIAM, Earl of Warren, WILLIAM, Earl of Arundel, ALAN DE GALLOWAY, Constable of Scotland, WARIN FITZ GERALD, PETER FITZ HERBERT, and HUBERT DE BURGH, Seneschal of Poitou, HUGH DE NEVILLE, MATTHEW FITZ HERBERT, THOMAS BASSET, ALAN BASSET, PHILIP OF ALBINEY, ROBERT DE ROPPELL, JOHN MARESCHAL, JOHN FITZ HUGH, and others our liegemen, have, in the first place, granted to God, and by this our present Charter confirmed, for us and our heir for ever:

1. That the Church of England shall be free, and have her whole rights, and her liberties inviolable; and we will have them so observed, that it may appear thence, that the freedom of elections, which is reckoned chief and indispensable to the English Church, and which we granted and confirmed by our Charter, and obtained the confirmation of the same from our Lord the Pope Innocent III., before the discord between us and our barons, was granted of mere free will; which charter we shall observe, and we will do it to be faithfully observed by our heirs for ever.

2. We also have granted to all the freemen of our kingdom, for us and for our heirs for ever, all the underwritten liberties, to be had and holden by them and their heirs, of us and our heirs for ever: If any of our earls, or barons, or others, who hold of us in chief by military service, shall die, and at the time of his death his heir shall be of full age, and owes a relief, he shall have his inheritance by the ancient relief; that is to say, the heir or heirs of an earl, for a whole earldom, by a hundred pounds; the heir or heirs of a baron, for a whole barony, by a hundred pounds; the heir or heirs of a knight, for a whole knight's fee, by a hundred shillings at most; and whoever oweth less shall give less, according to the ancient custom of fees.

Text here followed is Prof Creasy's translation, Eng. Const., p. 120.

3. But if the heir of any such shall be under age, and shall be in ward when he comes of age, he shall have his inheritance without relief and without fine.

4. The keeper of the land of such an heir being under age, shall take of the land of the heir none but reasonable issues, reasonable customs, and reasonable services, and that without destruction and waste of his men and his goods; and if we commit the custody of any such lands to the sheriff, or any other who is answerable to us for the issues of the land, and he shall make destruction and waste of the lands which he hath in custody, we will take of him amends, and the land shall be committed to two lawful and discreet men of that fee, who shall answer for the issues to us, or to him to whom we shall assign them; and if we sell or give to anyone the custody of any such lands, and he therein make destruction or waste, he shall lose the same custody, which shall be committed to two lawful and discreet men of that fee, who shall in like manner answer to us as aforesaid.

5. But the keeper, so long as he shall have custody of the land, shall keep up the houses, parks, warrens, ponds, mills, and other things pertaining to the land, out of the issues of the same land; and shall deliver to the heir, when he comes of full age, his whole land, stocked with ploughs and carriages, according as the time of wainage shall require, and the issues of the land can reasonably bear.

6. Heirs shall be married without disparagement, and so that before matrimony shall be contracted those who are near in blood to the heir shall have notice.

7. A widow, after the death of her husband, shall forthwith and without difficulty have her marriage and inheritance; nor shall she give anything for her dower, or her marriage, or her inheritance, which her husband and she held at the day of his death; and she may remain in the mansion house of her husband forty days after his death, within which term her dower shall be assigned.

8. No widow shall be distrained to marry herself, so long as she has a mind to live without a husband; but yet she shall give security that she will not marry without our assent, if she holds of us; or without the consent of the lord of whom she holds, if she holds of another.

9. Neither we nor our bailiffs shall seize any land or rent for any debt, so long as the chattels of the debtor are sufficient to pay the debt; nor shall the securities of the debtor be distrained so long as the principal debtor is sufficient for the payment of the debt; and if the principal debtor shall fail in the payment of the debt, not having wherewithal to pay it, then the sureties shall answer the debt; and if they will they shall have the lands and rents of the debtor, until they shall be satisfied for the debt which they paid for him, unless the principal debtor can show himself acquitted thereof against the said sureties.

10. If any one have borrowed anything of the Jews, more or less, and die before the debt be satisfied, there shall be no interest paid for that debt, so long as the heir is under age, of whomsoever he may hold; and if the debt fall into our hands we will only take the chattel mentioned in the deed.

11. And if anyone shall die indebted to the Jews, his wife shall have her dower and pay nothing of that debt; and if the deceased left children under age, they shall have necessaries provided for them, according to the tenement of the deceased; and out of the residue of the debt shall be paid, saving however the service due to the lords; and in like manner shall it be done touching debts due to others than the Jews.

12. No scutage or aid shall be imposed in our kingdom, unless by the general council of our kingdom; except for ransoming our person, making our eldest son a knight, and once for marrying our eldest daughter; and for these there shall be paid a reasonable aid. In like manner it shall be concerning the aids of the City of London.

13. And the City of London shall have all its ancient liberties and free customs, as well by land as by water; furthermore we will and grant, that all other cities and boroughs, and towns and ports, shall have all their liberties and free customs.

14. And for holding the general council of the kingdom concerning the assessment of aids, except in the three cases aforesaid, and for the assessing of scutages, we shall cause to be summoned the archbishops, bishops, abbots, earls and greater barons of the realm, singly by our letters. And furthermore we shall cause to be summoned generally by our sheriffs and bailiffs, all others who hold of us in chief, for a certain day, that is to say, forty days before their meeting at least, and to a certain place; and in all letters of such summons we will declare the cause of such summons. And summons being thus made, the business of the day shall proceed on the day appointed, according to the advice of such as shall be present, although all that were summoned come not.

15. We will not for the future grant to any one that he may take aid of his own free tenants, unless to ransom his body, and to make his eldest son a knight, and once to marry his eldest daughter; and for this there shall be only paid a reasonable aid.

16. No man shall be distrained to perform more service for a knight's fee, or other free tenement, than is due from thence.

17. Common pleas shall not follow our court, but shall be holden in some place certain.

18. Assizes of novel disseisen, and of mort d'ancestor, and of darrien presentment, shall not be taken but in their proper counties, and after this manner: We, or, if we should be out of the realm, our chief justiciary, shall send two justiciaries through every county four times a year, who, with four knights, chosen out of every shire by the people, shall hold the said assizes, in the county, on the day, and at the place appointed.

19. And if any matters cannot be determined on the day appointed for holding the assizes in each county, so many of the knights and freeholders as have been at the assizes aforesaid, shall stay to decide them, as is necessary, according as there is more or less business.

20. A freeman shall not be amerced for a small fault, but after the manner of the fault; and for a great crime according to the heinousness of it, saving to him his contenement; and after the same manner a merchant, saving to him his merchandise, and a villein shall be amerced after the same manner, saving to him his wainage, if he falls under our mercy; and none of the aforesaid amerciaments shall be assessed but by the oath of honest men in the neighborhood.

21. Earls and barons shall not be amerced, but by their peers, and after the degree of the offence

22. No ecclesiastical person shall be amerced for his lay tenement, but according to the proportion of others aforesaid, and not according to the value of his ecclesiastical benefice.

23. Neither a town nor any tenant shall be distrained to make bridges or banks, unless that anciently and of right they are bound to do it.

24. No sheriff, constable, coroner, or other our bailiffs, shall hold pleas of the Crown.

25. All counties, hundreds, wapentakes, and tythings, shall stand at the old rents, without any increase, except in our demesne manors.

26. If any one holding of us a lay-fee die, and the sheriff, or our bailiffs, show our letters patent, of summons for debt which the dead man did owe to us, it shall be lawful for the sheriff or our bailiff to attach and inroll the chattels of the dead, found upon his lay-fee, to the value of the debt, by the view of lawful men, so as nothing be removed until our whole clear debt be paid; and the rest shall be left to the executors to fulfill the testament of the dead, and if there be nothing due from him to us, all the chattels shall go to the use of the dead, saving to his wife and children their reasonable shares.

27. If any freeman shall die intestate, his chattels shall be distributed by the hands of his nearest relations and friends, by view of the church; saving to every one his debts which the deceased owed to him.

28. No constable or bailiff of ours shall take corn or other chattels of any man, unless he presently give him money for it, or hath respite of payment by the good will of the seller.

29. No constable shall distrain any knight to give money for castle guard, if he himself will do it in his person, or by another able man in case he cannot do it through any reasonable cause. And if we lead him, or send him in an army, he shall be free from such guard for the time he shall be in the army by our command.

30. No sheriff or bailiff of ours, or any other, shall take horses or carts of any freeman for carriage, but by the good-will of the said freeman.

31. Neither shall we nor our bailiffs take any man's timber for our castles or other uses, unless by the consent of the owner of the timber.

32. We shall retain the lands of those convicted of felony only one year and a day, and then they shall be delivered to the lord of the fee.

33. All wears for the time to come shall be put down in the rivers of Thames and Medway, and throughout all England, except upon the sea coast.

34. The writ which is called præcipe, for the future, shall not be made out to anyone, of any tenement, whereby a freeman may lose his court.

35. There shall be one measure of wine and one of ale through our whole realm; and one measure of corn, that is to say, the London quarter; and one breadth of dyed cloth, and russets, and haberjeets, that is to say, two ells within the lists; and it shall be of weights as it is of measures.

36. Nothing from henceforth shall be given or taken for a writ of inquisition of life or limb, but it shall be granted freely, and not denied.

37. If any do hold of us by fee-farm, or by socage, or by burgage, and he holds also lands of any other by knight's service, we will not have the custody of the heir or land, which is holden of another man's fee by reason of that fee-farm, socage, or burgage; neither will we have the custody of such fee-farm, socage, or burgage, except knight's service was due to us out of the same fee-farm. We will not have the custody of an heir, nor of any land which he holds of another by knight's service, by reason of any petty serjeanty that holds of us, by the service of paying a knife, an arrow, or the like.

38. No bailiff from henceforth shall put any man to his law upon his own bare saying, without credible witness to prove it.

39. No freeman shall be taken or imprisoned or disseised, or outlawed, or banished, or any ways destroyed, nor will we pass upon him, nor will we send upon him, unless by the lawful judgment of his peers, or by the law of the land.

40. We will sell to no man, we will not deny to any man, either justice or right.

41. All merchants shall have safe and secure conduct, to go out of, and to come into England, and to stay there, and to pass as well by land as by water, for buying and selling by the ancient and allowed customs, without any evil tolls; except in time of war, or when they are of any nation at war with us. And if there be found any such in our land, in the beginning of the war, they shall be attached, without damage to their bodies or goods, until it be known unto us or our chief justiciary, how our merchants be treated in the nation at war with us; and if ours be safe there, the others shall be safe in our dominions.

42. It shall be lawful, for the time to come, for anyone to go out of our kingdom and return safe and securely, by land or by water, saving his allegiance to us; unless in time of war, by some short space, for the common benefit of the realm, except prisoners and outlaws, according to the law of the land, and people in war with us, and merchants who shall be in such condition as is above mentioned.

43. If any man hold of any escheat, as of the honour of Wallingford, Nottingham, Boulogne, Lancaster, or of other escheats which be in our hands, and are baronies, and die, his heir shall give no other relief, and perform no other service to us, than he would to the baron, if it were in the baron's hand; we will hold it after the same manner as the baron held it.

44. Those men who dwelt without the forest, from henceforth shall not come before our justiciaries of the forest, upon common summons, but such as are impleaded or are pledges for any that are attached for something concerning the forest.

45. We will not make any justices, constables, sheriffs, or bailiffs, but of such as know the law of the realm and mean duly to observe it.

46. All barons who have founded abbeys and have the kings of England's charters of advowson, or the ancient tenure thereof, shall have the keeping of them, when vacant, as they ought to have.

47. All forests that have been made forests in our time, shall forthwith be disforested; and the same shall be done with the banks that have been fenced in by us in our time.

48. All evil customs concerning forests, warrens, foresters and warreners, sheriffs, and their officers, rivers and their keepers, shall forthwith be inquired into in each county, by twelve sworn knights of the same shire, chosen by creditable persons of the same county; and within forty days after the said inquest, be utterly abolished, so as never to be restored; so as we are first acquainted therewith, or our justiciary, if we should not be in England.

49. We will immediately give up all hostages and writings delivered unto us by our English subjects, as securities for their keeping the peace, and yielding us faithful service.

50. We will entirely remove from our bailiwicks the relations of Gerard de Atheyes, so that for the future they shall have no bailiwicks in England; we will also remove Engelard de Cygony, Andrew, Peter, and Gyon, from the Chancery; Gyon de Cygony, Geoffrey de Martyn and his brothers; Philip Mark, and his brothers, and his nephew, Geoffrey, and their whole retinue.

51. As soon as peace is restored, we will send out of the kingdom all foreign soldiers, cross-bowmen, and stipendiaries, who are come with horses and arms to the prejudice of our people.

52. If anyone has been dispossessed or deprived by us without the legal judgment of his peers, of his lands, castles, liberties, or right, we will forthwith restore them to him; and if any dispute arise upon this head, let the matter be decided by the five-and-twenty barons hereafter mentioned, for the preservation of the peace. As for all those things of which any person has, without the legal judgment of his peers, been dispossessed or deprived, either by King Henry our father, or our brother King Richard, and which we have in our hands, or are possessed by others, and we are bound to warrant and make good, we shall have a respite till the term usually allowed the crusaders; excepting those things about which there is a plea depending, or whereof an inquest hath been made, by our order, before we undertook the crusade, but when we return from our pilgrimage, or if perchance we tarry at home and do not make our pilgrimage, we will immediately cause full justice to be administered therein.

53. The same respite we shall have (and in the same manner about administering justice, disafforesting the forests or letting them continue) for disafforesting the forests which Henry our father, and our brother Richard have afforested; and for the keeping of the lands which are in another's fee, in the same manner as we have hitherto enjoyed those wardships, by reason of a fee held of us by knight's service; and for the abbeys founded in any other fee than our own, in which the lord of the fee says he has a right: and when we return from our pilgrimage, or if we tarry at home, and do not make our pilgrimage, we will immediately do full justice to all the complainants in this behalf.

54. No man shall be taken or imprisoned upon the appeal of a woman, for the death of any other than her husband.

55. All unjust and illegal fines made by us, and all amerciaments imposed unjustly and contrary to the law of the land, shall be entirely given up, or else be left to the decision of the five-and-twenty barons hereafter mentioned for the preservation of the peace, or of the major part of them, together with the aforesaid Stephen, archbishop of Canterbury, if he can be present, and others whom he shall think fit to take along with him; and if he cannot be present, the business shall notwithstanding go on without him; but so that if one or more of the aforesaid five-and-twenty barons be plaintiffs in the same cause, they shall be set aside as to what concerns this particular affair, and others chosen in their room, out of the said five-and-twenty, and sworn by the rest to decide the matter.

56. If we have disseised or dispossessed the Welsh, of any lands, liberties, or other things, without the legal judgment of their peers, either in England or in Wales, they shall be immediately restored to them; and if any dispute arise upon this head, the matter shall be determined in the marche by the judgment of their peers; for tenements in England according to the law of England, for tenements in Wales according to the law in Wales, for tenements of the marche according to the law of the marche; the same shall the Welsh do to us and our subjects.

57. As for all those things of which a Welshman hath, without the legal judgment of his peers, been disseised or deprived of by King Henry our father, or our brother King Richard, and which we either have in our hands, or others are possessed of, and we are obliged to warrant it, we shall have a respite till the time generally allowed the crusaders; excepting those things about which a suit is depending, or whereof an inquest has been made by our order, before we undertook the crusade; but when we return, or if we stay at home without performing our pilgrimage, we will immediately do them full justice according to the laws of the Welsh and of the parts before mentioned.

58. We will without delay dismiss the son of Llewellyn, and all the Welsh hostages, and release them from the engagements they have entered into with us for the preservation of the peace.

59. We will treat with Alexander, King of Scots, concerning the restoring his sisters and hostages, and his rights and liberties, in the same form and manner as we shall do to the rest of our barons of England; unless by the charters which we have from his father, William, late King of Scots, it ought to be otherwise; but this shall be left to the determination of his peers in our court.

60. All the aforesaid customs and liberties, which we have granted to be holden in our kingdom, as much as it belongs to us towards our people of our kingdom, as well clergy as laity shall observe, as far as they are concerned towards their dependents.

61. And whereas, for the honour of God and the amendment of our kingdom, and for the better quieting the discord that has arisen between us and our barons, we have granted all these things aforesaid; willing to render them firm and lasting, we do give and grant our subjects the underwritten security, namely, that the barons may choose five-and-twenty barons of the kingdom, whom they think convenient; who shall take care, with all their might, to hold and observe, and caused to be observed, the peace and liberties we have granted them, and by this our present charter confirmed; so that if we, our justiciary, our bailiffs, or any of our officers, shall in any circumstance fail in the performance of them, towards any person, or shall break through any of these articles of peace and security, and the offense be notified to four barons chosen out of the five-and-twenty before mentioned, the said four barons shall repair to us, or our justiciary, if we are out of the realm, and laying open the grievance, shall petition to have it redressed without delay; and if it be not redressed by us, or if we should chance to be out of the realm, if it should not be redressed by our justiciary, within forty days, reckoning from the time it has been notified to us, or to our justiciary, (if we should be out of the realm,) the four barons aforesaid shall lay the cause before the rest of the five-and-twenty barons; and the said five-and-twenty barons, together with the community of the whole kingdom, shall distrain and distress us in all possible ways, by seizing our castles, lands, possessions, and in any other manner they can, till the grievance is redressed according to their pleasure; saving harmless our own person, and the persons of our queen and children; and when it is redressed, they shall obey us as before. And any person whatsoever in the kingdom, may swear that he will obey the orders of the five-and-twenty barons aforesaid, in the execution of the premises, and will distress us, jointly with them, to the utmost of his power; and we give public and free liberty to any one that shall please to swear to this, and never will hinder any person from taking the same oath.

62. As for all those of our subjects who will not, of their own accord, swear to join the five-and-twenty barons in distraining and distressing us, we will issue orders to make them take the same oath as aforesaid. And if any one of the five-and-twenty barons dies, or goes out of the kingdom, or is hindered any other way from carrying the things aforesaid into execution, the rest of the said five-and-twenty barons may choose another in his room, at their discretion, who shall be sworn in like manner as the rest. In all things that are committed to the execution of these five-and-twenty barons, if, when they are all assembled together, they should happen to disagree about any matter, and some of them, when summoned, will not, or cannot come, whatever is agreed upon, or enjoined, by the major part of those that are present, shall be reputed as firm and valid as if all the five-and-twenty had given their consent; and the aforesaid five-and-twenty shall swear, that all the premises they shall faithfully observe, and cause with all their power to be observed. And we will not by ourselves, or by any other, procure anything whereby any of these concessions and liberties may be revoked or lessened; and if any such thing be obtained, let it be null and void; neither shall we ever make use of it, either by ourselves or any other. And all the ill-will, indignations, and rancours that have arisen between us and our subjects, of the clergy and laity, from the first breaking out of the dissensions between us, we do fully remit and forgive: moreover all trespasses occasioned by the said dissensions, from Easter in the fifteenth year of our reign, till the restoration of peace and tranquility, we hereby entirely remit to all, both clegy and laity, and as far as in us lies do fully forgive. We have, moreover, caused to be made for them the letters patent testimonial of Stephen, lord archbishop of Canterbury, Henry, lord archbishop of Dublin, and the bishops aforesaid, as also of Master Pandulph, for the security and concessions aforesaid.

63. Wherefore we will and firmly enjoin, that the Church of England be free, and that all the men in our kingdom have and hold all the aforesaid liberties, rights, and concessions, truly and peaceably, freely and quietly, fully and wholly to themselves and their heirs, of us and our heirs, in all things and places, forever, as is aforesaid. It is also sworn, as well on our part as on the part of the barons, that all the things aforesaid shall be observed bona fide and without evil subtilty.

Given under our hand, in the prescence of the witnesses above named, and many others, in the meadow called Runnymede, between Windsor and Staines, the 15th day of June, in the 17th year of our reign.

THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

IN CONGRESS, JULY 4, 1776.*

The Unanimous Declaration of the Thirteen United States of America:

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are Life, Liberty, and the pursuit of Happiness. That, to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; That, whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or abolish it, and to institute a new Government laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and, accordingly, all experience hath shown that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government and to provide new Guards for their future security.

Such has been the patient sufferance of these Colonies, and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former Systems of Government. The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute Tyranny over these States. To prove this, let Facts be submitted to a candid world:

He has refused his Assent to Laws the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his Governors to pass Laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operations till his Assent should be obtained; and, when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other Laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of Representation in the Legislature, a right inestimable to them, and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their Public Records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved Representative Houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness, his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused, for a long time after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected whereby the Legislative Powers, incapable of Annihilation, have returned to the People at large for their exercise; the State remaining in the meantime exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without and convulsions within.

*The text here followed is that of U. S. Rev. Stat. (2 ed. 1878) p. 3.

He has endeavored to prevent the population of these states, for that purpose obstructing the Laws for the Naturalization of Foreigners, refusing to pass others to encourage their migration hither, and raising the conditions of new Appropriations of Lands.

He has obstructed the Administration of Justice, by refusing his Assent to Laws for establishing Judiciary Powers.

He has made Judges dependent on his Will alone for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of New Offices, and sent hither swarms of Officers to harass our People and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us in times of peace, Standing Armies, without the Consent of our Legislatures.

He has affected to render the Military independent of, and superior to the Civil Power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution and unacknowledged by our laws, giving his Assent to their acts of pretended Legislation:

For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us:

For protecting them, by a mock Trial, from Punishment for any Murders which which they should commit on the Inhabitants of these States:

For cutting off our Trade with all parts of the world:

For imposing taxes on us without our consent:

For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of Trial by Jury:

For transporting us beyond Seas to be tried for pretended offenses:

For abolishing the free System of English Laws in a neighboring Province, establishing therein an Arbitrary government, and enlarging its Boundaries, so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these Colonies:

For taking away our Charters, abolishing our most valuable Laws, and altering, fundamentally, the Forms of our Governments:

For suspending our own Legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with Power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated Government here, by declaring us out of his Protection and waging War against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our Coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is, at this time, transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries to compleat the works of death, desolation and tyranny, already begun, with circumstances of Cruelty & perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the Head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow citizens, taken Captive on the high Seas, to bear Arms against their Country, to become the executioners of their friends and Brethren, or to fall themselves by their Hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers the merciless Indian Savages, whose known rules of warfare is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes and conditions.

In every stage of these oppressions We have Petitioned for Redress in the most humble terms: Our repeated Petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A Prince whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a Tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free People.

Nor have We been wanting in attentions to our Brittish brethren. We have warned them, from time to time, of attempts made by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them, by the ties of our common kindred, to disavow these usurpations, which would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They, too, have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity which denounces our Separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, Enemies in War, in Peace, Friends.

We, therefore, the Representatives of the United States of America in General Congress Assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the Name and by Authority of the good People of these Colonies, solemnly publish and declare, that these United Colonies are, and of Right ought to be, Free and Independent States; that they are Absolved from all Allegiance to the British Crown, and that all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain is, and ought to be, totally dissolved; and that, as Free and Independent States, they have full Power to levy War, conclude Peace, contract Alliances, establish Commerce, and do all other Acts and Things which Independent States may of right do. And for the support of this Declaration, with firm reliance on the Protection of Divine Providence we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes, and our sacred Honor.

ARTICLES OF CONFEDERATION,*

ADOPTED BY DELEGATES IN CONGRESS AT PHILADELPHIA JULY 9, 1778.

To all to whom these Presents shall come, we the undersigned Delegates of the States affixed to our Names send greeting:

Whereas the Delegates of the United States of America in Congress assembled did on the fifteenth day of November in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and seventy-seven, and in the second year of the Independence of America agree to certain articles of Confederation and perpetual Union between the States of Newhampshire, Massachusetts-Bay, Rhodeisland and Providence Plantations, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North-Carolina, South-Carolina and Georgia in the Words following, viz:

"Articles of Confederation and perpetual Union between the States of Newhampshire, "Massachusetts-Bay, Rhodeisland and Providence Plantations, Connecticut, New York, "New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North-Carolina, South-Caro-" lina, and Georgia."

ARTICLE I. The stile of this confederacy shall be, "The United States of America."

ARTICLE II. Each state retains its sovereignty, freedom and independence, and every power, jurisdiction and right, which is not by this confederation expressly delegated to the United States in Congress assembled.

ARTICLE III. The said States hereby severally enter into a firm league of friendship with each other for their common defense, the security of their liberties, and their mutual and general welfare; binding themselves to assist each other against all force offered to, or attacks made upon them, or any of them, on account of religion, sovereignty, trade, or any other pretense whatever.

ARTICLE IV. The better to secure and perpetuate mutual friendship and intercourse among the people of the different States in this Union, the free inhabitants of each of these States, paupers, vagabonds, and fugitives from justice excepted, shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of free citizens in the several States; and the people of each State shall have free ingress and regress to and from any other State, and shall enjoy therein all the privileges of trade and commerce, subject to the same duties, impositions and restrictions, as the inhabitants thereof respectively: provided, That such restriction shall not extend so far as to prevent the removal of property imported into any State to any other State of which the owner is an inhabitant: provided, also, That no impositions, duties or restriction shall be laid by any State on the property of the United States, or either of them.

If any person, guilty of or charged with treason, felony, or other high misdemeanor, in any state shall flee from justice, and be found in any of the United States, he shall, upon demand of the Governor or Executive power of the State from which he fled, be delivered up, and removed to the State having jurisdiction of his offense. Full faith and credit shall be given in each of these States to the records, acts, and judicial proceedings of the courts and magistrates of every other state.

*Text here followed is that of U. S. Rev. Stat. (2 ed. 1878), p. 7.

ARTICLE V. For the more convenient management of the general interests of the United States, delegates shall be annually appointed, in such manner as the legislature of each State shall direct, to meet in Congress on the first Monday of November, in every year, with a power reserved to each State to recall its delegates, or any of them, at any time within the year, and to send others in their stead for the remainder of the year.

No State shall be represented in Congres by less than two, nor more than seven members; and no person shall be capable of being a delegate for more than three years in any term of six years; nor shall any person, being a delegate, be capable of holding any office under the United States, for which he, or another for his benefit, receives any salary, fees, or emoluments of any kind. Each State shall maintain its own delegates in a meeting of the States, and while they act as members of the committee of the States.

In determining questions in the United States in Congress assembled, each State shall have one vote.

Freedom of speech and debate in Congress shall not be impeached or questioned in any court or place out of Congress; and the members of Congress shall be protected in their persons from arrests and imprisonments during the time of their going to and from, and attendance on Congress, except for treason, felony, or breach of the peace.

ARTICLE VI. No State without the consent of the United States in Congress assembled, shall send any embassy to, or receive an embassy from, or enter into any conference, agreement, alliance or treaty with any king, prince or state; nor shall any person holding any office of profit or trust under the United States, or any of them, accept of any present, emolument, office, or title of any kind whatever, from any king, prince or foreign state; nor shall the United States in Congress assembled, or any of them grant any title of nobility.

No two or more States shall enter into any treaty, confederation, or alliance whatever between them, without the consent of the United States in Congress assembled, specifying accurately the purposes for which the same is to be entered into, and how long it shall continue.

No State shall lay any imposts or duties, which may interfere with any stipulations in treaties entered into by the United States in Congress assembled, with any king, prince or state, in pursuance of any treaties already proposed by Congress to the courts of France and Spain.

No vessels of war shall be kept up in time of peace by any state, except such number only as shall be deemed necessary by the United States in Congress assembled, for the defense of such state or its trade; nor shall any body of forces be kept up by any State in time of peace, except such number only, as in the judgment of the United States in Congress assembled, shall be deemed requisite to garrison the forts necessary for the defense of such State; but every State shall always keep up a well regulated and disciplined militia, sufficiently armed and accoutered, and shall provide, and constantly have ready for use, in public stores, a due number of field pieces and tents, and a proper quantity of arms, ammunition and camp equipage.

No State shall engage in any war without the consent of the United States in Congress assembled, unless such State be actually invaded by enemies, or shall have received certain advice of a resolution being formed by some nation of Indians to invade such State, and the danger is so imminent as not to admit of a delay till the United States in Congress assembled, can be consulted; nor shall any State grant commissions to any ships or vessels of war, nor letters of marque or reprisal, except it be after a declaration of war by the United States in Congress assembled; and then only against the kingdom or state, and the subjects thereof, against which war has been so declared, and under such regulations as shall be established by the United States in Congress assembled; unless such States be infested by pirates; in which case vessels of war may be fitted out for that occasion, and kept so long as the danger shall continue, or until the United States in Congress assembled shall determine otherwise.

ARTICLE VII. When land forces are raised by any State for the common defense, all officers of or under the rank of colonel, shall be appointed by the legislature of each State respectively, by whom such forces shall be raised, or in such manner as such State shall direct; and all vacancies shall be filled up by the State which first made the appointment.

ARTICLE VIII. All charges of war and all other expenses that shall be incurred for the common defense or general welfare, and allowed by the United States in Congress assembled, shall be defrayed out of a common treasury, which shall be supplied by the several States, in proportion to the value of all land within each State, granted to, or surveyed for, any person, as such land and the buildings and improvements thereon shall be estimated according to such mode as the United States in Congress assembled, shall from time to time, direct and appoint.

The taxes for paying that proportion, shall be laid and levied by the authority and direction of the Legislatures of the several States, within the time agreed upon by the United States in Congress assembled.

ARTICLE IX. The United States in Congress assembled, shall have the sole and exclusive right and power of determining on peace and war, except in the cases mentioned in the sixth article—of sending and receiving embassadors—entering into treaties and alliances: provided, That no treaty of commerce shall be made, whereby the legislative power of the respective States, shall be restrained from imposing such imposts and duties on foreigners as their own people are subjected to, or from prohibiting the exportation or importation of any species of goods or commodities whatsoever —of establishing rules for deciding, in all cases, what captures on land or water shall be legal, and in what manner prizes taken by land or naval forces in the service of the United States shall be divided or appropriated—of granting letters of marque and reprisal in times of peace—appointing courts for the trial of piracies and felonies committed on the high seas, and establishing courts for receiving and determining finally appeals in all cases of captures: provided, That no member of Congress shall be appointed a judge of any of the said courts.

The United States in Congress assembled shall also be the last resort on appeal in all disputes and differences now subsisting, or that hereafter may arise between two or more States, concerning boundary, jurisdiction, or any other cause whatever; which authority shall always be exercised in the manner following: whenever the legislative or executive authority, or lawful agent of any State in controversy with another, shall present a petition to Congress, stating the matter in question, and praying for a hearing, notice thereof shall be given by order of Congress, to the legislative or executive authority of the other State in controversy, and a day assigned for the appearance of the parties by their lawful agents, who shall then be directed to appoint by joint consent, commissioners or judges to constitute a court for hearing and determining the matter in question; but if they cannot agree, Congress shall name three persons out of each of the United States, and from the list of such persons each party shall alternately strike out one, the petitioners beginning, until the number shall be reduced to thirteen; and from that number not less than seven nor more than nine names, as Congress shall direct, shall in the presence of Congress be drawn out by lot; and the persons whose names shall be so drawn, or any five of them, shall be commissioners or judges to hear, and finally determine the controversy, so always as a major part of the judges, who shall hear the cause, shall agree in the determination; and if either party shall neglect to attend at the day appointed, without showing reasons which Congress shall judge sufficient, or, being present shall refuse to strike, the Congress shall proceed to nominate three persons out of each state, and the Secretary of Congress shall strike in behalf of such party absent or refusing; and the judgment and sentence of the court to be appointed in the manner before prescribed, shall be final and conclusive. And if any of the parties shall refuse to submit to the authority of such court, or to appear or defend their claim or cause, the court shall, nevertheless, proceed to pronounce sentence or judgment, which shall, in like manner, be final and decisive, the judgment or sentence and other proceedings being in either case transmitted to Congress, and lodged among the acts of Congress, for the security of the parties concerned: provided, That every commissioner, before he sits in judgment, shall take an oath, to be administered by one of the judges of the supreme or superior court of the state where the cause shall be tried, "well and truly to hear and determine the matter in question, according to the best of his judgment, without favor, affection, or hope of reward:" provided, also, That no State shall be deprived of territory for the benefit of the United States.

All controversies concerning the private right of soil, claimed under different grants of two or more States, whose jurisdiction, as they may respect such lands and the States which passed such grants, are adjusted, the said grants, or either of them, being at the same time claimed to have originated antecedent to such settlement of jurisdiction, shall, on the petition of either party to the Congress of the United States, be finally determined, as near as may be, in the same manner as is before prescribed for deciding disputes respecting territorial jurisdiction between different States. The United States in Congress assembled, shall also have the sole and exclusive right and power of regulating the alloy and value of coin struck by their own authority, or by that of the respective States—fixing the standard of weights and measures throughout the United States—regulating the trade, and managing all affairs with the Indians, not members of any of the states: provided, that the legislative right of any State within its own limits be not infringed or violated—establishing and regulating post-offices from one State to another thoughout all the United States, and exacting such postage on the papers passing thro' the same as may be requisite to defray the expenses of the said office—appointing all officers of the land forces in the service of the United States excepting regimental officers—appointing all the officers of the naval forces, and commissioning all officers whatever in the service of the United States—making rules for the government and regulation of the said land and naval forces, and directing their operations.

The United States in Congress assembled, shall have authority to appoint a committee to sit in the recess of Congress, to be denominated, "a Committee of the States," and to consist of one delegate from each State; and to appoint such other committees and civil officers as may be necessary for managing the general affairs of the United States, under their direction—to appoint one of their number to preside: provided, That no person be allowed to serve in the office of president more than one year in any term of three years; to ascertain the necessary sums of money to be raised for the service of the United States, and to appropriate and apply the same for defraying the public expenses—to borrow money or emit bills on the credit of the United States, transmitting every half year to the respective states an account of the sums of money so borrowed or emitted—to build and equip a navy—to agree upon the number of land forces, and to make requisitions from each state for its quota, in proportion to the number of white inhabitants in such state; which requisition shall be binding, and thereupon the Legislature of each State shall appoint the regimental officers, raise the men, and cloath, arm, and equip them in a soldier-like manner, at the expense of the United States; and the officers and men so cloathed, armed, and equipped, shall march to the place appointed, and within the time agreed on by the United States in Congress assembled: but if the United States in Congress assembled shall, on consideration of circumstances, judge proper that any state should not raise men, or should raise a smaller number than its quota, and that any other State, should raise a greater number of men than the quota thereof, such extra number shall be raised, officered, cloathed, armed and equipped in the same manner as the quota of such state, unless the legislature of such State shall judge that such extra number cannot be safely spared out of the same; in which case they shall raise, officer, cloath, arm and equip as many of such extra number as they judge can be safely spared; and the officers and men, so cloathed, armed and equipped, shall march to the place appointed, and within the time agreed on by the United States in Congress assembled.

The United States in Congress assembled, shall never engage in a war, nor grant letters of marque and reprisal in time of peace, nor enter into any treaties or alliances, nor coin money, nor regulate the value thereof, nor ascertain the sums and expenses necessary for the defense and welfare of the United States, or any of them, nor emit bills, nor borrow money on the credit of the United States, nor appropriate money, nor agree upon the number of vessels of war to be built or purchased, or the number of land or sea forces to be raised, nor appoint a commander-in-chief of the army or navy, unless nine States assent to the same: nor shall a question on any other point, except for adjourning from day to day, be determined, unless by the votes of a majority of the United States in Congress assembled.

The Congress of the United States shall have power to adjourn to any time within the year, and to any place within the United States, so that no period of adjournment be for a longer duration than the space of six months; and shall publish the journal of their proceedings monthly, except such parts thereof relating to treaties, alliances, or military operations, as in their judgment require secresy; and the yeas and nays of the delegates of each State on any question shall be entered on the journal, when it is desired by any delegate; and the delegates of a State, or any of them, at his or their request, shall be furnished with a transcript of the said journal, except such parts as are above excepted, to lay before the Legislatures of the several States.

ARTICLE X. The committee of the States, or any nine of them, shall be authorized to execute, in the recess of Congress, such of the powers of Congress as the United States in Congress assembled, by the consent of nine States, shall from time to time, think expedient to vest them with: provided, That no power be delegated to the said committee, for the exercise of which, by the articles of confederation, the voice of nine States in the Congress of the United States assembled is requisite.

ARTICLE XI. Canada, acceding to this confederation, and joining in the measures of the United States, shall be admitted into, and entitled to all the advantages of this Union; but no other colony shall be admitted into the same, unless such admission be agreed to by nine states.

ARTICLE XII. All bills of credit emitted, moneys borrowed, and debts contracted by or under the authority of Congress, before the assembling of the United States, in pursuance of the present confederation, shall be deemed and considered as a charge against the United States, for payment and satisfaction whereof the said United States and the public faith are hereby solemnly pledged.

ARTICLE XIII. Every State shall abide by the determinations of the United States in Congress assembled, on all questions which, by this confederation, are submitted to them. And the articles of this confederation shall be inviolably observed by every State, and the Union shall be perpetual; nor shall any alteration at any time hereafter be made in any of them, unless such alteration be agreed to in a Congress of the United States, and be afterwards confirmed by the Legislatures of every State.

And, whereas, it has pleased the Great Governor of the world to incline the hearts of the Legislatures we respectively represent in Congress, to approve of, and to authorize us to ratify the said articles of confederation and perpetual union. KNOW YE, That we, the undersigned delegates, by virtue of the power and authority to us given for that purpose, do, by these presents, in the name and in behalf of our respective constituents, fully and entirely ratify and confirm each and every of the said articles of confederation and perpetual Union, and all and singular the matters and things therein contained; and we do further solemnly plight and engage the faith of our respective constituents, that they shall abide by the determinations of the United States in Congress assembled, on all questions, which, by the said confederation, are submitted to them; and that the articles thereof shall be inviolably observed by the States we re[s]pectively represent; and that the Union shall be perpetual.

In witness whereof, We have hereunto set our hands, in Congress. Done at Philadelphia, in the State of Pennsylvania, the ninth day of July, in the year of our Lord one thousand, seven hundred and seventy-eight and in the third year of the Independence of America.

CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES.[*]

ADOPTED BY THE CONVENTION, SEPT. 17, 1787.

We, THE PEOPLE of the United States, in Order to form a more perfect Union establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity, do ordain and establish this CONSTITUTION for the United States of America.

ARTICLE I.

Section 1. All legislative powers herein granted, shall be vested in a Congress of the United States, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives.

Section 2. 1. The House of Representatives shall be composed of members chosen every second Year, by the People of the several States; and the Electors in each State shall have the Qualifications requisite for Electors of the most numerous Branch of the State Legislature.

2. [Eligibility.]—No Person shall be a Representative who shall not have attained the Age of twenty-five Years, and been seven Years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an Inhabitant of that State in which he shall be chosen.

3. Representatives and direct Taxes shall be apportioned among the several States which may be included within this Union, according to their respective Numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole Number of free Persons, including those bound to Service for a Term of Years, and excluding Indians not taxed, three-fifths of all other Persons.[†] The actual Enumeration shall be made within three Years after the first Meeting of the Congress of the United States, and within every subsequent Term of ten Years, in such Manner as they shall by Law direct. The Number of Representatives shall not exceed one for every thirty Thousand, but each State shall have at Least one Representative; and until such enumeration shall be made, the State of New Hampshire shall be entitled to chuse three; Massachusetts, eight; Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, one; Connecticut, five; New York, six; New Jersey, four; Pennsylvania, eight; Delaware, one; Maryland, six; Virginia, ten; North Carolina, five; South Carolina, five; and Georgia, three.

4. When vacancies happen in the Representation from any State the Executive Authority thereof shall issue Writs of Election to fill such Vacancies.

5. The House of Representatives shall chuse their speaker and other Officers, and shall have the sole Power of Impeachment.

Section 3. 1. The senate of the United States shall be composed of two Senators from each State, chosen by the Legislature thereof, for six Years; and each Senator shall have one Vote.

2. Immediately after they shall be assembled, in Consequence of the first Election, they shall be divided, as equally as may be, into three classes. The Seats of the Senators of the first Class, shall be vacated at the Expiration of the second year, of the second Class at the Expiration of the fourth Year, and of the third Class at the Expiration of the sixth Year, so that one-third may be chosen every second Year; and if vacancies happen by Resignation or otherwise, during the Recess of the Legislature of any State, the Executive thereof may make temporary Appointments until the next Meeting of the Legislature, which shall then fill such Vacancies.

3. [Qualification.]—No Person shall be a Senator who shall not have attained to the Age of thirty Years, and been nine Years a Citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an Inhabitant of that State for which he shall be chosen.

4. The Vice-president of the United States shall be President of the Senate; but shall have no Vote unless they be equally divided.

5. The Senate shall chuse their other Officers, and also a President, pro tempore, in the Absence of the Vice-president, or when he shall exercise the Office of President of the United States.

6. The Senate shall have sole Power to try all Impeachments. When sitting for that Purpose, they shall be on Oath or Affirmation. When the President of the United States is tried, the Chief Justice shall preside: and no Person shall be convicted without the Concurrence of two-thirds of the Members present.

7. Judgment, in Cases of Impeachment, shall not extend further than to removal from Office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any Office of honor, Trust or Profit, under the United States; but the Party convicted shall nevertheless, be liable and subject to Indictment, trial, judgment and punishment, according to law.

SECTION 4. 1. The Times, Places, and Manner of holding Elections for Senators and Representatives, shall be prescribed in each State, by the Legislature thereof; but the Congress may, at any time, by Law, make or alter such Regulations, except as to the Places of chusing Senators.

2. The Congress shall assemble at least once in every Year and such meeting shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by Law appoint a different Day.

SECTION 5. 1. [Prerogatives—Quorum.]—Each House shall be the Judge of the Elections, Returns and Qualification of its own Members, and a Majority of each shall constitute a Quorum to do Business; but a smaller Number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the Attendance of absent Members, in such Manner, and under such Penalties as each House may provide.

2. Each House may determine the rules of its Proceedings, punish its Members for disorderly Behavior, and, with the Concurrence of two-thirds, expel a Member.

3. Each House shall keep a journal of its Proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, excepting such Parts as may, in their Judgment, require Secrecy; and the Yeas and Nays of the Members of either House, on any question, shall, at the Desire of one-fifth of those present, be entered on the Journal.

4. Neither House, during the session of Congress, shall, without the Consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other Place than that in which the two Houses shall be sitting.

SECTION 6. 1. The Senators and Representatives shall receive a compensation for their Services, to be ascertained by Law, and paid out of the Treasury of the United States. They shall, in all Cases, except Treason, Felony and Breach of the Peace, be privileged from Arrest, during their Attendance at the Session of their respective Houses, and in going to or returning from the same; and for any Speech or Debate in either House, they shall not be questioned in any other Place.

2. [Exclusion from other office.]—No Senator or Representative shall, during the Time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil Office, under the Authority of the United States, which shall have been created, or the Emoluments whereof shall have been encreased, during such time; and no Person holding any Office under the United States shall be a Member of either House, during his Continuance in Office.

SECTION. 7. 1. All Bills for raising Revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives, but the Senate may propose or concur with Amendments as on other Bills.

2. [Bills—Approval—Veto.]—Every Bill which shall have passed the House of Representatives and the Senate, shall, before it becomes a Law, be presented to the President of the United States: If he approve, he shall sign it; but if not, he shall return it, with his Objections, to that House in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the Objections, at large, on their Journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such Reconsideration, two-thirds of that House shall agree to pass the Bill, it shall be sent, together with the Objections, to the other House, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by two-thirds of that House, it shall become a Law. But, in all such Cases, the Votes of both Houses shall be determined by Yeas and Nays; and the Names of the Persons voting for and against the Bill, shall be entered on the Journal of each House respectively. If any Bill shall not be returned by the President within ten Days, (Sundays excepted), after it shall have been presented to him, the Same shall be a Law, in like Manner as if he had signed it, unless the Congress, by their Adjournment, prevents its return; in which case it shall not be a Law.

3. Every Order, Resolution or Vote, to which the Concurrence of the Senate and House of Representatives may be necessary (except on a question of Adjournment), shall be presented to the President of the United States; and before the Same shall take Effect, shall be approved by him, or being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by two-thirds of the Senate and House of Representatives, according to the Rules and Limitations prescribed in the Case of a Bill.

SECTION 8. The Congress shall have Power—

1. To lay and collect Taxes, Duties, Imposts and Excises; to pay the Debts, and to provide for the common Defense and general Welfare of the United States; but all Duties, Imposts and Excises, shall be uniform throughout the United States;

2. To borrow Money on the credit of the United States;

3. To regulate Commerce with foreign Nations, and among the several States, and with the Indian tribes;

4. To establish an uniform Rule of Naturalization, and uniform Laws on the subject of Bankruptcies throughout the United States.

5. To coin Money, regulate the Value thereof, and of foreign Coin, and fix the Standard of Weights and Measures;

6. To provide for the Punishment of counterfeiting the Securities and current Coin of the United States;

7. To establish Post Offices and post Roads;

8. To promote the Progress of Science and useful Arts, by securing, for limited Times, to Authors and Inventors, the exclusive Right to their respective Writings and Discoveries;

9. To constitute Tribunals inferior to the supreme Court;

10. To define and punish Piracies and Felonies committed on the high Seas, and Offenses against the Law of Nations;

11. To declare War, grant Letters of Marque and Reprisal, and make Rules concerning Captures on Land and Water;

12. To raise and support Armies; but no Appropriation of money to that Use shall be for a longer Term than two Years;

13. To provide and maintain a Navy;

14. To make Rules for the Government and Regulation of the land and naval Forces;

15. To provide for calling forth the Militia to execute the Laws of the Union, suppress Insurrections and repel Invasions;

16. To provide for organizing, arming and disciplining the Militia, and for governing such Part of them as may be employed in the Service of the United States reserving to the States respectively the Appointment of the Officers, and the Authority of training the Militia according to the discipline prescribed by Congress;

17. To exercise exclusive Legislation in all Cases whatsoever, over such District (not exceeding ten Miles square), as may, by Cession of particular States, and the Acceptance of Congress, become the Seat of Government of the United States, and to exercise like Authority over all Places purchased, by the Consent of the Legislature of the State in which the Same shall be for the Erections of Forts, Magazines, Arsenals, dock-Yards, and other needful Buildings; and

18. To make all Laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into Execution the foregoing Powers, and all other Powers vested by this Constitution in the Government of the United States, or in any Department or Officer thereof.

SECTION 9. 1. [Slave Trade.]—The Migration or Importation of such Persons as any of the States now existing shall think proper to admit, shall not be prohibited by the Congress prior to the Year one thousand eight hundred and eight, but a Tax or duty may be imposed on such Importation, not exceeding ten dollars for such Person.

2. The Privilege of the Writ of Habeas Corpus shall not be suspended, unless when in Cases of Rebellion or Invasion, the public Safety may require it.

3. No Bill of Attainder or ex-post facto Law shall be passed.

4. No Capitation or other direct tax shall be laid, unless in Proportion to the Census or Enumeration hereinbefore directed to be taken.

5. [Export tax.]—No Tax or Duty shall be laid on Articles exported from any State.

6. No Preference shall be given by any Regulation of Commerce or Revenue to the Ports of one State over those of another: nor shall Vessels bound to or from one State be obliged to enter, clear, or pay Duties in another.

7. [Appropriations—Accounts.]—No Money shall be drawn from the Treasury, but in Consequence of Appropriations made by Law; and a regular Statement and Account of the Receipts and Expenditures of all public Money shall be published from time to time.

8. [Titles—Gifts.]—No Title of Nobility shall be granted by the United States; and no Person holding any Office of Profit or Trust under them, shall, without the Consent of the Congress, accept any present, Emolument, Office or Title of any kind whatever, from any King, Prince or foreign State.

SECTION 10. No state shall enter into any Treaty, Alliance or Confederation; grant Letters of Marque and Reprisal; coin Money; emit bills of Credit; make anything but gold and silver Coin a Tender in Payment of Debts; pass any Bill of Attainder, ex-post facto Law, or Law impairing the Obligation of Contracts, or grant any Title of Nobility.

2. No State shall, without the Consent of the Congress, lay any Imposts or Duties on Imports or Exports, except what may be absolutely necessary for executing its inspection Laws; and the net Produce of all Duties and Imposts, laid by any State on Imports or Exports, shall be for the Use of the Treasury of the United States, and all such Laws shall be subject to the Revision and Control of the Congress.

3. No State shall, without the Consent of Congress, lay any Duty of Tonnage, keep Troops or Ships of War in time of Peace, enter into any Agreement or Compact with another State, or with a foreign Power, or engage in War, unless actually invaded, or in such imminent Danger as will not admit of Delay.

ARTICLE II.

SECTION 1. 1. The executive Power shall be vested in a President of the United States of America. He shall hold his Office during the Term of four Years and together with the Vice-president, chosen for the same Term, be elected as follows:

2. Each State shall appoint, in such Manner as the Legislature thereof may direct, a Number of Electors, equal to the whole Number of Senators and Representatives to which the State may be entitled in the Congress; but no Senator or Representative, or Person holding an Office of Trust or Profit under the United States, shall be appointed an Elector.

3. The electors shall meet in their respective States, and vote by ballot for two Persons, of whom one at least shall not be an Inhabitant of the same State with themselves. And they shall make a List of all the Persons voted for, and of the Number of Votes for each; which List they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the Seat of Government of the United States, directed to the President of the Senate. The President of the Senate shall, in the Presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the Certificates and the Votes shall then be Counted. The Person having the greatest Number of Votes shall be the President, if such Number be a Majority of the whole Number of Electors Appointed; and if there be more than one who have such Majority, and have an equal Number of Votes, then the House of Representatives shall immediately chuse, by Ballot, one of them for President; and if no Person have a Majority, then from the five highest on the List, the said House shall in like Manner, chuse the President. But in chusing the President, the Votes shall be taken by States, the Representation from each State having one Vote; a quorum for this Purpose shall Consist of a Member or Members from two-thirds of the States, and a Majority of all the States shall be necessary to a Choice. In every Case, after the Choice of the President, the Person having the greatest Number of Votes of the Electors, shall be the Vice-president. But if there should remain two or more who have equal Votes, the Senate shall chuse from them, by Ballot, the Vice-president. [Superseded by 12th amendment, p. 26.]

4. The Congress may determine the Time of chusing the Electors, and the Day on which they shall give their Votes, which Day shall be the same throughout the United States.

5. [President—Eligibility.]—No Person except a natural born Citizen, or a Citizen of the United States at the time of the Adoption of this Constitution, shall be eligible to the Office of President; neither shall any Person be eligible to that Office who shall not have attained to the Age of thirty-five Years, and been fourteen Years a Resident within the United States.

6. [Succession.]—In Case of the Removal of the President from Office, or of his Death, Resignation, or Inability to Discharge the Powers and Duties of the said Office, the same shall devolve on the Vice-president, and the Congress may, by Law, provide for the Case of Removal, Death, Resignation, or Inability, both of the President and Vice-president, declaring what Officer shall then act as President, and such Officer shall act accordingly, until the Disability be removed, or a President shall be elected.

7. The President shall, at stated Times, receive for his Services a Compensation, which shall neither be increased nor diminished during the Period for which he shall have been elected, and he shall not receive during that Period any other emolument from the United States, or any of them.

8. Before he enters on the Execution of his Office, he shall take the following Oath or Affirmation: "I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the Office of President of the United States, and will, to the best of my Ability, preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States."

SECTION 2. 1. [Powers.]—The President shall be Commander-in-chief of the Army and Navy of the United States, and of the Militia of the several States when called into the actual Service of the United States. He may require the Opinion in writing of the principal Officer in each of the executive Departments, upon any Subject relating to the Duties of their respective Offices; and he shall have Power to grant Reprieves and Pardons for Offenses against the United States, except in Cases of Impeachment.

2. [Same.]—He shall have Power, by and with the Advice and Consent of the Senate, to make Treaties, provided two-thirds of the Senators present Concur; and he shall nominate, and by and with the Advice and Consent of the Senate, shall appoint Ambassadors, other public Ministers and Consuls, Judges of the supreme Court, and all other Officers of the United States, whose Appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by Law: But the Congress may, by Law, vest the Appointment of such inferior Officers as they think proper, in the President alone, in the Courts of Law, or in the Heads of Departments.

3. [Same.]—The President shall have Power to fill up all Vacancies that may happen during the Recess of the Senate, by granting Commissions, which shall expire at the End of their next Session.

SECTION 3. 1. [Duties.]—He shall from time to time, give to the Congress Information of the state of the Union, and recommend to their Consideration such Measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient. He may, on extraordinary Occasions, convene both Houses, or either of them, and in Case of Disagreement between them, with Respect to the Time of Adjournment, he may adjourn them to such Time as he shall think proper. He shall receive Ambassadors and other public Ministers. He shall take Care that the Laws be faithfully executed; and shall Commission all the Officers of the United States.

SECTION 4. 1. [Removal.]—The President, Vice-president, and all civil Officers of the United States, shall be removed from Office on Impeachment for, and Conviction of, Treason, Bribery, or other high Crimes and Misdemeanors.

ARTICLE III.

SECTION 1. 1. The judicial Power of the United States shall be vested in one supreme Court, and in such inferior Courts as the Congress may, from time to time, ordain and establish.

The Judges, both of the supreme and inferior Courts, shall hold their Offices during good Behavior; and shall, at stated Times, receive for their Services a Compensation, which shall not be Diminished during their continuance in Office.

SECTION 2. 1. The judicial Power shall extend to all Cases in Law and Equity arising under this Constitution, the Laws of the United States, and Treaties made, or which shall be made, under their Authority;—to all Cases affecting Ambassadors, or other public Ministers and Consuls;—to all Cases of admiralty and maritime Jurisdiction;—to Controversies to which the United States shall be a Party;—to Controversies between two or more States;—between a State and Citizens of another State; between Citizens of different States;—between Citizens of the same State, claiming Lands under Grants of different States, and between a State or the Citizens thereof, and foreign States, Citizens or Subjects.

2. In all Cases affecting Ambassadors, other public Ministers or Consuls, and those in which a State shall be a Party, the supreme Court shall have original Jurisdiction. In all the other Cases, before mentioned, the supreme Court shall have appellate Jurisdiction, both as to Law and Fact, with such Exceptions, and under such Regulations as the Congress shall make.

3. The Trial of all Crimes, except in Cases of Impeachment, shall be by Jury; and such Trial shall be held in the State where the said Crimes shall have been Committed; but when not Committed within any State, the Trial shall be at such Place or Places as the Congress may by Law have directed.

SECTION 3. 1. Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying War against them, or in adhering to their Enemies; giving them Aid and Comfort. No Person shall be convicted of Treason, unless on the Testimony of two Witnesses to the same overt Act, or on Confession in open Court.

2. The Congress shall have Power to declare the Punishment of Treason; but no Attainder of Treason shall work Corruption of Blood or Forfeiture, except during the Life of the Person attainted.

ARTICLE IV.

SECTION 1. 1. Full Faith and Credit shall be given in each State to the public Acts, Records, and judicial Proceedings of every other State. And the Congress may, by general Laws, prescribe the Manner in which such Acts, Records and Proceedings shall be Proved, and the Effect thereof.

SECTION 2. 1. The citizens of each State shall be entitled to all Privileges and Immunities of Citizens in the several States •

2. [Extradition.]—A person charged in any State with Treason, Felony, or other Crime, who shall flee from Justice, and be found in another State, shall, on Demand of the executive Authority of the State from which he fled, be delivered up, to be removed to the State having Jurisdiction of the Crime.

3. [Fugitive Slaves.]—No Person held to Service or Labour in one State, under the Laws thereof escaping into another, shall, in Consequence of any Law or Regulation therein, be discharged from such Service or Labour; but shall be delivered up on Claim of the Party to whom such Service or Labour may be due.

SECTION 3. 1. New States may be admitted by the Congress into this Union, but no new State shall be formed or erected within the Jurisdiction of any other State, nor any State be formed by the Junction of two or more States, or parts of States, without the Consent of the Legislatures of the States concerned, as well as of the Congress.

2. [Territories.]—The Congress shall have Power to dispose of, and make all needful Rules and Regulations respecting the Territory or other Property belonging to the United States; and nothing in this Constitution shall be so construed as to Prejudice any Claims of the United States, or of any particular State.

SECTION 4. 1. The United States shall guarantee to every State in this Union a Republican Form of Government, and shall protect each of them against Invasion; and on application of the Legislature, or of the Executive (when the Legislature can not be convened), against domestic Violence.

ARTICLE V.

SECTION 1. 1. The Congress, whenever two-thirds of both Houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose Amendments to this Constitution; or on the Application of the Legislatures of two-thirds of the several States, shall call a Convention for proposing Amendments, which, in either Case, shall be valid to all Intents and Purposes, as Part of this Constitution, when ratified by the Legislatures of three-fourths of the several States, or by Conventions in three-fourths thereof, as the one or the other Mode of Ratification may be proposed by the Congress; Provided, that no Amendment, which may be made prior to the Year One thousand eight hundred and eight, shall in any Manner affect the first and fourth Clauses in the Ninth Section of the first Article; and that no State, without its Consent, shall be Deprived of its equal Suffrage in the Senate.

ARTICLE VI.

SECTION 1. 1. [Prior debts.]—All Debts contracted, and Engagements entered into, before the Adoption of this Constitution, shall be as valid against the United States, under this Constitution, as under the Confederation.

2. This Constitution, and the Laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance Thereof, and all Treaties made, or which shall be made under the Authority of the United States, shall be the supreme Law of the Land, and the Judges in every State shall be bound thereby; any Thing in the Constitution or Laws of any State to the Contrary, notwithstanding.

3. The Senators and Representatives, before mentioned, and the Members of the several State Legislatures, and all executive and judicial Officers, both of the United States and of the several States, shall be bound by Oath or affirmation, to support this Constitution; but no religious Test shall ever be required as a Qualification to any Office or public Trust under the United States.

ARTICLE VII.

SECTION 1. The Ratification of the Conventions of nine States shall be sufficient for the Establishment of this Constitution between the States so ratifying the Same.

Done in Convention by the Unanimous Consent of the States present, the Seventeenth Day of September, in the Year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and Eighty-seven, and of the Independence of the United States of America the Twelfth.

AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION.

ARTICLE I.

Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.

ARTICLE II.

A well regulated Militia being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed.

ARTICLE III.

No Soldier shall, in time of peace, be quartered in any house without the consent of the Owner, nor in time of war, but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

ARTICLE IV.

The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated; and no Warrants shall issue but upon probable cause, supported by Oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.

ARTICLE V.

[Rights—Person—Property.]—No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a Grand Jury, except in a case arising in the land or naval forces, or in the Militia, when in actual service, in time of War or public danger; nor shall any person be subject, for the same offense, to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled, in any Criminal Case, to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use without just compensation.

ARTICLE VI.

In all criminal prosecutions the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the State and district wherein the crime shall have been committed, which district shall have been previously ascertained by law, and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process, for obtaining Witnesses in his favor, and to have the assistance of counsel for his defense.

ARTICLE VII.

In suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved, and no fact, tried by a jury, shall be otherwise re-examined in any Court of the United States, than according to the rules of the common law.

ARTICLE VIII.

Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel or unusual punishments inflicted.

ARTICLE IX.

The enumeration in the Constitution, of certain rights, shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

ARTICLE X.

The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states, respectively, or to the people.

ARTICLE XI.

[Restrictions.]—The judicial power of the United States shall not be construed to extend to any suit in law or in equity, commenced or prosecuted against one of the United States by Citizens of another State, or by Citizens or Subjects of any Foreign State.

ARTICLE XII.

[President—Vice-president—Election.]—The Electors shall meet in their respective states and vote by ballot, for President and Vice-president, one of whom, at least, shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves; they shall name in their ballot the person voted for as President, and in distinct ballots the person voted for as Vice-president; and they shall make distinct lists of all persons voted for as President, and of all persons voted for as Vice-president, and of the number of votes for each, which lists they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of the government of the United States, directed to the President of the Senate;—the President of the Senate shall, in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted;—the person having the greatest number of votes for President, shall be the President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of Electors appointed; and if no person has such majority, then from the persons having the highest number, not exceeding three, on the list of those voted for as President, the House of Representatives shall choose immediately, by ballot, the President. But in choosing the President, the vote shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the states, and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. And if the House of Representatives shall not choose a President, whenever the right of choice shall devolve upon them, before the fourth day of March next following, then the Vice-president shall act as President, as in the case of the death or other constitutional disability of the President.

The person having the greatest number of votes as Vice-president, shall be the Vice-president, if such number be a majority of the whole number of Electors appointed; and if no person have a majority, then from the two highest numbers on the list, the Senate shall choose the Vice-president; a quorum for the purpose shall consist of two-thirds of the whole number of Senators, and a majority of the whole number shall be necessary to a choice.

But no person constitutionally ineligible to the office of President, shall be eligible to that of Vice-president of the United States.

ARTICLE XIII.

1. Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction.

2. Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

ARTICLE XIV.

SECTION 1. [Citizens—Who are—Rights.]—All persons born or naturalized in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States, and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States, nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

SEC. 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice-president of the United States, Representatives in Congress, the Executive and Judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislatures thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State, being twenty-one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion, or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such state.

SEC. 3. [Office—Disability.]—No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice-president, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath as a member of Congress or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may, by a vote of two-thirds of each house, remove such disability.

SEC. 4. [Confederate claims.]—The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any state shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims shall be held illegal and void.

SEC. 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation the provisions of this article.

ARTICLE XV.

SECTION 1. The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude.

SEC. 2. The Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

TREATY*

Between the United States of America and the French Republic.

The President of the United States of America and the First Consul of the French Republic, in the name of the French people, desiring to remove all source of misunderstanding relative to objects of discussion mentioned in the second and fifth articles of the convention of the 8th Vendemaire, an. 9, (30 September, 1800), relative to the rights claimed by the United States, in virtue of the treaty concluded at Madrid, the 27th of October, 1795, between his Catholic Majesty and the said United States, and willing to strengthen the union and friendship which at the time of the said convention was happily re-established between the two nations, have respectfully named their plenipotentiaries, to-wit: the president of the United States [of America,] by and with the advice and consent of the Senate of the said states. Robert R. Livingston, minister plenipotentiary of the United States, and James Monroe, minister plenipotentiary and envoy extraordinary of the said states, near the government of the French Republic; and the First Consul, in the name of the French people, Francis citizen Barbé Marbois, minister of the public treasury, who, after having respectively exchanged their full powers, have agreed to the following articles:

ARTICLE I. Whereas, By the article the third of the treaty concluded at St. Ildefonso, the 9th Vendemaire, an. 9, (1st October, 1800,) between the First Consul of the French Republic and his Catholic Majesty, it was agreed as follows: "His Catholic Majesty promises and engages on his part to cede to the French Republic, six months after the full and entire execution of the conditions and stipulations herein relative to his royal highness, the Duke of Parma, the colony or province of Louisiana, with the same extent that it now has in the hands of Spain, and that it had when France possessed it; and such as it should be after the treaties subsequently entered into between Spain and other States;" and

Whereas, In pursuance of the treaty, and particularly of the third article, the French Republic has an incontestible title to the domain and to the possession of the said territory; the First Consul of the French Republic desiring to give to the United States a strong proof of his friendship, doth hereby cede to the said United States, in the name of the French Republic, forever, and in full sovereignty, the said territory, with all its rights and appurtenances, as fully and in the same manner as they have been acquired by the French Republic in virtue of the above mentioned treaty, concluded with his Catholic Majesty.

ART. II. In the cession made by the preceding article, are included the adjacent islands belonging to Louisiana, all public lots and squares, vacant lands and all public buildings, fortifications, barracks and other edifices, which are not private property.—The archives, papers and documents relative to the domain and sovereignty of Louisiana and its dependencies, will be left in the possession of the commissaries of the United States, and copies will be afterwards given in due form to the magistrates and municipal officers of such of the said papers and documents as may be necessary to them.

ART. III. The Inhabitants of the ceded territory shall be incorporated in the Union of the United States, and admitted as soon as possible, according to the principles of the Federal constitution, to the enjoyment of all the rights, advantages and immunities of citizens of the United States; and in the meantime they shall be maintained and protected in the free enjoyment of their liberty, property, and the religion which they profess,

*The text here followed is that of U. S. Stat. at Large, Vol. 8, p. 200.

Art. IV. There shall be sent, by the government of France, a commissary to Louisiana, to the end that he do every act necessary, as well to receive from the officers of his Catholic Majesty the said country and its dependencies in the name of the French Republic, if it has not been already done, as to transmit it in the name of the French Republic to the commissary or agent of the United States.

Art. V. Immediately after the ratification of the present treaty by the president of the United States, and in case that of the first consul shall have been previously obtained, the commissary of the French Republic shall remit all the military posts of New Orleans and other parts of the ceded territory, to the commissary or commissaries named by the president to take possession; the troops whether of France or Spain, who may be there, shall cease to occupy any military post from the time of taking possession, and shall be embarked as soon as possible, in the course of three months after the ratification of this treaty.

Art. VI. The United States promise to execute such treaties and articles as may have been agreed between Spain and the tribes and nations of Indians, until by mutual consent of the United States and the said tribes or nations, other suitable articles shall have been agreed upon.

Art. VII. As it is reciprocally advantageous to the commerce of France and the United States to encourage the communication of both nations, for a limited time, in the country ceded by the present treaty, until general arrangements relative to the commerce of both nations may be agreed on, it has been agreed between the contracting parties, that the French ships, coming directly from France or any of her colonies, loaded only with the produce or manufactures of France or her said colonies, and the ships of Spain coming directly from Spain or any of her colonies, loaded only with the produce or manufactures of Spain or her colonies, shall be admitted, during the space of twelve years, in the ports of New Orleans, and in all other legal ports of entry within the ceded territory, in the same manner as the ships of the United States, coming directly from France or Spain or any of their colonies, without being subject to any other or greater duty on merchandize, or other or greater tonnage than those paid by the citizens of the United States.

During the space of time above mentioned, no other nation shall have a right to the same privileges in the ports of the ceded territory; the twelve years shall commence three months after the exchange of ratifications, if it shall take place in France, or three months after it shall have been notified at Paris to the French government, if it shall take place in the United States; it is, however, well understood, that the object of the above article is to favor the manufactures, commerce, freight and navigation of France and Spain, so far as relates to the importations that the French and Spanish shall make into the said ports of the United States, without in any sort affecting the regulations that the United States may make concerning the exportation of the produce and merchandize of the United States, or any right they may have to make such regulations.

Art. VIII. In future, and forever after the expiration of the twelve years, the ships of France shall be treated upon the footing of the most favored nations in the ports above mentioned.

Art. IX. The particular convention signed this day by the respective ministers, having for its objects to provide for the payment of debts due to the citizens of the United States by the French Republic, prior to the 30th of September, 1800, (8th Ven demaire, an. 9,) is approved, and to have its execution in the same manner as if it had been inserted in this present treaty; and it shall be ratified in the same form and in the same time, so that the one shall not be ratified distinct from the other.

Another particular convention, signed at the same date as the present treaty, relative to a definite rule between the contracting parties, is in like manner approved, and will be ratified in the same form and in the same time, and jointly.

ART. X. The present treaty shall be ratified in good and due form, and the ratification shall be exchanged in the space of six months after the date of the signature by the ministers plenipotentiary, or sooner if possible. IN FAITH WHEREOF, the respective plenipotentiaries have signed these articles in the French and English languages, declaring nevertheless that the present treaty was originally agreed to in the French language; and have thereunto affixed their seals.

Done at Paris, the tenth day of Floreal, in the eleventh year of the French Republic, and the 30th April, 1803.

ORGANIC ACT.

AN ACT TO ORGANIZE THE TERRITORIES OF NEBRASKA AND KANSAS.

Be it Enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress Assembled, That all that part of the territory of the United States included within the following limits, except such portions thereof as are hereinafter expressly exempted from the operations of this act, to-wit: beginning at a point in the Missouri river, where the fortieth parallel of north latitude crosses the same; thence west on said parallel to the east boundary of the Territory of Utah, on the summit of the Rocky Mountains; thence on said summit northward to the forty-ninth parallel of north latitude; thence east on said parallel to the western boundary of the Territory of Minnesota; thence southward on said boundary to the Missouri river; thence down the main channel of said river to the place of beginning, be, and the same is, hereby created into a temporary government, by the name of the Territory of Nebraska; and when admitted as a State or States, the said Territory, or any portion of the same, shall be received into the Union with or without slavery, as their constitution may prescribe at the time of their admission: Provided, That nothing in this act contained shall be construed to inhibit the government of the United States from dividing said territory into two or more territories, in such manner and such times as congress shall deem convenient and proper, or from attaching any portion of said territory to any other state or territory of the United States: Provided further, That nothing in this act contained shall be construed to impair the rights of person or property now pertaining to the Indians in said territory, so long as such rights shall remain unextinguished by treaty between the United States and such Indians, or to include any territory, which, by treaty with any Indian tribe, is not, without the consent of said tribe, to be included within the territorial limits or jurisdiction of any state or territory; but all such territory shall be excepted out of the boundaries, and constitute no part of the Territory of Nebraska, until said tribe shall signify their assent to the President of the United States to be included within the said Territory of Nebraska, or to affect the authority of the government of the United States to make any regulations respecting such Indians, their lands, property, or other rights, by treaty, law or otherwise, which it would have been competent to the government to make if this act had never passed.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That the executive power and authority, in and over said Territory of Nebraska, shall be vested in a Governor, who shall hold his office for four years, and until his successor shall be appointed and qualified, unless sooner removed by the President of the United States. The governor shall reside within said territory, and shall be commander-in-chief of the militia thereof. He may grant pardons and respites for offenses against the laws of said Territory, and reprieves for offenses against the laws of the United States, until the decision of the president can be made known thereon; he shall commission all officers who shall be appointed to office under the laws of the said Territory, and shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That there shall be a secretary of the said territory, who shall reside therein, and hold his office for five years, unless sooner removed by the President of the United States; he shall record and preserve all the laws and proceedings of the legislative assembly hereinafter constituted, and all the acts and proceedings of the governor in his executive department; he shall transmit one copy of the laws and journals of the legislative assembly within thirty days after the end of each session, and one copy of the executive proceedings and official correspondence, semi-annually, on the first days of January and July in each year, to the president of the United States, and two copies of the laws to the president of the senate, and to the speaker of the house of representatives, to be deposited in the libraries of congress; and in case of the death, removal, resignation or absence of the governor from the territory, the secretary shall be, and he is hereby authorized and required to execute and perform all the powers and duties of the Governor, during such vacancy or absence, or until another Governor shall be duly appointed and qualified to fill such vacancy.

Sec. 4. And be it further enacted, That the legislative power and authority of said territory shall be vested in the Governor and a Legislative Assembly. The Legislative Assembly shall consist of a Council and House of Representatives. The Council shall consist of thirteen members, having the qualification of voters, as hereinafter prescribed, whose term of service shall continue two years. The House of Representatives shall, at its first session, consist of Twenty-six members, possessing the same qualifications as prescribed for members of the Council, and whose term of service shall continue one year. The number of representatives may be increased by the Legislative Assembly, from time to time, in proportion to the increase of qualified voters: Provided, That the whole number shall never exceed thirty-nine. An apportionment shall be made, as nearly equal as practicable, among the several counties or districts, for the election of the council and representatives, giving to each section of the Territory, representation in the ratio of its qualified voters as nearly as may be. And the members of the Council and of the House of Representatives shall reside in, and be inhabitants of, the district or county or counties, for which they may be elected, respectively. Previous to the first election, the Governor shall cause a census, or enumeration of the inhabitants and qualified voters of the several counties and districts of the territory, to be taken by such persons and in such mode as the Governor shall designate and appoint; and the person so appointed shall receive a reasonable compensation therefor. And the first election shall be held at such time and places, and be conducted in such a manner, both as to the persons who shall superintend such election and the returns thereof, as the governor shall appoint and direct; and he shall at the same time declare the number of members of the Council and House of Representatives to which each of the counties or districts shall be entitled under this act. The persons having the highest number of legal votes in each of said council districts for members of the Council, shall be declared by the Governor to be duly elected to the Council; and the persons having the highest number of legal votes for the House of Representatives, shall be declared by the Governor to be duly elected members of said house: Provided, That in case two or more persons voted for shall have an equal number of votes, and in case a vacancy shall otherwise occur in either branch of the Legislative Assembly, the governor shall order a new election; and the persons thus elected to the Legislative Assembly shall meet at such place and on such day as the governor shall appoint; but thereafter, the time, place and manner of holding and conducting all elections by the people, and the apportioning the representation in the several counties or districts to the Council and House of Representatives, according to the number of qualified voters, shall be prescribed by law, as well as the day of the commencement of the regular sessions of the Legislative Assembly: Provided, That no session in any one year shall exceed the term of forty days, except the first session, which may continue sixty days.

Sec. 5. And be it further enacted, That every free white male inhabitant above the age of twenty-one years, who shall be an actual resident of said Territory, and shall possess the qualifications hereinafter prescribed, shall be entitled to vote at the first election, and shall be eligible to any office within the said Territory; but the qualifications of voters, and of holding office, at all subsequent elections, shall be such as shall be prescribed by the Legislative Assembly; Provided, That the right of suffrage and of holding office shall be exercised only by citizens of the United States, and those who shall have declared on oath their intention to become such, and shall have taken an oath to support the constitution of the United States, and the provisions of this act: And provided further, That no officer, soldier, seaman or marine, or other person in the army or navy of the United States, or attached to troops in the service of the United States, shall be allowed to vote or hold office in said Territory, by reason of being on service therein.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That the legislative power of the Territory shall extend to all rightful subjects of legislation consistent with the Constitution of the United States and the provisions of this act; but no law shall be passed interfering with the primary disposal of the soil; no tax shall be imposed upon the property of the United States; nor shall the lands or other property of non-residents be taxed higher than the lands or other property of residents. Every bill which shall have passed the Council and House of Representatives of the said Territory, shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the governor of the Territory; if he approve, he shall sign it; but if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to the house in which it originated, who shall enter the objections at large on their journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by two-thirds of that house it shall become a law. But in all such cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, to be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the Governor within three days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the Assembly, by adjournment, prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law.

SEC. 7. And be it further enacted, That all township, district, and county officers, not herein otherwise provided for, shall be appointed or elected, as the case may be, in such manner as shall be provided by the Governor and Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Nebraska. The Governor shall nominate, and, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council, appoint all officers not herein otherwise provided for; and in the first instance the Governor alone may appoint all said officers, who shall hold their offices until the end of the first session of the Legislative Assembly; and shall lay off the necessary districts for members of the Council and House of Representatives, and all other officers.

SEC. 8. And be it further enacted, That no member of the Legislative Assembly shall hold, or be appointed to, any office which shall have been created, or the salary or emoluments of which shall have been increased, while he was a member, during the term for which he was elected, and for one year after the expiration of such term; but this restriction shall not be applicable to members of the first Legislative Assembly; and no person holding a commission or appointment under the United States, except postmasters, shall be a member of the Legislative Assembly, or hold any office under the government of said Territory.

SEC. 9. And be it further enacted, That the judicial power of said Territory shall be invested in a Supreme Court, District Courts, Probate Courts, and in Justices of the Peace. The Supreme Court shall consist of a chief justice and two associate justices, any two of whom shall constitute a quorum, and who shall hold a term at the seat of government of said Territory annually, and they shall hold their offices during the period of four years, and until their successors shall be appointed and qualified. The said Territory shall be divided into three judicial districts, and a district court shall be held in each of said districts by one of the justices of the Supreme Court, at such times and places as may be prescribed by law; and the said judges shall, after their appointments, respectively reside in the districts which shall be assigned them. The jurisdiction of the several courts herein provided for, both appellate and original, and that of the probate courts and of justices of the peace, shall be as limited by law: Provided, That justices of the peace shall not have jurisdiction of any matter in controversy when the title or boundaries of land may be in dispute, or where the debt or sum claimed shall exceed one hundred dollars; and the said supreme and district courts, respectively, shall possess chancery as well as common law jurisdiction. Each District Court, or the judge thereof, shall appoint its clerk, who shall also be the register in chancery, and shall keep his office at the place where the court may be held. Writs of error, bills of exception, and appeals, shall be allowed in all cases from the final decisions of said district courts to the Supreme Court, under such regulations as may be prescribed by law; but in no case removed to the Supreme Court, shall trial by jury be allowed in said court. The Supreme Court, or the justices thereof, shall appoint its own clerk, and every clerk shall hold his office at the pleasure of the court for which he shall have been appointed. Writs of error, and appeals from the final decisions of said Supreme Court, shall be allowed, and may be taken to the Supreme Court of the United States, in the same manner and under the same regulations as from the circuit courts of the United States, where the value of the property, or the amount in controversy, to be ascertained by the oath or affirmation of either party, or other competent witness, shall exceed one thousand dollars; except only that in all cases involving title to slaves, the said writs of error, or appeals shall be allowed and decided by the said Supreme Court, without regard to the value of the matter, property or title in controversy; and except also that a writ of error or appeal shall also be allowed to the Supreme Court of the United States, from the decision of the said Supreme Court created by this act, or of any judge thereof, or of the district courts created by this act, or of any judge thereof, upon any writ of habeas corpus, involving the question of personal freedom: Provided, That nothing herein contained shall be construed to apply to or affect the provisions to the "act respecting fugitives from justice, and persons escaping from the service of their masters," approved, February twelfth, seventeen hundred and ninety-three, and the "act to amend and supplementary to the aforesaid act," approved, September eighteen, eighteen hundred and fifty; and each of the said district courts shall have and exercise the same jurisdiction in all cases arising under the Constitution and Laws of the United States as is vested in the circuit and district courts of the United States and the said Supreme and District Courts of the said Territory, and the respective judges thereof, shall and may grant writs of habeas corpus in all cases in which the same are granted by the judges of the United States in the District of Columbia; and the first six days of every term of said courts, or so much thereof as shall be necessary, shall be appropriated to the trial of causes arising under the said constitution and laws, and writs of error and appeal in all such cases shall be made to the Supreme Court of said Territory, the same as in other cases. The said clerk shall receive in all such cases the same fees which the clerks of the district courts of Utah Territory now receive for similar services.

SEC. 10. And be it further enacted, That the provisions of an act entitled "an act respecting fugitives from justice, and persons escaping from the service of their masters," approved, February twelve, seventeen hundred and ninety-three, and the provisions of the act entitled "an act to amend, and supplementary to the aforesaid act," approved, September eighteen, eighteen hundred and fifty, be and the same are hereby, declared to extend to and be in full force within the limits of said Territory of Nebraska.

SEC. 11. And be it further enacted, That there shall be appointed an Attorney for said Territory, who shall continue in office for four years, and until his successor shall be appointed and qualified unless sooner removed by the president, and who shall receive the same fees and salary as the Attorney of the United States for the present Territory of Utah. There shall also be a Marshal for the Territory appointed, who shall hold his office for four years and until his successor shall be appointed and qualified, unless sooner removed by the President, and who shall execute all processes issuing from the said courts when exercising their jurisdiction as Circuit and District Courts of the United States; he shall perform the duties, be subject to the same regulations and penalties, and be entitled to the same fees, as the Marshal of the District Court of the United States for the present Territory of Utah, and shall, in addition, be paid two hundred dollars annually as a compensation for extra services.

Sec. 12. And be it further enacted, That the Governor, Secretary, Chief Justice, and Associate Justices, Attorney and Marshal, shall be nominated, and, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, appointed by the President of the United States. The Governor and Secretary to be appointed as aforesaid, shall before they act as such, respectively take an oath or affirmation before the District Judge, or some Justice of the Peace in the limits of said Territory duly authorized to administer oaths and affirmations by the laws now in force therein, or before the Chief Justice or some Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, to support the Constitution of the United States and faithfully to discharge the duties of their respective offices, which said oaths, when so taken, shall be certified by the person by whom the same shall have been taken; and such certificates shall be received and recorded by the said secretary, among the executive proceedings; and the Chief Justice and Associate Justices, and all other civil officers in said Territory, before they act as such, shall take a like oath or affirmation before the said Governor or Secretary, or some Judge or Justice of the Peace of the Territory, who may be duly commissioned and qualified, which said oath or affirmation shall be certified and transmitted by the person taking the same to the Secretary, to be by him recorded as aforesaid; and afterwards the like oath or affirmation shall be taken, certified and recorded, in such manner and form as may be prescribed by law. The Governor shall receive an annual salary of two thousand five hundred dollars. The Chief Justice and Associate Justices shall each receive an annual salary of two thousand dollars. The Secretary shall receive an annual salary of two thousand dollars. The said salaries shall be paid quarter-yearly, from the dates of the respective appointments, at the Treasury of the United States; but no such payment shall be made until said officers shall have entered upon the duties of their respective appointments. The members of the Legislative Atsembly shall be entitled to three dollars each, per day, during their attendance at the sessions thereof, and three dollars each for every twenty miles' travel in going to and returning from the said sessions, estimated according to the nearest usually traveled route, and an additional allowance of three dollars shall be paid to the presiding officer of each house for each day he shall so preside. And a chief clerk, and assistant clerk, a sergeant-at-arms, and door-keeper, may be chosen for each house; and the chief clerk shall receive four dollars per day, and the said other officers, three dollars per day during the session of the Legislative Assembly; but no other officer shall be paid by the United States: Provided, That there shall be but one session of the Legislature annually, unless on an extraordinary occasion, the Governor shall think proper to call the legislature together. There shall be appropriated, annually, the usual sum, to be expended by the Governor, to defray the contingent expenses of the Territory, including the salary of a clerk of the Executive Department; and there shall also be appropriated annually, a sufficient sum, to be expended by the Secretary of the Territory, and upon an estimate to be made by the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States, to defray the expenses of the Legislative Assembly, the printing of laws, and other incidental expenses; and the Governor and Secretary of the Territory shall, in the disbursement of all moneys intrusted to them, be governed solely by the instructions of the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States, and shall, semi-annually, account to the said Secretary for the manner in which the aforesaid moneys shall have been expended; and no expenditures shall be made by said Legislative Assembly for objects not specially authorized by the acts of Congress making the appropriations, nor beyond the sums thus appropriated for such objects.

Sec. 13. And be it further enacted, That the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Nebraska, shall hold its first session at such time and place in said Territory as the Governor thereof shall appoint and direct; and at the said first session, or as soon thereafter as they shall deem expedient, the Governor and Legislative Assembly shall proceed to locate and establish the seat of government for said Territory at such place as they may deem eligible; which place, however, shall thereafter be subject to be changed by the said Governor and Legislative Assembly.

SEC. 14. And be it further enacted, That a delegate to the House of Representatives of the United States, to serve for the term of two years, who shall be a citizen of the United States, may be elected by the voters qualified to elect members of the Legislative Assembly, who shall be entitled to the same rights and privileges as are exercised and enjoyed by the delegates from the several other Territories of the United States to the said House of Representatives; but the delegate first elected shall hold his seat only during the term of the Congress to which he shall be elected. The first election shall be held at such time and places, and be conducted in such manner, as the Governor shall appoint and direct; and at all subsequent elections the times, places and manner of holding the elections, shall be prescribed by law. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be declared by the Governor to be duly elected, and a certificate thereof shall be given accordingly. That the Constitution and laws of the United States which are not locally inapplicable, shall have the same force and effect within the said Territory of Nebraska as elsewhere within the United States, except the eighth section of the act preparatory to the admission of Missouri into the Union, approved, March sixth, eighteen hundred and twenty, which, being inconsistent with the principle of non-intervention by Congress with slavery in the States and Territories, as recognized by the legislation of eighteen hundred and fifty, commonly called the Compromise Measures, is hereby declared inoperative and void, it being the true intent and meaning of this act not to legislate slavery into any Territory or State nor to exclude it therefrom, but to leave the people thereof perfectly free to form and regulate their domestic institutions in their own way, subject only to the Constitution of the United States: Provided, That nothing herein contained shall be construed to revive or put in force any law or regulation which may have existed prior to the act of sixth March, eighteen hundred and twenty, either protecting, establishing, prohibiting, or abolishing slavery.

SEC. 15. And be it further enacted, That there shall hereafter be appropriated, as has been customary for the Territorial governments, a sufficient amount, to be expended under the direction of the said Governor of the Territory of Nebraska, not exceeding the sums heretofore appropriated for similar objects, for the erection of suitable public buildings at the seat of government, and for the purchase of a library, to be kept at the seat of government for the use of the Governor, Legislative Assembly, Judges of the Supreme Court, Secretary, Marshal, and Attorney of said Territory, and such other persons, and under such regulations as shall be prescribed by law.

SEC. 16. And be it further enacted, That when the lands in the said Territory shall be surveyed under the direction of the government of the United States, preparatory to bringing the same into market, sections number sixteen and thirty-six in each township in said Territory shall be, and the same are hereby, reserved for the purpose of being applied to schools in said Territory, and in the States and Territories hereafter to be erected out of the same.

SEC. 17. And be it further enacted, That until otherwise provided by law, the Governor of said Territory may define the Judicial Districts of said Territory, and assign the judges who may be appointed for said Territory to the several districts; and also appoint the times and places for holding courts in the several counties or subdivisions in each of said judicial districts by proclamation, to be issued by him; but the Legislative Assembly, at their first or any subsequent session, may organize, alter, or modify such Judicial Districts; and assign the judges, and alter the times and places of holding the courts, as to them shall seem proper and convenient.

SEC 18. And be it further enacted, That all officers to be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, for the Territory of Nebraska, who, by virtue of the provisions of any law now existing, or which may be enacted during the present Congress, are required to give security for moneys that may be intrusted with them for disbursement, shall give such security, at such time and place, and in such manner as the Secretary of the Treasury may prescribe. * * * * *

ENABLING ACT.

An act to enable the people of Nebraska to form a Constitution and State Government, and for the Admission of such State into the Union on an equal footing with the original States.

[Passed April 19, 1864, U. S. Stat. at Large, Vol. 13, p. 47.]

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the inhabitants of that portion of the territory of Nebraska included in the boundaries hereinafter designated be, and they are hereby, authorized to form for themselves a constitution and state government, with the name aforesaid, which state, when so formed, shall be admitted into the Union as hereinafter provided.

The alien inhabitants of the territory of Nebraska at the time of its admission as a state did not become citizens of the United States by virtue of the act of congress admitting the state into the Union. Citizenship obtained by naturalization is to be proven the same as any other order of court. State, ex rel. Thayer, v. Boyd, 31, 721 (48 N. W., 739).

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That the said state of Nebraska shall consist of all the territory included within the following boundaries, to-wit: Commencing at a point formed by the intersection of the western boundary of the state of Missouri with the fortieth degree of north latitude; extending thence due west along said fortieth degree of north latitude to a point formed by its intersection with the twenty-fifth degree of longitude west from Washington; thence north along said twenty-fifth degree of longitude to a point formed by its intersection with the forty-first degree of north latitude; thence west along said forty-first degree of north latitude to a point formed by its intersection with the twenty-seventh degree of longitude west from Washington; thence north along said twenty-seventh degree of west longitude to a point formed by its intersection with the forty-third degree of north latitude; thence east along said forty-third degree of north latitude to the Keya Paha river; thence down the middle of the channel of said river, with its meanderings, to its junction with the Niobrara river; thence down the middle of the channel of said Niobrara river, and following the meanderings thereof, to its junction with the Missouri river; thence down the middle of the channel of said Missouri river, and following the meanderings thereof, to the place of beginning.

Change in channel of Missouri river does not change state boundaries. 4, 438.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That all persons qualified by law to vote for representatives to the general assembly of said territory shall be qualified to be elected; and they are hereby authorized to vote for and choose representatives to form a convention, under such rules and regulations as the governor of said territory may prescribe, and also to vote upon the acceptance or rejection of such constitution as may be formed by said convention, under such rules and regulations as said convention may prescribe; and if any of said citizens are enlisted in the army of the United States, and are still within said territory, they shall be permitted to vote at their place of rendezvous; and if any are absent from said territory, by reason of their enlistment in the army of the United States, they shall be permitted to vote at their place of service, under the rules and regulations in each case to be prescribed as aforesaid; and the aforesaid representatives to form the aforesaid convention shall be apportioned among the several counties in said territory in proportion to the population as near as may be, and said apportionment shall be made for said territory by the governor, United States district attorney, and chief justice thereof, or any two of them. And the governor of said territory shall, by proclamation, on or before the first Monday of May next, order an election of the representatives aforesaid to be held on the first Monday in June thereafter throughout the territory; and such election shall be conducted in the same manner as is prescribed by the laws of said territory regulating elections therein for members of the house of representatives; and the number of members to said convention shall be the same as now constitute both branches of the legislature of the aforesaid territory.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That the members of the convention thus elected shall meet at the capital of said territory on the first Monday in July next, and after organization shall declare, on behalf of the people of said territory, that they adopt the constitution of the United States; whereupon the said convention shall be, and it is hereby, authorized to form a constitution and state government: Provided, That the constitution when formed shall be republican, and not repugnant to the constitution of the United States and the principles of the Declaration of Independence; And provided further, That said constitution shall provide, by an article forever irrevocable, without the consent of the congress of the United States:

First. That slavery or involuntary servitude shall be forever prohibited in said state.

Second. That perfect toleration of religious sentiment shall be secured, and no inhabitant of said state shall ever be molested in person or property on account of his or her mode of religious worship.

Third. That the people inhabiting said territory do agree and declare that they forever disclaim all right and title to the unappropriated public lands lying within said territory, and that the same shall be and remain at the sole and entire disposition of the United States. and that the lands belonging to citizens of the United States residing without the said state shall never be taxed higher than the land belonging to residents thereof; and that no taxes shall be imposed by said state on lands or property therein belonging to or which may hereafter be purchased by the United States.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That in case a constitution and state government shall be formed for the people of said territory of Nebraska, in compliance with the provisions of this act, that said convention forming the same shall provide by ordinance for submitting said constitution to the people of said state for their ratification or rejection at an election to be held on the second Tuesday of October, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four, at such places and under such regulations as may be prescribed therein, at which election the qualified voters, as hereinbefore provided, shall vote directly for or against the proposed constitution, and the returns of said elections shall be made to the acting governor of the territory, who, together with the United States district attorney and chief justice of the said territory, or any two of them, shall canvass the same, and if a majority of the legal votes shall be cast for said constitution in said proposed state, the said acting governor shall certify the same to the president of the United States, together with a copy of the said constitution and ordinances; whereupon it shall be the duty of the president of the United States to issue his proclamation declaring the state admitted into the Union on an equal footing with the original states, without any further action whatever on the part of congress.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That until the next general census shall be taken, said state of Nebraska shall be entitled to one representative in the house of representatives of the United States, which representative, together with the governor and state and other officers provided for in said constitution, may be elected on the same day a vote is taken for or against the proposed constitution and state government.

SEC. 7. And be it further enacted, That sections number sixteen and thirty-six in every township, and when such sections have been sold or otherwise disposed of by any act of congress, other lands, equivalent thereto, in legal subdivisions of not less than one quarter-section, and as contiguous as may be, shall be, and are hereby, granted to said state for the support of common schools.

SEC. 8. And be it further enacted, That provided the state of Nebraska shall be admitted into the Union in accordance with the foregoing provisions of this act, that twenty entire sections of the unappropriated public lands within said state, to be selected and located by direction of the legislature thereof, on or before the first day of January, Anno Domini eighteen hundred and sixty-eight, shall be and they are hereby granted, in legal subdivisions of not less than one hundred and sixty acres, to said state, for the purpose of erecting public buildings at the capital of said state for legislative and judicial purposes, in such manner as the legislature shall prescribe.

SEC. 9. And be it further enacted, That fifty other entire sections of land, as aforesaid, to be selected and located as aforesaid, in legal subdivisions as aforesaid, shall be, and they are hereby, granted to said state for the purpose of erecting a suitable building for a penitentiary or state prison in the manner aforesaid.

SEC. 10. And be it further enacted, That seventy-two other sections of land shall be set apart and reserved for the use and support of a state university, to be selected in manner as aforesaid, and to be appropriated and applied as the legislature of said state may prescribe for the purpose named, and for no other purpose.

SEC. 11. And be it further enacted, That all salt springs within said state, not exceeding twelve in number, with six sections of land adjoining, or as contiguous as may be to each, shall be granted to said state for its use, the said land to be selected by the governor thereof, within one year after the admission of the state, and when so selected to be used or disposed of on such terms, conditions and regulations as the legislature shall direct: Provided, That no salt spring or lands, the right whereof is now vested in any individual or individuals, or which hereafter shall be confirmed or adjudged to any individual or individuals, shall, by this act, be granted to said state.

SEC. 12. And be it further enacted, That five per centum of the proceeds of the sales of all public lands lying within said state, which have been or shall be sold by the United States prior or subsequent to the admission of said state into the Union, after deducting all expenses incident to the same, shall be paid to the said state for the support of the common schools.

SEC. 13. And be it further enacted, That from and after the admission of said state of Nebraska into the Union in pursuance of this act, the laws of the United States, not locally inapplicable, shall have the same force and effect within the said state as elsewhere within the United States; and said state shall constitute one judicial district, and be called the district of Nebraska.

This was not intended to be a general naturalization law, or to make the naturalization laws of the United States apply differently in this state from other states. State, ex rel. Thayer, v. Boyd, 31, 720–721 (48 N. W., 739).

SEC. 14. And be it further enacted, That any unexpended balance of the appropriations for said territorial legislative expenses of Nebraska remaining for the fiscal years eighteen hundred and sixty-three and eighteen hundred and sixty-four, or so much thereof as may be necessary, shall be applied to and used for defraying the expenses of said convention and for the payment of the members thereof, under the same rules, regulations, and rates as are now provided by law for the payment of the territorial legislature.

Approved, April 19, 1864.

ADMISSION.

Whereas, The congress of the United States did, on the ninth day of February, A.D. 1867, pass an act, in the following words, to-wit:

"An act for the admission of the state of Nebraska into the Union."

Whereas, On the twenty-first day of March, A.D. 1864, congress passed an act to enable the people of Nebraska to form a constitution and State government, and offered to admit said State, when so formed, into the Union, upon compliance with certain conditions therein specified; and, whereas, it appears that the said people have adopted a constitution, which, upon due examination, is found to conform to the provisions, and comply with the conditions of said act, and to be republican in its form of government, and that they now ask for admission into the Union: Therefore,

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress Assembled, That the constitution and State government which the people of Nebraska have formed for themselves be, and the same is hereby, accepted, ratified and confirmed, and that the said State of Nebraska shall be, and is hereby, declared to be one of the United States of America, and is hereby admitted into the Union upon an equal footing with the original States, in all respects whatsoever.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That the said state of Nebraska, shall be, and is hereby, declared to be entitled to all the rights, privileges. grants, and immunities, and to be subject to all the conditions and restrictions of an act entitled "An act to enable the people of Nebraska to form a constitution and State government, and for the admission of such State into the Union on an equal footing with the original States." Approved April 19th, 1864.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That this act shall not take effect except upon the fundamental condition, that within the State of Nebraska, there shall be no denial of the elective franchise, or of any other right, to any person, by reason of race or color, excepting Indians not taxed; and upon the further fundamental condition, that the legislature of said State, by a solemn public act, shall declare the assent of said State to the said fundamental condition, and shall transmit to the President of the United States an authentic copy of said act; upon receipt whereof the President, by proclamation shall forthwith announce the fact, whereupon, said fundamental condition shall be held as a part of the organic law of the State, and thereupon, and without any further proceedings on the part of Congress, the admission of said State into the Union shall be considered as complete. Said State legislature shall be convened by the territorial governor, within thirty days after the passage of this act, to act upon the conditions submitted herein.

SCHUYLER COLFAX,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
LAFAYETTE S. FOSTER,
President of the Senate, pro tem.

In the Senate of the United States, February 8, 1867. The President of the United States having returned to the Senate, in which it originated, the bill entitled "An act for the admission of the State of Nebraska into the Union," with his objections thereto, the Senate proceeded in pursuance of the Constitution to reconsider the same; and

Resolved, That the said bill do pass, two-thirds of the Senate agreeing to pass the same.

Attest:

J. W. FORNEY,
Secretary of the Senate.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE,
WASHINGTON, Feb. 12, 1867.

And Whereas, The governor of the territory of Nebraska, did on the 14th day of February, A.D. 1867, make and issue the following proclamation, to-wit: Whereas, the congress of the United States has passed an act admitting, conditionally, Nebraska into the Union, as one of the independent states of the same, and whereas, said condition is in the words following:

And be it further enacted, That this act shall not take effect except upon the fundamental condition, that within said state of Nebraska, there shall be no abridgment or denial of the exercise of the elective franchise, or of any other right to any person by reason of race or color, excepting Indians not taxed; and upon the further fundamental condition, that the legislature of said state, by a solemn public act, shall declare the assent of said state to said fundamental condition, and shall transmit to the president of the United States an authentic copy of said act upon receipt whereof, the president, by proclamation, shall forthwith announce the fact, whereupon said fundamental condition shall be held as a part of the organic law of said state, and thereupon, and without any further proceedings on the part of congress, the admission of said state into the Union shall be considered as complete.

Now, therefore, I, Alvin Saunders, governor of the territory of Nebraska, do call upon the members of the state legislature of Nebraska, to meet at the capitol, in the city of Omaha, on Wednesday, the twentieth day of February, inst., at the hour of two o'clock P.M., for the purpose of taking action upon the conditions as proposed by congress.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and have caused to be affixed the great seal of the territory of Nebraska.

Done at Omaha, this 14th day of February, A.D. 1867.

By the governor ALVIN SAUNDERS.
ALGERNON S. PADDOCK, Secretary.

A PROCLAMATION

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

March 1st, 1867.

Whereas, The Congress of the United States, did, by an act, approved on the nineteenth day of April, 1864, authorize the people of the Territory of Nebraska to form a constitution and State government, and for the admission of such State into the Union, on an equal footing with the original States, upon certain conditions in said act specified: and whereas, said people did adopt a constitution conforming to the provisions and conditions of said act and ask admission into the Union; and whereas, the Congress of the United States did on the eighth and ninth days of February, 1867, in mode prescribed by the constitution, pass a further act for the admission of the State of Nebraska into the Union, in which last named act it was provided that it should not take effect except upon the fundamental condition that within the State of Nebraska there should be no denial of the elective franchise, or of any other right to any person by reason of race or color, excepting Indians not taxed, and upon the further fundamental condition, that the legislature of said State, by a solemn public act, should declare the assent of said State to the said fundamental condition, and should transmit to the President of the United States an authenticated copy of said act of the legislature of said State, upon receipt whereof, the President, by proclamation, should forthwith announce the fact, whereupon the said fundamental condition should be held as a part of the organic law of the State; and thereupon, and without any further proceedings on the part of Congress, the admission of said State into the Union should be considered as complete; and whereas, within the time prescribed by said act of Congress of the eighth and ninth of February, 1867, the legislature of the State of Nebraska did pass an act ratifying the said act of Congress of the eighth and ninth of February, 1867, and declaring that the aforenamed provisions of the third section of said last named act of Congress should be a part of the organic law of the State of Nebraska; and whereas, a duly authenticated copy of said act of the legislature of the State of Nebraska has been received by me:

Now, therefore, I, Andrew Johnson, President of the United States of America, do, in accordance with the provisions of the act of Congress last herein named, declare and proclaim the fact that the fundamental conditions imposed by Congress on the State of Nebraska, to entitle that State to admission to the Union, have been ratified and accepted, and that the admission of the said State into the Union is now complete.

In testimony whereof I have hereto set my hand, and have caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, this first day of March, in the year of our Lord, 1867, and of the Independence of the United States of America the ninety-first.

[Seal] By the President:

ANDREW JOHNSON.

WM. H. SEWARD, Secretary of State.

CONSTITUTION

STATE OF NEBRASKA.

1866.

PREAMBLE.

We, the people of Nebraska, grateful to Almighty God for our freedom, in order to secure its blessings, form a more perfect government, insure domestic tranquility, and promote the general welfare, do establish this Constitution.

ARTICLE I.

DECLARATION OF RIGHTS.

SECTION 1. All men are born equally free and independent, and have certain inherent rights; among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. To secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed.

SEC. 2. There shall be neither slavery nor involuntary servitude in this state, otherwise than for the punishment of crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted.

SEC. 3. Every person may freely speak, write and publish his sentiments on all subjects, being responsible for the abuse of that right, and no law shall be passed to restrain or abridge the liberty of speech and of the press. In all criminal prosecutions or indictments for libel the truth may be given in evidence; and if it shall appear to the jury that the matter charged as libelous be true, and was published with good motives and for justifiable ends, the party shall be acquitted; and the jury shall have the right to determine the law and the fact.

SEC. 4. The right of the people peaceably to assemble to consult for the common good, and to petition the government, or any department thereof, shall never be abridged.

SEC. 5. The right of trial by jury shall remain inviolate, but the legislature may authorize trial by a jury of a less number than twelve men, in inferior courts.

SEC. 6. All persons shall be bailable by sufficient sureties, except for capital offenses, where the proof is evident, or the presumption great. Excessive bail shall not be required; nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

SEC. 7. In all criminal prosecutions and in cases involving the life or liberty of an individual, the accused shall have a right to a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury; to be informed of the accusation against him; to have a copy of the same when demanded; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for his witnesses; and to have the assistance of counsel.

SEC. 8. No person shall be held to answer for a criminal offense unless on the presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases of impeachment, or in cases cognizable by justices of the peace, or arising in the army or in the navy, or the militia, when in actual service in time of war, or public danger; and no person for the same offense shall be put twice in jeopardy of punishment, nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself. All persons shall, before conviction, be bailable by sufficient sureties, except for capital offenses, when the proof is evident or the presumption great; and the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, unless when, in cases of rebellion or invasion, the public safety may require.

SEC. 9. All courts shall be open, and every person, for any injury done him in his land, goods, person or reputation, shall have remedy by due course of law, and justice administered without denial or delay.

SEC. 10. Treason against the state shall consist in levying war against the same, or in adhering to its enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

SEC. 11. The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures shall not be violated; and no warrant shall issue but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the person or things to be seized.

SEC. 12. No bill of attainder, ex-post-facto law, or any law impairing the obligation of contracts shall ever be passed; and no conviction shall work corruption of blood or forfeiture of estate.

SEC. 13. The property of no person shall be taken for public use without just compensation therefor.

SEC. 14. No distinction shall ever be made by law between resident aliens and citizens in reference to the possession, enjoyment, or descent of property.

SEC. 15. No person shall be imprisoned for debt in any civil action on mesne or final process, unless in cases of fraud.

SEC. 16. All men have a natural and indefeasible right to worship Almighty God according to the dictates of their own conscience. No person shall be compelled to attend, erect, or support any place of worship, or maintain any form of worship against his consent, and no preference shall be given by law to any religious society, nor shall any interference with the rights of conscience be permitted. No religious test shall be required as a qualification for office, nor shall any person be incompetent to be a witness on account of his religious belief; but nothing herein shall be construed to dispense with oaths and affirmations. Religion, morality, and knowledge, however, being essential to good government, it shall be the duty of the legislature to pass suitable laws to protect every religious denomination in the peaceable enjoyment of its own mode of public worship, and to encourage schools and the means of instruction.

SEC. 17. The military shall be in strict subordination to the civil power.

SEC. 18. The writ of error shall be the writ of right in all capital cases, and shall act as a supersedeas to stay the execution of the sentence of death until the further order of the supreme court in the premises.

SEC. 19. The blessings of a free government can only be maintained by a firm adherence to justice, moderation, temperance, frugality, and virtue, and by frequent recurrence to fundamental principles.

SEC. 20. This enumeration of rights shall not be construed to impair or deny others retained by the people, and all powers not herein delegated, remain with the people.

ARTICLE II.

LEGISLATIVE.

SECTION 1. The legislative authority of the state shall be vested in a general assembly, which shall consist of a senate and house of representatives, and the style of every law shall be,

"Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Nebraska."

SEC. 2. Every male person of the age of twenty-one years, or upwards, belonging to either of the following classes, who shall have resided in the state, county, precinct, and ward, for the time provided by law, shall be an elector:

First—White citizens of the United States.

Second—White persons of foreign birth who shall have declared their intention to become citizens conformable to the laws of the United States on the subject of naturalization.

SEC. 3. The legislature shall provide by law for an enumeration of the inhabitants of the state in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five, and at the end of every ten years thereafter; and at their first session after such enumeration, and also after each enumeration made by the authority of the United States, the legislature shall apportion and district anew the members of the senate and house of representatives, according to the number of inhabitants, excluding Indians not taxed, and soldiers and officers of the United States army and navy.

SEC. 4. Senators and representatives shall be elected biennially, by electors in the respective counties or districts, on the second Tuesday of October. Their term of office shall commence on the first day of January next thereafter, and continue two years, except the senators and representatives to the first legislature under this constitution, whose election and term of office shall be as hereinafter provided

SEC. 5. The senators and representatives shall be chosen by districts of convenient, contiguous territory, as compact as may be, to be defined by law, except as to the first election which is hereinafter provided for.

SEC. 6. Every white male citizen, who shall be a qualified elector in the district in which he may be chosen to represent, shall be eligible to a seat in the legislature.

SEC. 7. Each house shall be the judge of the election and qualifications of its own members, and a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to do business, but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may compel the attendance of absent members in such manner and under such penalties as each house may provide.

SEC. 8. The senate shall consist of thirteen members, and the house of representatives shall consist of thirty-nine members, and shall not be increased for the term of ten years after the adoption of this constitution: Provided, That after the expiration of the said ten years, the legislature shall have the power to increase the number of senators and representatives, so as to correspond with the increase of the population of the state: Provided, Such number shall at no time be more than twenty-five in the senate, and seventy-five in the house of representatives.

SEC. 9. The mode of organizing the house of representatives at the commencement of each regular session shall be prescribed by law.

SEC. 10. Each house shall choose its own officers, may determine its own rule of proceedings, punish its members for disorderly conduct, and with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member, but not the second time for the same cause; and shall have all other powers necessary to provide for its safety and the undisturbed transaction of its business.

SEC. 11. Each house shall keep a correct journal of its proceedings, which shall be published. At the desire of any three members in the senate, or any five members in the house, the yeas and nays shall be entered upon the journal, and on the passage of every bill, in either house, the vote shall be taken by yeas and nays, and entered upon the journal; and no law shall be passed in either house without the concurrence of a majority of all the members elected thereto.

SEC. 12. The first session of the legislature under this constitution shall be held on the fourth day of July, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six; and all regular sessions thereafter shall commence on the first Thursday after the first Monday in January, biennially. But the legislature may, on extraordinary occasions, be convened by proclamation of the governor, and when so convened, shall transact no business except such as relates to the objects for which they were so convened, to be stated in the proclamation of the governor.

SEC. 13. No member of the legislature shall, during the term for which he was elected, be appointed or elected to any civil office in the state which shall have been created, or the emoluments of which shall have been increased during the term for which he was elected.

SEC. 14. No person being a member of congress, or holding any military or civil office under the United States, shall be eligible to a seat in the legislature; and if any person shall, after his election as a member of the legislature, be elected to congress, or be appointed to any office, civil or military, under the government of the United States' his acceptance thereof shall vacate his seat.

SEC. 15. The governor shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies as may occur in either house of the legislature.

SEC. 16. Members of the legislature shall, in all cases, except treason, felony, or breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest, nor shall they be subjected to any civil process during the session of the legislature, nor for fifteen days next before the commencement and after the termination of each session.

SEC. 17. No member of the legislature shall be liable in any civil action or criminal prosecution whatever for words spoken in debate.

SEC. 18. Bills may originate in either house; but may be altered, amended, or rejected in the other.

SEC. 19. Every bill shall be fully and distinctly read on three different days, unless, in case of urgency, three-fourths of the house in which it shall be pending, shall dispense with this rule. No bill shall contain more than one subject, which shall be clearly expressed in its title; and no law shall be revived or amended, unless the new act contain the entire act revived, and the sections amended; and the section or sections so amended shall be repealed.

SEC. 20. The presiding officer of each house shall sign publicly, in the presence of the house over which he presides, while the same is in session and capable of transacting business, all bills and joint resolutions passed by the legislature.

SEC. 21. Each member of the legislature shall receive for his services three dollars for each day's attendance during the session, and ten cents for every mile he shall travel in going to and returning from the place of meeting of the legislature, on the most usual route. Provided, however, That they shall not receive pay for more than forty days at any one session.

SEC. 22. The legislature shall never authorize any lottery, or grant any divorce.

SEC. 23. The legislature shall provide by law that all stationery required for the use of the state, and all printing authorized and required by them to be done for their use, or for the state, shall be let by contract to the lowest bidder; but the legislature may establish a maximum price. No member of the legislature, or other state officer shall be interested, either directly or indirectly, in any such contract.

SEC. 24. The legislature shall never grant any extra compensation to any public officer, agent, servant, or contractor, after the services shall have been rendered or the contract entered into. Nor shall the compensation of any public officer be increased or diminished during his term of office.

SEC. 25. Members of the legislature, and all officers executive and judicial, except such inferior officers as may be by law exempted, before they enter upon the duties of their respective offices, shall take and subscribe an oath or affirmation to support the constitution of the United States, and the constitution of the state of Nebraska, and faithfully discharge the duties of their respective offices to the best of their ability.

SEC. 26. The legislature shall determine what persons shall constitute the militia of the state, and may provide for organizing and disciplining the same, in such manner as shall be prescribed by law.

SEC. 27. In all elections by the legislature, the members thereof shall vote viva voce, and their votes shall be entered on the journal.

SEC. 28. The house of representatives shall have the sole power of impeachment, but a majority of the members elected must concur therein. Impeachment shall be tried by the senate; and the senators, when sitting for that purpose, shall be upon oath or affirmation to do justice according to law and evidence. No person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the senators.

SEC. 29. The governor, secretary of state, auditor, treasurer, and judges of the supreme and district courts, shall be liable to impeachment for any misdemeanor in office; but judgment in such cases shall extend only to removal from office, and disqualification to hold any office of honor, trust or profit under this state; but the party convicted or acquitted, shall, nevertheless, be liable to indictment, trial and punishment, according to law. All other civil officers shall be tried for misdemeanors in office in such manner as the legislature may provide.

SEC. 30. No money shall be drawn from the treasury, except in pursuance of a specific appropriation made by law; and no appropriation shall be made for a longer period than two years.

SEC. 31. The legislature may declare the cases in which any office shall be deemed vacant, and also the manner of filling the vacancy where no provision is made for that purpose in this constitution.

SEC. 32. The legislature shall not authorize the borrowing of money or the issuance of state bonds for any sum exceeding in the aggregate fifty thousand dollars, without submitting a proposition therefor to a vote of the people for their approval or rejection, except in case of war to repel invasion or suppress insurrection.

ARTICLE III.

EXECUTIVE.

SECTION 1. The executive department shall consist of a governor, secretary of state, auditor and treasurer, who shall be chosen by the electors of the state, on the second Tuesday of October, and at the places of voting for members of the legislature.

SEC. 2. The governor, secretary of state and treasurer shall hold their offices for two years; and the auditor for four years. Their terms of office shall commence on the second Monday of January next after their election, and continue until their successors are elected and qualified.

SEC. 3. The returns of every election; for the officers named in the foregoing section, shall be sealed up and transmitted to the seat of government by the returning officers, directed to the president of the Senate, who, during the first week of the session, shall open and publish them, and declare the result, in the presence of a majority of the members of each house of the legislature. The person having the highest number of votes shall be declared duly elected; but if any two or more shall be highest and equal in votes for the same office, one of them shall be chosen by the joint vote of both houses.

SEC. 4. No person except a citizen of the United States, and a qualified elector of the state, shall be eligible to any office provided for by this constitution.

SEC. 5. Should there be no session of the legislature in January next after an election for any of the officers aforesaid, the returns of such election shall be made to the secretary of state, and opened, and the result declared by the governor, in such manner as may be provided by law.

SEC. 6. The supreme executive power of this state shall be vested in the governor.

SEC. 7. He may require information, in writing, from the officers in the executive department, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices; and shall see that the laws are faithfully executed.

SEC. 8. He shall communicate at every session, by message to the legislature, the condition of the state, and recommend such measures as he shall deem expedient.

SEC. 9. He may, on extraordinary occasions, convene the legislature by proclamation, and shall state to both houses, when assembled, the purpose for which they have been convened.

SEC. 10. In case of disagreement between the two houses in respect to the time of adjournment, he shall have power to adjourn the legislature to such time as he may think proper, but not beyond the regular meetings thereof.

SEC. 11. He shall be commander-in-chief of the military and naval forces of the state, except when they shall be called into the service of the United States.

SEC. 12. He shall have power, after conviction, to grant reprieves, commutations and pardons, for all crimes and offenses except treason and cases of impeachment, upon such conditions as he may think proper; subject, however, to such regulations as to the manner of applying for pardon as may be prescribed by law. Upon conviction for treason, he may suspend the execution of the sentence, and report the case to the legislature, at its next meeting, when the legislature shall either pardon, commute the sentence, direct its execution, or grant a further reprieve. He shall communicate to the legislature at every regular session, each case of reprieve, commutation or pardon granted, stating the name and crime of the convict, the sentence, its date, and the date of the commutation, pardon or reprieve, with his reasons therefor.

SEC. 13. There shall be a seal of the state, which shall be kept by the governor, and used by him officially; and shall be called "The Great Seal of the State of Nebraska."

SEC. 14. All grants and commissions shall be issued in the name and by the authority of the state of Nebraska, sealed with the great seal, signed by the governor, and countersigned by the secretary of state.

SEC. 15. No member of congress, or other person holding office under the authority of this state, or of the United States, shall execute the office of governor, except as herein provided.

SEC. 16. In case of the impeachment of the governor, his removal from office, death, resignation, or absence from the state, the powers and duties of the office shall devolve upon the secretary of state, until such disability shall cease, or the vacancy be filled.

SEC. 17. If, during the vacancy of the office of governor, the secretary of state shall be impeached, displaced, resign, die or be absent from the state, the powers and duties of the office of governor shall devolve upon the president of the senate; and should a vacancy occur by impeachment, death, resignation, or absence from the state of the president of the senate, the speaker of the house of representatives shall act as governor till the vacancy be filled.

SEC. 18. The governor shall receive during his continuance in office an annual compensation of one thousand dollars; the secretary of state, six hundred dollars; the state treasurer, four hundred dollars; and the state auditor, eight hundred dollars.

SEC. 19. Every bill which shall have passed the legislature, shall before it becomes a law, be presented to the governor. If he approves, he shall sign it; but if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to that house in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large upon the journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of the members present shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by two-thirds of the members present, it shall become a law. But in all cases, the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the members voting for or against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the governor within three days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law, unless the legislature shall by their adjournment prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law

SEC. 20. The secretary, auditor, and treasurer of state, shall severally perform such duties as shall be prescribed by law.

ARTICLE IV.

JUDICIARY.

SECTION 1. The judicial power of the state shall be vested in a supreme court, district courts, probate courts, justices of the peace, and such inferior courts as the legislature may from time to time establish.

The supreme court shall consist of a chief justice and two associate justices, any two of whom shall constitute a quorum, and shall hold a term of the supreme court at the seat of government of the state annually. Said supreme judges shall be elected by the qualified electors of the state, at such time and in such manner as may be provided by law. Said justices of the supreme court shall hold their office for the term of six years from the time of their election and until their successor shall have been elected and qualified.

SEC. 2. The state shall be divided into three judicial districts, and the district courts shall be held at such times and places as may be provided by law, and the legislature shall by law assign the justices to hold district courts in the several districts: Provided, That until the legislature shall have provided by law, the governor shall have authority to make such assignment.

SEC. 3. The supreme court shall have appellate jurisdiction only, except in cases relating to revenue, mandamus, quo warranto, habeas corpus and such cases of impeachment as may be required to be tried before it; and both the supreme and district courts shall have both chancery and common law jurisdiction.

SEC. 4. The jurisdiction of the several courts herein provided for both appellate and original shall be as fixed by law: Provided, That probate courts, justices of the peace, or any inferior court, that may be established by the legislature shall not have jurisdiction in any matter wherein the title or boundaries of land may be in dispute. Nor shall either of the courts mentioned in this proviso have the power to order or decree the sale or partition of real estate: and Provided, further, that justices of the peace, and such inferior courts as may be established by the legislature, shall not have jurisdiction when the debt or sum claimed shall exceed one hundred dollars, and the jurisdiction of the district or probate courts, and justices of the peace, shall be uniform throughout the state.

SEC. 5. Probate judges, justices of the peace, and persons holding inferior courts, herein authorized to be established by the legislature, shall be elected by the electors of the several districts for which they may be elected in the manner and time fixed by law.

SEC. 6. The salary of the justices of the supreme court shall be two thousand dollars each per annum and no more; and all other judicial officers shall be paid for their services in fees to be prescribed by law.

SEC. 7. The legislature shall by law provide that on the entry or commencement of any suit in the district court, the party so commencing or entering such suit, shall, before the same is commenced or entered, pay to the clerk of the said district court the sum of five dollars; and in like manner on the entry or commencement of any suit in the supreme court, shall pay the sum of ten dollars to the clerk thereof, which money so paid shall be for use of the state, and shall be paid by said clerks to the proper officers designated by law, as by law may be required; which money so received shall be held and esteemed as a judiciary fund, and to be applied in payment of the salaries of the justices of the supreme court. Which amounts so paid shall be taxed as costs against the unsuccessful party, and collected as other costs: Provided, the legislature may provide by law for dispensing with the payment of said sums of money in cases where the party so commencing or entering suit shall be really unable to pay the same, and the amount shall in all cases be taxed and collected as other costs: Provided, also, that the legislature shall have power whenever the amount so received shall exceed the salaries of the judges of the supreme court, to reduce the amount to be paid so that the gross amount will not exceed such salaries.

SEC. 8. The legislature may, after the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five, increase the number of justices of the supreme court, and the judicial districts of the state.

SEC. 9. In all cases heard before the supreme court, as an appellate court, the justice who may have tried such cause in the court below, shall not participate in the decision thereof, until the other two justices, if present, shall have failed to agree in the decision of such cause.

SEC. 10. All process, writs, and other proceedings, shall run in the name of "The People of the State of Nebraska."

ARTICLE V.

FINANCE.

SECTION 1. No money shall be paid out of the treasury, except in pursuance of an appropriation by law.

SEC. 2. The credit of the state shall never be given or bound in aid of any individual, association or corporation.

SEC. 3. The legislature shall provide for an annual tax sufficient to defray the estimated expenses of the state for each year, and whenever the expenses of any year shall exceed the income, the legislature shall provide for levying a tax for the ensuing year, sufficient, with other sources of income, to pay the deficiency, as well as the estimated expenses of such ensuing year.

SEC. 4. For the purpose of defraying extraordinary expenditures, the state may contract public debts; but such debts shall never in the aggregate exceed fifty thousand dollars. Every such debt shall be authorized by law, for some purpose or purposes to be distinctly specified therein; and the vote of a majority of all the members elected to each house, to be taken by yeas and nays, shall be necessary to the passage of such laws; and every such law shall provide for the levying of an annual tax sufficient to pay the annual interest of such debt, and the principal within ten years from the passage of such law; and shall specially appropriate the proceeds of such taxes to the payment of such principal and interest; and such appropriation shall not be repealed, nor the taxes be postponed or diminished until the principal and interest of such debts shall have been wholly paid.

SEC. 5. The legislature may also borrow money to repel invasion, suppress insurrection, or defend the state in time of war; but the money thus raised shall be applied exclusively to the object for which the loan was authorized, or to the re-payment of the debt thereby created.

SEC. 6. The state shall never contract any debt for works of internal improvement, or be a party in carrying on such works; but whenever grants of land or other property shall have been made to the state, especially dedicated by the grant to particular works of internal improvement, the state may carry on such particular works, and shall devote thereto the avails of such grant, and may pledge or appropriate the revenues derived from such works in aid of their completion.

ARTICLE VI.

EMINENT DOMAIN.

SECTION 1. The state shall have concurrent jurisdiction on all rivers bordering on this state, so far as such rivers shall form a common boundary to the state, and any other state or territory now and hereafter to be formed and bounded by the same. And the river Missouri, and the navigable waters leading into the Missouri, and the carrying places between the same, shall be common highways, and forever free, as well as to the inhabitants of the state as to the citizens of the United States, without any tax, impost, or duty therefor.

SEC. 2. The title of all lands and other property, which have accrued to the territory of Nebraska, by grant, gift, purchase, forfeiture, escheat, or otherwise, shall vest in the state of Nebraska.

SEC. 3. The people of the state, in their right of sovereignty, are declared to possess the ultimate property in and to all lands within the jurisdiction of the state; and all lands, the title to which shall fail from defect of heirs, shall revert or escheat to the people.

ARTICLE VII.

EDUCATION.

SECTION 1. The principal of all funds arising from the sale, or other disposition of lands or other property, granted or intrusted to this state for educational and religious purposes, shall forever be preserved inviolate and undiminished; and the income arising therefrom shall be faithfully applied to the specific objects of the original grants or appropriations. The legislature shall make such provisions by taxation or otherwise, as, with the income arising from the school trust fund, will secure a thorough and efficient system of common schools throughout the state; but no religious sect or sects shall ever have any exclusive right to, or control of, any part of the school funds of this state.

SEC. 2. The university lands, school lands, and all other lands which have been acquired by the territory of Nebraska or which may hereafter be acquired by the state of Nebraska, for educational or school purposes, shall not be aliened or sold for a less sum than five dollars per acre.

ARTICLE VIII.

CORPORATIONS.

SECTION 1. The legislature shall pass no special act conferring corporate powers.

SEC. 2. Corporations may be formed under general laws.

SEC. 3. The property of corporations now existing or hereafter created, shall forever be subject to taxation, the same as the property of individuals.

SEC. 4. The legislature shall provide for the organization of cities and incorporated villages by general laws; and restrict their power of taxation, assessment, borrowing money, contracting debts and loaning their credits, so as to prevent the abuse of such power.

ARTICLE IX.

AMENDMENTS.

SECTION 1. If at any time a majority of the senate and house of representatives shall deem it necessary to call a convention to revise or change this constitution, they shall recommend to the electors to vote for or against a convention at the next election for members of the legislature; and if it shall appear that a majority of the electors voting thereon have voted for a convention, the legislature shall at its next session provide for calling such convention.

ARTICLE X.

BOUNDARIES.

SECTION 1. The state of Nebraska shall consist of all the territory included within the following boundaries, to-wit: Commencing at a point formed by the intersection of the western boundary of the State of Missouri, with the fortieth degree of north latitude; extending thence due west along said fortieth degree of north latitude, to a point formed by its intersection with the twenty-fifth degree of longitude west from Washington; thence north along said twenty-fifth degree of longitude, to a point formed by its intersection with the forty-first degree of north latitude; thence west along said forty-first degree of north latitude to a point formed by its intersection with the twenty-seventh degree of longitude west from Washington; thence north along said twenty-seventh degree of west longitude, to a point formed by its intersection with the forty-third degree of north latitude; thence east along said forty-third degree of north latitude to the Reya Paha river; thence down the middle of the channel of said river, with its meanderings, to its junction with the Niobrara river; thence down the middle of the channel of said Niobrara river, and following the meanderings thereof to its junction with the Missouri river; thence down the middle of the channel of said Missouri river, and following the meanderings thereof to the place of beginning.

ARTICLE XI.

SCHEDULE.

SECTION 1. That no inconvenience may arise from the change of territorial government to a state government, it is declared that all rights, suits, actions, prosecutions, judgments, recognizances, claims and contracts, both as respects persons and bodies-corporate, shall continue and be enforced, as if no change had taken place, and all laws, now in force shall remain in force until altered, amended, or repealed by the legislature; Provided, Wherever the word territory shall occur, it shall be construed to mean state, whenever it may be necessary, in order that such laws may conform to tne state government.

SEC. 2. All debts, fines, penalties, recognizances, and forfeitures, due and owing to the territory of Nebraska, shall inure to the benefit of the state, and all obligations and bonds to the territory of Nebraska or any officer thereof, shall be esteemed and taken as due and owing to the state of Nebraska, and may be in such manner enforced.

SEC. 3. The governor and all other officers of the territorial government, shall continue to discharge and exercise the duties of their respective offices, until superseded by the provisions of this constitution or the officers appointed or elected by authority of its provisions.

SEC. 4. The first election for governor, secretary of state, auditor of state, one representative to congress, the justices of the supreme court, the members of the senate and house of representatives, shall be held on the second day of June, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, at the places and in the manner now prescribed by law for general elections. The members of the senate shall be elected in and from the same districts that are now prescribed by law for councilmen districts. The members of the house of representatives shall be elected in and from the same districts that are now prescribed by law, for members of the house of representatives of the territory of Nebraska, and all the officers mentioned, to-wit: senators and representatives shall hold their offices until the first Monday in January, A D., 1867; governor, secretary of state, state auditor and treasurer, until the second Monday in January, A.D., 1869, and until their successors are elected and qualified; the supreme judges until the first day of January, A.D., 1873.

SEC. 5. The first session of the legislature shall be held at the capitol in the city of Omaha, commencing on the fourth day of July, A.D., 1866.

SEC. 6. This constitution is formed, and the state of Nebraska asks to be admitted into the union on an equal footing with the original states on the condition and faith of the terms of the propositions stated and specified in an act of congress, approved, April nineteenth, 1864, authorizing the people of the territory to form a constitution and state government; the people of the state of Nebraska hereby accepting the conditions in said act specified.

SEC. 7. The foregoing constitution shall be submitted to the electors of the territory of Nebraska at an election to be held on the second day of June in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, in the several election districts of this territory. The ballots at such elections shall be written or printed as follows:

Those in favor of the constitution, "For the Constitution."

Those against the constitution, "Against the Constitution."

The polls at such elections shall be open at the hour of nine o'clock A.M., and close at six o'clock P.M., and the returns of such elections shall be made to the acting governor of the territory, who together with the United States district attorney and chief justice of the territory, or any two of them, shall canvass the same, and if a majority of the legal votes shall be cast for said constitution, the same shall be the constitution of Nebraska.

Said governor shall certify the same to the president of the United States; Provided, that the said election shall be conducted and the returns made in the same manner and under the same regulations as are prescribed by law, in the case of the election of territorial officers.

The election returns for the governor, secretary of state, auditor, treasurer and supreme judges, shall be made to the same officers, and the canvass of such return made in the same manner as is now prescribed by law for delegates in congress.

Resolved by the Council and House of Representatives of the territory of Nebraska, That the foregoing constitution be submitted to the qualified electors of the territory, for their adoption or rejection, at an election, hereby authorized to be held at the time and in the manner specified in the seventh (7th) section of the schedule of said constitution, and that the returns and canvass of the votes cast at said election be made as in said section prescribed.

JAMES G. MEGEATH,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
O. P. MASON,
President of the Council.
ALVIN SAUNDERS,
Governor of the Territory of Nebraska.

Approved, February 9th, 1866.

CONSTITUTION

STATE OF NEBRASKA.

IN FORCE NOVEMBER 1, 1875.

PREAMBLE.

We, the people, grateful to Almighty God for our freedom, do ordain and establish the following declaration of rights and frame of government as the constitution of the state of Nebraska:

ARTICLE I.—BILL OF RIGHTS.

SECTION 1. All persons are by nature free and independent, and have certain inherent and inalienable rights; among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. To secure these rights, and the protection of property, governments are instituted among people, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed.

See State v. Corner, 22, 266 (34 N. W., 499).

SEC. 2. There shall be neither slavery nor involuntary servitude in this state, otherwise than for punishment of crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted.

SEC. 3. No person shall be deprived of life, liberty, or property without due process of law.

Penalty for failure to remove fence not in conflict with this. Black v. Stein, 23, 303 (36 N. W., 548). Complainant cannot be imprisoned for costs under section 322 of Criminal Code. State v. Ensign, 11, 532 (10 N. W., 449). "Due process of law" and "law of the land" mean same thing, and are designed to exclude arbitrary power from every branch of our government. A. & N. R. R. Co. v. Baty, 6, 42. Martin v. State, 23, 377 (36 N. W., 554). Nor can courts dictate to county board the amount they shall pay for services of an attorney. County of Boone v. Armstrong, 23, 764 (37 N. W., 626). The property of the individual cannot be taken by the legislature and given to another, or to a corporation. Turner v. Althaus, 6, 71. Tax is property. Board of equalization cannot raise the tax without notice to the individual. South Platte Land Co. v. Buffalo County, 7, 258. The legislature cannot deprive the individual of a vested right. Lincoln Building & Saving Association v. Graham, 7, 180. A defendant may question the jurisdiction of the court, and the validity of the service upon him. Frazier v. Miles, 10, 114 (4 N. W., 930). Courts cannot take property except by due process, notice, and proceeding legally. Wescott v. Archer, 12, 348 (11 N. W., 491). A general statute curing defects in previously executed city and village plats is not a taking of property without due process of law. Weeping Water v. Reed, 21, 268 (31 N. W., 797). A foreign corporation cannot exercise right of eminent domain. Trester v. M. P. Ry. Co., 23, 247 (36 N. W., 502). A liquor license is not property, and may be taken away by the state at pleasure. Martin v. State, 23, 377 (36 N. W., 554).

SEC. 4. [Freedom of conscience.]—All persons have a natural and indefeasible right to worship Almighty God according to the dictates of their own consciences. No person shall be compelled to attend, erect, or support any place of worship against his consent, and no preference shall be given by law to any religious society, nor shall any interference with the rights of conscience be permitted. No religious test shall be required as a qualification for office, nor shall any person be incompetent to be a witness on account of his religious belief; but nothing herein shall be construed to dispense with oaths and affirmations. Religion, morality, and knowledge, however, being essential to good government, it shall be the duty of the legislature to pass suitable laws to protect every religious denomination in the peaceable enjoyment of its own mode of public worship, and to encourage schools and the means of instruction.

SEC. 5. Every person may freely speak, write, and publish on all subjects, being responsible for the abuse of that liberty; and in all trials for libel, both civil and criminal, the truth, when published with good motives and for justifiable ends, shall be a sufficient defense.

SEC. 6. The right of trial by jury shall remain inviolate, but the legislature may authorize trial by a jury of a less number than twelve men, in courts inferior to the district court.

Cases of mutual accounts may be examined into by jury. Lamaster v. Scofield , 155. This does not apply to offenses against city ordinance. Liberman v. State, 26, 466 (4 . N. W., 419). Garnishee cannot be ordered to pay over money without a suit, if he sets up any legal or equitable claim to it. Clark v. Foxworthy, 14, 242 (15 N. W., 342). Cited, Pleuler v. State, 11, 573 (10 N. W., 481). Trial by jury may be waived. Gregory v. Lincoln, 13, 357 (14 N. W., 423). Contempt is triable without a jury. Gandy v. State, 13, 451 (14 N. W., 143). Equitable actions not triable by jury. Mills v. Miller, 3, 94. Mechanics' lien foreclosure not triable by jury. Dohle v. Omaha Foundry, 15, 437 (19 N. W., 644).

SEC. 7. The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures shall not be violated; and no warrants shall issue but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched and the person or thing to be seized.

SEC. 8. The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, unless, in case of rebellion or invasion, the public safety requires it, and then only in such manner as shall be prescribed by law.

SEC. 9. All persons shall be bailable by sufficient sureties, except for treason and murder, where the proof is evident or the presumption great. Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

The lower courts must not demand excessive bail. Miller v. Wood, 23, 209 (36 N. W., 483).

SEC. 10. [Felonies—Prosecution.]—No person shall be held to answer for a criminal offense, except in cases in which the punishment is by fine or imprisonment, otherwise than in the penitentiary, in case of impeachment, and in cases arising in the army and navy or in the militia, when in actual service in time of war or public danger, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury; Provided, That the legislature may, by law, provide for holding persons to answer for criminal offenses on information of a public prosecutor; and may, by law, abolish, limit, change, amend, or otherwise regulate the grand jury system.

Information may take place of indictment. Miller v. State, 29, 440 (45 N. W., 451).

SEC. 11. In all criminal prosecutions the accused shall have the right to appear and defend in person or by counsel, to demand the nature and cause of accusation, and to have a copy thereof; to meet the witnesses against him face to face; to have process to compel the attendance of witnesses in his behalf, and a speedy public trial by an impartial jury of the county or district in which the offense is alleged to have been committed.

One having formed an opinion from reading reports of testimony is incompetent as a juror, though he may swear that he can return an impartial verdict. Carroll v. State, 5, 34. Fundamental principle of law that the property of one person cannot be given to another without his consent. Turner v. Althaus, 6, 71. One having expressed or formed an opinion is incompetent as a juror. Curry v. State, 4, 548. Judge has a right to designate the county in which a prisoner shall be tried for committing a crime in unorganized territory. Dodge v. People, 4, 226. Where defendant was indicted for felony, county was not liable for costs of his witnesses. Hewerkle v. Gage County, 14, 19 (14 N. W., 549). The word "district" defined. Olive v. State, 11, 13 (7 N. W., 444). A county organized, but not for judicial purposes, is not a "district" under this section. Olive v. State, 11, 13 (7 N. W., 444). See Weigel v. City of Hastings, 29, 379 (45 N. W., 694). See note to section 3 citing State v. Ensign, 11, 532 (10 N. W., 449). Jury trial not allowed in contempt cases. Gandy v. State, 13, 451 (14 N. W. 143). Court must grant change of venue upon proper showing. Richmond v. State, 15, 391 (20 N. W., 282). Testimony of a deceased witness given at former trial may be shown. Hair v. State, 16, 601 (21 N. W., 464).

SEC. 12. No person shall be compelled, in any criminal case, to give evidence against himself, or be twice put in jeopardy for the same offense.

Has no reference to recovering penalty for illegal sale of liquors. Mitchell v. State, 12, 540 (11 N. W., 848). Verdict of murder in first degree on first trial not an acquittal of crime of murder in first degree at second trial. Bohanan v. State, 18, 60 (24 N. W., 390). See on this subject, Conklin v. State, 25, 794 (41 N. W., 788), and Murphy v. State, 25, 809 (41 N. W., 792).

SEC. 13. All courts shall be open, and every person, for any injury done him in his lands, goods, person or reputation, shall have a remedy by due course of law, and justice administered without denial or delay.

Legislature clothed with power to furnish the necessary tribunal for the prompt disposition of cases pending in the courts. In re Groff, 21, 661 (33 N. W., 426). The provisions of this section are broader than those of the common law. The court may compel the speaker of the house to do a duty enjoined upon him by the constitution. State, ex rel. Benton, v. Elder, 31, 185 (47 N. W., 710). An Indian may litigate his title to land in the courts. Felix v. Patrick (Circ. Ct.), 36 Fed. Rep., 457.

SEC. 14. Treason against the state shall consist only in levying war against the state, or in adhering to its enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

SEC. 15. All penalties shall be proportioned to the nature of the offense, and no conviction shall work corruption of blood or forfeiture of estate; nor shall any person be transported out of the state for any offense committed within the state.

Penalty for failure to remove fence not in conflict with this. Black v. Stein, 23, 303 (36 N. W., 548).

SEC. 16. [Prohibited legislation.]—No bill of attainder, ex post facto law, or law impairing the obligation of contracts, or making any irrevocable grant of special privileges or immunities, shall be passed.

Law interfering with vested rights not valid. Lincoln B. & S. Ass'n v. Graham, 7, 180. Law changing the mode of enforcing a contract valid. Jones v. Davis, 6, 36. Act requiring holder of county warrant to take bonds in payment bearing a less rate of interest unconstitutional. Brewer v. Otoe County, 1, 381. Ex post facto law defined. Law changing procedure or manner of enforcing punishment after commission of offense is not ex post facto Marion v. State, 16, 353 (20 N. W., 289), and 20, 248 (29 N. W., 911). Donation of lands to a railroad is a contract which cannot be impaired by subsequent disposition of them. Koenig v. O. & N. W. R. R. Co., 3, 383. A mechanic's lien law affecting buildings under contract at the time of the taking effect of said act does not violate this section. Colpetzer v. Trinity Church, 24, 123 (37 N. W., 931).

SEC. 17. The military shall be in strict subordination to the civil power.

SEC. 18. No soldier shall, in time of peace, be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner; nor in time of war, except in the manner prescribed by law.

SEC. 19. The right of the people, peaceably, to assemble to consult for the common good, and to petition the government, or any department thereof, shall never be abridged.

SEC. 20. No person shall be imprisoned for debt in any civil action on mesne or final process, unless in cases of fraud.

Village occupation tax a mere civil liability and cannot be enforced by imprisonment. State

v. Green, 27, 64 (42 N. W., 913). Does not apply to imprisonment for bastardy. Ex parte Cottrell, 13, 193, 195 (13 N. W., 174). Ex parte Donahoe, 24, 69 (38 N. W., 28).

SEC. 21. [Eminent domain.]—The property of no person shall be taken or damaged for public use without just compensation therefor.

Words "or damaged" were not in the old constitution of 1866. History of section; general benefits to property at large do not lessen the damage, special benefits may. Challer v. City of Omaha, 23, 331 (36 N. W., 533). The words "or damaged" inserted to cover a class of cases not provided for in former section. O. & R. V. R. R. Co. v. Standen, 22, 351 (35 N. W., 183). "Damaged" includes all diminution in value of property caused by the exercise of the right of eminent domain. C., K. & N. R. R. Co. v. Hazels, 26, 371 (42 N. W., 93). Railroad company liable for damages to a lot owner by reason of running its road through an alley adjoining his lot. Gottschalk v. C., B. & Q. R. R. Co., 14, 554 (16 N. W., 475). When, on appeal in right of way case, the owner recovers more damage than was found by the commissioners, he may have interest thereon from the time he was entitled to compensation. Sioux City R. R. v. Brown, 13, 320 (14 N. W., 407). Railroad company is a trespasser if they enter land before condemnation made. R. V. R. R. Co. v. Fink, 18, 86 (24 N. W., 439). Law giving double damages for injuries done by railroad void. A. & N. R. R. Co. v. Baty, 6, 46. A city is liable for damage occasioned by filling in street after buildings erected. Harmon v. Omaha, 17, 548 (23 N. W., 503). Hammond v. City of Harvard, 31, 645 (48 N. W., 462). Cited, Jenel v. Green Island Draining Co., 12, 166 (10 N. W., 547); Goodrich v. City of Omaha, 10, 101 (4 N. W., 424). A right of action lies for damage to property by construction of a public improvement, although the work has been carefully and skillfully performed. City of Plattsmouth v. Boeck, 32, 301 (49 N. W., 167). It is not necessary that any part of an individual's property should be actually taken for public use to entitle him to compensation. O. & N. P. R. Co. v. Janecek, 30, 278 (46 N. W., 478). This does not authorize an absolute injunction to the use of a street by a railway. Omaha Horse Railway Co. v. Cable Tramway Co. (Dist. Neb.), 30 Fed. Rep., 331.

SEC. 22. All elections shall be free; and there shall be no hindrance or impediment to the right of a qualified voter to exercise the elective franchise.

A registration law depriving an elector of the right to vote unless registered on one of four days, the last ten days before the election, is void. State v. Corner, 22, 265 (34 N. W., 499).

SEC. 23. The writ of error shall be a writ of right in all cases of felony; and in capital cases shall operate as a supersedeas to stay the execution of the sentence of death until the further order of the supreme court in premises.

Prisoner must pay for his transcript. State, ex rel. Rustmeyer, v. Moore, 8, 24.

SEC. 24. The right to be heard in all civil cases in the court of last resort, by appeal, error, or otherwise, shall not be denied.

This, in effect, repeals section 583 Civil Code. State v. Dodge County, 20, 604 (31 N. W., 117). State v. Babcock, 19, 239 (27 N. W., 98). Appeal lies from decree granting divorce. Brotherton v. Brotherton, 12, 73 (10 N. W., 543). Right to review cases in court of last resort cannot be abridged. Storms v. Eaton, 5, 454.

SEC. 25. No distinction shall ever be made by law between resident aliens and citizens in reference to the possession, enjoyment, or descent of property.

A resident alien may be entitled to benefit of exemption laws. People v. McClay, 2, 9. Swaney v. Hutchins, 13, 267 (13 N. W., 282).

SEC. 26. This enumeration of rights shall not be construed to impair or deny others retained by the people, and all powers not herein delegated remain with the people.

ARTICLE II.—DISTRIBUTION OF POWERS.

SECTION 1. The powers of the government of this state are divided into three distinct departments: the legislative, executive, and judicial, and no person, or collection of persons, being one of these departments, shall exercise any power properly belonging to either of the others, except as hereinafter expressly directed or permitted.

The making of laws is allotted to the legislature, their exposition and application to the courts. The legislature cannot by enactment control the courts in their construction and application of a former law. Lincoln Building & Saving Association v. Graham, 7, 180. Neither can the legislature confer executive authority upon a commission established by it. In re Railroad Commissioners, 15, 681.

ARTICLE III.—LEGISLATIVE.

SECTION 1. The legislative authority is vested in a senate and house of representatives.

An act interpreting former laws, and in effect a mandate to courts to so construe them, void. Lincoln Building & Saving Association v. Graham, 7, 180.

SEC. 2. The legislature shall provide by law for an enumeration of the inhabitants of the state in the year eighteen hundred and eighty-five, and every ten years thereafter; and at its first regular session after each enumeration, and also after each enumeration made by the authority of the United States, but at no other time, the legislature shall apportion the senators and representatives according to the number of inhabitants, excluding Indians not taxed, and soldiers and officers of the United States army and navy.

County omitted from apportionment act retains its existing representation. State v. Van Duyn, 24, 588 (39 N W., 612).

SEC. 3. The house of representatives shall consist of eighty-four members, and the senate shall consist of thirty members, until the year eighteen hundred and eighty, after which time the number of members of each house shall be regulated by law; but the number of representatives shall never exceed one hundred, nor that of senators thirty-three. The sessions of the legislature shall be biennial, except as otherwise provided in this constitution. (See chapter 3, "Apportionment.")

On March 2, 1887, the following amendment to sec. 4, art. III, was declared to have been adopted at the general election in 1886 (See Laws of 1887, p. 69, and proclamation of Governor Thayer, Senate Journal 1887, p. 764):

SEC. 4. The terms of office of members of the legislature shall be two years, and they shall each receive pay at the rate of five dollars per day during their sitting, and ten cents for every mile they shall travel in going to and returning from the place of meeting of the legislature, on the most usual route; Provided, however, That they shall not receive pay for more than sixty days at any one sitting, nor more than one hundred days during their term. That neither members of the legislature nor employes shall receive any pay or perquisites other than their salary and mileage. Each session, except special sessions, shall not be less than sixty days. After the expiration of forty days of the session, no bills nor joint resolutions of the nature of bills shall be introduced, unless the governor shall by special message call the attention of the legislature to the necessity of passing a law on the subject-matter embraced in the message, and the introduction of bills shall be restricted thereto.

There is no law authorizing a standing committee of either house to employ a clerk, and auditor cannot be compelled to draw a warrant to pay such clerk for his services. State, ex rel. Squires, v. Wallichs, 14, 440 (16 N. W., 481).

SEC. 5. No person shall be eligible to the office of senator or member of the house of representatives, who shall not be an elector, and have resided within the district from which he is elected for the term of one year next before his election, unless he shall have been absent on the public business of the United States, or of this state. And no person elected as aforesaid shall hold his office after he shall have removed from such district.

SEC. 6. No person holding office under the authority of the United States, or any lucrative office under the authority of this state, shall be eligible to or have a seat in the legislature; but this provision shall not extend to precinct or township officer, justices of the peace, notaries public, or officers of the militia; nor shall any person interested in a contract with, or an unadjusted claim against the state, hold a seat in the legislature.

SEC. 7. [Rules.]—The session of the legislature shall commence at twelve o'clock (noon) on the first Tuesday in January, in the year next ensuing the election of members thereof, and at no other time, unless as provided by this constitution. A majority of the members elected to each house shall constitute a quorum. Each house shall determine the rules of its proceedings, and be the judge of the election returns, and qualifications of its members; shall choose its own officers; and the senate shall choose a temporary president to preside when the lieutenant governor shall not attend as president, or shall act as governor. The secretary of state shall call the house of representatives to order at the opening of each new legislature, and preside over it until a temporary presiding officer thereof shall have been chosen and shall have taken his seat. No member shall be expelled by either house, except by a vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to that house, and no member shall be twice expelled for the same offense. Each house may punish by imprisonment any person, not a member thereof, who shall be guilty of disrespect to the house, by disorderly or contemptuous behavior in its presence, but no such imprisonment shall extend beyond twenty-four hours at one time, unless the person shall persist in such disorderly or contemptuous behavior.

The right to punish for contempt is inherent in every court having common law jurisdiction. Rottman v. Bartling, 22, 375 (37 N. W., 668).

SEC. 8. Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and publish them (except such parts as may require secrecy), and the yeas and nays of the members on any question shall, at the desire of any two of them, be entered on the journal. All votes in either house shall be viva voce. The doors of each house and of [the] committee of the whole shall be open, unless when the business shall be such as ought to be kept secret. Neither house shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days.

The legislative journals are official records of the proceedings of their respective houses, and if they show that a bill did not actually pass, the legal presumption in favor of the certificate that it had passed would be overthrown. State v. McLelland, 18, 241 (25 N. W., 77). Certificate of presiding officer that a bill has passed is prima facie only, and evidence to show that it did not actually pass will be considered by the court. State v. McLelland, 18, 241 (25 N. W., 77). State v. Robinson, 20, 96 (29 N. W., 246). Where a bill passed one house and was amended in the other, but the journal did not show concurrence in the amendments, held, act valid. Hull v. Miller, 4, 506.

SEC. 9. Any bill may originate in either house of the legislature, except bills appropriating money, which shall originate only in the house of representatives, and all bills passed by one house may be amended by the other.

SEC. 10. The enacting clause of a law shall be, "Be it enacted by the legislature of the state of Nebraska," and no law shall be enacted except by bill. No bill shall be passed unless by assent of a majority of all the members elected to each house of the legislature. And the question upon the final passage shall be taken immediately upon its last reading, and the yeas and nays shall be entered upon the journal.

SEC. 11. Every bill and concurrent resolution shall be read at large on three different days in each house, and the bill and all amendments thereto shall be printed before the vote is taken upon its final passage. No bill shall contain more than one subject, and the same shall be clearly expressed in its title. And no law shall be amended unless the new act contains the section or sections so amended, and the section or sections so amended shall be repealed. The presiding officer of each house shall sign, in the presence of the house over which he presides, while the same is in session and capable of transacting business, all bills and concurrent resolutions passed by the legislature.

Bill to have but one general object, which must be fairly expressed in the title. City of Tecumseh v. Phillips, 5, 311. White v. City of Lincoln, 5, 516. Amendatory act valid if no inconsistent with title and subject-matter of amended one, though there be apparent confusion in application to provisions sought to be amended. Fenton v. Yule, 27, 764, (43 N. W., 1140). Call Pub. Co. v.

Lincoln, 29, 149 (45 N. W., 245). A provision in an amendatory act repealing an act not connected with the subject of the amendment is void. Where title has two subjects, act may be sustained as to one. State, ex rel. Miller, v. Lancaster Co., 17, 85 (22 N. W., 228). Part of an act may be valid and part not. Ex parte Thomason, 16, 239 (20 N. W., 312). Muldoon v. Levi, 25, 457 (41 N. W., 280. One house cannot amend title of bill originating in the other. Ballou v. Black, 17, 394 (23 N. W., 3). It is sufficient if subject is fairly expressed in the title. State v. Ream, 16, 683 (21 N. W., 398). Title an index to legislative intent. State, ex rel. Jones, v. Lancaster Co., 6, 485. Title of amendatory act cannot be broader than the original. B. & M. R. R. Co. v. Saunders Co., 9, 511 (4 N. W., 240). An act broader than its title may be declared void as to the excess, but valid as to the rest. Messenger v State, 25, 676 (41 N. W., 638). "An act to prohibit the fraudulent transfer of property and to declare the same a crime and to prescribe the punishment thereof," held constitutional, the act having but one subject. Herold v. State, 21, 53 (31 N. W., 258). The title of the act of June 6, 1871, amending sections 50, 51, 71, and 105 of revenue act, valid. Miller v. Hurford, 13, 17 (12 N. W., 832). Section 3 of "An act to exempt homesteads from judicial sale," approved February 19, 1877, is within the title and is valid. Bonorden v. Kriz, 13, 122 (12 N. W., 831). The title of the act which took effect September 1, 1879, "Counties and County Officers," is not open to the constitutional objection of containing more than one subject. State v. Page, 12, 387, (11 N. W., 495). When title of act is to amend a particular section of the statute, the proposed amendment must be germane to the subject-matter of the section sought to be amended. Miller v. Hurford, 11, 377 (9 N. W., 477). The title of an "Act regulating the herding and driving of stock," approved February 26, 1879, is not comprehensive enough to authorize the provision in section 4 giving damages for the castration of animals. Ives v. Norris, 13, 253 (13 N. W., 276). Where act not complete in itself, but amendatory of a former, statute is void. Sovereign v. State, 7, 413. Smails v. White, 4, 353. In re House Roll 284, 31, 509 (48 N. W., 275). Old section need not be recited in amendatory act. People v. McCallum, 1, 199. Law complete and repealing the provisions under which acts were formerly done is valid. Jones v. Davis, 6, 36. Where the new act is in the very word of the act it repeals and the evident intention was to continue it in force (with a lesser penalty), this intention will be given effect and will not prevent the prosecution for a crime committed before the repeal. State v. Wish, 15, 448 (19 N. W., 686). Rule as to repeal of statutes by implication. Lawson v Gibson, 18, 140 (24 N. W., 447). Two amendments to same act on succeeding days, how interpreted. State v. Babcock, 23, 134 (36 N. W., 348). A later statute, which contains provisions clearly repugnant to a former, repeals the former as completely as though it contained express words to that effect. Ex parte Wolf, 14, 31 (14 N. W., 660). Legislature cannot pass law to legalize bonds already issued. Hamlin v. Meadville, 6, 234. Does not require the printing of amendments after the bill has been put upon its final passage. State v. Liedtke, 9, 494 (4 N. W., 75). Failure of the presiding officer of the senate to sign a bill which the journal shows passed does not affect the validity of the act. Cottrell v. State, 9, 129 (1 N. W., 1008). Taylor v. Wilson, 17, 88 (22 N. W., 119). The certificate of the presiding officers that the bill has passed is only prima facie evidence of the fact. The journals are higher evidence. State v. McLelland, 18, 237 (25 N. W., 77). In amending an act it may be designated by its title or chapter in the statutes. State v. Berka, 20, 377 (30 N. W., 267). Touzalin v. City of Omaha, 25, 817 (41 N. W., 796). Does not apply to laws in force at the time of the adoption of this constitution. State v. Robinson, 35, 401 (53 N. W., 213). "An act to prohibit extortion and discrimination in the transmission of telegraph dispatches" is not invalid under this section. W. U. Telegraph Co. v. Lowrey, 32, 732 (49 N. W., 707). A bill which has but one general object fairly expressed in its title is not objectionable on the ground that it contains two or more subjects. K. C & O. R. Co. v. Frey, 30, 790 (47 N. W., 87). The legislature has the right to choose the title of any act passed by it, though that title may not be the most appropriate; unless the act is not within the title, or contains two or more subjects, or otherwise violates the constitution, it will be valid. In re White, 33, 813 (51 N. W., 287). Assault with intent to commit great bodily injury, sec. 5595, is a new crime, and not in conflict herewith. Smith v. State, 34, 689 (52 N. W., 572). Cited, State v. Arnold, 31, 77 (47 N. W., 694); State, ex rel. Benton, v. Elder, 31, 190 (47 N. W., 710); In re Contest Proceedings, 31, 274 (47 N. W., 923). This does not prohibit the legislature from authorizing a municipal corporation to issue bonds with or without a popular vote. County of Otoe v. Baldwin, 4 Supt. Ct. Rep., 265, decided under art. II, sec. 19, of the old constitution.

SEC. 12. Members of the legislature in all cases except treason, felony, or breach of the peace, shall be privileged from arrest during the session of the legislature, and for fifteen days next before the commencement and after the termination thereof.

The privilege of the member is not the privilege of the house merely, but of the people, and is conferred to enable him to discharge the trust confided to him by his constituents; and the supreme court has power to compel the speaker of the house to do his duty. State, ex rel. Benton, v. Elder, 31, 184 (47 N. W., 710.)

SEC. 13. No person elected to the legislature shall receive any civil appointment within the state, from the governor and senate during the term for which he has been elected. And all such appointments, and all votes given for any such member for any such office or appointment, shall be void. Nor shall any member of the legislature, or any state officer, be interested, either directly or indirectly, in any contract with the state, county, or city, authorized by any law passed during the term for which he shall have been elected, or within one year after the expiration thereof.

SEC. 14. [Impeachment.]—The senate and house of representatives, in joint convention, shall have the sole power of impeachment, but a majority of the members elected must concur therein. Upon the entertainment of a resolution to impeach by either house, the other house shall at once be notified thereof, and the two houses shall meet in joint convention for the purpose of acting upon such resolution within three days of such notification. A notice of an impeachment of any officer, other than a justice of the supreme court, shall be forthwith served upon the chief justice by the secretary of the senate, who shall thereupon call a session of the supreme court to meet at the capital within ten days after such notice to try the impeachment. A notice of an impeachment of a justice of the supreme court shall be served by the secretary of the senate upon the judge of the judicial district within which the capital is located, and he thereupon shall notify all the judges of the district court in the state to meet with him within thirty days at the capital, to sit as a court to try such impeachment, which court shall organize by electing one of its number to preside. No person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members of the court of impeachment, but judgment in cases of impeachment shall not extend further than removal from office and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, profit, or trust in this state, but the party impeached, whether convicted or acquitted, shall nevertheless be liable to prosecution and punishment according to law. No officer shall exercise his official duties after he shall have been impeached and notified thereof, until he shall have been acquitted.

The supreme court did not succeed to any of the political functions of the senate as a court of impeachment under the old constitution. The proceeding provided for here is simply a judicial one. In re Impeachment of George H. Hastings et al., — Neb., — (— N. W., —). Legislature cannot delegate this power to others. Articles adopted cannot be changed in substance by managers appointed by legislature. In re Impeachment of Leese, — Neb., — (— N. W., —).

SEC. 15. [Prohibited special legislation.]—The legislature shall not pass local or special laws in any of the following cases, that is to say:

For granting divorces. Changing the names of persons or places. Laying out, opening, altering, and working roads or highways. Vacating roads, town plats, streets, alleys, and public grounds. Locating or changing county seats. Regulating county and township offices. Regulating the practice of courts of justice. Regulating the jurisdiction and duties of justices of the peace, police magistrates, and constables. Providing for changes of venue in civil and criminal cases. Incorporating cities, towns, and villages, or changing or amending the charter of any town, city, or village. Providing for the election of officers in townships, incorporated towns or cities. Summoning or empaneling grand or petit juries. Providing for the bonding of cities, towns, precincts, school districts, or other municipalities. Providing for the management of public schools. Regulating the interest on money. The opening and conducting of any election, or designating the place of voting. The sale or mortgage of real estate belonging to minors or others under disability. The protection of game or fish. Chartering or licensing ferries or toll bridges. Remitting fines, penalties, or forfeitures. Creating, increasing, and decreasing fees, percentage, or allowances of public officers during the term for which said officers are elected or appointed. Changing the law of descent. Granting to any corporation, association, or individual the right to lay down railroad tracks, or amending existing charters for such purpose. Granting to any corporation, association, or individual any special or exclusive privileges, immunity, or franchise whatever. In all other cases where a general law can be made applicable, no special law shall be enacted.

Under an act passed in 1875, authorizing commissioners of Jefferson county to issue bonds, sell the same, and pay outstanding warrants issued to contractors for erection of county buildings, held, that the legislature had full authority under the constitution then in force to pass such law. Commissioners of Jefferson County v. People. 5, 136. Allowing forty per cent on tax sale certificates not in violation of the provision that "the legislature shall not pass any local or special laws * * * regulating the interest on money." Kittle v. Shervin, 11, 72 (7 N. W., 861.) Legislature has no authority to pass a law enabling a school district to vote bonds. Clegg v. School District, 8, 179. Hallo v. Helmer, 12, 94 (10 N. W., 568.) Foxworthy v. City of Hastings, 23, 776, (37 N. W., 657.) A county is not a corporation within the meaning of the last clause of this section. County of Sherman v. Simonds, 3 Sup. Ct. Rep., 503. A law providing that cities may appeal without giving bond is not repugnant to this section. McClay v. City of Lincoln, 32, 412 (49 N. W., 282.) Classification of cities into classes and subclasses is not special legislation. State v. Graham, 16, 76 (19 N. W., 470.) Boundaries of cities or towns cannot be extended by legislature. City of Wahoo v. Dickinson, 23, 431 (36 N. W., 813.) An ordinance of a city limiting the time within which an action for personal injury may be brought is invalid. Foxworthy v. Hastings, 23, 776 (37 N. W., 657). The legislature cannot authorize the issuance of seed grain bonds in a certain county without a vote of the electors. In re House Roll 284, 31, 513 (48 N. W., 275.) Section 19, post, is not a violation hereof. State v. Robinson, 35, 403 (53 N. W., 213.) The uniting of legal and equitable relief in one form of action and one petition is within the power of the legislature. Wilcox v. Saunders, 4, 586. Turner v. Althaus, 6, 85.

SEC. 16. The legislature shall never grant any extra compensation to any public officer, agent, servant, or contractor, after the services shall have been rendered, or the contract entered into. Nor shall the compensation of any public officer be increased or diminished during his term of office.

This applies alone to those officers whose offices were created by the constitution. County of Douglas v. Timme, 32, 274 (49 N. W., 266). Where at time of election of city officers no salary is fixed, they may afterwards pass an ordinance fixing their salaries. State v. McDowell, 19, 443 (27 N. W., 433). Wheelock v. McDowell, 20, 161 (29 N. W., 291).

SEC. 17. The legislature shall never alienate the salt springs belonging to the state.

SEC. 18. Lands under the control of the state shall never be donated to railroad companies, private corporations, or individuals.

SEC. 19. Each legislature shall make appropriations for the expenses of the government until the expiration of the first fiscal quarter after the adjournment of the next regular session, and all appropriations shall end with such fiscal quarter. And whenever it is deemed necessary, to make further appropriations for deficiencies, the same shall require a two-thirds vote of all the members elected to each house, and shall not exceed the amount of revenue authorized by law to be raised in such time. Bills making appropriations for the pay of members and officers of the legislature, and for the salaries of the officers of the government, shall contain no provision on any other subject.

Fiscal quarter means the legislative quarter in which the session is to be held. Opinion of the Judges, 5, 570. Fiscal year begins December 1st. Appropriations extend to end of first quarter after adjournment of next regular session. State v. Babcock, 22, 38 (33 N. W., 711). Where entire amount derived from sale of state lots and lands was appropriated, and sale was made partly on credit, held, that warrants could be drawn upon whole amount of purchase price at once, and without waiting for full payment thereof. State v. Babcock, 24, 790 (40 N. W., 316). See note to sec. 22 citing Cheney v. Cooper, 14, 444 (16 N. W., 471).

SEC. 20. All offices created by this constitution shall become vacant by the death of the incumbent, by removal from the state, resignation, conviction of a felony, impeachment, or becoming of unsound mind. And the legislature shall provide by general law for the filling of such vacancy when no provision is made for that purpose in this constitution.

As to what constitutes a vacancy. Prather v. Hart, 17, 598 (24 N. W., 282).

SEC. 21. The legislature shall not authorize any games of chance, lottery, or gift enterprise under any pretense, or for any purpose whatever.

SEC. 22. [State funds—How drawn.]—No allowance shall be made for the incidental expenses of any state officer except the same be made by general appropriation and upon an account specifying each item. No money shall be drawn from the treasury except in pursuance of a specific appropriation made by law, and on the presentation of a warrant issued by the auditor thereon, and no money shall be diverted from any appropriation made for any purpose, or taken from any fund whatever, either by joint or separate resolution. The auditor shall, within sixty days after the adjournment of each session of the legislature, prepare and publish a full statement of all moneys expended at such session, specifying the amount of each item, and to whom and for what paid.

Intended to establish a permanent rule in regard to future payments of expenditures of the state. State, ex rel. Omaha National Bank, v. McBride, 6, 513. A specific appropriation is one expressly providing funds for a particular purpose. State v. Wallichs, 15, 609 (20 N. W., 110). No appropriation necessary to pay salary of officer fixed by constitution. Officers whose salaries are not fixed by constitution depend upon legislative appropriation. State, ex rel. Roberts, v. Weston, 4, 218. State, ex rel. Brown, v. Weston, 6, 17. The voucher of the officers of the senate will not authorize the auditor to draw a warrant in favor of a party, unless the claim is authorized by law. State, ex rel. Squires, v. Wallichs, 14, 444 (16 N. W., 481). An appropriation for "conveying convicts to the penitentiary" cannot be drawn against for "conveying juvenile offenders to the reform school." State v. Wallichs, 12, 408 (11 N. W., 860). Money due county treasurer as fees cannot be paid except where there is a specific appropriation. State v. Babcock, 18, 222 (24 N. W., 683). Appropriation of $95,000 to provide for the salaries of nineteen judges is an appropriation in gross. In re Groff, 21, 662 (33 N. W., 426). Each appropriation contained in the general appropriation bill must be a specific appropriation for the purpose named, and the account must be itemized. State v. Babcock, 22, 45 (33 N. W., 711). See Hull v. Miller, 4, 507. State v. Liedtke, 9, 470 (4 N. W., 61). The appropriation of "amount derived from" a specified source is "specific" within the meaning of this section. State v. Babcock, 24, 788 (40 N. W., 316). Cited and construed, In re Impeachment of George H. Hastings et al., — Neb., — (— N. W., —).

SEC. 23. No member of the legislature shall be liable in any civil or criminal action whatever for words spoken in debate.

SEC. 24. [Acts; Taking effect; Publication.]—No act shall take effect until three calendar months after the adjournment of the session at which it passed, unless in case of emergency (to be expressed in the preamble or body of the act) the legislature shall, by a vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to each house, otherwise direct. All laws shall be published in book form within sixty days after the adjournment of each session, and distributed among the several counties in such manner as the legislature may provide.

Acts without an emergency clause do not take effect until three calendar months after adjournment. Roesink v. Barnett, 8, 148. See post, section 2029.

ARTICLE V.—EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

SECTION 1. [Officers.]—The executive department shall consist of a governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, auditor of public accounts, treasurer, superintendent of public instruction, attorney general, and commissioner of public lands and buildings, who shall each hold his office for the term of two years from the first Thursday after the first Tuesday in January next after his election, and until his successor is elected and qualified; Provided, however, that the first election of said offiers shall be held on the Tuesday succeeding the first Monday in November, 1876, and each succeeding election shall be held at the same relative time in each even year thereafter. The governor, secretary of state, auditor of public accounts, and treasurer shall reside at the seat of government during their terms of office, and keep the public records, books, and papers there, and shall perform such duties as may be required by law.

A person elected to the office of governor is entitled to hold the office for his term and until a successor is duly elected and qualified; and where a person receiving the highest number of votes for governor is ineligible the incumbent holds over. State, ex rel. Thayer, v. Boyd, 31, 683 (48 N. W., 739). Legislature cannot create railroad commissioners. This power must be conferred upon officers already existing, In re Railroad Commissioners, 15, 682. Executive officers may appoint deputies. In re Appropriation, 25, 662 (41 N. W., 643). The office of adjutant general is not an executive office. State v. Weston, 4, 242.

SEC. 2. No person shall be eligible to the office of governor, or lieutenant governor, who shall not have attained to the age of thirty years, and been for two years next preceding his election a citizen of the United States and of this state. None of the officers of the executive department shall be eligible to any other state office during the period for which they shall have been elected.

The words "citizen of the United States," as here used, mean a person who is an American citizen by birth, or a person of foreign birth who has been duly naturalized. State, ex rel. Thayer, v. Boyd 31, 683 (48 N. W., 739).

SEC. 3. The treasurer shall be ineligible to the office of treasurer for two years next after the expiration of two consecutive terms for which he was elected.

SEC. 4. [Election—Canvass—Contest.]—The returns of every election for the officers of the executive department shall be sealed up and transmitted by the returning officers to the secretary of state, directed to the speaker of the house of representatives, who shall, immediately after the organization of the house, and before proceeding to other business, open and publish the same in the presence of a majority of each house of the legislature, who shall, for that purpose, assemble in the hall of the house of representatives. The person having the highest number of votes for either of said offices shall be declared duly elected; but if two or more have an equal and the highest number of votes, the legislature shall, by joint vote, choose one of such persons for said office. Contested elections for all of said offices shall be determined by both houses of the legislature, by joint vote, in such manner as may be prescribed by law.

Speaker may be compelled to open and publish returns immediately upon organization of legislature. State, ex rel. Benton, v. Elder, 31, 170 (47 N. W., 710). The canvass of the votes is in no sense a legislative duty, and the court has power to compel the legislature to proceed with the canvass. State, ex rel. Benton, v. Elder, 31, 183 (47 N. W., 710). Authority of legislature in contested election discussed. In re Contest Proceedings, 31, 268 (47 N. W., 923).

SEC. 5. All civil officers of this state shall be liable to impeachment for any misdemeanor in office.

What constitutes "misdemeanor." In re Impeachment of George H. Hastings et al., — Neb.

— (— N. W., —). This does not apply to a private citizen for acts done while in office. In re Impeachment of Hill et al., — Neb., — (— N. W.. —).

SEC. 6. The supreme executive power shall be vested in the governor, who shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed.

SEC. 7. The governor shall, at the commencement of each session, and at the close of his term of office, and whenever the legislature may require, give to the legislature information, by message, of the condition of the state, and shall recommend such measures as he shall deem expedient. He shall account to the legislature, and accompany his message with a statement of all moneys received and paid out by him from any fund subject to his order, with vouchers, and, at the commencement of each regular session, present estimates of the amount of money required to be raised by taxation for all purposes.

SEC. 8. [Extra session.]—The governor may, on extraordinary occasions, convene the legislature by proclamation, stating therein the purpose for which they are convened, and the legislature shall enter upon no business except that for which they were called together.

Proclamation calling the legislature together may be revoked before legislature meets. Tennant's Case, 3, 413.

SEC. 9. [Proroguing legislature.]—In case of a disagreement between the two houses with respect to the time of adjournment, the governor may, on the same being certified to him by the house first moving the adjournment, adjourn the legislature to such time as he thinks proper, not beyond the first day of the next regular session.

SEC. 10. [Appointments.]—The governor shall nominate, and, by and with the advice and consent of the senate (expressed by a majority of all the senators elected voting, by yeas and nays), appoint all officers whose offices are established by this constitution, or which may be created by law, and whose appointment or election is not otherwise by law or herein provided for; and no such officer shall be appointed or elected by the legislature.

Power to appoint physician to the penitentiary vested in governor. State, ex rel. Carter, v. Board of Public Lands and Buildings, 7, 42. Governor appoints officers of state institutions. In re Board of Public Lands and Buildings, 18, 340 (25 N. W., 342). Authority given governor to appoint board of fire and police commissioners not a violation of this section. State v. Seavey, 22, 465 (35 N. W., 228).

SEC. 11. In case of a vacancy during the recess of the senate, in any office which is not elective, the governor shall make a temporary appointment until the next meeting of the senate, when he shall nominate some person to fill such office; and any person so nominated, who is confirmed by the senate (a majority of all the senators elected concurring by voting yeas and nays), shall hold his office during the remainder of the term, and until his successor shall be appointed and qualified. No person, after being rejected by the senate, shall be again nominated for the same office at the same session, unless at request of the senate, or be appointed to the same office during the recess of the legislature.

SEC. 12. The governor shall have power to remove any officer whom he may appoint, in case of incompetency, neglect of duty, or malfeasance in office, and he may declare his office vacant, and fill the same as herein provided in other cases of vacancy.

Applies only to officers mentioned in constitution; does not include fire and police commissioners. See section 2448. State ex rel. Attorney General, v. Smith, 35, 14 (52 N. W., 700).

SEC. 13. The governor shall have the power to grant reprieves, commutations and pardons after convictions, for all offenses, except treason and cases of impeachment, upon such conditions and with such restrictions and limitations as he may think proper, subject to such regulations as may be provided by law relative to the manner of applying for pardons. Upon conviction for treason, he shall have power to suspend the execution of the sentence until the case shall be reported to the legislature at its next session, when the legislature shall either pardon or commute the sentence, direct the execution of the sentence, or grant a further reprieve. He shall communicate to the legislature, at every regular session, each case of reprieve, commutation, or pardon granted, stating the name of the convict, the crime of which he was convicted, the sentence and its date, and the date of the reprieve, commutation, or pardon.

SEC. 14. The governor shall be commander-in-chief of the military and naval forces of the state (except when they shall be called into the service of the United States), and may call out the same to execute the laws, suppress insurrection, and repel invasion.

SEC. 15. [Veto power.]—Every bill passed by the legislature, before it becomes a law, and every order, resolution, or vote, to which the concurrence of both houses may be necessary (except on questions of adjournment), shall be presented to the governor. If he approve, he shall sign it, and thereupon it shall become a law; but if he do not approve, he shall return it, with his objections, to the house in which it shall have originated, which house shall enter the objections at large upon its journal, and proceed to reconsider the bill. If then three-fifths of the members elected agree to pass the same, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered; and if approved by three-fifths of the members elected to that house, it shall become a law, notwithstanding the objections of the governor. In all such cases, the vote of each house shall be determined by yeas and nays, to be entered upon the journal. Any bill which shall not be returned by the governor within five days (Sunday excepted), after it shall have been presented to him, shall become a law, in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the legislature, by their adjournment, prevent its return; in which case it shall be filed, with his objections, in the office of the secretary of state within five days after such adjournment, or become a law. The governor may disapprove any item or items of appropriation contained in bills passed by the legislature, and the item or items so disapproved shall be stricken therefrom, unless repassed in the manner herein prescribed in cases of disapproval of bills.

Bill retained by governor more than three days under constitution of 1867 became a law notwithstanding soon after he received it the legislature adjourned from March 29 to May 30. Adjournment referred to is an adjournment sine die. Miller v. Hurford, 11, 377 (9 N. W., 477). Applies to resolution for joint session of two houses on contest of state officers. In re Contest Proceedings 31, 268 (47 N. W., 923). Where a bill is not signed by the governor, but the certificates of the presiding officers of both houses state that it was presented to him and time stated, the presumption is that the fact is stated correctly. Miller v. Hurford, 13, 17 (12 N. W., 832). Governor is a part of the law-making power, and bill passing by two-thirds vote must still be approved by him, passed over his veto, or be held by him five days. State, ex rel. Maine, v. Crounse, 36, — (55 N. W., 246).

SEC. 16. [Vacancy; succession.]—In case of the death, impeachment and notice thereof to the accused, failure to qualify, resignation, absence from the state, or other disability of the governor, the powers, duties, and emoluments of the office for the residue of the term, or until the disability shall be removed, shall devolve upon the lieutenant governor.

The words "other disability of the governor" have no reference to the ineligibility of the person to be elected, but cover any disability of the governor not specifically enumerated occurring after the commencement of his term of office. State, ex rel. Thayer, v. Boyd, 31, 683 (48 N. W., 739.)

SEC. 17. The lieutenant governor shall be president of the senate, and shall vote only when the senate is equally divided.

SEC. 18. [Succession.]—If there be no lieutenant governor, or if the lieutenant governor, for any of the causes specified in section sixteen of this article, become incapable of performing the duties of the office, the president of the senate shall act as governor until the vacancy is filled, or the disability removed; and if the president of the senate, for any of the above named causes, shall become incapable of performing the duties of governor, the same shall devolve upon the speaker of the house of representatives.

SEC. 19. The commissioner of public lands and buildings, the secretary of state, treasurer, and attorney general shall form a board, which shall have general supervision and control of all the buildings, grounds and lands of the state, the state prison, asylums, and all other institutions thereof except those for educational purposes; and shall perform such duties, and be subject to such rules and regulations, as may be prescribed by law.

Board cannot appoint and remove officers of state institutions. Institution for blind does not lie within the exception. State, ex rel. Davis, v. Bacon, 6, 290. See State, ex rel. Carter, v. Board of Public Lands and Buildings, 7, 45. Duties of boards stated. In re Appropriations, 25, 665 (41 N. W., 643).

SEC. 20. If the office of auditor of public accounts, treasurer, secretary of state, attorney general, commissioner of public lands and buildings, or superintendent of public instruction shall be vacated by death, resignation, or otherwise, it shall be the duty of the governor to fill the same by appointment; and the appointee shall hold his office until his successor shall be elected and qualified in such manner as may be provided by law.

SEC. 21. An account shall be kept by the officers of the executive department, and of all the public institutions of the state, of all moneys received or disbursed by them severally from all sources, and for every service performed, and a semiannual report thereof be made to the governor, under oath, and any officer who makes a false report shall be guilty of perjury, and punished accordingly.

SEC. 22. The officers of the executive department, and of all the public institutions of the state, shall, at least ten days preceding each regular session of the legislature, severally report to the governor, who shall transmit such reports to the legislature, together with the reports of the judges to the supreme court, of defects in the constitution and laws, and the governor, or either house of the legislature, may, at any time, require information in writing, under oath, from the officers of the executive department, and all officers and managers of state institutions, upon any subject relating to the condition, management, and expenses of their respective offices.

SEC. 23. There shall be a seal of the state, which shall be called the "Great seal of the State of Nebraska," which shall be kept by the secretary of state, and used by him officially, as directed by law.

SEC. 24. The salaries of the governor, auditor of public accounts, and treasurer shall be two thousand five hundred ($2,500) dollars each per annum, and of the secretary of state, attorney general, superintendent of public instruction, and commissioner of public lands and buildings shall be two thousand ($2,000) dollars each per annum. The lieutenant governor shall receive twice the compensation of a senator, and after the adoption of this constitution they shall not receive to their own use any fees, costs, interest upon public moneys in their hands or under their control, perquisites of office or other compensation, and all fees that may hereafter be payable by law, for services performed by an officer, provided for in this article of the constitution, shall be paid in advance into the state treasury. There shall be no allowance for clerk hire in the offices of the superintendent of public instruction and attorney general.

Office of auditor and commissioner of public lands and buildings might be held by one person until January 1, 1877. State v. Liedtke, 9, 466 (4 N. W., 72). Secretary of state may hold office of adjutant general and draw salary appropriated therefor by the legislature. State, ex rel. Tzschuck, v. Weston, 4, 243. All fees earned or collected by auditor belong to the state, and certain fees received from insurance companies are no exception. State v. Liedtke, 12, 175 (10 N. W., 703). "Clerk" has its common law meaning, and it does not include deputy or stenographer. In re Appropriations, 25, 669 (41 N. W., 643).

SEC. 25. The officers mentioned in this article shall give bonds in not less than double the amount of money that may come into their hands, and in no case in less than the sum of fifty thousand dollars, with such provisions as to sureties and the approval thereof, and for the increase of the penalty of such bonds as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 26. No other executive state office shall be continued or created, and the duties now devolving upon officers not provided for by this constitution shall be performed by the officers herein created.

Does not prohibit appointment of deputies by state officers. In re Appropriations, 25, 662 (41 N. W., 643). Office of adjutant general not an executive office. State, ex rel. Tzschuck, v. Weston, 4, 243. Office of land commissioner continued. State v. Liedtke, 9, 466 (4 N. W., 72). Legislature cannot create office of railroad commissioner. In re Railroad Commissioners, 15, 683.

ARTICLE VI.—THE JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.

SECTION 1. The judicial power of this state shall be vested in a supreme court, district courts, county courts, justices of the peace, police magistrates, and in such other courts inferior to the district courts as may be created by law for cities and incorporated towns.

A notary public has no judicial power. Courtnay v. Knox, 31, 656 (48 N. W., 763).

SEC. 2. The supreme court shall consist of three judges, a majority of whom shall be necessary to form a quorum, or to pronounce a decision. It shall have original jurisdiction in cases relating to the revenue, civil cases in which the state shall be a party, mandamus, quo warranto, habeas corpus, and such appellate jurisdiction as may be provided by law.

Process may be issued by supreme court for a defendant anywhere in the state in a quo warranto case. State, ex rel. Fair, v. Frazier, 28, 455 (44 N. W., 471). Supreme court has jurisdiction in quo warranto. Cain v. People, 4, 514. State v. Griffey, 5, 161. Does not give court original equitable jurisdiction in a criminal case. Paulson v. State, 25, 347 (41 N. W., 249). Have jurisdiction in action by state to wind up a bank. State v. Bank, 28, 682 (44 N. W., 998). State v. Stein, 13, 531 (14 N. W., 481). Jurisdiction limited to errors "appearing on the record." Morrill v. Taylor, 6, 252. Frey v. Drahos, 7, 197. May review on error judgments of district court made upon appeal from county court in assignment for benefit of creditors. Stout v. Rapp, 17, 465 (23 N. W., 364). Can correct errors of district court in contested election cases. Miller v. Rolph, 8, 439 (1 N. W., 123). Cannot call jury in appeal cases. Robertson v. Hall, 2, 19. Cannot require justice of peace to send up amended transcript. Cleghorn v. Waterman, 16, 225 (20 N. W., 252). Has no right as a court of equity to grant new trial in criminal cases. Paulson v. State, 25, 347 (41 N. W., 249). The banking law empowering the supreme court to wind up insolvent banks, is not in conflict with this section. State v. Exchange Bank of Milligan, 34, 198 (51 N. W., 765). The court may determine the right of a claimant to hold the office of governor. State, ex rel. Thayer, v. Boyd, 31, 704 (48 N. W., 739). A contest of election is a judicial proceeding, and the supreme court has no original jurisdiction therein. Miller v. Wheeler, 33, 769 (51 N. W., 137.)

SEC. 3. At least two terms of the supreme court shall be held each year at the seat of government.

SEC. 4. The judges of the supreme court shall be elected by the electors of the state at large, and their terms of office, except of those chosen at the first election, as hereinafter provided, shall be six years.

SEC. 5. The judges of the supreme court shall, immediately after the first election under this constitution, be classified by lot, so that one shall hold his office for the term of two years, one for the term of four years, and one for the term of six years.

SEC. 6. The judge of the supreme court having the shortest term to serve, not holding his office by appointment, or election to fill a vacancy, shall be the chief justice, and as such shall preside at all terms of the supreme court, and in case of his absence, the judge having in like manner the next shortest term to serve shall preside in his stead.

SEC. 7. No person shall be eligible to the office of judge of the supreme court unless he shall be at least thirty years of age, and a citizen of the United States; nor unless he shall have resided in this state at least three years next preceding his election.

SEC. 8. There shall be appointed by the supreme court a reporter, who shall also act as clerk of the supreme court, and librarian of the law and miscellaneous library of the state, whose term of office shall be four years, unless sooner removed by the court, whose salary shall be fixed by law, not to exceed fifteen hundred dollars per annum. The copyright of the state reports shall forever belong to the state.

Reporter is entitled to his salary in addition to other compensation allowed for work on the records. In re Brown. 15, 696.

SEC. 9. The district courts shall have both chancery and common law jurisdiction, and such other jurisdiction as the legislature may provide, and the judges thereof may admit persons charged with felony to a plea of guilty, and pass such sentence as may be prescribed by law.

District court given both equity and common law jurisdiction. Turner v. Althaus, 6, 55. If the legislature confers a right upon any citizen, and provides no special tribunal for its enforcement, jurisdiction to enforce the same devolves upon the district court. Foxworthy v. L. & F. R. R. Co., 13, 398 (14 N. W., 394). The district court has jurisdiction of crimes committed in unorganized territory attached to such county for judicial purposes. Ex parte Crawford, 12, 380 (11 N. W., 494). State v. Page, 12, 387 (11 N. W., 495).

SEC. 10.* The state shall be divided into six judicial districts, in each of which shall be elected by the electors thereof, one judge, who shall be judge of the district court therein, and whose term of office shall be four years.

Until otherwise provided by law, said districts shall be as follows:

First District. The counties of Richardson, Johnson, Pawnee, Gage, Jefferson, Saline, Thayer, Clay, Nuckolls, and Fillmore.

Second District. The counties of Nemaha, Otoe, Cass, and Lancaster.

Third District. The counties of Douglas, Sarpy, Washington and Burt.

Fourth District. The counties of Saunders, Dodge, Butler, Colfax, Platte, Polk, Merrick, Hamilton, York, Seward, Hall, and Howard.

Fifth District. The counties of Buffalo, Adams, Webster, Franklin, Harlan, Kearney, Phelps, Gosper, Furnas, Hitchcock, Dundy, Chase, Cheyenne, Keith, Lincoln, Dawson, Sherman, Red Willow, Frontier, and the unorganized territory west of said district.

Sixth District. The counties of Cuming, Dakota, Dixon, Cedar, Wayne Stanton, Madison, Boone, Pierce, Knox, Antelope, Holt, Greeley, Valley, and the unorganized territory west of said district.

Unorganized territory attached to a county for "election, judicial and revenue" purposes is, for such purposes, a part of such county, and the district court sitting in that county has jurisdiction over crimes committed in said unorganized territory. Ex parte Crawford, 12, 380 (11 N. W., 494). A county cannot be part of two judicial districts. Olive v. State, 11, 16 (7 N. W., 444).

SEC. 11. The legislature, whenever two-thirds of the members elected to each house shall concur therein, may, in or after the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty, and not oftener than once in every four years, increase the number of judges of the district courts, and the judicial districts of the state. Such districts shall be formed of compact territory, and bounded by county lines; and such increase, or any change in the boundaries of a district, shall not vacate the office of any judge.

Legislature may provide additional judge or judges for districts when needed. State v.

*See act changing judicial districts, post, chap. 3, sec. 224.

Stevenson, 18, 416 (25 N. W., 585). Power of the legislature to increase the number of judges in one district does not exhaust the power of increasing in subsequent years in other districts. In re Groff, 21, 659 (33 N. W., 426). Cited. State, ex rel. Maine, v. Crounse, 36, — (55 N. W., 246).

SEC. 12. The judges of the district courts may hold courts for each other, and shall do so when required by law.

See Drake v. State, 14, 539 (17 N. W., 117). Power of district judges to hold court in district other than that for which he was elected does not depend upon any condition except the consent of the proper judge. Candy v. State, 8, 484 (1 N. W., 454).

SEC. 13. The judges of the supreme and district courts shall each receive a salary of $2,500 per annum, payable quarterly.

SEC. 14. No judge of the supreme or district courts shall receive any other compensation, perquisite or benefit for or on account of his office in any form whatsoever, nor act as attorney or counselor-at-law, in any manner whatever; nor shall any salary be paid to any county judge.

SEC. 15. There shall be elected in and for each organized county, one judge, who shall be judge of the county court of such county, and whose term of office shall be two years.

This term cannot be shortened by the legislature. State v. Hedlund, 16, 568 (20 N. W., 875).

SEC. 16. County courts shall be courts of record, and shall have original jurisdiction in all matters of probate, settlements of estates of deceased persons, appointment of guardians and settlement of their accounts, in all matters relating to apprentices; and such other jurisdiction as may be given by general law. But they shall not have jurisdiction in criminal cases in which the punishment may exceed six months' imprisonment, or a fine of over five hundred dollars; nor in actions in which title to real estate is sought to be recovered, or may be drawn in question; nor in actions on mortgages or contracts for the conveyance of real estate; nor in civil actions where the debt or sum claimed shall exceed one thousand dollars.

All provisions applicable to courts of record applicable to county courts. Noakes v. Switzer, 12, 160 (10 N. W., 536). Have no jurisdiction over election contest in city on internal improvements. Foxworthy v. L. & F. R. R Co., 13, 398 (14 N. W., 394). Statute which authorized district courts to distribute estates of decedents was not in conflict with this section. In re Creighton, 12, 280 (11 N. W., 313). County judges and justices have jurisdiction to recover back money paid upon the purchase of real estate. Mushrush v. Devereaux, 20, 50 (28 N. W., 847). The county court while acting upon matters in which it has jurisdiction is concurrent with that of the district court as a court of record. Schell v. Husenstine, 15, 11 (16 N. W., 758). No jurisdiction in action against officers for taking illegal fees. Crow v Bowen, 19, 529 (26 N. W., 251). Original jurisdiction in probate matters and orders conclusive until reversed. Loosemore v. Smith, 12, 343 (11 N. W., 493). Pettit v. Black, 13, 152 (12 N. W., 841). And also in guardianship matters. Ball v. La Clair, 17, 42 (22 N. W., 118). Does not prohibit conferring equity jurisdiction on county court, except as enumerated. Assignment law (231) valid. Wilson v. Coburn, 35, 530 (53 N. W., 466). County courts have jurisdiction of suits to recover on a party wall contract. Garmire v. Willy, 36, — (54 N. W., 563).

SEC. 17. Appeals to the district courts from the judgments of county courts shall be allowed in all criminal cases, on application of the defendant; and in all civil cases, on application of either party, and in such other cases as may be provided by law.

SEC. 18. Justices of the peace and police magistrates shall be elected in and for such districts, and have and exercise such jurisdiction as may be provided by law; Provided, That no justice of the peace shall have jurisdiction of any civil case where the amount in controversy shall exceed two hundred dollars; nor in a criminal case where the punishment may exceed three months' imprisonment, or a fine of over one hundred dollars; nor in any matter wherein the title or boundaries of land may be in dispute.

Justices of the peace must hold office in and for the precincts for which they are elected. State, ex rel. Ferguson, v. Shropshire, 4, 413. Have jurisdiction to recover back money paid on purchase of real estate. Mushrush v. Devereaux, 20, 50 (28 N. W., 847). But not to try where both fine and imprisonment may be imposed. State v. Yeats, 36, — (54 N. W., 429). In re Stewart, 16, 193 (20 N. W., 255).

SEC. 19. All laws relating to courts shall be general and of uniform operation, and the organization, jurisdiction, powers, proceedings, and practice of all courts of the same class or grade, so far as regulated by law and the force and effect of the proceedings, judgments, and decrees of such courts severally, shall be uniform.

Foxworthy v. City of Hastings, 23, 776 (37 N. W., 657). Not violated by law limiting number of justices in cities to three. State v. Berka, 20, 378 (30 N. W., 267).

SEC. 20. All officers provided for in this article shall hold their offices until their successors shall be qualified, and they shall respectively reside in the district, county, or precinct for which they shall be elected or appointed. The terms of office of all such officers, when not otherwise prescribed in this article, shall be two years. All officers, when not otherwise provided for in this article, shall perform such duties and receive such compensation as may be provided by law.

Justice must hold office in precinct for which elected. State v. Shropshire, 4, 413. A judgment rendered in another precinct in the county is not necessarily void. Jones v. Church of the Holy Trinity, 15, 84 (17 N. W., 362).

SEC. 21. In case the office of any judge of the supreme court, or any district court, shall become vacant before the expiration of the regular term for which he was elected, the vacancy shall be filled by appointment by the governor, until a successor shall be elected and qualified, and said successor shall be elected for the unexpired term at the first general election that occurs more than thirty days after the vacancy shall have happened. Vacancies in all other elective offices provided for in this article, shall be filled by election, but when the unexpired term does not exceed one year the vacancy may be filled by appointment, in such manner as the legislature may provide.

SEC. 22. The state may sue and be sued, and the legislature shall provide by law in what manner and in what courts suits shall be brought.

State cannot be sued until after auditor refuses to adjust. State v. Lancaster County Bank, 8, 219. State v. Stout, 7, 103.

SEC. 23. The several judges of the courts of record shall have such jurisdiction at chambers as may be provided by law.

Judges of district courts as such have no inherent judicial authority at chambers. Ellis v. Karl, 7, 386. Legislature can confer authority on district judges to confirm sales in vacation. McMurtry v. Tuttle, 13, 233 (13 N. W., 213). State Bank v. Green, 8, 298. Cited, Stack v. Royce, 34, 852 (52 N. W., 675).

SEC. 24. All process shall run in the name of "The State of Nebraska," and all prosecutions shall be carried on in the name of "The State of Nebraska."

The words "The People of the State of Nebraska," after the proper caption and before the name of the officer, did not invalidate the writ. Moore v. Fedawa, 13, 382 (14 N. W., 170). Information whose caption is "The State of Nebraska" is sufficient. Aldermen v. State, 24, 101-2 (38 N. W., 36). Process for the punishment of a violation of a city ordinance should run in the name of the state. City of Brownville v Cook, 4, 101. Defects in title to writ of attachment amendable. Livingston v. Coe, 4, 382. Moore v. Fedawa, 13, 382 (14 N. W , 170).

ARTICLE VII.—RIGHTS OF SUFFRAGE.

SECTION 1. [Electors.]—Every male person of the age of twenty-one years or upwards, belonging to either of the following classes, who shall have resided in the state six months, and in the county, precinct or ward, for the term provided by law, shall be an elector: First. Citizens of the United States. Second. Persons of foreign birth who shall have declared their intention to become citizens conformably to the laws of the United States, on the subject of naturalization, at least thirty days prior to an election.

Law requiring voter to register on one of four days, the last being ten days before election, and unless so registered disqualified, is void. State v. Corner, 22, 271 (34 N. W., 499). Winnebago Indians held not to be entitled to vote. State, ex rel. Fair, v. Frazier, 28, 466 (44 N. W., 471.) To be eligible for election, a person must have resided the proper length of time before the election, not before the commencement of the term of office. State v. McMillan, 23, 387 (36 N. W., 587).

SEC. 2. No person shall be qualified to vote who is non compos mentis, or who has been convicted of treason or felony under the law of the state, or of the United States, unless restored to civil rights.

But conviction of a misdemeanor merely does not disqualify a person from voting or holding office. Gandy v. State, 10, 248 (4 N. W., 1019).

SEC. 3. Every elector in the actual military service of the United States, or of this state, and not in the regular army, may exercise the right of suffrage at such place, and under such regulations as may be provided by law.

SEC. 4. No soldier, seaman, or marine in the army and navy of the United States, shall be deemed a resident of the state in consequence of being stationed therein

SEC. 5. Electors shall, in all cases except treason, felony, or breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at elections, and going to and returning from the same, and no elector shall be obliged to do military duty on the days of election, except in time of war and public danger.

SEC. 6. All votes shall be by ballot.

ARTICLE VIII.—EDUCATION.

SECTION 1 The governor, secretary of state, treasurer, attorney general, and commissioner of public lands and buildings shall, under the direction of the legislature, constitute a board of commissioners for the sale, leasing, and general management of all lands and funds set apart for educational purposes, and for the investment of school funds in such manner as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 2. All lands, money, or other property granted, or bequeathed, or in any manner conveyed to this state for educational purposes, shall be used and expended in accordance with the terms of such grant, bequest or conveyance.

SEC. 3. The following are hereby declared to be perpetual funds for common school purposes, of which the annual interest or income only can be appropriated, to-wit: First. Such per centum as has been, or may hereafter be, granted by congress on the sale of lands in this state. Second. All moneys arising from the sale or leasing of sections number sixteen and thirty-six in each township in this state, and the lands selected, or that may be selected in lieu thereof. Third. The proceeds of all lands that have been, or may hereafter be, granted to this state, where, by the terms and conditions of such grant, the same are not to be otherwise appropriated. Fourth. The net proceeds of lands and other property and effects that may come to the state, by escheat or forfeiture, or from unclaimed dividends, or distributive shares of the estates of deceased persons. Fifth. All moneys, stocks, bonds, lands, and other property now belonging to the common school fund

Legislature cannot divert proceeds of escheated estates from the permanent school fund. State v. Reeder, 5, 286

SEC. 4. [Temporary fund.]—All other grants, gifts and devises that have been, or may hereafter be made to this state, and not otherwise appropriated by the terms of the grant, gift, or devise, the interest arising from all the funds mentioned in the preceding section, together with all the rents of the unsold school lands, and such other means as the legislature may provide, shall be exclusively applied to the support and maintenance of common schools in each school district in the state.

The word "means," as here used, includes any money arising from annual donation for school purposes levied under legislative authority. State, ex rel. Ahern, v. Walsh, 31, 469, 476 (48 N. W., 263).

SEC. 5. All fines, penalties, and license moneys arising under the general laws of the state, shall belong and be paid over to the counties, respectively, where the same may be levied or imposed, and all fines, penalties, and license moneys arising under the rules, by-laws, or ordinance of cities, villages, towns, precincts, or other municipal subdivision less than a county, shall belong and be paid over to the same respectively. All such fines, penalties, and license moneys shall be appropriated exclusively to the use and support of common schools in the respective subdivisions where the same may accrue.

Belong to school fund of the city. City of Hastings v. Thorne, 8, 162. State, ex rel. Helmer, v. McConnell, 8, 33. School District v. Saline County, 9, 404 (2 N. W., 877). All license moneys belong to the school fund. State, ex rel. Southwick, v. Wilcox, 17, 219 (22 N. W., 458). Portions of several school districts within limits of village; mandamus lies to compel treasurer to distribute among them equally money received for liquor licenses. State, ex rel. School District, v. White, 29, 288 (45 N. W., 631). All fines, penalties, and license money arising under the general laws of the state must be paid over to the counties respectively where the same is levied or imposed for the support of the common schools of such counties State, ex rel. School District, v. Heins, 14, 479 (16 N. W., 767). Where there are several school districts in a municipality, license money shall be divided between them. State, ex rel. Primmer, v. Brodball, 28, 258 (44 N. W., 186). Money for liquor license issued by county board belongs to schools of whole county, not to district where liquors are sold. State, ex rel. School District, v. Fenton, 29, 350 (45 N. W., 464). This does not prevent the enactment of a law giving a party injured a definite sum as damages. Graham v. Kibble, 9, 186 (2 N. W., 455). Overruling. A. & N. R. R Co. v. Baty, 6, 45.

SEC. 6. The legislature shall provide for the free instruction in the common schools of this state of all persons between the ages of five and twenty-one years.

Washington County v. Fletcher, 12, 359 (11 N. W., 855).

SEC. 7. Provisions shall be made by general law for an equitable distribution of the income of the fund set apart for the support of the common schools, among the several school districts of the state, and no appropriation shall be made from said fund to any district for the year in which school is not maintained at least three months.

Rents of unsold school lands shall be applied to support of common schools throughout the state, and not be vested in a permanent school fund. State, ex rel. McKenzie, v. McBride, 5, 104.

SEC. 8. University, agricultural college, common school, or other lands, which are now held, or may hereafter be acquired by the state for educational purposes, shall not be sold for less than seven dollars per acre, nor less than the appraised value.

SEC. 9. All funds belonging to the state for educational purposes, the interest and income whereof only are to be used, shall be deemed trust funds held by the state, and the state shall supply all losses thereof that may in any manner accrue, so that the same shall remain forever inviolate and undiminished; and shall not be invested or loaned except on United States or state securities, or registered county bonds of this state; and such funds, with the interest and income thereof, are hereby solemnly pledged for the purposes for which they are granted and set apart, and shall not be transferred to any other fund for other uses.

The permanent school fund may be invested in United States three per cent bonds. The payment of premium, therefore, should be from the permanent fund; in a purchase of county bonds it should be from the temporary fund. United States bonds cannot be sold or converted into other securities. In re School Fund, 15, 684. State v. Wallichs, 15, 610 (20 N. W., 110). State v. Wallichs, 16, 680 (21 N. W., 397). State warrants are "state securities" within the meaning of the investment clause of this section. In re State Warrants, 25, 660 (41 N. W., 636).

SEC. 10. The general government of the university of Nebraska shall, under the direction of the legislature, be vested in a board of six regents, to be styled the board of regents of the university of Nebraska, who shall be elected by the electors of the state at large, and their term of office, except those chosen at the first election, as hereinafter provided, shall be six years. Their duties and powers shall be prescribed by law; and they shall receive no compensation, but may be reimbursed their actual expenses incurred in the discharge of their duties.

Can only dispose of endowment fund as appropriated by legislature. State, ex rel. Bessey, v. Babcock, 17, 612 (24 N. W., 202). Establishing of state university as a public corporation, valid. Regents v. McConnell, 5, 426.

SEC. 11. No sectarian instruction shall be allowed in any school or institution supported in whole or in part by the public funds set apart for educational purposes; nor shall the state accept any grant, conveyance, or bequest of money, lands or other property, to be used for sectarian purposes.

SEC. 12. The legislature may provide by law for the establishment of a school or schools for the safe keeping, education, employment and reformation of all children under the age of sixteen years, who, for want of proper parental care, or other cause, are growing up in mendicancy, or crime.

ARTICLE IX.—REVENUE AND FINANCE.

SECTION 1. The legislature shall provide such revenue as may be needful, by levying a tax by valuation, so that every person and corporation shall pay a tax in proportion to the value of his, her, or its property and franchises, the value to be ascertained in such manner as the legislature shall direct, and it shall have power to tax peddlers, auctioneers, brokers, hawkers, commission merchants, showmen, jugglers, inn-keepers, liquor dealers, toll bridges, ferries, insurance, telegraph and express interests or business, venders of patents, in such manner as it shall direct by general law, uniform as to the class upon which it operates.

Liquor license not a tax. Pleuler v. State, 11, 556 (10 N. W., 481). Uniformity means the same rule in each jurisdiction. Only property within a district at the time the assessment is made can be taxed. Clother v. Maher, 15, 6 (16 N. W., 902). No discrepancy or lack of uniformity can be allowed under this provision. State, ex rel. Ahern, v. Walsh, 31, 474 (48 N. W., 263). Tax must be by valuation. Board of equalization cannot add fifty per cent to the assessed value of property. Jones v. Commissioners, 5, 564. Power of taxation not limited to the objects or classes enumerated. State, ex rel. A. & N. R. Co., v. Lancaster Co., 4, 539. State v. Ream, 16, 685 (21 N. W., 398). Levy of land road tax at $4 per quarter section to be paid or worked out is valid. B. & M. R. R. Co. v. Lancaster Co., 4, 305. B. & M. R. R. Co. v. Saunders Co., 9, 509 (4 N. W., 240). Covell v. Young, 11, 511 (9 N. W., 694). B. &. M. R. R. Co. v. York Co., 7, 498. Act of February 20, 1879, relating to the repayment of taxes levied on school lands, the legal title of which is in the state, is not in conflict with the constitution. Washington Co. v. Fletcher, 12, 358 (11 N. W., 460, 542, 855). Section 17 of revenue act of 1869, providing for taxation of the stock of corporations, was not in conflict with this section. Mortensen v. West Point Mfg. Co., 12, 201 (10 N. W., 714). This does not prohibit the taxing of a jury fee against the defeated party. Show v. State, 17, 334 (22 N. W., 772). Cities may impose occupation tax on insurance business. City of Columbus v. Hartford Ins. Co., 25, 85 (41 N. W., 140). See Wood v. Helmer, 10, 68 (4 N. W., 968). The right to levy and collect an occupation tax is not in conflict herewith. Magneau v. City of Fremont, 30, 843 (47 N. W., 280). Templeton v. City of Tekamah, 32, 542 (49 N. W., 373). An act setting aside revenue arising from the taxation of internal improvements to pay bonds issued to construct the same is in conflict herewith. State, ex rel. Ahern, v. Walsh, 31, 469 (48 N. W., 263). Law exempting $100 to each taxpayer, planting, etc., trees, unconstitutional. U. P. R. R. Co. v. Saunders County, 7, 230. Legislature cannot add to the burden of the taxpayer by authorizing county to sell tax certificates purchased at less than amount thereof. State v. Graham, 17, 45 (22 N. W., 114). Tax for support of insane constitutional. State v. Douglas County, 18, 608 (26 N. W., 315). Money of non-resident in hands of resident agent is taxable. Finch v. York County, 19, 53 (26 N. W., 589). An occupation tax in addition to regular license tax may be imposed on liquor dealers. State v. Bennett, 19, 203 (26 N. W., 714).

SEC. 2. The property of the state, counties, and municipal corporations, both real and personal, shall be exempt from taxation, and such other property as may be used exclusively for agricultural and horticultural societies, for school, religious, cemetery and charitable purposes, may be exempted from taxation, but such exemptions shall be only by general law. In the assessment of all real estate encumbered by public easement, any depreciation occasioned by such easement may be deducted in the valuation of such property. The legislature may provide that the increased value of lands, by reason of live fences, fruit and forest trees grown and cultivated thereon, shall not be taken into account in the assessment thereof.

Act exempting from taxation property to the value of $100.00 for every acre of fruit trees cultivated unconstitutional. U. P. R. R. Co. v. Saunders County, 7, 230. Only the increased value exempt. B. & M. R. R. Co. v. Seward County, 10, 215 (4 N. W., 1016).

SEC. 3. The right of redemption from all sales of real estate, for the non-payment of taxes or special assessments of any character whatever, shall exist in favor of owners and persons interested in such real estate for a period of not less than two years from such sales thereof; Provided, That occupants shall in all cases be served with personal notice before the time of redemption expires.

Where party redeems and pays penalty without the prescribed notice, such redemption is voluntary, and he cannot recover penalty. Jones v. Duras, 14, 45 (14 N. W., 537). Notice not necessary before bringing suit to enforce lien. Lammers v. Comstock, 20, 345 (30 N. W., 251). Provision relative to notice is mandatory and must be given by purchaser or his assignee. Hendrix v. Boggs, 15, 471 (20 N. W., 28). Intention of legislature was to guard rights of owners from an adverse title through tax proceedings. Seaman v. Thompson, 16, 547 (20 N. W., 857).

SEC. 4. The legislature shall have no power to release or discharge any county, city, township, town or district whatever, or the inhabitants thereof, or any corporation, or the property therein, from their or its proportionate share of taxes to be levied for state purposes, or due any municipal corporation, nor shall commutation for such taxes be authorized in any form whatever.

Law refunding taxes erroneously paid on school lands valid. Washington County v. Fletcher, 12, 356 (11 N. W., 460). Lancaster County v. State, 13, 524 (14 N. W., 517). A clause providing for purchase at tax sale by county, but not allowing foreclosure, is void. See sec. 4100. County of Lancaster v. Trimble, 33, 125 (49 N. W., 938), and 34, 753 (2 N. W., 711). Section 4100, limiting right to foreclose tax liens to sums in excess of $200, is void. County of Lancaster v. Rush, 35, 123 (52 N. W., 837). Legislature cannot authorize sale of tax certificates for less than amount due thereon if land will bring it. State v. Graham, 17, 45 (22 N. W., 114). See Wood v. Helmer 10, 68 (4 N.W., 968).

SEC. 5. County authorities shall never assess taxes the aggregate of which shall exceed one and a half dollars per one hundred dollars valuation, except for the payment of indebtedness existing at the adoption of this constitution, unless authorized by a vote of the people of the county.

County board cannot include in their estimate or levy taxes in excess of amount fixed by law, to pay such warrants as were not paid out of former levies. State v. Gosper County, 14, 23 (14 N. W., 801). See Lininger v. Raymond, 12, 256 (10 N. W., 716); Baird v. Todd, 27, 786 (43 N. W., 1143). Bonds for internal improvements creating a public debt prior to November 1, 1875, to be satisfied by levy on the total valuation of the county, are not an assessment of taxes within the limitations of this section. Baird v. Todd, 27, 782 (43 N. W., 1143). Bonnell v. Nuckolls County, 32, 189 (49 N. W., 225). Seed grain bonds authorized by legislature, must still be sanctioned by vote of the electors. In re House Roll 284, 31, 512 (48 N. W., 275.) Cited, State, ex rel. Wessell, v. Weir, 33, 39 (49 N. W., 785.)

SEC. 6. The legislature may vest the corporate authorities of cities, towns, and villages, with power to make local improvements by special assessment, or by special taxation of property benefited. For all other corporate purposes, all municipal corporations may be vested with authority to assess and collect taxes, but such taxes shall be uniform in respect to persons and property within the jurisdiction of the body imposing the same.

Does not prevent legislature from conferring the same power on other corporations not named. State, ex rel. Abbott, v. Dodge County, 8, 134. Special assessments can only be levied upon property specially benefited and only to the extent of the benefits. Hanscom v. City of Omaha, 11, 37 (7 N. W., 739). A statute authorizing the levy of an assessment for the purpose of grading streets, a part to be collected abutting thereon, is valid. Hurford v. City of Omaha, 4, 346. Certain taxes held in conflict with and void. Kittle v. Shervin, 11, 80 (7 N. W., 861.) See State v. Seavey, 22, 468 (35 N. W., 228); Wilson v. Auburn, 27, 439 (43 N. W., 257). The right to levy and collect an occupation tax is not in conflict herewith. Magneau v. City of Fremont, 30, 843 (47 N. W., 280). Templeton v. City of Tekamah, 32, 542 (49 N. W., 373). The legislature may confer on county the power to make local improvements by special assessment on property. Darst v. Griffin, 31, 668 (48 N. W., 819). As to legislative discretion under this section, see Wheeler v. City of Plattsmouth, 7, 272. Cited, Gottschalk v. Becher, 32, 661 (49 N. W., 715).

SEC. 7. Private property shall not be liable to be taken or sold for the payment of the corporate debts of municipal corporations. The legislature shall not impose taxes upon municipal corporations, or the inhabitants or property thereof, for corporate purposes.

The requirement that certain insurance companies should pay a certain amount on the gross receipt to fire companies, is a tax and in conflict with this section. State v. Wheeler, 33, 563 (50 N. W., 770).

SEC. 8. The legislature at its first session shall provide by law for the funding of all outstanding warrants and other indebtedness of the state, at a rate of interest not exceeding eight per cent per annum.

Intended to provide for the payment of existing state indebtedness. State, ex rel. Omaha Nat'l Bank, v. McBride, 6, 513.

SEC. 9. The legislature shall provide by law that all claims upon the treasury shall be examined and adjusted by the auditor and approved by the secretary of state before any warrant for the amount allowed shall be drawn; Provided, That a party aggrieved by the decision of the auditor and secretary of state may appeal to district court.

Applies to all claims on treasurer, whether made on specific appropriations or not. State v. Babcock, 22, 44 (33 N. W., 711.) See note to sec. 22, art. III, citing State, ex rel. Squires, v. Wallichs, 14, 444 (16 N. W., 481). Cited and construed, In re impeachment of George H. Hastings et al., — Neb., — (— N. W., —).

ARTICLE X.—COUNTIES.

SECTION 1. No new county shall be formed or established by the legislature which will reduce the county or counties, or either of them, to a less area than four hundred square miles, nor shall any county be formed of a less area.

New counties may be formed out of unorganized territory by legislature. Olive v. State, 11, 17 (7 N. W., 444.) State v. Piper, 17, 617 (24 N. W., 204). Proposition to erect several counties from one may be submitted at same election. State v. Newman, 24, 43 (38 N. W., 40.) Cited and construed, State, ex rel. Pennell, v. Armstrong, 30, 493 (46 N. W., 618).

SEC. 2. No county shall be divided, or have any part stricken therefrom without first submitting the question to a vote of the people of the county, nor unless a majority of all the legal voters of the county voting on the question shall vote for the same.

Legislature may require more than a majority. Sec 855 is constitutional. State, ex rel. Packard, v. Nelson, 34, 172 (51 N. W., 648).

SEC. 3. There shall be no territory stricken from any organized county unless a majority of the voters living in such territory shall petition for such division, and no territory shall be added to any organized county without the consent of the majority of the voters of the county to which it is proposed to be added; but the portion so stricken off and added to another county, or formed in whole or in part into a new county, shall be holden for and obliged to pay its proportion of the indebtedness of the counties from which it has been taken.

Act of legislature striking out territory from organized county in conflict with this section. Wayne County v. Cobb, 35, 235 (52 N. W., 1102). Two propositions partly covering the same territory cannot be submitted at one time. A proper petition is jurisdictional to action by the county board. State, ex rel. Pennell, v. Armstrong, 30, 495 (46 N. W., 618).

SEC. 4. The legislature shall provide by law for the election of such county and township officers as may be necessary.

SEC. 5. The legislature shall provide by general law for township organization, under which any county may organize whenever a majority of the legal voters of such county, voting at any general election, shall so determine; and in any county that shall have adopted a township organization, the question of continuing the same may be submitted to a vote of the electors of such county at a general election in the manner that shall be provided by law.

To adopt township organization requires a majority of all the legal voters voting at such election. State, ex rel. Jones, v. Lancaster County, 6, 483. Adoption of does not shorten terms of county officers. State v. Hedlund, 16, 567 (20 N. W., 876). Cited Armour v. Board Commissioners (Dist. Kan.), 41 Fed. Rep., 323.

ARTICLE XI.—RAILROAD CORPORATIONS.

SECTION 1. Every railroad corporation organized or doing business in this state, under the laws or authority thereof, or of any other state, or of the United States, shall have and maintain a public office or place in this state for the transaction of its business, where transfers of stock shall be made, and in which shall be kept, for public inspection, books in which shall be recorded the amount of capital stock subscribed, and by whom the names of the owners of its stock, and the amounts owned by them respectively, the amount of stock paid in and by whom, the transfers of said stock, the amount of its assets and liabilities, and the names and places of residence of its officers. The directors of every railroad corporation, or other parties having control of its road, shall annually make a report under oath to the auditor of public accounts, or some officer to be designated by law, of the amount received from passengers and freight, and such other matters relating to railroads as may be prescribed by law. And the legislature shall pass laws enforcing by suitable penalties the provisions of this section.

SEC. 2. The rolling stock and all other movable property belonging to any railroad company or corporation in this state shall be liable to execution and sale in the same manner as the personal property of individuals, and the legislature shall pass no law exempting any such property from execution and sale.

SEC. 3. No railroad corporation or telegraph company shall consolidate its stock, property, franchises, or earnings, in whole or in part, with any other railroad corporation or telegraph company owning a parallel or competing line; and in no case shall any consolidation take place except upon public notice of at least sixty days to all stockholders in such manner as may be provided by law.

"Consolidate" used in sense of "join" or "unite"; prohibition extends to leasing. State v. A. & N. R R. Co, 24, 164 (38 N. W., 43).

SEC. 4. Railways heretofore constructed, or that may hereafter be constructed in this state, are hereby declared public highways, and shall be free to all persons for the transportation of their persons and property thereon, under such regulations as may be prescribed by law. And the legislature may from time to time pass laws establishing reasonable maximum rates of charges for the transportation of passengers and freight on the different railroads in this state. The liability of railroad corporations as common carriers shall never be limited.

SEC. 5. No railroad corporation shall issue any stock or bonds, except for money, labor, or property actually received and applied to the purposes for which such corporation was created, and all stock, dividends, and other fictitious increase of the capital stock or indebtedness of any such corporation shall be void. The capital stock of railroad corporations shall not be increased for any purpose, except after public notice for sixty days, in such manner as may be provided by law.

Applies not simply to stockholders; intended to restrict issue of stock to actual consideration. State v. A. & N. R. R. Co., 24, 165 (38 N. W., 43).

SEC. 6. The exercise of the power and the right of eminent domain shall never be so construed or abridged as to prevent the taking, by the legislature, of the property and franchises of incorporated companies already organized or hereafter to be organized, and subjecting them to the public necessity, the same as of individuals.

SEC. 7. The legislature shall pass laws to correct abuses, and prevent unjust discrimination and extortion in all charges of express, telegraph, and railroad companies in this state, and enforce such laws by adequate penalties to the extent, if necessary for that purpose, of forfeiture of their property and franchises.

Cited, Porter v. Sherman County Banking Co., 36, — (54 N. W., 425).

SEC. 8. No railroad corporation, organized under the laws of any other state, or of the United States, and doing business in this state, shall be entitled to exercise the right of eminent domain, or have power to acquire the right of way, or real estate for depot or other uses, until it shall have become a body corporate pursuant to and in accordance with the laws of this state.

Foreign corporations cannot exercise the right. State v. Scott, 22, 643 (36 N. W., 121). Koenig v. C., B. & Q. R. Co., 27, 704 (43 N. W., 423). Foreign corporation may consolidate with domestic and exercise the powers of eminent domain. State v. C., B. & Q. R. Co., 25, 161 (41 N. W., 125). See Trester v. M. P. Ry. Co., 23, 243 (36 N. W., 502).

ARTICLE XII.*—MUNICIPAL CORPORATIONS.

SECTION 1. No city, county, town, precinct, municipality, or other subdivision of the state, shall ever become a subscriber to the capital stock, or owner of such stock, or any portion or interest therein, of any railroad or private corporation, or association.

ARTICLE XIII.*—MISCELLANEOUS CORPORATIONS.

SECTION 1. No corporation shall be created by special law, nor its charter extended, changed, or amended, except those for charitable, educational, penal, or reformatory purposes, which are to be and remain under the patronage and control of the state, but the legislature shall provide by general laws for the organization of all corporations hereafter to be created. All general laws passed pursuant to this section may be altered from time to time, or repealed.

Special law authorizing school district to vote bonds invalid. Clegg v. School District, 8, 179. Special law authorizing county to vote court house bonds invalid. Dundy v. Richardson Co., 8, 519.

SEC. 2. No such general law shall be passed by the legislature granting the right to construct and operate a street railroad within any city, town, or incorporated village, without first requiring the consent of a majority of the electors thereof.

Majority of all votes cast give the required consent. State v. Bechel, 22, 162 (34 N. W., 342).

SEC. 3. All corporations may sue and be sued in like cases as natural persons.

SEC. 4. In all cases of claims against corporations and joint stock associations, the exact amount justly due shall be first ascertained, and after the corporate property shall have been exhausted, the original subscribers thereof shall be individually liable to the extent of their unpaid subscription, and the liability for the unpaid subscription shall follow the stock.

Liability of stockholders limited to a compliance with the laws governing such corporations. Smith v. Steele, 8, 118.

SEC. 5. The legislature shall provide by law that in all elections for directors or managers of incorporated companies every stockholder shall [have] the right to vote in person or proxy for the number of shares of stock owned by him, for as many persons as there are directors or managers to be elected, or to cumulate said shares and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of his shares of stock shall equal, or to distribute them upon the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit; and such directors or managers shall not be elected in any other manner.

*In the Compiled Statutes articles XII and XIII are consolidated with XI. This accounts for the discrepancy in numbering (of articles following XI) between that compilation and the present one. In the original rolls none of the articles are numbered, but XII and XIII are as distinct as the others.

SEC. 6. All existing charters or grants of special or exclusive privileges under which organization shall not have taken place, or which shall not be in operation within sixty days from the time this constitution takes effect, shall thereafter have no validity or effect whatever.

SEC. 7. Every stockholder in a banking corporation or institution shall be individually responsible and liable to its creditors, over and above the amount of stock by him held, to an amount equal to his respective stock or shares so held, for all its liabilities accruing while he remain such stockholder; and all banking corporations shall publish quarterly statements, under oath, of their assets and liabilities.

Cited, Porter v. Sherman County Banking Co., 36, — (54 N. W., 425).

ARTICLE XIV.[*]—STATE, COUNTY, AND MUNICIPAL INDEBTEDNESS.

SECTION 1. The state may, to meet casual deficits or failures in the revenues, contract debts never to exceed in the aggregate one hundred thousand dollars; and no greater indebtedness shall be incurred except for the purpose of repelling invasion, suppressing insurrection, or defending the state in war; and provision shall be made for the payment of the interest annually, as it shall accrue, by a tax levied for the purpose, or from other sources of revenue, which law providing for the payment of such interest by such tax shall be irrepealable until such debt be paid.

Applies to state only. Hallenbeck v. Hahn, 2, 399. See State v. Seavey, 22, 468 (35 N. W., 228); In re State Warrants, 25, 661.

SEC. 2. No city, county, town, precinct, municipality, or other subdivision of the state, shall ever make donations to any railroad or other works of internal improvement, unless a proposition so to do shall have been first submitted to the qualified electors thereof at an election by authority of law; Provided, That such donations of the county with the donations of such subdivisions in the aggregate shall not exceed ten per cent of the assessed valuation of such county; Provided further, That any city or county may, by a two-thirds vote, increase such indebtedness five per cent, in addition to such ten per cent, and no bonds or evidences of indebtedness so issued shall be valid unless the same shall have endorsed thereon a certificate signed by the secretary and auditor of state, showing that the same is issued pursuant to law.

Limitation upon county indebtedness relates solely to such as is created to aid in construction of works of internal improvement. Bridges built by county and wholly within it, are not works of internal improvement. De Clerq v. Hager, 12, 185 (10 N. W., 697). In arriving at the sum which the county had already donated in order to see what it might still donate, the items of unpaid interest on former donations must be rejected. Donations to one railroad or another, held invalid. Jones v. Hurlburt, 13, 133, 136 (13 N. W., 5). Spurck v. L. & N. W. R. Co., 14, 294 (15 N. W, 701). Aid not exceeding ten per cent of total valuation may be given by a two-thirds vote. Reineman v. C. C. & B. H. R. Co., 7, 314. Without certificate bonds void. State v. Roggen, 22, 125 (34 N. W., 108). Fees for registering bonds must be paid to auditor. State v. Wallichs, 16, 110 (20 N W., 27). Bonds to purchase seed grain, authorized by special act of legislature, must be sanctioned by vote of the electors to be legal. In re House Roll 284, 31, 512 (48 N. W., 275). This is a prohibition upon the municipal power to creat or increase public debt. District Township of Doone v. Cummings, 12 Sup. Ct. Rep., 223. Bonds for water-works of city or for city debts are not within the limitation herein. State v. Babcock, 19, 228 and 236 (27 N. W., 94 and 98). Does not prohibit precincts from voting bonds in excess of the limit fixed by the county. State, ex rel. A. & N. R., v. Lancaster Co., 6, 215.

SEC. 3. The credit of the state shall never be given or loaned in aid of any individual, association or corporation.

ARTICLE XV.[†]—MILITIA.

SECTION 1. The legislature shall determine what persons shall constitute the militia of the state, and may provide for organizing and disciplining the same.

---

ARTICLE XVI.*—MISCELLANEOUS PROVISION.

SECTION 1. Executive and judicial officers and members of the legislature, before they enter upon their official duties, shall take and subscribe the following oath or affirmation: "I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support the constitution of the United States, and the constitution of the state of Nebraska, and will faithfully discharge the duties of ——— according to the best of my ability, and that at the election at which I was chosen to fill said office I have not improperly influenced in any way the vote of any elector, and have not accepted, nor will I accept or receive, directly or indirectly, any money or other valuable thing from any corporation, company or person, or any promise of office, for any official act or influence (for any vote I may give or withhold on any bill, resolution, or appropriation)." Any such officer or member of the legislature who shall refuse to take the oath herein prescribed, shall forfeit his office, and any person who shall be convicted of having sworn falsely to, or of violating his said oath, shall forfeit his office, and thereafter be disqualified from holding any office of profit or trust in this state, unless he shall have been restored to civil rights.

SEC. 2. Any person who is in default as collector and custodian of public money or property shall not be eligible to any office of trust or profit under the constitution or laws of this state; nor shall any person convicted of felony be eligible to office unless he shall have been restored to civil rights.

SEC. 3. Drunkenness shall be cause of impeachment and removal from office.

ARTICLE XVII.†—AMENDMENTS.

SECTION 1. Either branch of the legislature may propose amendments to this constitution, and if the same be agreed to by three-fifths of the members elected to each house, such proposed amendments shall be entered on the journals, with the yeas and nays, and published at least once each week in at least one newspaper in each county, where a newspaper is published, for three months immediately preceding the next election of senators and representatives, at which election the same shall be submitted to the electors for approval or rejection, and if a majority of the electors voting at such election adopt such amendments, the same shall become a part of this constitution. When more than one amendment is submitted at the same election, they shall be so submitted as to enable the electors to vote on each amendment separately.

Requires a majority of all votes cast for legislative ticket. State, ex rel. Stevenson, v. Babcock, 17, 188 (22 N. W., 372). Form of submitting may be dual. In re Senate File 31, 25, 864 (41 N. W., 981).

SEC. 2. When three-fifths of the members elected to each branch of the legislature deem it necessary to call a convention to revise, amend, or change this constitution, they shall recommend to the electors to vote at the next election of members of the legislature for or against a convention; and if a majority voting at said election vote for a convention, the legislature shall, at its next session, provide by law for calling the same. The convention shall consist of as many members as the house of representatives, who shall be chosen in the same manner, and shall meet within three months after their election, for the purpose aforesaid. No amendment or change of this constitution, agreed upon by such convention, shall take effect until the same has been submitted to the electors of the state, and adopted by a majority of those voting for and against the same.

ARTICLE XVIII.*—SCHEDULE.

SECTION 1. [Vested rights confirmed.]—That no inconvenience may arise from the revisions and changes made in the constitution of this state, and to carry the same into effect, it is hereby ordained and declared that all laws in force at the time of the adoption of this constitution, not inconsistent therewith, and all rights, actions, prosecutions, claims, and contracts of this state, individuals, or bodies corporate, shall continue to be as valid as if this constitution had not been adopted.

Court may amend docket entry in a term case. Grimes v. Grosjeans, 24, 701 (40 N. W., 137). See Frasher v. Ingham, 4, 536; Cox v. Tyler, 6, 302.

SEC. 2. All fines, taxes, penalties, and forfeitures owing to the state of Nebraska, or to the people thereof, under the present constitution and laws, shall inure to the use of the people of the state of Nebraska under this constitution.

SEC. 3. Recognizances, bonds, obligations, and all other instruments entered into or executed upon the adoption of this constitution, to the people of the state of Nebraska, to the state of Nebraska, to any state or county officer, or public body, shall remain binding and valid, and rights and liabilities upon the same shall continue; and all crimes and misdemeanors shall be tried and punished as though no change had been made in the constitution of this state.

SEC. 4. All existing courts which are not in this constitution specifically enumerated, and concerning which no other provision is herein made, shall continue in existence, and exercise their present jurisdiction until otherwise provided by law.

Judicial functions of notary public continued. Dogge v. State, 21, 280 (31 N. W., 929).

SEC. 5. All persons now filling any office or appointment, shall continue in the exercise of the duties thereof, according to their respective commissions, elections, or appointments, unless by this constitution it is otherwise directed.

See State, ex rel. Carter, v. Board of Public Lands and Buildings, 7, 48.

SEC. 6. The district attorneys now in office shall continue during their unexpired terms to hold and exercise the duties of their respective offices in the judicial districts herein created, in which they severally reside. In each of the remaining districts one such officer shall be elected at the first general election, and hold his office until the expiration of the terms of those now in office.

SEC. 7. This constitution shall be submitted to the people of the state of Nebraska, for adoption or rejection, at an election to be held on the second Tuesday of October, A. D. 1875, and there shall be separately submitted at the same time, for adoption or rejection, the independent article relating to "Seat of government," and the independent article "Allowing electors to express their preference for United States senator."

SEC. 8. At said election the qualified electors shall vote at the usual places of voting, and the said election shall be conducted and the returns thereof made according to the laws now in force regulating general elections, except as herein otherwise provided.

SEC. 9. The secretary of state shall, at least twenty days before said election, cause to be delivered to the county clerk of each county blank poll-books, tally lists, and forms of return, and twice as many of properly prepared printed ballots for the said election as there are voters in such county, the expense whereof shall be audited and paid as other public printing ordered by the secretary as is by law required to be audited and paid; and the several county clerks shall, at least five days before said election, cause to be distributed to the judges of election, in each election precinct in their respective counties, said blank poll-books, tally lists, forms of return, and tickets.

* This article was erroneously numbered XVI in the Compiled Statutes and some of the Session Laws.

SEC. 10. At the said election the ballots shall be of the following form: For the new constitution. Against the new constitution. For the article relating to "Seat of government." Against the article relating to "Seat of government." For the article "Allowing electors to express their preference for United States senators." Against the article "Allowing the electors to express their preference for United States senators."

SEC. 11. The returns of the whole vote cast, and of the votes for the adoption or rejection of this constitution, and for or against the articles respectfully [respectively] submitted shall be made by the several county clerks to the secretary of state within fourteen days after the election, and the returns of the said vote shall, within three days thereafter, be examined and canvassed by the president of this convention, the secretary of state, and the governor, or any two of them, and proclamation shall be made forthwith by the governor, or the president of this convention, of the result of the canvass.

SEC. 12. [Result.]—If it shall appear that a majority of the votes polled are "for the new constitution," then so much of this new constitution as was not separately submitted to be voted on by article shall be the supreme law of the state of Nebraska, on and after the first day of November, A. D. 1875. But if it shall appear that a majority of the votes polled were "against the new constitution;" the whole thereof, including the articles separately submitted, shall be null and void. If the votes "for the new constitution" shall adopt the same and it shall appear that a majority of the votes polled are for the article relating to the "seat of government," said article shall be a part of the constitution of this state. If the votes "for the new constitution" shall adopt the same and it shall appear that the majority of the votes polled are for the article "allowing electors to express their preference for United States senator," said article shall be a part of the constitution of this state.

SEC. 13. The general election of this state shall be held on the Tuesday succeeding the first Monday of November of each year, except the first general election, which shall be on the second Tuesday in October, 1875. All state, district, county, precinct, and township officers, by the constitution or laws made elective by the people, except school district officers, and municipal officers in cities, villages, and towns, shall be elected at a general election to be held as aforesaid. Judges of the supreme, district, and county courts, all elective county and precinct officers, and all other elective officers, the time for the election of whom is not herein otherwise provided for, and which are not included in the above exception, shall be elected at the first general election, and thereafter at the general election next preceding the time of the termination of their respective terms of office; Provided, That the office of no county commissioner shall be vacated hereby.

SEC. 14. The terms of office of all state and county officers, or judges of the supreme, district, and county courts, and regents of the university shall begin on the first Thursday after the first Tuesday in January next succeeding their election. The present state and county officers, members of the legislature, and regents of the university, shall continue in office until their successors shall be elected and qualified.

Not applicable to physicians of penitentiary. State, ex rel. Carter, v. Board of Public Lands and Buildings, 7, 49.

SEC. 15. The supreme, district, and county courts established by this constitution shall be the successors respectively of the supreme court, the district courts, and the probate courts, having jurisdiction under the existing constitution.

SEC. 16. The supreme, district, and probate courts now in existence shall continue, and the judges thereof shall exercise the power and retain their present jurisdiction until the courts provided for by this constitution shall be organized.

SEC. 17. All cases, matters and proceedings, pending and undetermined in the several courts, and all records, judgments, orders, and decrees remaining therein, are hereby transferred to and shall be proceeded and enforced in and by the successors thereof respectively.

SEC. 18. If this constitution be adopted, the existing constitution shall cease in all its provisions on the first day of November, A. D. 1875.

Old constitution ceased on the adoption of the new. Wheeler v. City of Plattsmouth, 7, 273.

SEC. 19. The provisions of this constitution required to be executed prior to the adoption or rejection thereof, shall take effect and be in force immediately.

SEC. 20. The legislature shall pass all laws necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this constitution.

SEC. 21. On the taking effect of this constitution, all state officers hereby continued in office shall, before proceeding in the further discharge of their duties take an oath or affirmation to support this constitution.

SEC. 22. The regents of the university shall be elected at the first general election under this constitution, and be classified by lot so that two shall hold their offices for the term of two years, two for the term of four years, and two for the term of six years.

SEC. 23. The present executive state officers shall continue in office until the executive state officers provided for in this constitution shall be elected and qualified.

SEC. 24. The returns of the whole vote cast for the judges of the supreme and district courts, district attorneys, and regents of the university, under the first general election, shall be made by the several county clerks to the secretary of state within fourteen days after the election; and the returns of the said votes shall within three days thereafter, be examined and canvassed by the governor, secretary of state, and the president of this convention, or any two of them, and certificates of election shall forthwith be issued by the secretary of state to the persons found to be elected.

SEC. 25. The auditor shall draw the warrants of the state quarterly for the payment of the salaries of all officers under this constitution, whose compensation is not otherwise provided for, which shall be paid out of any funds not otherwise appropriated.

Salaries may be paid out of the treasury when no fund otherwise provided. State, ex rel. Roberts, v. Weston, 4, 218. See State, ex. rel. Brown, v. Weston, 6, 16. Appropriation in gross for payment of the various state judges is to be used for that purpose as far as necessary. In re Groff, 21, 662 (33 N. W., 426.)

SEC. 26. Until otherwise provided by law, the judges of the district court shall fix the time of holding courts in their respective districts.

A continuing power not exhausted by user. Candy v. State, 8, 483. Applies only to regular terms of court. McElvoy v. State, 9, 162 (2 N. W. 378).

SEC. 27. The members of the first legislature under this constitution shall be elected in the year 1876.

SEC. 28. This constitution shall be enrolled and deposited in the office of the secretary of state, and printed copies thereof shall be prefixed to the books containing the laws of the state, and all future editions thereof.

PROPOSITIONS SEPARATELY SUBMITTED AND ADOPTED.

ALLOWING ELECTORS TO EXPRESS THEIR PREFERENCE FOR UNITED STATES SENATOR.

The legislature may provide that at the general election immediately preceding the expiration of a term of a United States senator from this state, the electors may, by ballot, express their preference for some person for the office of United States senator. The votes cast for such candidates shall be canvassed and returned in the same manner as for state officers.

SEAT OF GOVERNMENT.

The seat of government of the state shall not be removed or relocated without the assent of a majority of the electors of the state, voting thereupon at a general election or elections, under such rules and regulations as to the number of elections and manner of voting, and places to be voted for, as may be prescribed by law; Provided, The question of removal may be submitted at such other general elections as may be provided by law.

Done in convention at the capitol, in the city of Lincoln, on the twelfth day of June, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five, and of the independence of the United States of America the ninety-ninth.

In witness whereof we have hereunto subscribed our names.

U. S. STATUTES GOVERNING NATURALIZATION.*

SEC. 2165. An alien may be admitted to become a citizen of the United States in the following manner, and not otherwise:

First—He shall declare on oath, before a circuit or district court of the United States, or a district or supreme court of the territories, or a court of record of any of the states having common-law jurisdiction, and a seal and clerk, two years, at least, prior to his admission, that it is bona fide his intention to become a citizen of the United States, and to renounce forever all allegiance and fidelity to any foreign prince, potentate, state, or sovereignty, and, particularly, by name, to the prince, potentate, state, or sovereignty of which the alien may be at the time a citizen or subject.

* That the declaration of intention to become a citizen of the United States, required by section two thousand one hundred and sixty-five of the Revised Statutes of the United States, may be made by an alien before the clerk of any of the courts named in said section two thousand one hundred and sixty-five; and all such declarations heretofore made before any such clerk are hereby declared as legal and valid as if made before one of the courts named in said section. *

* to * added February 1, 1876. 19 Stat. L., 2. The clerk cannot take his records to the residence of a private party, and there take his declaration. In re Langtry, 31 Fed. Rep., 879. A certificate by a competent court, that an alien has taken the oath prescribed by this act, raises a presumption that the court was satisfied as to the moral character of the alien, and of his attachment to the principles of the constitution. The oath, when taken, confers the rights of a citizen. It is not necessary that there should be an order of court admitting him to become a citizen. Campbell v. Gordon and wife, 6 Cr. (10 U. S.), 175.

Second—He shall, at the time of his application to be admitted, declare, on oath, before some one of the courts above specified, that he will support the constitution of the United States, and that he absolutely and entirely renounces and abjures all allegiance and fidelity to every foreign prince, potentate, state, or sovereignty, and, particularly, by name, to the prince, potentate, state, or sovereignty of which he was before a citizen or subject; which proceedings shall be recorded by the clerk of the court.

Third—It shall be made to appear to the satisfaction of the court admitting such alien that he has resided within the United States five years at least, and within the state or territory where such court is at the time held, one year at least; and that during that time he has behaved as a man of a good moral character, attached to the principles of the constitution of the United States, and well disposed to the good order and happiness of the same; but the oath of the applicant shall in no case be allowed to prove his residence.

Fourth—In case the alien applying to be admitted to citizenship has borne any hereditary title, or been of any of the orders of nobility in the kingdom or state from which he came, he shall, in addition to the above requisites, make an express renunciation of his title or order of nobility in the court to which his application is made, and his renunciation shall be recorded in the court.

Fifth—Any alien who was residing within the limits and under the jurisdiction of the United States before the twenty-ninth day of January, one thousand seven hundred and ninety-five, may be admitted to become a citizen, on due proof made to some one of the courts above specified, that he has resided two years, at least, within the jurisdiction of the United States, and one year, at least, immediately preceding his application, within the state or territory where such court is at the time held; and on his declaring on oath that he will support the constitution of the United States, and that he absolutely and entirely renounces and abjures all allegiance and fidelity to any foreign prince, potentate, state, or sovereignty, and, particularly, by name, to the prince, potentate, state, or sovereignty whereof he was before a citizen or subject; and, also, on its appearing to the satisfaction of the court, that during such term of two years he has behaved as a man of good moral character, attached to the constitution of the United States, and well disposed to the good order and happiness of the same; and where the alien, applying for admission to citizenship, has borne any hereditary title, or been of any of the orders of nobility in the kingdom or state from which he came, on his, moreover, making in the court an express renunciation of his title or order of nobility. All of the proceedings, required in this condition to be performed in the court, shall be recorded by the clerk thereof.

Sixth—Any alien who was residing within the limits and under the jurisdiction of the United States, between the eighteenth day of June, one thousand seven hundred and ninety-eight, and the eighteenth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and twelve, and who has continued to reside within the same, may be admitted to become a citizen of the United States without having made any previous declaration of his intention to become such; but whenever any person, without a certificate of such declaration of intention, makes application to be admitted a citizen, it must be proved to the satisfaction of the court, that the applicant was residing within the limits and under the jurisdiction of the United States before the eighteenth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and twelve, and has continued to reside within the same; and the residence of the applicant within the limit and under the jurisdiction of the United States, for at least five years immediately preceding the time of such application, must be proved by the oath of citizens of the United States, which citizens shall be named in the record as witnesses; and such continued residence within the limits and under the jurisdiction of the United States, when satisfactorily proved, and the place where the applicant has resided for at least five years, shall be stated and set forth, together with the names of such citizens, in the record of the court admitting the applicant; otherwise the same shall not entitle him to be considered and deemed a citizen of the United States. (Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the declaration of intention to become a citizen of the United States, required by section two thousand one hundred and sixty-five of the Revised Statutes of the United States, may be made by an alien before the clerk of any of the courts named in said section two thousand one hundred and sixty-five; and all such declarations heretofore made before any such clerk are hereby declared as legal and valid as if made before one of the courts named in said section.)

An alien can only be admitted to citizenship by complying with this act. Where an alien is naturalized, his citizenship dates from the time the order of the court is made admitting him to citizenship. The order of a court admitting an alien to citizenship is a judicial act in the nature of a judgment, and can be proven only by the record. State ex rel. Thayer v. Boyd, 31 Neb., 683. (48 N. W., 739). Reversed 12 Sup. Ct. Rep., 375, in which a lengthy opinion discusses many of the phases of this law. It need not appear, by the record of naturalization, that all the requisites prescribed by law for the admission of aliens to the rights of citizenship have been complied with. Stork v. Chesapeake Ins. Co., 7 Cr. (11 U. S.), 420. Power of French subjects to take and hold lands. Cluroc v. Cluroc, 2 Wheat. (15 U. S.), 259. A judgment admitting to citizenship is like other judgments, complete evidence of its own validity. Spratt v. Spratt, 4 Pet. (29 U. S.), 392.

SEC. 2166. Any alien, of the age of twenty-one years and upward, who has enlisted, or may enlist, in the armies of the United States, either the regular or the volunteer forces, and has been, or may be hereafter, honorably discharged, shall be admitted to become a citizen of the United States, upon his petition, without any previous declaration of his intention to become such; and he shall not be required to prove more than one year's residence within the United States previous to his application to become such citizen; and the court admitting such alien shall, in addition to such proof of residence and good moral character, as now provided by law, be satisfied by competent proof of such person's having been honorably discharged from the service of the United States.

SEC. 2167. Any alien, being under the age of twenty-one years, who has resided in the United States three years next preceding his arriving at that age, and who has continued to reside therein to the time he may make application to be admitted a citizen thereof, may, after he arrives at the age of twenty-one years, and after he has resided five years within the United States, including the three years of his minority, be admitted a citizen of the United States, without having made the declaration required in the first condition of section twenty-one hundred and sixty-five; but such alien shall make the declaration required therein at the time of his admission; and shall further declare, on oath, and prove to the satisfaction of the court, that, for two years next preceding, it has been his bona fide intention to become a citizen of the United States; and he shall in all other respects comply with the laws in regard to naturalization.

SEC. 2168. When any alien, who has complied with the first condition specified in section twenty-one hundred and sixty-five, dies before he is actually naturalized, the widow and the children of such alien shall be considered as citizens of the United States, and shall be entitled to all rights and privileges as such, upon taking the oaths proscribed * by law.

SEC. 2169. The provisions of this title shall apply to aliens (being free white persons and to aliens), of African nativity and to persons of African descent.

SEC. 2170. No alien shall be admitted to become a citizen who has not, for the continued term of five years next preceding his admission, resided within the United States.

SEC. 2171. No alien who is a native citizen or subject, or a denizen of any country, state, or sovereignty with which the United States are at war, at the time of his application, shall be then admitted to become a citizen of the United States; but persons resident within the United States, or the territories thereof, on the eighteenth day of June, in the year one thousand eight hundred and twelve, who had before that day made a declaration, according to law, of their intention to become citizens of the United States, or who were on that day entitled to become citizens without making such declaration, may be admitted to become citizens thereof, notwithstanding they were alien enemies at the time and in the manner prescribed by the laws heretofore passed on that subject; nor shall anything herein contained be taken or construed to interfere with or prevent the apprehension and removal, agreeably to law, of any alien enemy at any time previous to the actual naturalization of such alien.

SEC. 2172. The children of persons who have been duly naturalized under any law of the United States, or who, previous to the passing of any law on that subject, by the government of the United States, may have become citizens of any one of the states, under the laws thereof, being under the age of twenty-one years at the time of the naturalization of their parents, shall, if dwelling in the United States, be considered as citizens thereof; and the children of persons who now are, or have been, citizens of the United States, shall, though born out of the limits and jurisdiction of the United States, be considered as citizens thereof; but no person heretofore proscribed by any state, or who has been legally convicted of having joined the army of Great Britain during the Revolutionary War, shall be admitted to become a citizen without the consent of the legislature of the state in which such person was proscribed.

* Error in the roll; should be prescribed.

The child of an alien under twenty-one years of age born in a foreign country becomes a citizen by the naturalization of his parent, if dwelling within the United States at the time the parent is admitted to citizenship; but it does not have that effect if he is over twenty-one years old at the time the parent is naturalized. State ex rel Thayer v. Boyd, 31 Neb., 709 (48 N. W., 739). See Campbell v. Gordon and wife, 6 Cr. (10 U. S.), 175. Cited and construed, U. S. v. Hirschfield, 23 Blatchf. (2 Circ.), 332.

SEC. 2173. The police court of the District of Columbia shall have no power to naturalize foreigners.

SEC. 2174. Every seaman, being a foreigner, who declares his intention of becoming a citizen of the United States in any competent court, and shall have served three years on board of a merchant-vessel of the United States subsequent to the date of such declaration, may, on his application to any competent court, and the production of his certificate of discharge and good conduct during that time, together with the certificate of his declaration of intention to become a citizen, be admitted a citizen of the United States; and every seaman, being a foreigner, shall, after his declaration of intention to become a citizen of the United States, and after he shall have served such three years, be deemed a citizen of the United States for the purpose of manning and serving on board any merchant-vessel of the United States, anything to the contrary in any act of congress notwithstanding; but such seaman shall, for all purposes of protection as an American citizen, be deemed such, after the filing of his declaration of intention to become such citizen.

U. S. STATUTES GOVERNING ELECTION OF UNITED STATES SENATOR.*

SEC. 14. The legislature of each state which is chosen next preceding the expiration of the time for which any senator was elected to represent such state in congress shall, on the second Tuesday after the meeting and organization thereof, proceed to elect a senator in congress.

SEC. 15. Such election shall be conducted in the following manner: Each house shall openly, by a viva-voce vote of each member present, name one person for senator in congress from such state, and the name of the person so voted for, who receives a majority of the whole number of votes cast in each house, shall be entered on the journal of that house by the clerk or secretary thereof; or if either house fails to give such majority to any person on that day the fact shall be entered on the journal. At twelve o'clock meridian of the day following that on which proceedings are required to take place as aforesaid, the members of the two houses shall convene in joint assembly, and the journal of each house shall then be read, and if the same person has received a majority of all the votes in each house he shall be declared duly elected senator. But if the same person has not received a majority of the votes in each house, or if either house has failed to take proceedings as required by this section, the joint assembly shall then proceed to choose, by a viva-voce vote of each member present, a person for senator, and the person who receives a majority of all the votes of the joint assembly, a majority of all the members elected to both houses being present and voting, shall be declared duly elected. If no person receives such majority on the first day, the joint assembly shall meet at twelve o'clock meridian of each succeeding day during the session of the legislature, and shall take at least one vote, until a senator is elected.

SEC. 16. Whenever on the meeting of the legislature of any state a vacancy exists in the representation of such state in the senate, the legislature shall proceed, on the second Tuesday after meeting and organization, to elect a person to fill such vacancy, in the manner prescribed in the preceding section for the election of a senator for a full term.

SEC. 17. Whenever during the session of the legislature of any state a vacancy occurs in the representation of such state in the senate, similar proceedings to fill such vacancy shall be had on the second Tuesday after the legislature has organized and has notice of such vacancy.

SEC. 18. It shall be the duty of the executive of the state from which any senator has been chosen, to certify his election, under the seal of the state, to the president of the senate of the United States.

SEC. 19. The certificate mentioned in the preceding section shall be countersigned by the secretary of state of the state.

PART II.

THE GENERAL LAWS

OF THE

STATE OF NEBRASKA.

CHAPTER 1.—AGRICULTURE.

Secs. 1 to 27, except secs. 11 to 19. "An act for the government and maintenance of the state board of agriculture and state historical society." 1879, p. 396. In force June 1. Repealing secs. 2–11, R. S., p. 4, and subsequent acts.

1. There shall be held at the capital of the state, on the third Tuesday in January of each year, a meeting of the state board of agriculture, together with the president of each county society, or delegate therefrom duly authorized, who shall for the time being be ex-officio members of the state board of agriculture, for the purpose of deliberating and consulting as to the wants, prospects, and condition of the agricultural interests throughout the state. And at such annual meeting the several reports from the subordinate societies shall be delivered to the president of the state board; and the said president and delegates shall at this meeting elect suitable persons to fill all vacancies in the state board. The said president shall also have power to call meetings of the board whenever he may deem it expedient. * The said board shall also have power at the annual meeting to locate the state fair for a period not exceeding five years at any one time or at any one place.

All after * added 1883, p. 57.

2. The officers of the board shall consist of a president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer, and such others as the board may deem necessary. They shall be elected at the annual meeting of the board, and shall hold their offices for the period of one year, and until their successors are elected and qualified. The board shall determine by lot the time that each member shall serve, so that the term of service of one-half of the members shall expire annually on the day of the annual meeting.

3. It shall be the duty of the said board to make an annual report to the governor, embracing the proceedings of the society, with a bill of items showing what moneys have been received and paid out for the past year, giving a general view of the condition of agriculture throughout the state, and such other recommendations as they may deem important and useful. The sum of two thousand (2,000) dollars shall be paid annually out of the state treasury, which shall be used in the payment of premiums awarded by said board in the various branches of agriculture; and the state auditor is hereby authorized to draw his warrant for said amount upon the receipt of the proper voucher therefor, certified to by the president and secretary of said board; Provided, That should the board fail in any year to offer and award premiums as aforesaid, then the benefit of this section shall not be available that year.

4. The report of the board, or so much thereof as will not exceed *four hundred pages of printed matter, to be designated by the president and secretary, shall be printed annually by the state printer and * 5,000 copies thereof bound in cloth covers and delivered to the secretary of the state, the accounts thereof to be audited as other accounts for state printing are audited, and paid out of any money appropriated for legislative printing.

* Changed from 200 and 2,000 respectively. 1887, p. 67.

5. The secretary of state shall distribute said reports as follows: Five copies thereof to each member of the legislature and to each state officer, one copy by mail to each county clerk, to be by them preserved as one of the public records of the county; one copy by mail to each state and territorial library, the library of congress, the senate library, the library of the house of representatives, and the library of the agricultural department of the United States; one copy to each public library in the state; one hundred copies to the state library; and the balance to the secretary of the state board of agriculture, to be by him distributed as the board may direct.

6. The state horticultural society shall meet at the capital of the state on the first Tuesday after the second Monday in January of each year for the purpose of deliberating and consulting as to the wants, conditions, and prospects of the horticultural interests of the state.

Amended 1887, p. 67.

7. The officers of the state horticultural society shall correspond in numbers and titles to those of the state board of agriculture, and shall be elected at said annual meeting for like periods of time.

8. [Duties.]—Such society shall encourage the organization of district and county societies and give them representation therein, and in every proper way further the fruit and tree growing interests of the state.

9. The secretary of said horticultural society shall make an annual report to the governor, embracing the proceedings of the society, with a bill of items, showing for what purpose any money appropriated was paid out for the past year, the general condition of horticultural interests throughout the state, together with the essays, statements of facts, and recommendations as he may deem useful, which report, not exceeding three hundred pages of printed matter, shall be printed annually by the state printer, and not to exceed 5,000 copies thereof be bound in cloth covers and delivered to the secretary of the state, the accounts thereof to be audited as other accounts for state printing are audited and paid out of any money appropriated for legislative printing.

Amended 1887, p. 68.

10. The sum of one thousand dollars shall be paid out of the state treasury annually for the use and benefit of said society, and the state auditor is hereby authorized to draw his warrant for the same upon vouchers therefor, certified to by the president and secretary of said society, said amount to be used in the payment of premiums awarded by such board in the various branches of horticulture.

11. If any of the officers named and designated as the custodian of the appropriation hereby made shall convert the same to his own use, or suffer the same to be lost or expended in any other way or manner than that designated by law, such officers or persons shall be deemed guilty of embezzlement and after conviction thereof, shall be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary not less than one year.

This section formed sec. 5, p. 12, Laws 1872; G. S., p. 79, sec. 16.

Secs. 12 to 18. "An act to establish experimental stations at Culbertson and Ogalalla, Neb., and fixing the control and management of the same." 1891, p. 66. In force April 7.

12. That for the furtherance and promotion of the agricultural and horticultural interests of this state, two (2) experimental stations shall be established, one at or near Culbertson, Hitchcock county, Nebraska, and one at or near Ogalalla, Keith county, Nebraska, which stations shall be under the control and management of the state board of agriculture.

13. The state board of agriculture is hereby authorized and empowered to select the necessary lands and to secure the same, either by lease or purchase, as in their judgment appears advisable, and to make all necessary improvements in the way of buildings, fences, etc., and to take all such steps as they deem necessary to successfully establish such stations.

14. The state board of agriculture shall have the control and supervision of said stations. They shall appoint skillful superintendents and such other officers and employes as to them may appear necessary to obtain the best results. They shall fix the salaries and compensation of the employes and establish such rules and regulations as they may from time to time deem best. They shall select three (3) resident trustees for each station, who shall serve without compensation, except as it becomes necessary to pay traveling expenses as may be required.

15. The object of these experimental stations shall be to determine the adaptability of the state of Nebraska to agriculture and horticulture, such as the producing of grain, grasses, root crops, and fruits of all kinds that are produced in the same latitude in other states; also the most economical methods of producing the best results in growing such crops, both with and without irrigation; also to determine the most successful methods of applying water by artificial means to the lands of the state of Nebraska.

16. The state board of agriculture may in their discretion establish substations, not to exceed four (4) for any one year, to determine the effect of irrigation on the different kinds of soil in said state.

17. The proceeds arising from the sale of products of said stations shall be applied to the liquidation of the running expenses, and all money so accruing shall be credited as coming from the state, and be applied as part or whole payment of any amount which may be appropriated from the funds of the state for the maintenance of said station.

18. To enable the state board of agriculture to carry out the provisions of this act they are hereby authorized to expend such amounts as they may deem necessary from any moneys hereafter appropriated to carry out the spirit and intent of this bill, either by the state or the United States, as the case might be.

19. Whenever twenty or more persons residents of any county in this state shall organize themselves into a society for the improvement of agriculture within said county, and shall have adopted a constitution and by-laws agreeable to the rules and regulations furnished by the state board of agriculture, and shall have appointed the usual and proper officers, and when the said society shall have raised and paid into the treasury, by voluntary subscription or by fees imposed upon its members, any sum of money, in each year not less than fifty ($50) dollars, and whenever the president of such society shall certify to the county clerk the amount thus paid, it shall be the duty of the county board of said county to order a warrant drawn on the general fund of said county in favor of the president of said society for a sum equal to three cents on each inhabitant of said county upon a basis of the last vote for member of congress, allowing five inhabitants for each vote thus cast, and it shall be the duty of the county board of said county to include this three (3) cents per capita in their annual estimate, and it shall be the duty of the treasurer of the county to pay the same out of the general fund; Provided, That if any existing county agricultural society fails or has failed for two years or more to hold an annual fair of at least three days duration, then any agricultural society in the county formed for a similar purpose, and governed by the rules of this chapter and who shall hold an annual fair of at least three days duration, may apply for and shall receive from the county treasurer the amount above provided to be paid, to which amount they shall be entitled for so long a period as they may comply with the conditions of this act.

This section formed sec. 1, p. 3, R. S. Amended, 1869, p. 217; 1881, p. 63; 1889, p. 534. Allowance of three per cent is not in conflict with constitution. State v. Robinson, 35, 402 (53 N. W., 213).

20. All county agricultural societies organized pursuant to law shall annually offer and award premiums for the improvement of soil, crops, tillage, manures, implements, stock, articles of domestic industry, and such other articles, productions, and improvements as they may deem proper, and perform all such acts as they may deem best calculated to promote the agricultural and manufacturing interests of the county and state. And it shall also be their duty so to regulate the amount of premiums and the different grades of the same as to enable farmers of small as well as large means to compete therefor; and in making the awards special reference shall be had to the profits which may accrue or be likely to accrue from improved methods of raising crops, or of the fabrication of the articles thus offered, with the intention that the premiums shall be given for the most economical mode of improvement. All persons offering to compete for premiums on improved mode of tillage, or the production of any crops or other articles, shall be required, before such premiums are adjudged, to deliver to the awarding committee a full and correct statement of the process of such mode of tillage or production, and the expense and value of the same, with a view of showing accurately the profits derived or expected to be derived therefrom.

21. It shall be the duty ot each county society to publish annually a list of the awards, and an abstract of the treasurer's account, in such manner as the society may direct, and to make a report of their proceedings during the year, and a synopsis of the awards for the improvements in agriculture and manufactures, together with an abstract of the several descriptions of these improvements; and also to make a report of the condition of agriculture in that county; which report shall be made out in accordance with the rules and regulations of the state board of agriculture, and shall be forwarded to the state board at their annual meeting.

22. [Fair grounds.]—Each county society may purchase and hold in fee simple such real estate as they may deem necessary, not exceeding 160 acres of land, for the purpose of holding county fairs.

23. Whenever any county agricultural society, organized by law, shall have procured in fee simple, free from incumbrance, land for fair grounds not less than ten acres in extent, the county board of said county may, in their discretion, if the finances of the county will admit, appropriate and pay to such society a sum not exceeding one hundred dollars for every thousand inhabitants in said county, to be expended by such society in fitting up such fair grounds, but for no other purpose; but not more than one thousand dollars shall in the aggregate be appropriated in any one county.

24. Each society receiving such appropriation shall, through its secretary, make to the county board a detailed statement, with vouchers showing the legal disbursement of all the moneys received. And in all cases, when such county agricultural societies shall be dissolved, or neglect, for the space of two years, to discharge the duties devolving upon them by law, or cease to exist, in any county where payments have been made for real estate, or improvements upon such real estate for the use of any agricultural society, then all such real estate and improvements shall vest in fee simple in the county making such payment, and the district court of said county, upon proof thereof, shall, upon petition of said county board, make a proper decree vesting the title to such property in said county.

25. No person shall be permitted to sell intoxicating liquors, wine, or beer of any kind, or be engaged in any gambling, or other game of chance, or horse-racing, either inside the enclosure where any state, district, or county agricultural society fair is being held or within forty rods thereof, during the time of holding such fair; and any person found guilty of any of the offenses herein enumerated, shall be fined in a sum not less than five nor more than fifty dollars for every such offense; Provided, That trials of speed of horses under direction of the society shall not be included in the term horse-racing; Provided, also, That upon filing proof with the state treasurer of a violation of this section inside the enclosure of any such fair, the amount of money appropriated shall be withheld for the current year, except, if paid, then it shall be withheld from any money appropriated for the ensuing year.

26. The president of any state or county agricultural society may grant a written permit to such persons as he may deem necessary to sell fruit, provisions, and other necessaries to such persons as may be in attendance at any such fair, under such regulations and restrictions as the board of directors may prescribe.

27. The president of any such society, marshal, or any police officer appointed by the board shall be empowered to arrest, or cause to be arrested, any person or persons engaged in violating any of the provisions contained in section 16 [25] of this chapter, and cause them forthwith to be taken before some justice of the peace, there to be dealt with as provided for in said section; and they may seize, or cause to be seized, all intoxicating liquors, wine or beer, of any kind, with the vessels containing the same, and all tools or other implements used in any gambling or other game of chance, and may remove, or cause to be removed, all shows, swings, booths, tents, carriages, wagons, vessels, boats, or any other nuisance that may obstruct, or cause to be obstructed, by collecting persons around or otherwise, any thoroughfare leading to the enclosure in which such agricultural fair is being held; and any person owning or occupying any of the causes of obstruction herein specified who may refuse or fail to remove such obstruction or nuisance, when ordered to do so by the president of such society, shall be liable to a fine of not less than five and not more than twenty dollars for every such offense.

Secs. 28 to 45 formed sections 12 to 29, ch. 1, R. S. 1866, p. 7.

28. Whenever any owner or owners, occupier or occupiers, of any lands bordering upon any public road or highway, except a street or alley in a town, may wish to plant and cultivate any hedge or live fence along the margin of his, her, or their land, it shall be lawful for any such person or persons to set and plant any such hedge or live fence precisely on the line of the road or public highway, and also to place on the margin of such road a protection fence, not to occupy more than six feet of the margin or edge of said road, and such protection fence, when placed opposite any live fence or hedge, actually set and planted, shall be permitted by the county commissioners, and all other persons, to remain for the term of seven years; Provided, That the county commissioners may grant permission in writing to the owner or owners of any live fence or hedge to continue such protection fence any term of time which they may deem necessary.

This is not applicable to railroad company. C., B. & Q. R. R. Co. v. James, 26, 188 (41 N. W., 993). Where a person constructs a division fence without complying with the statute, he cannot have any contribution from owner of adjoining land. The statutory mode of apportionment and procedure is exclusive. Burr v. Hamer, 12, 485 (11 N. W., 741).

29. When two or more persons shall have lands adjoining, each of them shall make and maintain a just proportion of the division fence between them, except the owner of either of the adjoining lands shall choose to let his lands lie open.

30. When any person shall have chosen to let his lands lie open, if he shall afterwards enclose the same, or if the owner of lands adjoining upon the enclosure of another shall enclose the same upon the enclosure of another, he shall pay to the owner of the adjoining lands a just proportion of the value, at the time, of any division fence that shall have been made by such adjoining owner, or he shall immediately build his proportion of such division fence.

31. The value of such fence, and the proportion thereof to be paid by such person, and the proportion of the division fence to be made and maintained by him in case of his enclosing his land, shall be determined by any two fence viewers of the precinct in the county.

32. If disputes arise between the owners of adjoining lands concerning the proportion of fence to be made or maintained by either of them, such disputes shall be settled by the fence viewers of the county; and in such case it shall be the duty of the fence viewers to distinctly mark and define the proportion of the fence to be made or maintained by each.

33. When any of the above mentioned matters shall be submitted to fence viewers, each party shall choose one, and if either neglect, after eight days' notice, to make such choice, the other party may select both.

34. The two fence viewers so chosen shall examine the premises and hear the allegations of the parties; in case of their disagreement they shall select another fence viewer to act with them, and the decision of any two of them shall be final upon the parties to such disputes, and upon all parties holding under them.

35. The decision of the fence viewers shall be reduced to writing, shall contain a description of the fence, and of the proportion to be maintained by each, and their decision upon any of the points in dispute between the parties submitted to them as aforesaid, and shall be forthwith filed in the office of the county clerk.

36. If any person who is liable to contribute to the erection or reparation of a division fence shall neglect, or refuse, for the period of four weeks after notice in writing so to do, to make and maintain his proportion of such fence, the party injured may make or repair the same at the expense of the party so neglecting or refusing, to be recovered from him with costs of suit; and the party so neglecting or refusing, after notice in writing, shall be liable to the party injured for all damages which thereby accrue, to be determined by any two fence viewers selected as above provided, and the fence viewers shall reduce their appraisment of damages to writing and sign the same.

37. If any person who shall have made his proportion of division fence shall be disposed to remove his fence and suffer his land to lie open, after having first given the adjoining owner at least sixty days previous notice in writing of his intention so to do, he may at any time between the first day of December in any year, and the first day of April following, but at no other time, remove the same.

38. If any such fence shall be removed without such notice, the party removing the same shall pay to the party injured all such damages as he may thereby sustain, to be recovered with cost of suit.

39. Whenever a division fence shall be injured or destroyed by fire, floods, or other casualty, the person bound to make and repair such fence, or any part thereof, shall make or repair the same, or his just proportion thereof, within ten days after he shall be thereto required by any person interested therein, such requisition to be in writing, and signed by the party making the same.

40. If such person shall neglect or refuse to make or repair his proportion of such fence for the period of ten days after such request, the party injured may make or repair the same at the expense of the party so refusing or neglecting, to be recovered with cost of suit.

41. Fence viewers may examine witnesses on any and all questions submitted to them, and either of such fence viewers shall have power to issue subpœnas for and administer oath to such witnesses.

42. In all organized counties, justices of the peace shall be ex-officio fence viewers of the county.

43. Fence viewers shall be entitled to one dollar per day each for the time necessarily spent as above provided, to be paid in the first instance by the party requiring the service; and all expenses of the view shall be borne equally between the parties, except in case of view to appraise damages for neglect or refusal to make or maintain a just proportion of the division fence, in which case the cost of view shall be paid by the party in default, and may be recovered as a part of the damage assessed.

44. Damage accruing to any person or persons, under provisions of this chapter, may be recovered in a civil action, in any court of this state.

45. Any structure or hedge or ditch in the nature of a fence used for the purposes of enclosure which is such as good husbandmen generally keep, shall be deemed a lawful fence.

Secs. 46 to 50. "An act to define a lawful fence, and other purposes." 1867 (Ter.), p. 17.

46. Such structures as shall be used for a fence, to enclose lands shall be as follows:

47. A rail fence shall consist of at least six rails, said rails to be secured by stakes at the end of each panel, well set in the ground, with a rider upon said stakes. A board fence shall consist of not less than three boards of at least five inches in width and one inch thick, said boards to be well secured to posts, the posts to be not more than eight feet apart. A rail and post fence shall consist of at least three rails, well secured at each end to posts, and posts to be not more than ten feet apart. A pole and post fence shall consist of not less than four poles, to be well secured to posts, said posts to be not more than seven feet apart. A wire fence shall consist of at least four wires, of a size not less than number nine fencing wire, to be well secured to posts, said posts to be at no greater distance than one rod from each other; and there shall be placed between every two of said posts one stake or post to which the wire shall be attached.

48. The fences described in the preceding section shall be at least four and one-half feet in height, and in the construction of said fences the spaces between the boards, rails, poles, and wires herein provided for shall not exceed one foot each, measuring from the top.

49. A hedge fence of Osage orange shall consist of at least one row of plants, said plants not to be more than eight inches apart at the surface of the ground, and said hedge shall be such as fence viewers shall decide a lawful fence. A hedge fence of willow, or other trees used for that purpose, shall consist of at least one row of such trees standing not more than fifteen inches apart at the surface of the ground, and at least two and one-half inches in diameter, and at least six feet in height.

50. Fence known as "Warner's Patent" shall be at least four and a half feet in height, and consist of not less than five boards, said boards to be at least five inches wide, and one inch thick.

Secs. 51 and 52. "An act to protect owners and occupants of enclosed and cultivated lands from trespass and damage." 1871, p. 126. In force March 8.

51. [Trespass.]—That any person or persons who shall go upon or pass over any cultivated or enclosed land in this state, without the consent of the owner or occupant thereof, or who shall do, or whose accompanying dog shall do, any damage to or upon said premises, or to any property thereon, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall pay a fine of not less than the amount of damage committed, nor more than double the amount of such damage, and in addition thereto shall be liable to the person suffering such damages, for the amount thereof.

52. [Same.]—Any person or persons who shall enter or go upon any enclosure or cultivated lands owned or occupied by another, and shall refuse upon request of the owner or occupant thereof to go immediately therefrom, shall for each such refusal be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall pay a fine not less than five dollars nor more than fifty dollars for each offense so committed.

Secs. 53 to 59. "An act to provide for the planting of shade trees in towns cities, and villages." 1871, p. 51. In force March 1.

53. That the corporate authorities of the cities and villages of the state of Nebraska shall cause shade trees to be planted along the streets thereof.

54. For the above purpose a tax of not less than one dollar nor more than five dollars, in addition to all other taxes, shall be levied upon each lot adjacent to which the trees are to be planted as aforesaid and collected as other taxes.

55. Trees shall be annually planted when practicable on each side of one-fourth of the streets in each city and village in the state of Nebraska, until all shall have shade trees along them not more than twenty feet apart.

56. The corporate authorities aforesaid shall provide, by ordinance, the distance from the side of the street that trees shall be planted, and the size thereof.

57. Provided the owner of any lot or lots may plant trees adjacent thereto where ordered as above, in the manner and of the size prescribed, and on making proof thereof by affidavit to the collector, said affidavit shall exempt said owner from the payment of the aforesaid tax.

58. Any person who shall materially injure or shall destroy the shade tree or trees of another, or permit his animals to injure or destroy them, shall be liable to a fine of not less than five dollars nor more than fifty dollars for each tree thus injured or destroyed, which fine shall be collected on complaint of any person or persons before any court of proper jurisdiction. One-half of all fines thus collected shall be paid to the owner of the trees injured or destroyed; the other half shall be paid into the school fund.

59. That this act shall not apply to any person that is occupant of any business lot without his consent.

Secs. 60 and 61. "An act to encourage the growth and cultivation of timber in the state of Nebraska." 1879, p. 187. In force February 27.

60. [Bounty.]—That when any person shall plant and properly cultivate for the term of five years, six rows of trees eight feet apart, and the trees four feet apart in the row—along either the north section, or the half section line, running east and west—said rows to be not nearer to the said north section or half section line than four feet or than the south line of any road which may be laid out on said north section or half section line, or when any person shall fill out to the standard above prescribed, and keep the same in a proper state of cultivation for the time above stated, any rows of trees that may previously have been planted along said north section or said half section line, it shall be the duty of the county commissioners to pay such person, by warrant on the county treasurer, a sum of money, amounting to three dollars and thirty-three cents per acre, for each acre so planted and cultivated, annually, so long as the same is planted and kept growing and in a proper state of cultivation, for a period not to exceed the space of five years, and to an extent not to exceed three acres of land.

61. It shall be the duty of the assessor of each precinct to make proper examination and report to the county commissioners at the time of his annual report the condition of all timber so planted and cultivated under the provisions of this act.

Secs. 62 to 66. "An act legalizing the Nebraska Dairymen's Association," etc. 1889, p. 565. In force March 2.

62. That the regularly organized and incorporated society known as the Nebraska Dairymen's Association, whose articles of incorporation are recorded in the office of secretary of state, be and the same is hereby legalized as a state institution.

63. The Nebraska Dairymen's Association shall hold a convention annually on the third Tuesday in December, at such place in the state as the board of managers may select, for the purpose of gathering statistics and diffusing practical knowledge on subjects pertaining to the dairy interests of the state, by addresses, papers, discussions, and such other means as the board of managers may direct.

64. The secretary of said association shall preserve all papers read, and take a stenographic report of all addresses and discussions at said annual convention, and shall make a report of the same to the governor, together with a full report of all business transacted, including an itemized statement of all expenditures of money, and shall publish in pamphlet form not less than two thousand (2,000) copies of said report, which shall be distributed according to the laws governing the distribution of the reports of the state board of agriculture.

65. The sum of one thousand dollars is hereby annually appropriated out of any moneys in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated, for the use and benefit of said association, and the state auditor is hereby authorized to draw his warrant for the same upon presentation of proper vouchers therefor, certified to by the president and secretary of said association, said amount to be used only for defraying the expenses incurred in holding conventions and in publishing and distributing reports and such other purposes as in the discretion of the board of managers shall best subserve the dairy interests of the state.

66. If any officer or member of said association shall convert any of the moneys hereby appropriated to his own use, or suffer the same to be lost or expended in any other way or manner or for any other purpose than is designated by law, such officer or member shall be deemed guilty of embezzlement, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary not less than one nor more than three years.

Secs. 67 to 69. "An act for the protection of dairymen, and to prevent deception in sales of butter and cheese." 1883, p. 239. In force February 20.

67. That any person, company, or corporation who shall manufacture for sale any article, or who may offer or expose for sale any article or substance in semblance of butter or cheese, not the legitimate product of the dairy, and not made exclusively of milk or cream, but into which any vegetable oil or the oil or fat of animals not produced from milk enters as a component part, or into which melted butter or any oil thereof has been introduced to take the place of cream, shall distinctly and durably stamp, brand, or mark upon every tub, firkin, box, or package of such article or substance the word oleomargarine or butterine, in plain Roman letters not less than half an inch square, placed horizontally in proper order, and in case of retail sales of such articles or substances in parcels, the seller shall in all cases deliver therewith to the purchaser a written or printed label, bearing the plainly written or printed word oleomargarine or butterine in type or letters as aforesaid, and every sale of such article or substance not so stamped, branded, marked, or labeled shall be void, and no action shall be maintained for the price thereof.

68. Any person, company, or corporation who shall sell, or offer to sell, or have in his or her possession with intent to sell, contrary to the provisions of this act any of the said articles not so stamped, marked, or labeled, or in case of retail sale, without delivery of the label required by section one of this act [67], shall for each such offense forfeit and pay a fine of one hundred dollars, to be recovered in any court in the state of competent jurisdiction.

69. That any person, company, or corporation who shall sell, or offer or expose for sale, or shall cause or procure to be sold any article required by the first section of this act to be marked, branded, stamped, or labeled, not so marked, branded, stamped or labeled, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on trial for such misdemeanor, proof of the sale or offer or exposure alleged shall be presumptive evidence of knowledge of the character of the article so sold or offered.

CHAPTER 2.—ANIMALS.

MARKS AND BRANDS.*

Secs. 70 to 77 formed chap. 33, R. S. 1866, p. 253, entitled "Marks and Brands."

70. Every person having cattle, hogs, and sheep shall have a mark or brand, different from the mark or brand of his neighbors, and he shall deliver to the county clerk a description of his mark or brand, and such clerk shall record the same in a well bound book kept by him for that purpose.

71. [Cannot be duplicated.]—No person shall have or adopt a mark or brand previously recorded to another person of the same county, neither shall the county clerk record the same mark or brand to more than one person.

72. No person shall use more than one mark or brand for his stock, nor use any other than the one recorded.

73. Every person shall mark or brand all his hogs or sheep over six months old, and his cattle over twelve months old, and if any dispute arise about the question of whose any mark or brand may be, the same shall be decided by the record of the county clerk.

74. [Fraudulent recording.]—If any person shall willfully and knowingly have a mark or brand recorded which is already recorded to another person in the same county, he shall be fined not less than twenty dollars nor more than one hundred dollars.

75. [Same by clerk.]—If any county clerk shall record the same mark or brand to more than one person, he shall forfeit and pay, to the use of the county, a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars.

76. Every person who shall willfully and with intent to defraud, misbrand, or mismark any stock not his own shall forfeit and pay for every such offense not less than twenty dollars nor exceeding one hundred dollars.

77. If any person alter or deface the mark or brand of any other person, for every head of stock whose mark or brand shall be thus altered or defaced he shall forfeit not exceeding one hundred dollars.

Secs. 78 to 85. "An act relating to the use of marks and brands on live stock." 1879, p. 157. In force June 1.

78. Any person having cattle, hogs, sheep, horses, mules, or asses shall have the right to adopt a brand or ear-mark, for the use of which he shall have the exclusive right in the county in which such ear-mark or brand is recorded.

79. [Cannot be duplicated.]—No person shall have or adopt a mark or brand previously recorded to another person of the same county, neither shall the county clerk record the same mark or brand to more than one person.

80. Any person desiring to use any brand or ear-mark shall make and sign a certificate setting forth a fac-simile and description of the brand and ear-mark which he desires to use, and shall file the same for record in the office of the county clerk of said county in which he resides. And any person so desiring may, in the manner, and with like effect as herein provided, record his brand or marks in any county in this state into which his stock is liable to stray; Provided, That such mark or brand has not been heretofore recorded in such county by some other person.

81. The authority of deciding whether a brand or mark offered for record does or does not conflict with any previously recorded brand or marks shall be vested in a committee of three, consisting of the county clerk and two respectable stock owners of the county. The two stock owners shall be appointed by the county commissioners, they shall be men of good judgment and experience in brands, and when practicable shall be chosen from those largely interested in cattle. Vacancies occurring in the membership, other than the county clerk, shall be filled by the county commissioners. All brands offered for record shall be submitted before acceptance to this committee. The objection of any two shall reject a brand. It shall be the duty of the county clerk to file all brands offered for record pending the examination, which he shall cause to be made as promptly as possible, and if the brand is accepted, the ownership shall date from the date of filing.

*It is a question if this act is not repealed by the succeeding one, but it is not done expressly.

82. [Committee—Appointment—Duties.]—It shall be the duty of the county commissioners immediately after the passage of this act, to make the appointment above specified, one of whom shall serve till the first day of January following, another until the first day of January the next succeeding year, the county commissioners appointing a member to serve for two years at their first meeting in the month of January in each year. After this shall have been done the county clerk shall at once call together the committee; they shall examine the present record of brands, and in any case where, in the judgment of two of them, a brand is found which conflicts with one previously recorded, or which might in its use endanger the property of the party owning the brand earliest of record, it shall be the duty of the county clerk to notify the party owning said brand last of record that the further use of the same will be illegal to the same extent as though it had never been recorded, unless previously agreed upon by owners of such brands, and a joint statement be presented to the recorder of brands by such brand owners; the said notice shall be given by letter, when possible, and also, and in all cases by publication for one month in two papers of general circulation in the county, the expense of which shall be paid on a proper voucher by the county commissioners; both forms of notice shall be given immediately after said examination and rejection. It is expressly provided that this enactment shall not in any way affect or invalidate the ownership of animals which were branded with said brand then registered previous to the examination and rejection, the object of this act being to make illegal and enjoin from the further use of said brand. The date of the last publication shall be considered to be the date of rejection.

83. It shall be the duty of any person who, after the passage of this act, brings into any county of this state and turns loose for grazing purposes any herd, brand, or individual animals already branded, to lay before the above committee a statement of the brands of said animals, and if in the judgment of any two of them said brands conflict with any previously recorded in that county, it shall be the duty of the owner or manager of said animals to brand them with a brand that the committee shall consider a full and distinguishing mark from all brands there recorded, but the owner shall be enjoined from any further use of the conflicting brand. A failure to comply with the above shall render the party so failing liable for all damages resulting from such failure, which damages may be recovered in a civil suit. It is further provided that this section shall apply to all animals now in any county in this state whose brands are considered by this committee to infringe on previously recorded ones.

84. In deciding as to the conflict of brands, the committee will reject any one that, being the same as one previously recorded, has in addition any of the following, whether placed across, above, below, at either side, or encircling the main brand, viz: a straight bar, a quarter, half, or entire circle, a quarter, half, or entire diamond, either upright or inverted, the same not constituting a true brand, and rendering the owner of the same brand liable to damage by its use, saving only when one or more of these shall be filed by the owner of the first record of the main brand, in which case it may be accepted. The committee shall reject any brand formed by repetition of any letter, number, or figure which shall have been previously recorded, whether to be placed on the same or on a different part of the animal; the exclusive right of the first record to the letter, number, or figure, and to repetition of it being reaffirmed. They shall also reject all brands known as solid brands, and all ear-marks which shall remove to exceed one-half of the ear. A variation in the size of the letter, number, or figure shall not constitute a new brand, and shall be rejected. A combination of letters, numbers, or figures may be permitted though the same letters, numbers, or figures may have been recorded singly or together, if in the judgment of the whole committee said combination is so different from any previous record as to constitute a new brand, with no danger of infringment; but in this case the objection of one member shall reject.

85. In all suits in law or in equity, or in any criminal proceedings, when the title to any stock is involved, the brand on any animal shall be prima facie evidence of the ownership of the person whose brand it may be; Provided, That such brand has been duly recorded as provided by law. Proof of the right of any person to use such brand shall be made by a copy of the record of the same, certified by the county clerk of that county or of any county in which the same is recorded under the hand and seal of office of such clerk.

LIENS.

Sec. 86. "An act to provide for liens upon live stock for their keeping." 1867 (Ter.), p. 12. In force February 18.

86. When any person shall procure, contract with, or hire any other person to feed and take care of any kind of live stock, the person so procured, contracted with, or hired shall have a lien upon such property for the feed and care bestowed by him upon the same for the contract price therefor, and in case no price has been agreed upon, then for the reasonable value of such feed and care. The person entitled to any lien under the provisions of this section may foreclose the same in the manner provided by law for the foreclosing of chattel mortgages; Provided, That at least thirty (30) days before the sale of property for the satisfaction of such lien, the person entitled thereto shall file in the office of the county clerk in the county in which said live stock may be fed and kept an affidavit describing said live stock, and setting forth the amount justly due for the feeding and keeping of the same.

Entirely rewritten. 1889, p. 378. In force June 30. Where liveryman fed horses for owner but did not have possession of them, and owner mortgaged them, the mortgagee's lien was held superior to liveryman's. Marseilles Mfg. Co. v. Morgan, 12, 68 (10 N. W., 462). Must be procured, contracted with, or hired, otherwise no lien. Hale v. Wigton, 20, 92 (29 N. W., 177). Where the contract is with the owner, the lien for feed and care is paramount to the owner's right of possession. To entitle him to possession he must tender the amount due. Gates v. Sec 87. "An act for the protection of owners of stallions, jacks, and bulls. 1883, p. 58. In force February 27.

87. [Lien on offspring.]—That owners of stallions, jacks, and bulls in the state of Nebraska have a lien upon the get of such stallion, jack, or bull for the period of nine months after the birth of same for the payment of the services of said stallion, jack, or bull; Provided*, That the owner of the stallion, jack, or bull shall have filed in the office of the clerk of the county in which such get is owned a description of the same, with date of birth, within one hundred and twenty days after the birth thereof. Said lien may be at any time after the filing of said description foreclosed in manner and form as provided by law for foreclosing of chattel mortgages.

HERDING, ESTRAYS, ETC.

Secs. 88 to 96. "An act regulating the herding and driving of stock." 1879, p. 67. In force June 1.

88. Every person who shall keep neat cattle, horses, mules, sheep, or goats for their growth or increase within the state shall be deemed a stock grower. Any person who shall drive or bring neat cattle into or through this state shall be deemed a cattle drover.

89. That any cattle drover, or his employee, who shall drive off any neat cattle, horses, mules, or sheep belonging to another intentionally, or through neglect, shall, on conviction thereof, by any court of competent jurisdiction, be fined in any sum not more than one hundred (100) dollars for each and every head of cattle, horses, mules, or sheep so driven off.

90. In any indictment or complaint under this act, the description of any kind or class of neat cattle shall be deemed sufficient if described as cattle, and for the purpose of this act the proof of brand shall be deemed to be prima facie evidence of ownership of such stock.

91. That no stallion over the age of eighteen months, nor any Mexican, Texan, or Cherokee bull over the age of ten months, nor any Mexican ram over the age of eight months shall be permitted to run at large in the state of Nebraska. The owner or person in charge of such animal or animals as are prohibited from running at large by this section who shall permit such animal or animals to run at large may be fined for each offense not less than fifty ($50) dollars, nor more than two hundred ($200) dollars, and it shall be lawful for any person to castrate, or cause to be castrated, any such animal found running at large: Provided, That if any person shall castrate any stallion, bull, or ram, and it shall, on proper evidence before any competent court, be proven to the satisfaction of said court that such animal was not of a class of stock prohibited from running at large by this act, said person shall be liable for damages to the amount of the value of said animal so castrated, and the cost of suit; Provided, also, That for the purpose of this act that any bull possessing one-half (½) Texan, Mexican, or Cherokee blood shall not be deemed a Texan, Mexican, or Cherokee bull, as the case may be; and any ram possessing one-half Mexican blood shall not be deemed a Mexican ram.

Title is not comprehensive enough to authorize giving damages for castration of animals. Ives v. Norris, 13, 253 (13 N. W., 276).

92. Any person owning or having charge of any drove of cattle, horses, or sheep numbering one (1) head or more than that number in any such drove of cattle, horses, or sheep, and shall drive the same into or through any county of Nebraska of which the owner is not a resident, or land owner, or stock grower, and when the land in said county is already occupied by settlers on ranches, it shall be the duty of said owner or person in charge of said horses, cattle, or sheep to prevent the same from mixing with the cattle, horses, or sheep belonging to actual settlers, and also to prevent said drove of cattle from trespassing on such land as may be the property of the actual settler, or may be held by him under a homestead, preemption, or leasehold right, and used by him for the grazing of animals, growing hay, or timber, or other agricultural purposes, or doing injury to the ditches made for the irrigation of crops. If any owner or owners or persons in charge of any such drove of cattle, horses, or sheep, shall willfully, carelessly, or negligently injure any resident within the state by driving said drove of cattle, horses, or sheep from the public highways and herding the same on the lands occupied and improved by settlers in possession of the same, it shall constitute a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty ($20) dollars and not more than one hundred ($100) dollars, at the discretion of the court, and render the owner or owners, or person in charge of the drove of cattle, horses, or sheep, liable for such damages as may be done to the property of said settler.

93. When the stock of any person shall be driven off its range within Nebraska against his will by the drovers of any drove, and the same shall be found among such drove, every person engaged as drover of said drove shall be liable for damages to the party injured to the amount of the full value for the animal for each head so driven off, together with all costs accruing in the trial of said cause, and said herd of stock shall be liable for the same, or a sufficient number to cover all damages and costs.

94. When the stock of any resident of the state of Nebraska shall either [?] mix with any drove of any animals it shall be the duty of the drover or drovers, or person in charge of such drove, to cut out and separate such stock from said droves immediately. Every person, either owner or driver, or otherwise connected with said drove, who shall neglect to comply with the provisions of this section, shall be fined in any sum not exceeding one thousand ($1,000) dollars.

95. It shall be unlawful for any person other than the owner, or his agent or employee, to skin or remove from the carcass the skin, hide, or pelt of any neat cattle or sheep found dead, except when such stock is killed by railroad trains, when the employees of such railroads may remove the hides from the stock so killed.

96. The county commissioners of the several counties may offer and pay rewards for the detection of those violating this act.

Secs. 97 to 105. "An act for a general herd law to protect cultivated lands from trespass by stock." 1871, p. 120. In force April 1. (Secs. 9 and 10 of original act repealed 1889, p. 430.)

97. That the owners of cattle, horses, mules, swine, and sheep in this state shall hereafter be liable for all damage done by such stock upon the cultivated lands in this state as herein provided by this act.

98. That all damage to property so committed by such stock running at large, shall be paid by the owners of said stock; and the person whose property is so damaged thereby may have a lien upon such trespassing animals, for the full amount of damages and costs, and may enforce the collection of the same by the proper civil action.

Owner can replevy after tendering damage. Allen v. Van Ostrand, 19, 580 (27 N.W., 642).

99. That when any such stock shall be found upon the cultivated lands of another, it shall be lawful for the owner or person in possession of said lands to impound said stock, and if the owner of said stock can be found, and is known to the taker-up, it shall be the duty of said taker-up to notify said owner by leaving a written notice at his usual place of residence, with some member of his family over the age of fourteen, or, in the absence of such person, by posting a copy of such notice on the door of said residence, of the taking up of said stock, describing it, and stating the amount of damages claimed; also, the name of his arbitrator, and requiring him, within forty-eight hours after receiving said notice, to take the said property away, after making full payment of all damages and costs to the satisfaction of said taker-up of trespassing animals. Said notice may be in the following form: Mr. ———: You are hereby notified that on the ——— day of ———, 18———, your stock, of which I now have in my possession—(here describe the animal or animals)—did trespass upon my land, and damage the same to the amount of ———. You are required to pay the above charges within forty-eight hours from the delivery of this notice, or the aforesaid stock will be sold, as provided by law. I have appointed Mr. ——— to act as arbitrator should you not feel satisfied with the amount of damages claimed in the within notice. Provided, That no claim for damages shall be maintained by the taker-up without the notice contemplated in this section shall have been given, when the owner is known by the taker-up of such stock.

To maintain possession and lien, taker-up must comply strictly with the law. Deirks v. Wielage, 18, 178 (24 N. W., 728). Owner entitled to a reasonable time to pay damages. Haggard v. Wallen, 6, 273. Party taking up stock acquires no lien upon it unless he complies substantially with the statute. Bucher v. Wagoner, 13, 425 (14 N. W., 160). History of former herd laws in this state given, and held, that an action could not be maintained for trespass of stock upon unenclosed, uncultivated, wild prairie land. Morton v. Covell, 10, 492 (6 N. W., 477). Remedy provided by this statute is not exclusive, but cumulative. Keith & Barton v. Tilford, 12, 272 (11 N. W., 315).

100. If the owner of said stock shall refuse, within forty-eight hours after having been notified in writing, to pay said damages claimed, or appoint an arbitrator to represent his interest, said animal or animals shall be sold upon execution as required by law, when said amount of damages and costs have been filed with any justice of the peace of the county within which said damages may have been sustained.

Issuance and service of summons not necessary, but a general judgment cannot be entered by justice. Holmes v. Irwin, 17, 101 (22 N. W., 124, 317).

101. [Arbitrators.]—In case the parties interested cannot agree as to the amount of damages and costs sustained, each party may choose a man, and in case the two men chosen cannot agree, they shall choose a third man, who, after being duly sworn for the purpose herein named, the three shall proceed to assess the damages, possessing for that purpose the general power of arbitrators.

Bucher v. Wagoner, 13, 425 (14 N. W., 160).

102. The said arbitrator or arbitrators shall made [make] an award in writing, which, if not paid within five days after the award has been made, may be filed with any justice of the peace in the same county, and shall operate as a judgment, which judgment shall be a lien upon the stock so taken up, and execution may issue upon said stock for the collection of said damages and costs, as in other cases; Provided, That either party may have an appeal from said judgment, as in other cases before justices of the peace. Said arbitrators shall be allowed two dollars each for their services; Provided further*, That if, before the trial by said arbitrator or arbitrators, the owner of said stock shall tender to the person injured an amount in lieu of said damage and costs which may have accrued, which shall equal the amount of damage afterward awarded by the arbitrators, court, or jury, or shall affirm [offer in] writing, to confess judgment for the same, and if, notwithstanding the said injured person refusing said offer, cause the trial to proceed, he shall pay costs and necessarily the damage awarded.

All after * added 1875, p. 187. Bucher v. Wagoner, 13, 426 (14 N. W., 160).

103. In case the owner of said stock is not known or found in said county, as herein set forth, the taker-up of said stock so trespassing upon cultivated lands, shall, in such cases, proceed as provided by law regulating estrays, and the stock shall be held liable for all damages and costs.

104. That cultivated lands, within the meaning of this act, shall include all forest trees, fruit trees, and hedge-rows planted on said lands, *also all lands surrounded by a plowed strip, not less than one rod in width, which strip shall be plowed at least once a year.

All after * added 1881, p. 65. Once plowing of a strip is not sufficient; it must be once a year. Ballou v. Sherwood, 32, 704 (49 N. W., 790).

105. Nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to prevent any owner of cultivated lands, or fruit and forest trees, from maintaining an action for all damages caused by stock which has escaped or been driven away from the premises of the party thus damaged, against the owner of the stock causing such damage.

Secs. 106 and 107. "An act to restrain sheep and swine from running at large in the state of Nebraska." 1875, p. 190. In force March 1.

106. That from and after the first day of March, A.D. 1875, sheep and swine shall be restrained from running at large in the state of Nebraska.

107. That all damages to property committed by such stock so running at large shall be paid by the owner of said stock, and the person whose property is damaged thereby, may have a lien upon said trespassing animal for the full amount of damages and costs, and enforce and collect the same by the proper civil action.

Secs. 108 and 109. "An act to prevent damage by certain domestic animals during the night time in the state of Nebraska in organized counties in the state where no herd law is in force." 1879, p. 165. In force June 1.

108. No cattle, horses, mules, swine, or sheep shall run at large during the night time, between sunset and sunrise, in the state of Nebraska, and the owner or owners of any such animal shall be liable in an action for damages done during such night time.

B. & M. R. R. Co. v. Brinkman, 14, 74 (15 N. W., 197).

109. Damages shall be assessed and collected by notice given to owners, and arbitrators chosen, stock sold, judgment awarded; and in case of estrays, as provided in sections 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, and 8 of this article [98 to 104].

Secs. 110 to 113 formed secs. 30 to 33, ch. 1, R. S., 1866, p. 10.

110. If any domestic animal break into any enclosure, the person injured thereby shall recover the amount of damage done, if it shall appear that the fence through which said animal broke was a lawful fence.

See Gaster v. Welna, 23, 570 (37 N. W., 456).

111. If before trial the owner of such trespassing animals shall have tendered to the person injured an amount in lieu of damage and costs which may have accrued, which shall equal the amount of damage afterward awarded by the court or by the jury, or shall offer in writing to confess judgment for the same, and if, notwithstanding the said injured person refusing said offer, cause the trial to proceed, he shall pay costs, and recover only the damage awarded.

112. If any person sow any grain, or plant any crop, without enclosing the same with a sufficient fence, as above provided, he shall be liable for all damages that any person or persons may sustain in consequence of such neglect to enclose the same.

113. This subdivision shall not extend to or in anywise affect any county in this state in which horses, mules, cattle, sheep, or swine are restrained from running at large by reason of legislative enactment.

Secs. 114 to 129 formed chapter 18, R. S. 1866, p. 153, entitled "Estrays."

114. It shall be lawful for any person holding land in this state, by deed, title, bond, or lease for one or more years, and being in possession thereof, to take up any estray horse, mule, or ass, neat cattle, sheep, or swine, found within his enclosed premises at any season of the year; and any estray found around the premises of any lessee or freeholder between the twentieth day of October and the first day of April, may be taken up by such lessee or freeholder; and any horse, mule, or ass, with any portion of harness attached to them, and any oxen, with yoke, that are believed to have estrayed away from their owners may be taken up by any person at any time.

115. It shall be the duty of any person taking up an estray animal or animals to send a description of the same to a justice of the peace in the precinct where the said estray was taken up, within forty-eight hours thereafter, and said justice of the peace shall record the same in a book kept by him for that purpose, for which he shall receive the sum of twenty-five cents. If said estray or estrays shall not be claimed by the owner thereof within ten days thereafter, a description of the same shall be sent to the county clerk by the party taking up said estray, who shall immediately record the same in a book kept by him for that purpose, for which he shall receive the sum of twenty-five cents. The person taking up the estray shall, within twenty days thereafter, procure the publication of the description of such animal or animals in any newspaper published within the county.

Rewritten 1889, p. 428.

116. The proprietor of such newspaper shall publish said description for at least five consecutive weeks, and shall receive therefor the sum of three dollars; Provided, That if two or more estrays of the same species shall be taken up by the same person at the same time, they shall be included in the same publication; and in such case the aforesaid publisher shall receive no more than for one of such species, except where the number so described shall exceed three, he shall receive one dollar for each estray beyond that number included in such publication.

117. The owner of an estray may, at any time previous to its sale, reclaim the same on proving said property, by oath or otherwise, and paying for the advertisement, and a reasonable compensation for any other necessary expenses incurred by the person taking up said estray.

118. In case the parties cannot agree upon the amount of the expenses incurred, they may each choose a disinterested person to act as arbitrators, and the two chosen may choose a third. The decision of the arbitrators shall be final.

119. When an estray, if it be a sheep, swine, or calf under the age of one year, has not been reclaimed within six months after the advertising the same, it shall become the property of the person taking it up, without further proceedings. If the estray be a horse, mule, ass, bull, cow or steer over the age of two years, it must be reclaimed within six months from the time it was first advertised. If the estray is an animal over the age of one year, and not over the age of two years, it must be reclaimed within six months from the time it was first advertised. If any estray included in the two last named classes shall not be reclaimed within the time specified respectively, the person taking up the estray shall notify a justice of the peace of the county wherein said estray was taken up, who shall appoint two disinterested persons, and administer to them an oath or affirmation to faithfully and truly appraise said estray, and said persons, upon actual view of said property, shall appraise the same at its true value, and make due return thereof, in writing, to said justice of the peace, who shall appoint a day of sale, and cause notice of the time and place of sale to be published at least five weeks consecutively before the day of sale, in a newspaper printed in said county, and by posting up written or printed notices in three public places in the precinct where the estray is to be sold; and in case there is no newspaper printed in said county, there shall be three additional written or printed notices posted up at the county seat of said county, and on the day appointed said estray shall be sold by said justice to the highest bidder in cash; and the proceeds thereof, after deducting the costs of the proceedings and the expenses of keeping said estray, shall be paid to the county treasurer within ten days after the sale, subject to the order of the owner, provided the owner of said estray shall establish his ownership to the same, to the satisfaction of the county treasurer of said county within one year from the day of sale; and if said balance is not so claimed within the time so specified, it shall be placed by said treasurer to the credit of the general school fund of said county.

120. The place of sale shall be at the residence of the person taking up the estray.

121. When an estray is sold, it must bring at least two-thirds of the appraised value. In case it does not, the animal shall be re-appraised, and again offered for sale one week after the day appointed for the first sale, and no advertisement shall be necessary for the second sale.

122. When the appraisers think that the animal will not bring more than enough to defray the necessary expenses of the sale and advertisement thereof, said sale shall be dispensed with, and the person who took up the animal shall, on the payment of expenses, be the owner thereof.

123. The money received from the sale of an estray shall go into the county school fund, all expenses first being paid.

124. Any person violating section ten of this chapter shall be liable to a fine of not less than twenty dollars nor more than two hundred dollars.

125. The appraisers of estrays shall estimate the value of the labor, trouble, and expense of the person taking up and keeping an estray—taking into consideration the services rendered by the animal.

126. [Fees of appraisers.]—The appraisers of estrays shall receive fifty cents each for each appraisement, but when more than one animal is taken up at any one time by one person, they shall all be appraised as one, and the appraisers shall be entitled to compensation for but one appraisement. The justice of the peace shall receive for his services the sum of one dollar and fifty cents.

127. [Payment of expenses.]—The advertisement, the appraisement, and the services of the justice of the peace shall be paid by the person taking up the estray, and he shall receive the same, with fifty per cent additional, from the proceeds of the sale of the estray.

128. If any horse or mule not gelded, two years old or upwards, shall be found running at large, it shall be lawful for any person to take up such horse or mule, and forthwith give notice to the owner or keeper, if he be known to the taker-up, and if the owner or keeper do not appear within three days thereafter, and pay to the said taker-up two dollars as compensation for his trouble, the taker-up shall proceed to advertise said horse or mule, and the same proceedings shall be had in every respect as hereinbefore provided in cases of estray horses or mules; Provided, That the taker-up may, after the expiration of twenty days from the time of advertising, geld, or procure to be gelded, the said horse or mule, which shall be done at the risk and expense of the owner.

129. Should any animal taken up as an estray die while in possession of the person taking it up, he shall not be liable for the loss, unless its death was the result of mistreatment or willful neglect.

Secs. 130 to 135. "An act to provide for the protection of stock from contagious diseases." 1867 (state), p. 74. In force June 20.

130. That every person shall so restrain his diseased or distempered cattle, or such as are under his care, that they may not go at large; and no person or persons shall drive any diseased or distempered cattle affected with any contagious or infectious disease into or through this state or from one point thereof to another. Any person or persons offending against this section shall, on conviction thereof before any justice of the peace, forfeit not less than five nor more than twenty-five dollars for every head of such cattle, and be liable for all costs and damages.

131. Any justice of the peace, upon proof before him that any cattle are going at large or are driven in or through his county in violation of the preceding section, shall order a constable or sheriff to impound them, and the owner thereof shall be held liable for all costs and damages.

132. The sheriff or constable who may execute the order of any justice of the peace as aforesaid, to impound any such cattle, shall have twenty-five cents per head for the first fifty, and five cents for each additional head, to be paid by the defendant upon conviction thereof, but in case the defendant be discharged, then such costs to be paid by the complainant; and if any officer to whom any order under this law is directed should fail to execute, he shall forfeit, in case of a failure, a sum not less than one hundred dollars.

133. It shall not be lawful for any person to use, let, sell, or permit to run at large any horse, mule, or ass diseased with the glanders. Any person violating the provisions of this section shall pay a fine of not less than five nor more than fifty dollars, and shall be liable for all damages.

It is a good defense to an action on a promissory note, that the sole consideration was a glandered horse. Johnson v. Chilson, 29, 304 (45 N. W., 462).

134. All fines and forfeitures incurred under the provisions of this act shall be recovered by action before any justice of the peace, and all such fines shall be paid into the school fund, in and for the county having jurisdiction of the case.

135. In all cases of conviction under the provisions of this act the justice shall enter judgment for the fine and costs against the defendant, and may commit him until the judgment is satisfied, or issue execution on the judgment for the use of the common schools of the county.

Secs. 136 to 139. "An act to prevent the importation, selling, or running at large of domestic animal or animals affected with any infectious or contagious diseases." 1883, p. 59. In force February 20.

136. It shall not be lawful for the owner of any domestic animal or animals, or any person having them in charge, knowingly to import or drive into this state any animal or animals having any contagious or infectious disease; and any person so offending shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by fine in any sum not less than $1 nor more than $100, and be imprisoned in the county jail not more than three months, or both, in the discretion of the court.

137. Any person being the owner of any domestic animal or animals, or having the same in charge, who shall turn out, or suffer any such domestic animal or animals having any contagious or infectious disease, knowing the same to be so diseased, to run at large upon any unenclosed land, common, or highway, or shall let the same approach within twenty rods of any highway, or shall sell or dispose of any domestic animal or animals, knowing the same to be so diseased, without fully disclosing the fact to the purchaser, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine in any sum not exceeding five hundred dollars, and imprisoned in the county jail not less than six months.

138. Nothing in this act shall be so construed as to prevent the recovery of damages in a civil action against any person or persons who shall sell, trade, or import, or drive into this state, such diseased animal or animals, or who shall allow such domestic animal or animals to run at large, or to approach nearer than twenty rods of any highway.

139. Any person violating any of the provisions of this act, in addition to the penalties herein provided, shall be liable for all damages that may accrue to the party damaged by reason of said diseased animal or animals imparting disease.

Secs. 140 and 141. "An act to prevent spread of hog cholera and other kindred diseases, and to prevent traffic in animals dying from infectious or other diseases." 1885, p. 89. In force March 4.

140. That it shall be the duty of the owner of swine or other domestic animals dying from cholera or other diseases, within twenty-four hours after their death, to cause the carcass of such animals to be suitably buried or burned on the premises owned or occupied by such person.

141. If the owner of any swine or other domestic animals dying from cholera or other disease, or any other person, shall sell or dispose of the carcass of such swine or other domestic animals to any person for the purpose of manufacturing the same into soap or rendering the same into lard, or for other purposes, or if any person shall buy or otherwise obtain the carcass of any swine or other domestic animals dying from cholera or other disease for manufacturing purposes as aforesaid, or any other purpose except that of burial or burning as provided in the preceding section, every such person shall upon conviction be fined in any sum not less than twenty-five ($25) dollars nor more than one hundred ($100) dollars, or be imprisoned not exceeding six months.

Secs. 142 to 168. "An act to amend an act entitled 'An act concerning the care of and to prevent the spread of contagious and infectious disease among domestic animals; to provide for the appointment of a live stock sanitary commission and state veterinary surgeon defining their powers and duties and regulating their compensation,' approved March 5, 1885, and to repeal said act." 1887, p. 72. In force March 31.

142. The governor is hereby authorized to employ four agents, one of whom shall be a competent and skilled veterinary surgeon, who shall be a graduate in good standing of a recognized college of veterinary surgery, and who shall be known as the state veterinarian, and shall receive twenty-five hundred ($2,500) dollars per annum for his services; and three of said agents shall be practical stockmen, who are actually engaged in stock raising, and shall each receive five ($5) dollars per diem, and shall be known as the live stock agents of the state of Nebraska. And each of such agents shall receive their actual traveling expenses by them incurred and paid while in the discharge of their duties as such agents.

143. Before entering upon their duties the said agents shall take and subscribe an oath to faithfully discharge the duties of such office, and shall execute a bond to the state of Nebraska in the sum of five thousand ($5.000) dollars, with good and sufficient security, conditioned upon the faithful performance of the duties of their office, which bond and security shall be approved by the governor; and said bond, together with their oaths of office, shall be deposited in the office of the secretary of state.

144. It shall be the duty of the veterinarian to investigate any and all cases of contagious and infectious diseases among domestic animals of the state, which may come to his knowledge, or be brought to the notice of the live stock agent, and for this purpose shall visit at once any locality within the state where such contagious or infectious disease of domestic animals may be reported to exist, and make a full and careful examination of all animals supposed to be diseased, and inquire into the nature and cause of any such disease which he may discover, prescribe the proper care, necessary remedies, and direct the sanitary measures necessary to prevent the spread thereof, and to make a full report of his findings and doings in the premises, to the live stock agents, with recommendation and suggestions as to the means necessary to be employed to prevent the spread, and best calculated to exterminate any and all such contagious or infectious diseases, by him found to exist among the domestic animals of the state.

145. [Same.]—The state veterinarian shall make a continuous scientific study, investigation, and research of all contagious diseases of domestic animals, and the causes, preventatives, and cures thereof, and report the result of his study and investigation to the governor, giving in plain ordinary language the symptoms by which any such disease may be identified, how liable to be introduced and spread, the causes and conditions to which may be attributed the introduction of any such diseases, and the sanitary and other measures best calculated to prevent the germination and spread of any such contagious or infectious diseases among live stock, together with the best known treatment and remedies, in time for publication in the several reports required by law, and perform such other services and duties as may be required by law, or directed by the governor, or the live stock agents, in the interest of the state.

146. It shall be the duty of the agents provided for in the first section of this act [142] to protect the health of the domestic animals of the state from all contagious and infectious diseases of a malignant character, and for this purpose it is hereby authorized and empowered to establish, maintain, and enforce such quarantine, sanitary, and other regulation as it may deem necessary. It shall be the duty of any member of said agents, upon receipt by him of reliable information of the existence among the domestic animals of the state of any malignant disease, to at once notify the veterinarian, who shall go at once to the place where any such disease is alleged to exist, and make a careful examination of the animals believed to be affected with any such disease, and ascertain if possible what, if any, disease exists among the live stock reported to be affected, and whether the same is contagious or infectious or not; and if such disease is found to be of a malignant, contagious, or infectious character, he shall direct the temporary quarantine and sanitary regulations necessary to prevent the spread of any such disease and report his finding and actions to the live stock agents.

147. Upon the receipt by any one of the report of the veterinarian provided for in section one (1) of this act [142], if said agent shall be of the opinion that the exigencies of the case require, he shall immediately convene the three live stock agents together with the veterinarian at such place as he may designate, and if, upon consideration of the report of the veterinarian, the agents shall be satisfied that any contagious or infectious disease exists of a malignant character, which seriously threatens the health of domestic animals, they shall proceed at once to the infected district, ascertain and determine the premises or grounds infected, and establish the quarantine, sanitary, and police regulations necessary to circumscribe and exterminate such disease; also to list and describe the domestic animals affected with such disease, and those which have been exposed thereto, and included within the infected district or premises so defined and quarantined, with such reasonable certainty as would lead to their identification; and for that purpose the said agents may, in their discretion, cause the live stock so included within the quarantine lines established to be marked or branded in such manner as they may designate; and no domestic animals liable to become infected with the disease, or capable of communicating the same, shall be permitted to enter or leave the district, premises, or grounds so quarantined except by authority of the live stock agents. The said agents shall also from time to time give and enforce such directions and prescribe such rules and regulations as to separating, mode of handling, treating, feeding, and caring for such diseased and exposed animals as it shall deem necessary to prevent the two classes of animals from coming in contact with each other, and perfectly isolate them from any other domestic animals which have not been exposed thereto and which are susceptible of becoming infected with the disease. And the said agents, or any of the members thereof, and said veterinarian are hereby authorized and empowered to enter upon any grounds or premises to carry out the provisions of this act.

148. When, in the opinion of the live stock agents, it shall be necessary to prevent the further spread of any contagious or infectious disease among the live stock of the state, to destroy animals affected with, or which have been exposed to any such disease, it shall determine what animal shall be killed and appraise the same as hereinafter provided, and cause the same to be killed and the carcasses disposed of, as in its judgment will best protect the health of the domestic animals of the locality.

149. Whenever, as in the seventh section of this act [148] provided, the live stock agents shall direct the killing of any domestic animal or animals, it shall be the duty of the agents to make a fair and faithful appraisement of said animal or animals, and in making the appraisement the contagious disease with which the animal is affected, or to which they have been exposed, shall not be taken into consideration. The amount of the appraisement shall in no case exceed seventy-five ($75) dollars per head for horses and mules, and twenty ($20) dollars per head for cattle; Provided, That no animal or animals shall be appraised except those affected with contagious or infectious diseases of a malignant character, or such as have been exposed thereto.

150. When the agents shall have determined the quarantine and other regulations necessary to prevent the spread among domestic animals of any malignant, contagious, or infectious disease found to exist among the live stock of the state, and given its orders as hereinbefore provided, prescribing quarantine and other regulations, they shall notify the governor thereof, who shall issue his proclamation proclaiming the boundary of such quarantine, and the orders, rules, regulations, prescribed by the live stock agents, which proclamation may be published by written or printed hand-bills, posted within the boundaries or on the lines of the district, premises, places, or grounds quarantined; Provided, That if the agents decide that it is not necessary by reason of the limited extent of the district in which such disease exists that a proclamation should be issued, then none shall be issued, but the agents shall give such notice as may to them seem best to make the quarantine established by them effective.

151. The agents provided for in this act shall have power to employ at the expense of the state such persons, and purchase such supplies and material as it may be necessary to carry into effect all orders by them given, as hereinbefore provided; Provided, That no labor shall be employed, nor labor material or supplies purchased by the agents, except such labor material as may be necessary to carry into effect the experimentation, quarantine, and other regulations prescribed by the live stock agents; And provided, further, The agents may, in their discretion, upon the recommendation of the veterinarian employ such expert's assistance as may from time to time be required, and such assistant shall have power to execute all orders and instructions given them by the live stock agents.

152. It shall be the duty of the railway corporations doing business in this state to clean and disinfect the cars used by them in transporting stock in this state, at such times and places and in such manner as the live stock agents may designate, whenever in their opinion any such order may be necessary to prevent the spread of infectious or contagious diseases; and any such corporation violating any of the provisions of this act shall be liable to a penalty of five hundred dollars ($500) for each offense, to be recovered in civil action to be prosecuted under the directions of the attorney general, in the name of the state of Nebraska.

153. When any animal or animals are killed under the provisions of this act by order of the agents, the owner thereof shall be paid therefor the appraised value as fixed by the appraisement as hereinbefore provided for; Provided, The rights of indemnity on account of animals killed by order of the live stock agents, under the provisions of this act, shall not extend to the owner of animals which have been brought into the state in a diseased condition, or from a state, county, territory, or district in which the disease with which the animal is infected, or to which it has been exposed, exists; nor shall any animal be paid for by the state which may have been brought into the state in violation of any law or quarantine regulation thereof, or the owner thereof shall have violated any of the provisions of this act, or disregarded any rule, regulation, or order of the live stock agents, or any member thereof; nor shall any animal be paid for by the state which came into the possession of the claimant with the claimant's knowledge that such animal was diseased, or was suspected of being diseased, or having been exposed to any contagious or infectious disease; nor shall any animal belonging to the United States be paid for by the state; Provided, further, That in no case shall compensation be allowed to the owner of any animal or animals, when, by reasonable diligence, he, his proper agent or employe, could have protected said animal or animals from being exposed, or to any owner who, in person or by agent, conceals the existence of any contagious or infectious disease among his stock; And provided, further, That no remuneration shall be paid by the state for animals slaughtered for contagious or infectious disease in any case where the owner or his representative is not the first to notify the proper authorities of the existence of such a disease, or a suspicion of the same, among his stock; that no remuneration shall be paid for horses or mules found diseased or suspected of glanders, when such horse or mule have been imported into the state and have not been in the state over six months.

154. It shall be the duty of any owner or person in charge of any domestic animals who discovers, suspects, or has reason to believe that any of his domestic animals, or domestic animals in his charge, are affected with any contagious or infectious disease, to immediately report such fact, belief, or suspicion to the live stock agents, or any member thereof, and to the sheriff and county clerk of the county in which such domestic animal is found, and it shall be the duty of any person who discovers the existence of any contagious or infectious disease among the domestic animals of another, to report the same at once to the sheriff and county clerk of the county in which such domestic animal is found.

155. The sheriff, to whom the existence of any infectious or contagious disease of domestic animals is reported, shall forthwith proceed to the place where such domestic animal is and examine the same, and forthwith report the result of such examination to the live stock agents, or any member thereof, and shall prescribe such temporary quarantine regulation as will prevent the spreading of the contagion or infection, until the live stock agents can provide and order suitable quarantine rules and regulations. Said sheriff shall receive for such services mileage fees as in other cases, and in each case of quarantine ordered, a further fee of two ($2) dollars, all of which fees shall be paid by the county where such services were rendered.

156. [Diseased animals—Importation.]—Any person who shall knowingly bring into this state any domestic animal which is affected with any contagious or infectious disease shall be deemed guilty of a mismemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined in any sum not less than two hundred dollars ($200) nor more than four thousand dollars ($4,000).

157. Any person who owns or is in possession of live stock which is, or which is suspected or reported to be, affected with any infectious or contagious disease, who shall refuse to allow the veterinarian, or other authorized officer or officers, in any examination of, or in an attempt to examine such stock, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in any sum not less than one hundred dollars ($100) nor more than five hundred dollars ($500).

158. [Quarantine violation.]—Any person who shall have in his possession any domestic animal affected with any contagious or infectious disease, knowing such animal to be so affected, or after having received notice that such animal is so affected, who shall permit such animal to run at large, or who shall keep such animal where other domestic animals, not affected by or previously exposed to such disease, may be exposed to its contagion or infection, or who shall sell, ship, drive, trade, or give away such diseased animal or animals which have been exposed to such infection or contagion, or who shall move or drive away any domestic animal in violation of any direction, rule, regulation, or order establishing and regulating quarantine, shall be deemed guilty of misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in any sum not less than one hundred dollars ($100) nor more than five hundred dollars ($500) for each of such diseased or exposed domestic animals which he shall permit to run at large, or keep, or sell, drive, trade, or give away, in violation of the provisions of this act; Provided, That any owner of any domestic animal which has been affected with or exposed to any contagious or infectious disease may dispose of the same after having obtained from the veterinarian a bill of health for such animal.

159. When any live stock shall be appraised and killed by order of the live stock agents they shall issue to the owner of the live stock so killed a certificate showing the number and kind and general description of animals killed, and the amount to which holder is entitled, and report the same to the auditor of state, and upon presentation of such certificate to the auditor, he shall draw his warrant on the treasurer for the amount therein stated, payable out of any money appropriated for the live stock indemnity fund.

160. Whenever the governor of the state shall have good reason to believe that any dangerous, contagious, or infectious disease has become epizootic in certain localities in other states or territories or counties, or that there are conditions which render such domestic animals from such infected districts liable to convey such disease, he shall by proclamation prohibit the transportation of any live stock of the kind diseased into the state, except under such rules and regulations as may from time to time be prescribed by the live stock agents; and all such animals arriving in this state shall be examined without delay by the veterinary surgeon, or the live stock agents.

161. The owners of any public stock yards doing business in this state, when requested by the live stock agents, shall appoint, and keep constantly in their employ, at their expense, a competent inspector of live stock, whose duty it shall be to daily inspect, with care, all animals brought into the stock yards, in whose employ any such inspector may be, under such rules and regulations as may from time to time be prescribed by the live stock agents; and upon the discharge by such inspector, in such yards, of any animals affected with any malignant, contagious, or infectious disease, he shall direct the manner in which any such diseased animals shall be disposed of, so as to prevent the spread of any such contagious or infectious disease, and for this purpose may cause any such diseased animals to be killed, and the carcasses to be disposed of at the expense of the owner thereof; but in no event shall any such diseased stock be permitted to be driven or shipped out of any such stock yards, except to some rendering establishment, or other suitable place for killing or disposing of such diseased animal, as hereinbefore provided for, and then under such regulations and restrictions as may be necessary to prevent the spread of the disease, on account of which any such animals have been condemned; Provided, That the owner of any animal or animals, ordered to be destroyed by any inspector, shall have the right to appeal from any decision of such inspector to the veterinarian or live stock agents, and during the pendency of such appeal the condemned animals shall be kept in strict quarantine, unless the veterinarian shall decide such stock is not so diseased, then said expenses shall be paid by the owner of such stock yards;

And provided further, That no compensation shall be made by the state to the owners of diseased live stock found in public stock yards, and destroyed as herein provided. The inspector of live stock in any public stock yards in this state shall, on demand of the owner of any live stock passing through any such stock yards, furnish to said owner a bill of health, for any live stock by him inspected, as hereinbefore required, and found to be healthy.

162. The live stock agents, or veterinarian, shall have the power to call upon any sheriff, under sheriff, deputy sheriff, or constable to execute their orders; and such officers shall obey the orders of said agents, or veterinarian, and the officers performing such duties as provided for by this act shall receive compensation therefor, prescribed by law for like services, to be paid as other expenses of said commission, as hereinbefore provided; and any officer may arrest without a warrant, and take before any magistrate of the county, any person found violating the provisions of this act, and such officers shall immediately notify the county attorney of such arrest, and he shall prosecute the person so offending according to law.

163. Except as otherwise provided in this act, any person who shall violate, disregard, or evade, or attempt to violate, disregard, or evade, any of the provisions of this act, or who shall violate, disregard, or evade any of the rules, regulations, orders, or directions of the live stock agents, establishing and governing quarantine, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in any sum not less than one hundred ($100) nor more than five thousand ($5,000) dollars.

164. There shall be levied and assessed upon the assessed value of all taxable property in the state in each year one-fourth (¼) of one (1) mill on each and every dollar thereof, to be known as the live stock indemnity fund tax. Said tax to be assessed and collected in the same manner and at the same time as is now or may be prescribed by law for the assessment and collection of state revenue.

165. It shall be the duty of the county treasurers of the several counties to preserve the fund thus provided for as a separate fund, and to transmit the same as now required by law to the state treasurer, who shall keep the same in a fund to be known as the live stock indemnity fund.

166. For the purpose of this act each one of the live stock agents and the veterinarian is hereby authorized and empowered to administer oaths and affirmations.

167. That the live stock agents be authorized and directed to co-operate with the commissioner of agriculture of the United States, or any officer or authority of the general government, in the suppression and extirpation of any and all contagious diseases among domestic animals, and in the enforcement and execution of any and all acts of congress to prevent the importation or exportation of diseased cattle, and the spread of infectious or contagious diseases among domestic animals.

168. The liability of the state for carrying out the provisions of this act in any two years is limited by and shall in no case exceed the amount especially appropriated for that purpose and that period.

Secs. 169 to 186. "An act to regulate and protect sheep husbandry in the state of Nebraska, to provide for the appointment of sheep inspectors therein, and to prescribe their duties." 1883, p. 61. In force June 1.

169. Whenever, in any county in this state, a majority of the sheep owners therein shall petition the board of county commissioners of their county for the appointment of a sheep inspector, recommended by a majority of petitioners in such county, it shall be the duty of the said board of county commissioners to appoint some suitable, competent person sheep inspector in and for said county.

170. Such person shall be a resident of the county for which he shall be appointed. He shall, before entering upon the duties of his office, take the oath prescribed for other county officers, in chapter ten, Compiled Statutes of the State of Nebraska [ch. 38, this statute], and shall give a bond in the sum of one thousand dollars, payable to the county in which he shall be appointed, with two sureties, to be approved by the county clerk of such county, which bond shall be filed and recorded in the office of such clerk.

171. Every inspector shall hold his office for two years from the date of his appointment, and until his successor is duly appointed and qualified.

172. The board of county commissioners of each county where the office of sheep inspector exists shall by appointment fill all vacancies occurring in said office or about to occur by reason of the expiration of the term of any incumbent; Provided, That if a majority of the sheep owners of any such county shall petition the board of county commissioners thereof to abolish said office, such board may in its discretion abolish the same, to take effect upon the expiration of the term of the then incumbent.

173. Every sheep inspector, upon inspecting any flock of sheep, and finding the same or any part thereof infected with what is commonly called the "scab," or any other contagious disease, shall, in the manner hereinafter prescribed, have power to define, limit, and restrict the range and feeding grounds of such sheep, for such time and in such manner as to him may seem necessary to protect all neighboring flocks from becoming likewise infected, and notify the owners or agent of the diseased flock; then he shall, within ten days from the day of inspection, commence the curing of the same, and it shall be the duty of the inspector to inspect said flock every twenty days until the flock is found cured, for which he shall receive the same compensation as provided in section 53 [sec. 180] and all persons who may be selected arbitrators under this act shall, in conjunction with such inspector, have like power.

174. Every inspector shall keep a book, to be known as the "Inspection Record," in which he shall enter and record all his official acts and proceedings. Such record shall particularly show the name of the owner of every flock of sheep inspected, when the same was inspected, the result of such inspection, and all orders and directions made in relation thereto.

175. It shall be the duty of every sheep inspector, between the 15th day of May and the 15th day of August in each year, to make a careful inspection, to be known as the annual inspection, of every flock of sheep kept in his county, and determine whether or not such sheep are free from scab or other contagious disease.

176. It shall further be the duty of every inspector, upon information and complaint made in writing before any justice of the peace and filed with the inspector, setting forth that any flock of sheep, describing it, within the jurisdiction of such inspector, has the scab or any contagious disease, to forthwith inspect such flock as to the truth of such complaint; and if upon inspection it shall be found such flock is inflicted with a contagious disease, the owner shall pay the expense of such .inspection, otherwise the person lodging the complaint shall pay such costs, and shall be liable in a civil action therefor.

177. Upon the arrival of any flock of sheep in any county in this state in which there is a sheep inspector, it shall be the duty of the inspector in such county, having knowledge of such arrival, to forthwith inspect such flock as to whether or not it is free from scab or other contagious disease; Provided, If the owner of such flock or his agent shall, immediately upon such arrival, report the same to the sheep inspector, and at the same time exhibit to such inspector the certificate of any duly appointed and qualified sheep inspector in the state, that such flock has been by him duly inspected within one month of such arrival and found free from every contagious disease, then such inspection shall not be necessary.

178. Upon inspecting any flock of sheep it shall be the duty of the inspector to require of the owner of such flock, or, in his absence, of his agent, true answers to the following questions: First. The name of the owner of such flock, his earmark and brand. Second. The increase of such flock by purchase or trade since the last inspection Third. From whom such increase has been received. Fourth. From what county and state such increase came. Fifth. Whether or not any part of them was, at the time inspected, with the scab or any contagious disease, and, if so, what disease. Such owner or agent, as the case may be, shall make true answers to all such questions, and subscribe the same and make oath thereto, all of which shall be entered in the inspector's record. The inspector shall have power and is hereby authorized to administer such oath.

179. If upon the inspection of any flock of sheep the inspector shall find the same or any part thereof infected with the scab or any contagious disease, it shall be his duty at once to define, limit, and restrict the range and feeding grounds of such flock, as authorized in section 5 [173] of this act. The inspector shall, at the time of making any order or direction authorized by this act, enter the same in full in his inspection record, and shall at once make out in writing a true copy thereof, and deliver the same to the owner interested, or in his absence to his agent in charge of such flock of sheep, and the owner of said sheep and all persons under him shall fully comply with the terms of the copy so served; Provided, If the owner of such sheep, or the person so served with such copy, shall consider the terms thereof unreasonable, he may, within twenty-four hours after receiving the same, so notify the inspector in writing, naming therein some disinterested person, being the owner of one hundred sheep or more, arbitrator to act in review on all matters contained in such order and copy, which person with the inspector shall without delay select some other like person, and the two thus chosen with the inspector shall forthwith make such orders and directions, authorized in section 5 [173] of this act, as to them may seem reasonable and just, and their action in the premises shall be final. Every order and direction shall be entered in full on the inspector's record, and be signed by the arbitrators and inspector making the same, and a true copy thereof served without delay on the owner interested or his agent in charge.

180. The inspector and arbitrators shall receive for their services the following fees and no more, which shall be paid by the owner of the flock inspected, except as otherwise provided in this act: The inspector shall receive for each flock inspected at each annual inspection the sum of one dollar, and in addition thereto the sum of ten cents for every hundred sheep inspected, or fractional part thereof, to be paid by the owner of the flock inspected. For every other inspection, the sum of three dollars per day for each day necessarily employed in such duty. Each arbitrator shall receive three dollars per day for each day necessarily employed in their duties.

181. Any person who shall fail to comply with or shall disregard any order or directions made by any inspector and arbitrators, under the provisions of this act, shall upon conviction be fined in any sum not less than one hundred dollars.

182. Any person or persons owning or keeping any flock or herd of sheep, any portion of which flock or herd is diseased with the scab or other contagious disease, shall be liable to any person damaged thereby in double the amount of damage such person may sustain by reason of such flock or herd or any part thereof being moved or allowed to stray from the premises of the owner of such flock.

183. It shall be unlawful for any person or persons having a flock or herd of sheep, any portion of which is infected with the scab or any infectious or contagious disease, to allow such flock or herd or any part thereof to stray or be driven upon the grounds of another without the consent of the occupant thereof in writing, or to allow any such flock or any part thereof to come in contact, off his premises, with the sheep of any other person. Every person so offending shall be fined in any sum not less than five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars.

184. It shall be unlawful for any person or persons to bring into this state from without the state any sheep infected with the scab or any contagious disease. Every person so offending shall upon conviction thereof be fined in any sum not less than fifty dollars nor more than one hundred dollars, or imprisoned in the county jail not less than one month nor more than three months, or both at the discretion of the court.

185. Every person or persons, being the owner of any sheep, shall cause such sheep, and all of them six months old and upwards, to be suitably branded and ear-marked and so kept. branded and ear-marked, which brand and ear-mark shall be made of record in the office of the county clerk of the county in which such sheep are kept. Every person failing to comply with the provisions of this section shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined in any sum not less than five nor more than fifty dollars.

186. No property shall be exempt from sale under execution issued upon any judgment obtained under any of the provisions of this act.

Secs. 187 to 193. "An act to prevent sheep and other domestic animals from being killed by dogs. 1877, p. 156. In force June 1.

187. That the owner or owners of a dog or dogs shall be liable in an action for all damages that may accrue to any person or persons by reason of such dog or dogs killing, wounding, worrying, or chasing any sheep or other domestic animal belonging to such person or persons; and the damage done may be recovered in any court having jurisdiction of the amount claimed.

See 20, 448 (30 N. W., 421).

188. If two or more dogs owned by different persons shall kill, wound, chase, or worry any sheep or other domestic animal, such persons shall be jointly and severally liable for all damage done by such dogs.

189. The municipal authorities of any county, city, town, or township shall have authority by ordinance or resolution, entered at large on the proper journal or record of proceedings of such municipality, to impose a license tax of not more than five dollars for each dog, on the owner or harborer of any dog or dogs, which license tax shall constitute a special fund for the payment of all damages done by dogs within the limits of the body imposing the same, to be paid under such regulations as shall be provided by such ordinance or resolutions.

190. Any person shall have the right to kill any dog found doing any damage aforesaid to any sheep or domestic animal, or shall have just and reasonable ground to believe that such dog has been killing, wounding, chasing, or worrying such sheep or animal, and no action shall be maintained for such killing.

191. It shall be the duty of every owner or owners of any dog or dogs to securely place upon the neck of such dog or dogs a good and sufficient collar with a metallic plate thereon, on which shall be plainly inscribed the name of such owner. It shall be lawful for any person to kill any dog found running at large on whose neck there is no collar as aforesaid, and no action shall be maintained for such killing.

192. Every person who shall harbor about his or her premises a collarless dog for the space of ten days, shall be taken and held as the owner and shall be liable for all damages which such dog shall commit.

193. The owner or owners of any dog or dogs who shall permit the same to run at large for ten days after this act shall take effect, without such collar as hereinbefore described being securely placed upon the neck of such dog or dogs, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and fined in any sum not exceeding twenty-five dollars, which when collected shall be paid to the county treasury for the benefit of the school fund of the county in which the fine was imposed.

A dog leaving the owner's premises not in company of a master is running at large. If he persistently assail people in the public road he is a nuisance and may be killed without liability under section 5693. Nehr v. State, 35, 638 (53 N. W., 589).

Sec. 194. "An act to prevent the commencement of the round-up of cattle until after the fifteenth day of May of each year, and providing a penalty for the violation of the same." 1883, p. 60. In force February 26.

194. That in any portion of the state where it is customary round-up cattle for the purpose of branding, marketing, driving, or selling cattle, it shall be unlawful for any person or person or persons to commence said round-up between the first day of December and the fifteenth day of May of each year, and any one violating the provisions of this act shall forfeit and pay a fine of not less than five hundred dollars, to be recovered before any court having jurisdiction, upon the information and complaint of any person.

Secs. 195 to 200. "An act to protect bee husbandry from foul brood and other infectious and contagious diseases." 1885, p. 69. In force June 5.

195. It shall be unlawful for any person to keep or have in possession in this state any honey bees, brood comb, or honey known to possess or to be infected with the disease known as "foul brood," or with any other infectious or contagious disease peculiar to bees or honey, contrary to the provisions of this act, or to keep or have in possession any bee hive or other receptacle in which any foul brood, diseased bees, or infected honey, is known to have been kept. Every person violating any provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall pay a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than one hundred dollars for each offense, or be confined in the county jail not more than thirty days.

196. Any honey bees, brood comb, or honey owned or kept or found in this state known to be affected with foul brood or other infectious or contagious disease, and any bee hive or other receptacle in which any bees, brood comb, or honey shall have been kept, known to have been infected with any infectious or contagious disease, shall be destroyed immediately and completely by burning, by the owner thereof, or the person or persons in whose possession the same may be.

197. Every person owning or having in his or her possession, or under his or her control any honey bees, brood comb, honey, bee hive, or receptacle, or apparatus known to be infected with any infectious or contagious disease peculiar to honey bees or honey, or in which any diseased bees or infected honey shall have been kept, who shall not immediately cause the same to be destroyed as provided in section 2 [196] of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall pay a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than one hundred dollars for each offense, or be imprisoned in the county jail not more than thirty days for each offense.

198. Every person owning or keeping honey bees in this state shall cause all bees owned or kept by him or her to be inspected at his or her own expense as hereinafter provided. Every person neglecting or refusing to cause all such bees to be duly inspected as hereinafter provided shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall pay a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than one hundred dollars for each offense upon conviction thereof; Provided, That if upon inspection of any colony or colonies of bees the disease of foul brood or other infection or contagion shall be found to exist, and such inspector shall be of the opinion that by proper treatment such disease or contagion or infection may be removed, he shall so certify officially in his certificate of inspection, and the owner or keeper of such bees shall be entitled to keep such bees for the period of six months for treatment, and at the expiration of said time if such disease or infection or contagion shall not be eradicated, such bees shall be destroyed as hereinbefore provided, and any person or persons having in possession any brood comb, bee hive, honey, or apparatus used in connection with bee culture, found in like manner to be infected with foul brood or infectious or contagious disease, such person shall be allowed the period of thirty days in which to disinfect the same, but no longer, and if at the end of said period of thirty days said disinfection shall not have been complete, such brood comb, bee hive, honey, or apparatus shall be destroyed as hereinbefore provided.

199. Every person engaged in bee keeping in this state, either as owner, agent, or lessee in infected districts, shall cause to be inspected at least once in each year each and every brood or colony of bees, brood comb, and honey in his or her possession or under his or her control, and procure a certificate of such inspection showing the true condition of each and every one of the above named articles in his or her possession as to the existence of foul brood or other infectious or contagious disease, in duplicate, one of which duplicates shall be left with such person, and the other shall be filed in the office of the county clerk of the county where such bees or honey or brood comb is kept.

200. Upon the application of the Nebraska State Bee Keepers' Association, or other person or persons interested in bee culture residing in any county in the state, the governor may appoint a suitable person resident of said county inspector of bees and honey for said county, who shall be sworn to perform the duties of such office faithfully and impartially, whose duty it shall be to inspect all bees, brood comb, and honey, within his said county when called upon for that purpose, and shall be entitled to receive the sum of two dollars for each day or part of a day necessarily employed in making such inspection, to be paid by the owner or agent or lessee in whose possession such bees, brood comb, or honey may be when inspected. Such inspector shall make certificates in duplicate, and shall give one to the owners or persons in charge of such bees, brood comb, or honey, and file the other in the office of the county clerk as aforesaid.

Secs. 201 to 206. "An act creating a board of fish commissioners for the propagation and distribution of fish in the public waters of Nebraska." 1879, p. 154. In force June 1.

201. That the governor shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the senate appoint three resident citizens of the state of Nebraska, who shall constitute a board of fish commissioners, who shall hold such office for the term of three years from the date of such appointment and until the appointment of their successors; Provided, That the persons first appointed under this act shall hold such office one, two, and three years, respectively, whose respective terms of office shall be designated in such appointment, and thereafter the governor shall in like manner fill all vacancies in said board during the remainder of the term.

202. The board may adopt by-laws for its government not inconsistent with the laws of the state. The person whose unexpired term of office is the shortest shall preside at the business meetings of the board. In the determination of all questions by the board, two members must concur.

203. The members of the board shall receive no compensation for services performed, but they shall be reimbursed actual and necessary expenses incurred in the discharge of the duties of the commission, not to exceed the sum of $500 in any one year, out of money appropriated for that purpose.

204. The board shall have the entire charge and supervision of all public waters pertaining to the collection, propagation, cultivation, distribution, and protection of fish in this state. It shall have control of all property of the state obtained or held for the purposes contemplated by this act. It shall receive all fish and fish spawn donated to the state by the United States fishery commission or from other sources or persons, or purchased by the state. It may establish hatching boxes, etc., for the preservation and hatching of spawn and fry, and in the most practical and economical manner procure and distribute fish in the public waters of this state, and adopt such other means as shall in its judgment best promote the increase and preservation of food fishes.

205. The commissioners may take, or cause to be taken, under the direction of the board, any fish at any time for the purpose of fish culture or for scientific observation. They shall give special attention to the enforcement of the laws of the state relative to the protection of fish and fisheries in the state.

206. The board shall annually, on or before the first day of January in each year, report its transactions, with an account in detail of all its receipts and expenditures, to the governor, also of all spawn and fish taken or received and distributed, giving time, place, and sources from which received, and such other matters as appertain to the fishery interests of the state.

Secs. 207 to 211. "An act to provide for the destruction of grasshoppers." 1877, p. 154. In force February 19.

207. That the supervisors of each road district in this state shall, at the time when the grasshoppers shall have been hatched out and before the same shall become full fledged and able to fly, notify each able-bodied male resident of his district, between the ages of sixteen and sixty years, to perform two days' labor, at such time and at such place and in such manner as shall by said supervisor be deemed most efficient, in the destruction of the grasshopper. Said notices shall be given in the same manner as is provided by law for the notice to work upon the public highways.

208. Cities of the first and second class shall be governed by the provisions of this act; and it shall be the duty of the mayor of such cities to appoint not exceeding two supervisors for each ward to oversee the labor to be performed under the provisions of this act.

209. [Additional labor.]—In case it shall appear that two days' work is not sufficient to destroy the grasshoppers in any district or ward, and it shall further appear that more time can be profitably employed in the destruction of the grasshopper, the supervisors of such ward or road district may require from the persons liable to the provisions of this act not exceeding ten days' labor in addition to the time hereinbefore mentioned, and it shall be the duty of such supervisor to give to each person who shall have performed labor under the provisions of this section a receipt for the number of days' labor performed, and the supervisor shall upon oath report to the city or county authorities the names and amount of labor performed by each person.

210. It shall be the duty of all persons subject to the provisions of this act to attend when notified as herein provided, and labor under the direction of the supervisor of their respective district or ward. Any person who after being notified shall refuse, neglect, or fail to comply with the provisions of this act shall forfeit and pay to the county or city treasurer, as the case may be, the sum of ten dollars, together with costs of suit, which sum shall be collected by suit before any justice of the peace within the county, in an action to be brought in the name of the city or county.

211. The supervisor shall report, under oath, to the city or county authorities the names of all persons who shall have refused or failed to comply with the provisions of this act.

Secs. 212 to 215. "An act to provide for the payment of bounties for the destruction of wild animals in the state of Nebraska."* 1877, p. 213. In force June 1.

212. That any person killing wolves, wild cats, or coyotes within the boundaries of the state of Nebraska, and presenting the scalps of the same, with the two ears and face down to the nose, to the county clerk of the county in which the same were killed, with satisfactory proof upon oath that the same were killed within the boundaries of the state of Nebraska, shall be entitled to the following bounties: for every wolf so killed, one dollar; for every wild cat so killed, one dollar; for every coyote so killed, one dollar. Certificates of such bounties, when so allowed, shall be issued by the county clerk to the person entitled thereto, and upon the same being filed with the auditor of public accounts the said auditor shall draw his warrant on the treasury of the state against the general fund, for the amount of such certificate, in favor of the person named therein or his assignee.

213. It shall be the duty of the county clerk to give such persons, on receiving said scalps, a certificate of the number and kind of such scalps accepted by him for bounty, and deface such scalp by cutting the same in two parts so as to separate the two ears, and shall keep a record of the number and kind by him certified and destroyed.

214. All scalps upon which bounties are claimed shall be presented to the clerk of the county in which the animals were taken and killed, and the applicant for bounty will be required by the said clerk to make his statement under oath as to where the said animals were taken and killed.

215. Any person driving, baiting, enticing, bringing or taking any of the animals mentioned in this act from outside the boundaries of this state, or from any one unorganized territory in this state, into any organized county thereof for the purpose of procuring bounties thereon, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be subject to a fine of not less than twenty-five nor more than one hundred dollars, for each and every offense so committed.

Sec. 216 to 222. "An act to provide for the payment of bounties for the destruction of wild animals in the state of Nebraska."† 1879, p. 162. In force June 1.

216. That any person or persons killing wolves, wild cats, coyotes, or mountain lions within the boundaries of such counties as may at any election, by a vote of the majority of electors voting, to determine as hereafter provided, and presenting the scalps of the same, with the two ears and face down to the nose, to the county clerk of the county in which the same were killed, with satisfactory proof in writing, upon oath, that the same were killed within the boundaries of the aforesaid counties, shall be entitled to the following bounties: For every wolf so killed, three dollars; for every wild cat so killed, one dollar; for every coyote so killed, one dollar; for every mountain lion so killed, three dollars. Certificates of such bounties, when so allowed, shall be issued by the county clerk to the person entitled thereto, and upon the presentation of such certificates to the county treasurer said treasurer shall pay to the holder of such certificate the amount named therein out of the county general fund.

As amended 1885, p. 91.

* It is a question if this act is not repealed by implication by the act of 1879 following, but the latter does not expressly repeal it.

† Probably intended to repeal preceding act, but does not do so expressly.

217. It shall be the duty of the county clerk to give such person or persons, on receiving said scalps, a certificate of the number and kind of such scalps accepted by him for bounty, and deface such scalps by cutting the same in two parts, so as to separate the two ears, and shall keep a record of the number and kind by him certified and destroyed.

218. All scalps upon which bounties are claimed shall be presented to the clerk of the county in which the animals were taken and killed, and the applicant for bounty will be required by the said clerk to make his statement in writing, under oath, as to where the said animals were taken and killed, and any person making a false statement under oath as provided in this act, shall be liable to prosecution for perjury, and suffer the penalties of the same as provided by the laws of this state.

219. Any person or persons driving, baiting, enticing, bringing, or taking any of the animals mentioned in this act from outside the boundaries of such counties as are provided in this act, for the purpose of procuring bounties thereon, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be subject to a fine of not less than twenty-five nor more than fifty dollars for each and every offense so committed.

220. Upon the petition of fifty *taxpayers of any county, to the county commissioners or county board, favorable to granting bounties for the destruction of wild animals, as provided in section one of this act, it shall be the duty of said county commissioners or county board to present the prayer of the said petitioners to the electors of such county at the next succeeding election.

* Changed from "freeholders" 1885, p. 92.

221. The voting on the aforesaid proposition shall be by ballot, the ballots having written upon them, "For bounties," or "Against bounties," and the votes to be canvassed as other votes are canvassed in precinct elections, and if a majority of the votes cast at such election be in favor of the proposition as contained in this act, the same shall be in effect within ninety days after such election.

222. Any county desiring to be released from the paying of bounties, as provided in this act, may revoke the same by the same authority and manner of procedure as provided in section five of this act, for the establishment of the same.

Sec. 223. "An act to prevent the chasing and destruction of deer by hounds in certain counties of the state of Nebraska." 1873 (Gen. Stat.), p. 90. In force February 27.

223. If any person or persons within the counties of Burt, Washington, Douglas, Sarpy, Cass, Saunders, and Dodge shall chase or pursue any deer with any hound or dog, such person or persons, on conviction thereof before any court of competent jurisdiction, shall pay a fine of twenty dollars or be confined in the county jail for a period of not less than ten nor more than twenty days, at the discretion of the court, and shall pay costs of prosecution. Such fines shall be paid to the school fund of the county in which such offense was committed.

Secs. 223*a* to 223*e*. "An act legalizing the Nebraska State Poultry Association, to define certain duties of said association, to make an annual appropriation therefor, and fixing a penalty for the misappropriation of any of the money hereby granted." 1893, ch. 21, p. 156. In force August 1.

223*a*. That the regularly organized and incorporated society known as the Nebraska State Poultry Association, whose articles of incorporation are recorded in the office of the secretary of state, be and the same is hereby legalized as a state institution.

223*b*. The Nebraska State Poultry Association shall hold a convention annually on the third Tuesday in January at such place in the state as the board of managers may select, for the purpose of gathering statistics and diffusing practical knowledge on subjects pertaining to the poultry interests of the state, by addresses, papers, discussions, and such other means as the board of managers may direct.

223c. The secretary of said association shall preserve all papers read and take a stenographic report of all addresses and discussions at said annual convention and shall make a report of the same to the governor, together with a full report of all business transacted, including an itemized statement of all expenditures of money, and shall publish in pamphlet form not less than two thousand copies of said report which shall be distributed according to the laws governing the distribution of the reports of the state board of agriculture.

223*d*. The sum of one thousand dollars is hereby annually appropriated out of any moneys in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated for the use and benefit of said association, and the state auditor is hereby authorized to draw his warrant for the same upon presentation of proper vouchers therefor certified to by the president and secretary of said association, said amount to be used only for defraying the expenses incurred in holding conventions and in publishing and distributing reports and such other purposes as in the discretion of the board of managers shall best subserve the poultry interests of the state.

223*e*. If any officer or member of said association shall convert any of the moneys hereby appropriated to his own use or suffer the same to be lost or expended in any other way or manner or for any other purpose than is designated by law, such officer or member shall be deemed guilty of embezzlement and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary not less than one or more than three years.

CHAPTER 3.—APPORTIONMENT.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Sec. 224. "An act for the apportionment of and designation of congressional districts." 1891, p. 69. In force August 1.* Repealing secs. 3–6, Comp. Stats. 1887.

224. That the state of Nebraska be and hereby is divided into six (6) districts of representatives to the congress of the United States, each of which districts shall be entitled to elect one (1) representative. And the limits and designations shall be as hereinafter provided: The counties of Cass, Otoe, Nemaha, Richardson, Pawnee, Johnson, and Lancaster shall constitute the first (1st) district. The counties of Sarpy, Douglas, and Washington shall constitute the second (2d) district. The counties of Burt, Thurston, Dakota, Dixon, Cuming, Dodge, Colfax, Stanton, Wayne, Cedar, Knox, Pierce, Madison, Platte, Nance, Boone, Antelope, and Merrick shall constitute the third (3d) district. The counties of Saunders, Butler, Seward, Saline, Gage, Jefferson, Thayer, Fillmore, York, Polk, and Hamilton shall constitute the fourth (4th) district. The counties of Hall, Adams, Webster, Franklin, Kearney, Phelps, Harlan, Gosper, Furnas, Red Willow, Frontier, Hitchcock, Hayes, Perkins, Chase, Dundy, Nuckolls, and Clay shall constitute the fifth (5th) district. The counties of Sioux, Scott's Bluff, Banner, Kimball, Dawes, Box Butte, Cheyenne, Sheridan, Deuel, Cherry, Grant, Arthur, Keith, Lincoln, McPherson, Hooker, Thomas, Logan, Dawson, Custer, Blaine, Brown, Keya Paha, Rock, Loup, Holt, Garfield, Valley, Sherman, Buffalo, Howard, Greeley, Wheeler, and Boyd shall constitute the sixth (6th) district.

The remedy for an unjust apportionment must be provided by congress. State, ex rel. Cromelien, v. Boyd, 36, — (54 N. W., 252).

The following section formed section 5, p. 56, Laws 1882 (special session):

225. The representatives provided for in this act shall be elected in accordance with the laws of the United States.

JUDICIAL.

Secs. 226 to 228. "An act to apportion the state into judicial districts, and for the appointment and election of officers thereof." 1891, p. 70. In force March 30.

and the unorganized territory. Provided, That in the Fourth district there shall be seven judges of the district court; that in each of the following districts, to-wit, First (1st), Fifth (5th), Sixth (6th), Eleventh (11th), and Fifteenth (15th) districts, there shall be two (2) judges of the district court; that in the Third (3d) district there shall be three (3) judges of the district court, and in each of the other of the said districts there shall be one (1) judge of the district court. All judges shall be elected for the term of, and hold their office for, four (4) years from and after the first (1st) day of January next succeeding their election. The said judges shall be elected at the general election to be held in November, A. D. 1891, and every four (4) years thereafter. Such judges shall have equal power, and shall each perform such duties as are now provided for by law, or such as may hereafter be imposed upon them by law, and it shall be the duty of such judges to so divide and arrange the work of said court between them that the trial of causes may be speedy. In each district having more than one (1) judge of the district court there shall be drawn, in the manner now provided by law, a panel of forty-eight (48) jurors to serve as jurors in such court; Provided, That in any county in such districts where such number of jurors may not be required, the judges may by appropriate rule provide for the drawing of a less number; And provided further, When there shall be more than two (2) judges of the district court in any one district, they may provide by appropriate rule for the drawing of a greater number of jurors.

227. The judges now in office shall hold their positions, and perform the duties of their office in the districts hereby created, in which they may reside, until the expiration of the terms for which they were elected.

228. The governor shall appoint judges to fill all vacancies created by this act, including the additional judges as provided in section one of this act, who shall hold their office until the next general election, when such vacancies shall be filled by election in same manner as such officer is elected in other districts.

The legislature has power to thus increase the number of judges. 18, 416 (25 N. W., 585).

LEGISLATIVE.

Secs. 229 and 230. "An act to distribute the state into senatorial and representative districts, and for the apportionment of senators and representatives, and to fix the number of the same, and to repeal sections 1 and 2 of chapter 5 of the Compiled Statutes." 1887, p. 87. In force March 31.

229. That the senate shall consist of thirty-three members, and the house of representatives shall consist of one hundred members.

230. That the state of Nebraska shall be formed into senatorial and representative districts, and the senators and representatives shall be apportioned as follows:

SENATORIAL DISTRICTS.

District No. 1 shall consist of the counties of Richardson and Pawnee, and be entitled to one senator. CHAPTER 4.—ASSIGNMENTS FOR CREDITORS.

Secs. 231 to 276. "An act regulating voluntary assignments for the benefit of creditors, proceedings thereunder, and to prevent the fraudulent violation of the same." 1883, p. 67. In force June 1.

231. That no voluntary assignment for the benefit of creditors hereafter made shall be valid unless the same shall be made in conformity to the terms of this act.

The assignment does not prevent the creditor from obtaining judgment but removes the property from his reach by the ordinary process. Morehead v. Adams, 18, 569 (26 N. W., 242). Under control of court. Not void because of provision that assignee may compromise doubtful claims; nor because exemptions retained. Lininger v. Raymond, 9, 45 (2 N. W., 359). Fraudulent assignments may be set aside. Morgan v. Bogue, 7, 432. Instrument called a chatte-mortgage examined and construed to be an assignment but void for non-conformity with assignment law. Bonns v. Carter, 20, 577 (31 N. W., 381). Assignment under law of 1877 sustained. Lininger v. Raymond, 12, 168 (10 N. W., 716). Property not subject to attachment or garnishment if assignment valid. Schlueter v. Raymond 7, 282. See Guittard v. Robinson, 29, 400 (45 N. W., 476). Creditors can be preferred, but not under the assignment law—labor excepted. Grimes v. Farrington, 19, 48 (26 N. W., 618).

232. Every such assignment shall be of all the property, real and personal, of the assignor or assignors therein named, wherever situated, except so much thereof as may be exempt from levy and sale on execution under the general laws of the state.

233. Real estate so assigned shall be described in the deed of assignment in such manner as would be requisite in an ordinary deed of conveyance thereof, and real estate claimed to be exempt shall be expressly excepted by like description.

234. Personal property claimed to be exempt shall be separately specified and described as such in the inventory of the assignor or assignors hereinafter required to be made.

235. In every such assignment the sheriff and his successor in office of the county in which the assignor resides, or if there be two assignors in which one of them resides, or if there be more than two assignors in which two or more of them reside, shall be named as assignee.

Assignee represents assignor, and not the creditors. Housel v. Cremer, 13, 301 (14 N.W., 399).

236. Such assignment shall be in writing, and shall be executed and acknowledged in the manner in which a conveyance of real estate is or shall be required to be executed and acknowledged, in order to entitle the same to be recorded. And within twenty-four hours after its execution it shall be filed for record in the clerk's office of the county in which the assignee resides. If it shall convey real estate it shall be recorded in the deed record, and entered upon the numerical index in said office, otherwise it shall be recorded in the miscellaneous record. Within thirty days after its execution it shall be filed for record in every other county in this state in which there shall be situate real property conveyed therein, and such assignment shall be recorded in each such county in the manner aforesaid. A failure to file such assignment for record within the time aforesaid in any county in which by the terms of this section it is required to be recorded, shall avoid such assignment as to property situate in such county; and if a failure so to file shall be due to the negligence or misconduct of any assignee appointed under the provisions of this act, such assignee shall be liable to the creditors for the value of all property as to which such assignment shall be so avoided, and may be required to account for the same in all respects as in case of other assigned property, or by any other appropriate remedy.

Execution of deed of assignment includes delivery of the deed. Wells v. Lamb, 19, 355 (27 N. W., 229). Deed of assignment must be executed and acknowledged same as deeds of conveyance. Heelan v. Hoagland, 10, 513 (7 N. W., 282). An assignment delivered to sheriff while he has a writ of attachment in his hands but not levied takes precedence of the attachment. Wells v. Lamb, 18, 352 (24 N. W., 682). An assignment of personal property for the benefit of creditors will not be invalid because not recorded, if filed in the county clerk's office within twenty-four hours. An assignment under this law will be sustained if possible. Possession by an assignee is notice to third parties which cannot be disregarded. Lancaster County Bank v. Horn, 34, 742 (52 N. W., 562).

237. Immediately upon the execution and delivery on any such assignment, the sheriff shall take possession of all the assigned estate, and preserve, insure, and safely keep the same for administration according to law, and the sheriff and his sureties shall be liable, upon his official bond, for the faithful execution of the trust created by such assignment, for the preservation of such assigned estate, and for the accounting for and paying over of all moneys derived therefrom. He shall, under order of the county judge, inspect the assigned estate, and take all necessary steps to sell or properly dispose of any and all perishable goods or property of said estate.

238. Within ten days after such assignment is made the assignor or assignors executing the same shall make and file in the county judge's office of the county in which the assignee named therein resides, to be recorded in a book to be provided for that purpose, an inventory verified by the affidavit of the person or persons making the same, that the same is in all respects full, true, and accurate according to the best of their knowledge and belief, and showing: First. All the creditors of the assignor or assignors. Second. The place of residence of each creditor, if known to the assignor or assignors, and if not known, that fact must be stated. Third, The sum owing to each creditor, and the nature of each debt or liability, whether arising on written security, account, or otherwise. Fourth. The true consideration of the liability in each case, and when and the place where it arose, and whether there has been any renewal or new promise in relation thereto. Fifth. Every existing mortgage, judgment, or other security for the payment of any debt or liability of the assignor or assignors. Sixth. All property of the assignor or assignors at the date of the assignment which is exempt by law from execution. Seventh. All of the assignor's property at the date of the assignment, both real and personal, of every kind, and wherever situated, not so exempt, and the incumbrances existing thereon, and all vouchers and securities relating thereto, and the value of such property in detail according to the best of the assignor's knowledge.

239. It shall be the duty of the county judge, immediately upon the receipt of such inventory, to fix a day, not more than fifteen days thereafter, for a meeting of the creditors of such assignor or assignors at his office for the purpose of choosing an assignee to succeed the sheriff in such trust, and he shall immediately make advertisement of the time and place of such meeting by publication in some newspaper published or of general circulation in such county, and also shall, within two days after the first publication thereof, send a copy of such notice to each creditor mentioned in said inventory, addressed to his place of residence therein named, with postage prepaid. No informality or neglect with reference to such notice shall invalidate any action taken pursuant thereto or to such order. The certificate of the county judge that he has given such notice shall be sufficient evidence thereof.

240. At the time and place fixed in such order, the creditors, or so many of them as shall be present in person or by proxy, may proceed by ballot to choose an assignee to succeed the sheriff, and the sheriff shall be eligible. At such election each creditor shall be entitled to cast one vote, but no person shall be regarded as chosen unless he shall receive the votes of creditors representing a majority of the gross indebtedness, and shall also have been voted for by one-third of all the creditors; nor shall any creditor be permitted to vote upon any claim against the assignor or assignors unless the same shall be verified by the affidavit of the creditor to be just and reasonable and wholly unpaid to the extent claimed, setting forth the true consideration thereof and that the same is not, to the best of said affiant's knowledge and belief, subject to any legal or equitable recoupment, counter-claim, or set-off which, if allowed, would reduce the debt below the amount claimed.

241. Such meeting of the creditors may be adjourned from day to day, not exceeding three days; and should there be a failure to choose an assignee as provided in the preceding section, the sheriff and his successor or successors in office, respectively, shall remain the assignee of the estate.

242. Immediately upon the adjournment of such meeting the sheriff and the assignee, if any chosen thereat, shall proceed to make and return to the county court an inventory and appraisement of the entire estate assigned, in the manner provided by law for the appraisal of property taken on attachment issued out of the district court.

243. Within forty-eight hours after such inventory shall be returned and filed, the assignee shall enter into an undertaking in double the amount of the appraised value of the whole estate, with two or more sureties to the satisfaction and approval of the county judge, conditioned for the faithful discharge of his duties as such assignee. If the assignee fail to give the undertaking within the time aforesaid, his election shall become null, and the estate shall be administered as though no election had been had.

244. The bond of the assignee shall be recorded in the office of the county clerk, and the record thereof shall have the same force as the record of other official bonds.

245. Immediately on the execution and approval of such bond the sheriff shall deliver all the personal property belonging to such estate to such assignee, and shall execute and deliver to such assignee, as such, a deed of quitclaim of all real estate conveyed by such assignment.

The sheriff may be compelled by mandamus to quitclaim real estate conveyed by the assignment to his successor. Strunk v. State, ex rel. Lipp, 33, 322 (50 N. W., 14). It is the duty of such assignee to protect the property of the estate, and he may intervene in attachment suits affecting it. Commercial National Bank v. Nebraska State Bank, 33, 292 (50 N. W., 157.)

246. Upon the day of the meeting of the creditors the county judge shall fix a day, not more than sixty nor less than thirty days thereafter, within which all claims against the assigned estate shall be filed, and within which the assignee or assignor, or any creditor, may file any objection, defense, set-off or counter-claim to any claim which the assignor might or could have opposed to the same had action been brought upon the same before assignment. Notice of the time so fixed shall be given in the manner hereinbefore provided for notice of the first meeting of the creditors. Any claim, objection, set-off, or counter-claim, not filed on or before the date so named, shall be forever barred from being considered in the settlement of said estate or participating in any dividend therein.

Where a creditor without laches on his own part, fails to file within the time, he may still present his claim and receive his pro rata share in the assets unadministered. Elwood v. Marsh, 31, 134 (47 N. W., 639)

247. On the day following the day fixed under the provisions of the preceding section all uncontested claims shall by the county judge be allowed and entered of record, with the amounts thereof, in a book to be provided and kept for that purpose. Upon all contested claims the county judge shall order pleadings, as nearly as practicable like those in ordinary civil actions in said court, to be summarily made up, and thereupon said cause shall proceed in said court as in ordinary civil actions therein, but no such cause shall be continued for a longer time in the aggregate than sixty days from the day so fixed.

A wife may have a valid claim against her husband's assigned estate. Meyer v. Anderson, 33, 20 (49 N. W., 931).

248. Judgment in said action shall be that such claim or some amount thereof be allowed, or that the same be disallowed, or that the assignee have and recover from the person making the claim a certain amount. If the claim shall be allowed, judgment for costs shall be adjudged against the party or parties contesting the same. If the claim be allowed in part only, the court adjudicating the same shall apportion the costs or adjudge them as may be just. If the claim be wholly disallowed, or the assignee recover judgment, costs shall be adjudged against the claimant, but in no case shall the costs be paid out of the assigned estate except as in this act otherwise provided. In such cause the claimant shall be named as plaintiff, and the contestant or contestants as defendant. Judgment in favor of the assignee or for costs shall be collected as in other cases. Whenever any contested claim shall be finally allowed, or so much thereof as shall be finally allowed, shall be entered of record in like manner as other claims.

Judge should decide which are preferred claims at the time of allowing the same. Anheuser-Busch Brewing Association v. Assigned Estate of Farmers Bank, 36, — (53 N. W., 1038).

249. No petition in error shall be allowed from the judgment of the county court upon a contested claim, but either party may appeal therefrom as in other cases. Upon such appeal the cause shall be docketed in the district court within twenty days after the filing of the appeal bond, and shall stand for trial at the next term of the district court thereafter, or at the same term if the court shall be in session at the time it is docketed, and upon the same pleadings upon which the same shall have been tried in the county court; Provided, however, That the court may for sufficient reason grant a continuance to either party as in other cases, and may order any pleading to be amended, or allow any pleading or pleadings to be withdrawn, and a motion or demurrer to be filed in lieu thereof. In all other respects the cause shall proceed as nearly as may be as in other cases.

250. Immediately upon the return of the inventory and appraisement, and the approval of the bond of the assignee, if one shall have been chosen by the creditors, the assignee shall proceed to advertise for sale and sell the assigned estate in all respects as though the same had been taken on execution issued out of the district court. Real estate so sold shall be conveyed by the assignee to the purchaser or purchasers of the same by a deed or deeds of conveyance executed and acknowledged as in other cases, which shall convey all the interest the assignor had in the property sold at the date of the assignment. Before such conveyance shall be made the proceedings on such sale shall be returned to and confirmed by the district court or judge as in case of sales of real estate on execution, and the court or judge may set said sale aside or make any order in the premises as in case of such sales on execution. No notice of an application to have such sale confirmed need be given to any person, but any party interested may appear and resist the confirmation, and the application may be made by any person interested, and the assignee may be compelled by attachment by the court or judge to make the return with all reasonable dispatch. Provided, however, That the creditors at their first meeting may, by a like vote as that required for the election of an assignee, require any portion or all the personal property assigned to be sold at private sale. Upon such request the county judge shall make an order that the personal property described in the request shall be sold by the assignee at private sale, and shall direct the mode of such sale, whether the same, being merchandise, shall be sold at retail or in job lots, or both, or otherwise, and whether upon any or upon what notice or advertisement, and such sale shall be solely for cash. Nor shall any such property be sold at private sale for less than its appraised value, except upon written application of a majority in amount of the claims voted upon the election of the assignee, fixing the price, and on order of the county court. The court shall also direct by order who shall be employed, if any one, to assist at such private sale, and the amount of his or their compensation, but such private sale shall not continue longer than sixty days after the making of the order authorizing the same. At the expiration of such time the remainder of such estate, if any, shall be immediately advertised and sold in the manner hereinbefore provided.

Cited and construed, Wilson v. Coburn, 35, 533 (53 N. W., 466).

251. Immediately upon the sale of any portion of the estate, the assignee shall report to the county court the description or descriptions of the property sold and the amount received for the same, and shall retain such proceeds subject to the order of the court. He shall also make a like report between the first and fifth days inclusive of every calendar month after his appointment.

252. At the expiration of three months from the date of the inventory and appraisement, or sooner if, and as often as, the assignee shall be in the possession of sufficient funds, the county court shall order a distribution of all moneys in the assignee's hands, fixing the amount in dollars and cents to be paid to each person entitled thereto, and thereupon the assignee and his sureties shall become liable to such person therefor absolutely. The court may also enforce obedience to such order by the assignee by attachment for contempt, and may commit him to the common jail of the county, or any other suitable place of confinement and safe keeping, until he shall comply therewith.

253. As soon as the entire estate shall have been converted into money the county court shall make a like order for the final distribution thereof, which shall have the same effect and may be enforced in like manner as the order mentioned in the last preceding section.

254. Moneys coming into the hands of the assignee shall be distributed in the following manner: First. To the payment of the fees and allowances of the assignee, county judge, clerks, sheriff, and officers. Second. To the payment of any public tax or assessment charged against the assignor or assignors or his or their property. Third. To the payment of preferred claims in full. Fourth. The balance shall be divided among the creditors, so that the amount paid to each shall bear the same relation to the whole sum to be so divided that the amount of such creditor's claim shall bear to the aggregate amount of all the claims proven.

Amended 1887, p. 98, by inverting order of first two clauses; fees and allowances formerly having been second. The judge should fix the status of the claims when allowing them. Anheuser-Busch Brewing Association v. Assigned Estate of Farmers' Bank, 36, — (53 N. W., 1038).

255. If at the time any order of distribution is made there shall be any contested claim still being litigated, a dividend shall be declared in its favor in all respects as though the same had been finally allowed, but the assignee shall be directed, in the order of distribution, to retain the same in his hands until the litigation shall be finally determined, and he shall retain the same accordingly. When it shall be certified to the county court by the clerk of the court in which any such action is pending, that litigation therein is finally determined, and that the time for appeal or proceedings in error therein has expired, or has been waived, the county court shall make a further order determining the amount of such dividend to which such claimant shall be entitled, if any, and directing the assignee to pay such amount to such claimant and retain the balance of such dividend, if any, to be distributed in the same manner as other funds belonging to the estate.

256. When all the estate has been converted into money, and all the contested claims have been finally determined and the result thereof certified to the county court as aforesaid, the court shall make a final order of distribution, which shall be immediately obeyed.

257. When the final order of distribution shall have been made, and the assignee shall have made return and satisfactory proof that he has obeyed all orders of distribution and paid the money as therein directed, the county judge shall enter an order discharging the assignee and the sureties upon his official bond from all liability on account of said trust; but before such order shall be made, a time shall be fixed for hearing the matter, and notice thereof shall be given in the manner provided with reference to the first meeting of creditors.

258. The following and no other fees and allowances may be allowed and paid out of the assigned estate, viz.: To the attorney or person draughting the deed of assignment, ten dollars; to the county clerk for recording the deed of assignment and bond of assignee, the fees allowed by law for other like services; to the sheriff and appraisers for making and returning the inventory and appraisement, such compensation as may be allowed by the county court, not exceeding two dollars per day each for time necessarily employed; to the county judge for preparing and serving each notice required to be given by him, including his certificate or proof of service thereof, ten cents, besides postage actually paid; for filing and preserving each paper or document required to be filed or preserved in the matter, five cents; for allowing each uncontested claim and entering the same of record, ten cents; for recording the inventory and appraisement, and any other paper or document required to be entered of record, other than uncontested claims aforesaid, five cents per hundred words, Arabic numerals not being counted in such computation; for making and entering each order of distribution, not exceeding three orders in any one matter of assignment, five dollars; for making and entering any other order in the proceeding, fifty cents; for attending each meeting of the creditors, for each day's attendance, one dollar; for a certified copy of any order made by him, fifty cents; to the clerk of the district court for entering any order respecting the sale of real estate, such fees as are allowed in civil actions for like services; to the publisher of any newspaper for the publication of any notice required to be published in such proceedings, fifty cents per square of unleaded nonpareil type for the first insertion of such notice, and one-half said amount for each subsequent insertion; to the assignee, such sum as may be allowed by the county judge, not exceeding ten per cent on the first $1,000 distributed, and five per cent on the excess, unless at the said first meeting of creditors they shall by a like vote as that for a request for sale of goods at private sale agree with the assignee upon a different sum; to persons employed to assist the assignee in the private sale of personal property ordered to be so sold, such compensation as may have been previously fixed by the county judge, but the aggregate of such allowances shall not exceed the fees and commissions allowed to the assignee; to attorneys for prosecuting or defending any suit by or against the assignee or affecting the assigned estate, such sum as may be agreed upon in writing by a majority in number and two-thirds in amount of the creditors whose claims have been proven at the expiration of the time fixed for proving claims against the estate; to the assignee such sums as may have been necessarily expended for drayage or rent, fuel and lights, and insurance; such judgments for costs as may have been rendered against the assignee in actions prosecuted or defended by him upon the written direction of a majority of the creditors owning two-thirds in amount of the uncontested claims proven and no other.

259. Every such assignment shall be void against the creditors of the assignor: First. If it give a preference of one debt or class of debts over another, except a preference to any person of not more than $100 for labor or wages. Second. If it require any creditor to release or compromise his demand. Third, If it reserve any interest in the assigned property, or any part thereof, to the assignor or assignors, or for his or their benefit, before his or their existing debts have been paid. Fourth. If it confer any power upon the assignee, other or different from those contained in this act. Fifth. If the assignor or assignors shall fail to make the inventory required to be made by him or them by this act, within the time required by this act, the assignment shall not be void, but that the county court may by attachment or other proper remedy compel the making and return thereof by the assignor. But an omission of any property, or of the name or claim of any creditor therefor, shall not avoid the assignment.

Debtor may prefer creditors by an independent instrument. Bierbower v. Polk, 17, 268 (22 N. W., 698) Preference of bona fide creditors not fraudulent. Britton v. Boyer, 27, 526 (43 N. W., 356). Davis v. Scott, 27, 643 (43 N. W., 407). Does not prevent debtor from preferring his creditors, but if intended as an assignment this law must be followed. Bonns v. Carter, 22, 515 (35 N. W., 394). Preference by mortgages not invalid because all assets covered, if too much property not covered thereby. Hershiser v. Highman, 31, 533 (48 N. W., 272).

260. If the assignor or assignors shall have made any fraudulent con- veyance or disposition of his or their property, or any part of it, or any conveyance of the same, or any part of it, in whole or in part, directly or indirectly for his or their benefit, the assignee shall, upon the direction in writing of a majority in number of the creditors owning two-thirds in amount of all the claims proven against the estate at the time fixed for proving the same, begin and maintain an action for the purpose of setting said conveyance aside, or having the same adjudged void, or to recover the property so conveyed; and in such action he shall have all the rights and be entitled to all the remedies of a judgment creditor of the assignor or assignors; and if in such case a like action shall be pending in favor of any creditor or creditors, such assignee shall be substituted as plaintiff. If the assignee shall be unsuccessful in such action, the costs adjudged against him shall be paid out of the assigned estate. If he shall be successful, the property so recovered shall be disposed of as other like property belonging to the assigned estate.

261. The county judge may at any time cite the assignee to make an account, and shall do so whenever the assignee neglects or refuse to account at any time when he is required so to do by this act. The county judge may enforce his orders in the premises by attachment as for contempt, and may punish disobedience thereto by fine and imprisonment, as in other cases of contempt. Upon complaint of any creditor, and upon good cause shown, he may remove any assignee chosen by the creditors and restore the sheriff to the execution of the trust and make all necessary orders in the premises.

262. A co-partnership estate may be assigned without including the individual property of the persons composing the co-partnership, or one or more of such persons may include his or their individual estate in such assignment; but in such case separate inventories of the property, and creditors of such estate, shall be made and filed as in this act provided; and in such case the failure of the assignment as to one estate shall not affect it as to any other; and in such case the co-partnership estate shall first be applied to the payment of co-partnership debts, and individual estates shall first be applied to the payment of individual debts, and the balance, if any in the latter case, shall be applied to the payment of debts of the former description, while the balance, if any in former case belonging to an individual partner, shall be applied to the payment of his individual debts.

As to right of one partner to make. Sullivan v. Smith, 15, 481 (19 N. W., 620). Cited and construed, Wilson v. Coburn, 35, 534 (53 N. W., 466).

263. The existence of an assignment, nor the fact that any creditor has proven his claim against an assigned estate, shall not affect the right of such creditor to pursue any remedy at law or in equity for the collection of his claim against all or any of the assignors or all or any of their estate or property; nor shall the proving of a claim against either an individual or a co-partnership estate affect the right of a creditor to attack the validity of the assignment.

Presentation and proof of a creditor's claim in Illinois under assignment law of that state, is no bar to such a creditor's right of action in Nebraska. Gross v. Bunn, 10, 217 (4 N. W., 1048).

264. The county court may, upon the application of the assignee, or of any creditor, compel, by citation or attachment, the assignor or assignors to appear in person forthwith, or at such time as the court may fix, and answer, under oath, such questions as may be put to them, or either of them, concerning the matter of the assignment; and such assignor or assignors may thereupon be fully examined, upon oath, as to all matters touching their estate or property, its situation and amount, and as to whether any and what disposition has been made of the same or any part thereof, and as to the names of creditors, their residence, and the amount due each; and may compel the completion or correction of any inventory made by the assignor or assignors, and the delivery of any money, choses in action, or property belonging to the assigned estate to the assignee, and may compel obedience to his orders in the premises, by fine or imprisonment as for contempt as in other cases.

Court can decide what is exempt to the assignor. Stout v. Rapp, 17, 462 (23 N. W., 364).

265. [Undisclosed Property.]—The county court may also, when there shall be filed an affidavit by any person interested in the estate, alleging that any person or persons has or have, or that the affiant has, good reason to and does verily believe that any person or persons has or have any property, goods, chattels, bills of exchange, promissory notes, credits, or effects of the assignor or assignors in his or their possession, or under his or their control, or has or have knowledge of any of the property or effects of the assignor or assignors, cite any such person or persons to appear for examination; and such person or persons may be examined, upon oath, in all respects as to such matters as the assignor or assignors may be required to appear and be examined under the provisions of this act; and the court may make any order with respect to any property or effects, found or disclosed to be in the possession or under the control of such person, which he might or could make with respect to property or effects, in the possession of an assignor, and may enforce obedience to his orders in the premises in like manner.

266. The assignee shall, from time to time, file in the county court additional inventory and valuation of any property coming into his hands, after the filing of any former inventory, which shall be treated as a part of the original inventory and appraisement.

267. Proof may be made of claims not due, but in such case a reasonable rebate shall be made in case they do not draw interest, or in case they draw interest at a less rate than may be allowed by law.

268. The assignee shall have full power, except as in this act otherwise provided, to sue for and recover in his own name as assignee all and singular the estate, property, and effects, real and personal, and amounts owing upon choses in action, and to execute and give releases, acquittances, and discharges, and generally to do all manner of things requisite and convenient for the speedy and effectual collection of the estate which the assignor or assignors might or could have made, given, or done if such assignment had not been made.

A valid assignment for the benefit of creditors is a trust for their benefit and not an agency for the use of the debtor. Commercial National Bank v. Nebraska State Bank, 33, 305 (50 N. W., 157).

269. Full authority and jurisdiction is hereby conferred upon the county courts, and the judges thereof, to execute and carry out the provisions of this act, and said court shall, at all times, be and remain open for the transaction of business under this act.

Proceedings relating to the settlement of assigned estates are under the control of the county court; yet the district judge may by mandamus compel the sheriff to convey property received as assignee to his successor. Strunk v. State, ex rel. Lipp, 33, 326 (50 N. W., 14).

270. No appeal or proceeding in error shall lie from any order of judgment in any proceeding hereunder except the following, to-wit: First. An order allowing or disallowing, in whole or in part, any contested claim. Second. An order of distribution. Third. An order directing the assignor or assignors, or other persons, to pay money or deliver property to the assignee. Fourth. An order directing the sale of property at private sale or fixing the compensation of assistants thereat. Fifth. A judgment in any action by or against the assignee. Sixth. An order of final settlement discharging the assignee and his sureties. Seventh. Any order made by the county judge in proceedings had under the provisions of section 26 [256].

271. An appeal under the second, third, fourth, sixth, and seventh subdivisions of the last preceding section may be taken by any person interested in the [e]state, within the same time and upon giving a bond in the same manner as in case of an appeal from a judgment in an ordinary civil action in said court. Such appeal shall be docketed within twenty days after the making of the order appealed from, and shall stand for hearing at the next term of the district court, or at the same term if the court be in session when it is docketed. The county judge shall certify so much of the record as may be necessary to a clear understanding of the matter in controversy. The district court shall dispose of the matter summarily, with or without pleadings, and upon hearing such testimony as may be offered, and shall make such order in the premises as may be just. The clerk shall immediately certify such order to the county court.

Error may be taken to supreme court same as in any other case. Stout v. Rapp, 17, 465 (23 N. W., 384).

272. If a person being insolvent, or in contemplation of insolvency, within thirty days before the making of any assignment makes a sale, assignment, transfer, or other conveyance of any description of any part of his property to a person who then has reasonable cause to believe him to be insolvent or in contemplation of insolvency, and that such sale, assignment, transfer, or other conveyance is made with a view to prevent the property from coming to his assignee in insolvency, or to prevent the same from being distributed under the laws relating to insolvency, or to defeat the object of or in any way to impair, hinder, impede, or delay the operation and effect of, or to evade any of said provisions, the sale, assignment, transfer, or conveyance shall be void, and the assignee may recover the property or the assets of the insolvent. And if such sale, assignment, transfer, or conveyance is not made in the usual and ordinary course of business of the debtor, that fact shall be prima facie evidence of such cause of belief.

273. If a person, being insolvent, or in contemplation of insolvency, within thirty days before the making of the assignment, with a view to give a preference to a creditor or person who has a claim against him, procures any part of his property to be attached, sequestered, or seized on execution, or makes any payment, pledge, assignment, transfer, or conveyance of any part of his property, either directly or indirectly, absolutely or conditionally, the person receiving such payment, pledge, assignment, transfer, or conveyance, or to be benefited thereby, having reasonable cause to believe such person is insolvent, or in contemplation of insolvency, and that such payment, pledge, assignment, or conveyance is made in fraud of the laws relation to insolvency, the same shall be void, and the assignee may recover the property, or the value of it, from the person so receiving it or so to be benefited.

Preference by mortgages valid, though all the debtor's property covered. Hershiser v. Highman, 31, 533 (48 N. W., 272). Where a debtor gives a real estate mortgage to secure an indebtedness created more than nine months prior to the time of making an assignment, and at the time the creditor had reasonable cause to believe the debtor insolvent, held that such security was in fraud of the assignment law and void. Banks v. Omaha Barb Wire Co., 30, 128 (46 N. W., 251). The rights of the assignee to recover property fraudulently transferred by the assignor are similar to those of a judgment creditor, and must be enforced according to the forms of law. He cannot forcibly seize and take property which he claims he is entitled to. Brown v. Farmers & Merchants Bank, 36, — (54 N. W., 672). Debtor may prefer a creditor on same day by chattel mortgage if no collusion. Nelson v. Garey, 15, 533 (19 N. W., 630).

274. [Exception Preference Valid.]—Nothing in this act contained shall be construed so as to prevent any debtors from paying or securing to be paid any debt not exceeding the sum of one hundred dollars, for clerks' or servants' wages, or from paying or securing any debt which shall have been created within nine months prior to the date of such payment, or securing or to effect any mortgage or security made in good faith to secure any debt or liability created simultaneously with such mortgage or security, provided any such mortgage shall be filed for record in the proper office within thirty days from its date.

A mortgage executed to secure a bona fide debt created within the period limited is valid, though the debtor makes a general assignment of all his property, including that mortgage, in a few hours thereafter. The word "month" here means a calendar month. Brown v. Williams, 34, 377 (51 N. W., 851).

275. [Fradulent Evasion.]—Every person who, in contemplation of making an assignment for the benefit of creditors, shall, First. Secrete or conceal any property belonging to his estate; or, Second. Part with, conceal, destroy, alter, mutilate, or falsify, or cause to be so concealed, destroyed, altered, mutilated, or falsified, any book, deed, document or writing relating to his estate or property; or, Third. Remove, or cause to be removed, any such property, or book, deed, writing, or document out of the county, or otherwise dispose of any part thereof with intent to prevent its coming into possession of the sheriff or assignee, or to hinder, impede, or delay them, or either of them, in removing or receiving the same; or, Fourth. Make any payment, gift, sale, assignment, transfer, or conveyance of any property belonging to his estate with like intent; or, Fifth. Spend any property belonging to his estate, in gaming; or, Sixth. Willfully and fraudulently, with intent to defraud, conceal from his assignee, or omit from his inventory, any property or effects; or, Seventh. Having reason to suspect that any other person has presented a false or fictitious demand against his estate, shall fail to disclose the same to his assignee within one month after coming to his knowledge or belief; or, Eighth. Fraudulently attempt to account for any of his property by fictitious losses or expenses; or, Ninth. Within three months, next before the assignment, for the benefit of creditors, under the false color and pretense of carrying on business and dealing in the ordinary course of trade, obtain on credit from any person any goods or chattels with intent to defraud such person; or, Tenth. Within three months next before the assignment for the benefit of creditors with the intent to defraud his creditors, pawn, pledge, or dispose of, otherwise than by transactions made in good faith in the ordinary way of his trade, any of his goods, chattels, or property, which have been obtained on credit and remain unpaid for, shall be deemed guilty of a fraudulent evasion of this act, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary for not more than seven years.

276. [Not Retroactive.]—An act approved February 19, 1877, entitled "An act relating to voluntary assignments for the benefit of creditors, and to the assignees therein named, and the settlement of their accounts," and all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed; but this act shall not affect assignments heretofore made, but estates assigned thereby shall be administered and settled as though the above named act were not repealed.

CHAPTER 5.—ATTORNEYS.

See County Attorney, sec. 3165.

Secs. 277 to 290 formed secs. 1 to 14, ch. 3, R. S. 1866, p. 14.

277. No person shall be admitted to practice as an attorney in the supreme and district courts of this state hereafter, unless such person shall have previously studied in the office of a practicing attorney for the period of two years, and shall pass a satisfactory examination upon the principles of the common law, under the directions of the court to which application is made, or is a regular graduate from the College of Law of the State University of Nebraska, and it is shown to the satisfaction of said court that such applicant sustains a good moral character.

Amended and * to * added, 1893, ch. 1, p. 63.

278. The supreme court may, on motion, admit any practicing attorney of the district court to practice in the supreme court, upon his taking the usual oath of office.

279. Any practicing attorney in the courts of record of another state or territory, having professional business in either the supreme or district courts, may, on motion, be admitted to practice in either of the courts, upon taking the oath as aforesaid.

280. Every attorney, upon being admitted to practice in the supreme or district courts of this state, shall take and subscribe an oath substantially in the following form:

"You do solemnly swear that you will support the constitution of the United States, and the constitution of this state, and that you will faithfully discharge the duties of an attorney and counselor, according to the best of your ability."

Amended and form of oath changed. 1871, p. 107. In force March 7.

281. It is the duty of an attorney and counselor—I. To maintain the respect due to the courts of justice and to judicial officers. II. To counsel or maintain no other actions, proceedings, defenses, than those which appear to him legal and just, except the defense of a person charged with a public offense. III. To employ, for the purpose of maintaining the cause confided to him, such means only as are consistent with truth. IV. To maintain inviolate the confidence, and, at any peril to himself, to preserve the secrets of his clients. V. To abstain from all offensive practices, and to advise no fact prejudicial to the honor or reputation of a party or witness, unless required by the justice of the cause with which he is charged. VI. Not to encourage the commencement or continuance of an action or proceeding from any motive of passion or interest.

Confidential communications made by a party to an attorney are privileged, also those made in employing him, and cannot be given in evidence unless the party consents thereto. Nelson v. Becker, 32, 99 (48 N. W., 962).

282. An attorney and counselor who is guilty of deceit or collusion and consents thereto, with intent to deceive a court, or judge, or a party to an action or proceeding, is liable to be disbarred, and shall forfeit to the injured party treble damages, to be recovered in a civil action.

283. An attorney or counselor has power—I. To execute, in the name of his client, a bond for an appeal, certiorari, writ of error, or any other paper necessary and proper for the prosecution of a suit already commenced. II. To bind his client by his agreement in respect to any proceeding within the scope of his proper duties and powers; but no evidence of any such agreement is receivable, except the statement of the attorney himself, his written agreement signed and filed with the clerk, or an entry thereof upon the records of the court. III. To receive money claimed by his client in an action or proceeding, during the pendency thereof or afterwards, unless he has been previously discharged by his client, and upon payment thereof, and not otherwise, to discharge the claim or acknowledge satisfaction of the judgment.

General powers of attorney. State Bank of Nebraska v. Green, 8, 307. The authority of presumed. Vorce v. Page, 28, 294 (44 N. W., 452). Ratification by client of acts in commencing suit without authority. Little v. Giles, 27, 181, 190, (42 N. W., 1044). No exception being taken to order of judge limiting time of argument, error will not be considered. Argument should be confined to issues. Cropsey v. Averill, 8, 159. Oral agreements entered into out of court will not be enforced. Rich v. State National Bank, 7, 205. The authority to give notice to an adverse party of the termination of his agency for another, at least before the commencement of an action, is not among the express or implied powers of an attorney. Tingley v. Parshall, 11, 447 (9 N. W., 571).

284. An attorney has a lien for a general balance of compensation upon any papers of his client which have come into his possession in the course of his professional employment; upon money in his hands belonging to his client, and in the hands of the adverse party in an action or proceeding in which the attorney was employed from the time of giving notice of the lien to that party.

An attorney in an action may have a lien on money in the hands of the adverse party, and under certain circumstances may be admitted as a party plaintiff in that action for the purpose of protecting and enforcing such lien. Reynolds v. Reynolds, 10, 579 (7 N. W., 322). To entitle attorney to be admitted as party plaintiff it must appear that fees are due him for services in the case. Oliver v. Sheeley, 11, 521 (9 N. W., 689.) Settlement of case by parties before lien filed by attorney, held that the attorneys could not intervene and continue litigation. Lavender v. Atkins, 20, 206 (29 N. W., 467). Lien cannot be defeated by settlement of parties. Aspinwall v. Sabin, 22, 77 (34 N. W., 72). Lien of attorneys superior to rights of parties. Boyer v. Clark and McCandless, 3, 168. Lien by agreement for one-half amount recovered cannot be reduced by subsequent recovery of judgment by defendant in action against plaintiff and set-off against first judgment. Ward v. Watson, 27, 770 (44 N. W., 27). Notice of lien must be filed or served in order to bind adverse party. Elliott v. Atkins, 26, 409 (42 N. W., 403). Question of notice can only arise between attorney of successful and the unsuccessful party. Sayre v. Thompson, 18, 43 (24 N. W., 383). Recovery restricted to claim set out in notice. Griggs & Ashby v. White, 5, 468. Client not liable to a second attorney employed without his consent by his first attorney. Sedgwick v. Bliss, 23, 617 (37 N. W., 483). An attorney has no lien before judgment upon a cause of action sounding in tort. Abbott v. Abbott, 18, 505 (26 N. W., 361). Attorney cannot be prosecuted for embezzlement until his lien is discharged. Van Etten v. State, 24, 737 (40 N. W., 289). Right of an attorney to a lien upon a judgment doubted. Patrick v. Leach, 12 Fed. Rep., 661.

285. Any person producing a license, or other satisfactory voucher, proving that he has been regularly admitted an attorney at law, in any court of record within the United States, that he is of good moral character, may be licensed and permitted to practice as a counselor and attorney at law in any court in this state without examination.

286. [Parties may act as.]—Plaintiffs shall have the liberty of prosecuting, and defendants shall have the liberty of defending in their proper persons; and nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to affect any person or persons heretofore admitted to the degree of an attorney or counselor at law, by the laws of this state, so as to subject them to further examination, or make it necessary for them to renew their license.

287. [Who Disqualified.]—No person shall be permitted to practice as an attorney of the courts of this state who holds a commission as supreme or district judge, or sheriff, clerk, constable, or jailer, in the county where they hold their respective offices, or clerk of the supreme or district courts of the state; Provided*, That where an attorney at law or any other person holds the office of county judge or justice of the peace, he shall not be permitted to practice as such attorney on any matter brought before himself, or appealed from his decision to a higher court; and any violation of this section shall be deemed a misdemeanor, and subject any such officer to fine, not less than five and not more than twenty-five dollars.

Amended by omitting judge of probate, changing "territory" to "state," and adding all after *, 1877, p. 39. In force June 1.

288. [Embezzlement.]—When an attorney, residing and practicing in any state or territory, receives money upon démands left with him for collection in such state or territory, which he omits to pay over, he is liable to arrest here in an action brought to recover the money.

289. Upon filing original papers in any case, it shall be his duty to endorse thereon his name.

290. It shall be the duty of every attorney to act as the guardian of any infant defendant in any suit pending against him, when appointed for that purpose by an order of the court; shall prepare himself to make the proper defense, to guard the rights of such defendant, and shall be entitled to such compensation as the court shall deem reasonable.

CHAPTER 6.—BANKS.

RAYMOND BANKING LAW.

Secs. 291 to 306. "An act to require corporations, firms, and individuals transacting a banking business to make report of their resources and liabilities to the auditor of public accounts, and to provide for the examination of the affairs of such banking institutions, and to fix a minimum capital for the transaction of a banking business; punish the receiving of deposits by insolvent banking institutions and to provide for winding up their affairs." 1889, p. 388. In force June 30. Repeals secs. 1 to 3, ch. 8, Comp. Stats. 1887.

291. [Capital required.]—It shall be unlawful for any corporation, firm, or individual to transact a banking business by receiving money on deposit, buying and selling exchange and the like, unless such corporation, firm, or individual shall have property of cash value as follows: In cities, villages, and communities having a population of less than one thousand (1,000) inhabitants, five thousand (5,000) dollars; in cities, and villages, having a population of more than one thousand (1,000) and less than fifteen hundred (1,500) inhabitants, ten thousand (10,000) dollars; in cities and villages having a population of less than two thousand (2,000) and more than fifteen hundred (1,500) inhabitants, fifteen thousand (15,000) dollars; in cities having a population of less than three thousand (3,000) and more than two thousand (2,000) inhabitants, twenty thousand (20,000) dollars; in cities having a population of less than five thousand (5,000) and more than three thousand (3,000) inhabitants, twenty-five thousand (25,000) dollars; in cities having a population of less than ten thousand (10,000) and more then five thousand (5,000) inhabitants thirty thousand (30,000) dollars; in cities having a population of more than ten thousand (10,000) inhabitants, fifty thousand (50,000) dollars. Such property shall be in money or in money's commercial paper, bank furniture, and the necessary bank buildings with the lot or lots on which the same are built, and of the cash value aforesaid, above all incumbrances thereon and in excess of all liabilities owing by such corporation, firm, or individual; Provided, That real estate, furniture, and fixtures shall not constitute more than one-third ($\frac{1}{3}$) of capital.

292. Every bank, or corporation, firm, or individual transacting a banking business shall, at least ten (10) days before commencing such business, transmit to the auditor of public accounts a report of the character set forth in section four (4) of this act [294]; Provided, That every bank, or corporation, firm, or individual, transacting a banking business at the time this act takes effect, shall transmit such report within ten (10) days from such time.

293. Every bank and every corporation, firm, or individual transacting a banking business, shall make to the auditor of public accounts not less than three (3) reports during each year according to the form which may be prescribed by him, which report shall be verified in the case of incorporated banking companies by the oath or affirmation of the president or cashier, and in other cases by the oath or affirmation of a partner, member, or business manager. But the officer administering the oath or affirmation to the person verifying such report shall be in no way interested in such bank as a stockholder, member, partner, bank officer.

294. Such report shall state the amount loaned upon bond and mortgage, the par value and actual market value of all stock or bond investments, designating each particular kind and the amount invested in each; the amount loaned upon notes, bills of exchange, over-drafts, and other personal securities, with the actual market value of such securities; the amount of rediscounts and of commercial paper past due; the amount invested in real estate, giving the cost of the same; the amount of cash on hand and on deposit in banks or trust companies, with their names and the amount deposited in each; the amount of all other assets not enumerated above, and such other information as the auditor of public accounts, state treasurer, and attorney general, or any two of them, may require; Provided, That commercial paper, not in process of collection, six (6) months past due with interest unpaid, shall not be included in the report of the assets of such corporation, firm, or individual. Each report shall state such resources and liabilities at the close of business on any past day by the auditor of public accounts specified, and shall be transmitted to him within five (5) days after the receipt of a request or requisition therefor from him. And a summary of such report in the form prescribed by the auditor of public accounts, state treasurer, and attorney general shall be published in a newspaper published in the place where such banking business is transacted, or if there is no newspaper in the place, then in one published nearest thereto in the same county, at the expense of such bank, corporation, firm, or individual; and proof of such publication shall be transmitted to the auditor of public accounts.

295. The auditor of public accounts, state treasurer, and attorney general, or any two of them, shall have power to call for special reports from any particular bank, corporation, firm, or individual transacting a banking business whenever in their judgment the same are necessary in order to a full and complete knowledge of his or its condition.

296. [Examiners.]—The auditor of public accounts, state treasurer, and attorney general, or any two of them, shall appoint a suitable person to perform the clerical work necessary to carry out the provisions of this act. They shall also appoint a suitable person or persons having practical knowledge of banking to make an examination of the affairs of every bank, and every corporation, firm, or individual transacting a banking business, as often as shall be deemed necessary and proper, and at least once in every year. But no person shall be appointed to examine the affairs of any bank, or corporation, firm, or individual transacting a banking business who is an officer, stockholder, member, partner, or clerk in any banking institution of this state. The auditor of public accounts, state treasurer, and attorney general, or any two of them, may at any time remove any person so appointed by them.

297. The person or persons so appointed shall have power to make a thorough examination into all the books, papers, and affairs of the bank, or corporation, firm, or individual transacting a banking business, and, in so doing, to administer oaths and affirmations, and to examine on oath or affirmation any individual banker and the officers, agents, partners, and clerks of such bank, corporation, firm, or individual touching the matters he or they shall be directed or may desire to inquire into; and to summon, and by attachment compel, the attendance of any inhabitant of the state, to testify under oath before him or them in relation to the affairs of such corporation, firm, or individual. The person or persons making such examination shall make a full and detailed report of the condition of such corporation, firm, or individual to the auditor of public accounts.

298. Every person appointed to examine the affairs of any bank, corporation, firm, or individual transacting a banking business shall receive compensation for such examination at the rate of ten dollars ($10) for each day by him employed in such examination, which shall be paid to him by the bank, corporation, firm, or individual whose affairs are examined; Provided, That the fees paid by any such corporation, firm, or individual for any such single examination shall not be less than ten dollars ($10) nor more than twenty dollars ($20), and that no such corporation, firm, or individual shall be required to pay for more than one such examination in any one year; And provided further, That all fees collected by any such examiner in excess of the sum of two thousand dollars ($2,000) per annum and all his necessary traveling expenses shall be paid into the state treasury for the benefit of the general fund. Every person appointed as such examiner shall make at the end of every year to the auditor of public accounts, state treasurer, and attorney general a detailed report of all fees collected by him under this act, and of all his necessary traveling expenses in the performance of his duties as such examiner; and shall give a bond in the sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000), executed by himself, with two sufficient sureties to be approved by the governor, conditioned for the faithful performance of his duties as such examiner.

The board has no power to prescribe any other rule or rate of compensation for the services required under this act. State, ex rel. Post, v. Benton, 31, 44 (47 N. W., 477).

299. Every bank, corporation, firm, or individual who shall fail or neglect to make any report required by the provisions of this act shall be subject to a penalty of fifty dollars ($50) for each day after the periods respectively therein mentioned that he or it delays to make and transmit such report, to be recovered by and for the state in a civil action; and every person who shall willfully and knowingly subscribe or make, or cause to be made, any false statement or false entries in the books of any bank, corporation, firm, or individual transacting a banking business, or shall knowingly subscribe or exhibit false papers with the intent to deceive any person or persons authorized to examine into the affairs of said bank, corporation, firm, or individual, or shall make, state, or publish any false statement of the amount of the capital assets, surplus, or undivided profits of any such corporation, firm, or individual, shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not exceeding ten thousand dollars ($10,000) and be imprisoned in the state penitentiary not less than one (1) nor more than five (5) years.

300. Every bank shall at all times have on hand as a reserve in available funds an amount equal to at least fifteen (15) per centum of the aggregate amount of its deposits and immediate liabilities, which said reserve shall be twenty (20) per centum in banks located in cities having a population of twenty-five thousand (25,000) or over; Provided, That savings banks, doing an exclusive savings bank business, shall have on hand, at all times, as a reserve, in available funds an amount equal to at least five (5) per cent of its deposits and immediate liabilities. The available funds shall consist of cash on hand and balances due the corporation, firm, or individual from good solvent banks. Immediate liabilities shall include all claims against the corporation payable on demand. Cash shall include specie, legal tender notes, bills of solvent banks, and exchange for any clearing house association. Whenever the available funds of any bank shall fall below the reserve herein required, such bank shall not increase its liabilities by making any new loans or discounts otherwise than by discounting or purchasing bills of exchange payable at sight; nor shall such bank make any dividends of its profits until it has on hand the available funds required by this act. The auditor of public accounts may notify any such bank, in case its reserve shall fall below the amount required, to make good such reserve without delay, and any failure for the period of thirty (30) days by such corporation, firm, or individual to make good any deficiency in the amount of his or its deposits required to be kept on hand, shall be cause for the appointment of a receiver as provided by section fourteen (14) of this act [304].

301. The total liabilities of any corporation, firm, or individual to any bank or corporation, firm or individual transacting a banking business, for money borrowed, including in the liabilities of a corporation or firm the liabilities of the several members thereof, shall at no time exceed twenty (20) per centum of the capital of the banking corporation, or firm or individual banker, and in no case shall the total liabilities of the stockholders of any bank or corporation transacting a banking business, to said bank or corporation, exceed fifty (50) per cent of the paid up capital of said bank or corporation. But the discount of bills of exchange drawn in good faith against actually existing values, and the discount of commercial paper actually owned by the person negotiating the same, shall not be considered as money borrowed.

302. No bank, corporation, firm, or individual engaged in the banking, broker, exchange, or deposit business shall accept or receive on deposit, with or without interest, any money, bank bills, or notes, or United States treasury notes or currency, or other notes, bills, or drafts, circulating as money or currency, when such bank or corporation, firm, or individual is insolvent.

303. [Penalty.]—If any such bank, corporation, firm, or individual shall receive or accept on deposit any such deposits as aforesaid when insolvent, any officer, director, cashier, manager, member, party, or managing party thereof who shall knowingly receive or accept, be accessory or permit, or connive at the receiving or accepting on deposit therein or thereby any such deposits as aforesaid, shall be guilty of a felony, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding ten thousand dollars ($10,000), or by imprisonment in the penitentiary not exceeding five (5) years, or by both fine and imprisonment as aforesaid.

304. Whenever it shall appear to the auditor of public accounts, state treasurer, and attorney general, or any two (2) of them, from any examination or report provided for by this act, that any corporation, firm, or individual transacting a banking business is the owner of property of the kind required by this act, of the cash value of less than the amount herein required, above all incumbrances thereon, and in excess of all liabilities due from said corporation, firm, or individual, or is conducting his or its business in an unsafe and unauthorized manner and is jeopardizing the interests of his or its depositors, and that it is unsafe and inexpedient for any such corporation, firm, or individual to continue to transact a banking business, they shall communicate the facts to the attorney general, who shall thereupon apply to the supreme court or the district court of the county where such corporation, firm, or individual has his or its banking office, or to a judge of either, for the appointment of a receiver to take charge of and wind up such banking business. It shall be sufficient to authorize the appointment of a receiver, on the application of the attorney general, that the facts set forth in this section shall be made to appear.

Supreme court may appoint a receiver to wind up a bank. State v. Commercial Bank, 28, 682 (44 N. W., 998). This act is not in conflict with the constitution. State v. Exchange Bank of Milligan, 34, 198 (51 N. W., 765). The receiver under order of the supreme court may take any steps necessary to secure possession of the assets of the bank. State v. Commercial & Savings Bank, — Neb., — (55 N. W., 640).

305. This act does not apply to banks organized under the national banking act of the United States.

306. Savings banks shall not be subject to the provisions of section one (1) of this act [291], but no savings bank shall carry on business in this state with a paid up capital of less than twelve thousand ($12,000) dollars, nor shall any savings bank receive deposits to an amount exceeding ten (10) times the aggregate of its paid up capital stock and surplus. Under the term savings bank as named in this act shall be included only such banks as do a savings bank business exclusively, paying out money only on presentation of pass books and certificates of deposit, discounting and buying no commercial paper, and reserving the right to demand notice before paying deposits.

CHAPTER 7.—CHATTEL MORTGAGES.

Secs. 307 to 315. "An act relating to the sale and transfer of personal property under mortgage." 1867 (Ter.), p. 9. In force February 18.

307. Every mortgage of personal property containing and giving to the mortgagee or any other person a power to sell the property described therein, upon default being made in any condition of such mortgage, may be foreclosed in the cases and in the manner hereinafter specified.

Need not be in writing. Conchman v. Wright, 8, 3. Mortgage must be filed in the county where the sale is to take place. Loeb & Hirsch v. Milner, 21, 399 (32 N. W., 205). To render chattel mortgage fraudulent, fraud must have been known to, or participated in by, mortgagee. Burley v. Marsh, 11, 291 (9 N. W., 48). Mortgagee entitled to possession upon default, but liable to account to mortgagor for surplus, and action for accounting not barred by a judgment in replevin against moetgagor. Lathrop v. Cheney, 29, 455 (45 N. W., 617). Whole instrument shall be construed together. Mortgagee cannot at any time declare himself unsafe and insecure unless some act is done to impair his security. Newlean & Hoard v. Olson, 22, 720 (36 N. W., 155). Mortgagee cannot withdraw original from files, and foreclose. Ward v. Watson, 24, 592 (39 N. W., 615). Though the property may be sold, yet the proceeds cannot be applied in payment of note until note becomes due. Loeb & Hirsch v. Milner, 21, 401 (32 N. W., 205). A certified copy of a mortgage filed is sufficient authority for taking possession. Hall v. Aitkin, 25, 360 (41 N. W., 192). An instrument in form a mortgage will not be held an assignment for creditors unless it creates a trust. Costello v. Chamberlain, 36, — (53 N. W., 1034). Mortgagee may sell to satisfy his debt. If he sell more he is liable for conversion. Omaha Auction & Storage Co. v. Rogers, 35, 61 (52 N. W., 826). A mortgage upon a growing crop is not constructive notice to third parties upon the harvested crop. Gillilan v. Kendall, 26, 82 (42 N. W., 281). But if the third party helped harvest the crop he is chargeable with notice. Fines v. Bolin, 36, — (54 N. W., 991). Failure to aver in petition to foreclose "that no proceedings at law have been had," must be raised before judgment. Henry & Coatsworth Co. v. Curdy, — Neb., — (55 N. W., 261).

308. To entitle any person to foreclose a chattel mortgage as hereinafter prescribed, it shall be requisite—1. That some default in a condition of such mortgage shall have occurred, by which the power to sell became operative. 2. That no suit or proceeding shall have been instituted at law to recover the debt then remaining secured by such mortgage or any part thereof, or if any suit or proceeding has been instituted that the same has been discontinued, or that an execution upon the judgment rendered thereon has been returned unsatisfied, in whole or in part, and 3. That such mortgage containing the power of sale has been duly recorded.

The circumstances and facts of the mortgagee's insecurity must be apparent to justify a foreclosure. A junior mortgage has a right to tender the amount due, and to redeem from a senior mortgage. Hull v. Godfrey, 31, 204 (47 N. W., 850). The security must be actually in danger; mere rumors or reports are not sufficient to base foreclosure on. Rector-Wilhelmy Co. v. Nissen, 35, 716 (53 N. W., 670).

309. Notice that such mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged property, or some part thereof, shall be given as follows: By advertisement published in some newspaper printed in the county in which such sale is to take place, or in case no newspapers are printed therein, by posting up notices in at least five public places in said county, two of which shall be in the precinct where the mortgaged property is to be offered for sale, and such notices shall be given at least twenty days prior to the day of sale.

Gillespie v. Brown & Ryan Bros., 16, 461 (20 N. W., 632).

310. Every such notice shall specify—1. The date of the mortgage and where recorded. 2. The names of the mortgagor and mortgagee, and the assignee of the mortgagee, if any. 3. The amount claimed to be due thereon at the time of the first publication or posting of such notice. 4. A description of the mortgaged property, conforming substantially with that contained in the mortgage. 5. The time and place of sale.

311. Such sale may be postponed from time to time by inserting a notice of such postponement, as soon as practicable, in the newspaper in which the original advertisement was publishad, and continuing such publication until the time to which the sale shall be postponed; or, in case no newspaper is published in the county in which such sale is to be had, by posting a notice of such adjournment in some conspicuous place, at the place designated in the original notice posted for such sale to be had.

This provision is mandatory; and unless the adjournment is for too short a time to permit, notice thereof must be published. Coad v. Home Cattle Co., 32, 777 (49 N. W., 757).

312. Such sale shall be at public auction, in the day time, between the hours of 10 A. M. and 4 P. M., in the county where the mortgage was first recorded, or in any county where the property may have been removed by consent of parties, and in which the mortgage was duly recorded, and in view of said property.

313. The mortgagee, his assignees, and his or their legal representatives, may, fairly and in good faith, purchase any of the mortgaged property offered at such sale.

314. When a mortgage shall have been foreclosed, as herein provided, any and all right of equity of redemption which the mortgagor may or might have had shall be and become extinguished.

315. That any person who, after having conveyed any article of personal property to another by mortgage, shall, during the existence of the lien or title created by such mortgage, sell, transfer, or in any manner dispose of the said personal property, or any part thereof, so mortgaged, to any person or body corporate, without first procuring the consent, in writing, of the owner and holder of the debt secured by said mortgage to any such sale, transfer, or disposal, shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined in any sum not less than one hundred dollars, or imprisoned in the penitentiary for a term not less than one year nor more than ten years, or both fine and imprisonment, at the discretion of the court.

Wording changed and penalty raised from $500, 1877, p. 5. Again amended 1889, omitting clause relating to removal, p. 386.

Sec. 316. "An act to prevent the fraudulent removal out of the county of mortgaged personal property and to provide a penalty for the violation of this act." 1885, p. 108. In force March 7.

316. That any person who, after having conveyed any article of personal property to another by mortgage, shall, during the existence of the lien or title created by such mortgage, remove, permit, or cause to be removed, said mortgaged property, or any part thereof, out of the county within which such property was situated at the time such mortgage was given thereon, with intent to deprive the owner or owners of said mortgage of his security, shall be deemed guilty of felony, and on conviction thereof shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary for a term not exceeding ten years, and be fined in a sum not exceeding one thousand dollars.

For filing and fraudulent conveyances, see post, 1796.

CHAPTER 8.—CIVIL RIGHTS.

Secs. 317 and 318. "An act to provide that all persons shall be entitled to the same civil rights, to punish all persons for violations of its provisions, to repeal sections 317 and 318, known as Chapter 8, Civil Rights, Consolidated Statutes of Nebraska of 1891, as heretofore existing, and to repeal all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act." 1893, ch. 10, p. —. In force March 17.

317. All persons within this state shall be entitled to a full and equal enjoyment of the accommodations, advantages, facilities and privileges of inns, restaurants, public conveyances, barber shops, theaters, and other places of amusement, subject only to the conditions and limitations established by law and applicable alike to every person.

318. Any person who shall violate the foregoing section by denying to any person, except for reasons by law applicable to all persons, the full enjoyment of any of the accommodations, advantages, facilities, or privileges enumerated in the foregoing section, or by aiding or inciting such denials, shall for each offense be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and be fined in any sum not less than twenty-five (25) dollars, nor more than one hundred (100) dollars, and to pay the costs of the prosecution.

This is a copy of the old act with the word "restaurant" added, and reducing the penalty from $200. The original act was held valid as to citizens; barber shops cannot discriminate against persons on account of color. Messenger v. State, 25, 677 (41 N. W., 638).

CHAPTER 9.—CORPORATIONS.

I. GENERAL PROVISIONS.

Secs. 319 to 335 formed secs. 54 to 71, except sec. 60, ch. 25, R. S. 1866, p. 208.

319. All companies now incorporated in this state, and actually doing business, may accept any of the provisions of this chapter, and when so accepted, and a certified copy of their acceptance filed with the secretary of the state, that portion of their charters inconsistent with the provisions of this chapter is hereby repealed. All companies hereafter incorporated, or accepting the provisions of this chapter, except those named in the fortieth section of this chapter, are required to make and publish, in some newspaper of general circulation in the county where the principal office is located, an annual exhibit, showing a full, fair, and detailed statement of the condition of such company, which statement shall be verified by the oath of the president, secretary, and clerk.

320. No company or association incorporated under the provisions of this chapter shall employ its stock, means, assets, or other property, directly or indirectly, for any other purpose whatever than to accomplish the legitimate object of its creation.

321. The board of directors or trustees of any company heretofore incorporated, or which may hereafter be formed under any law of this state, may, with the written consent of the persons in whose name a majority of the shares of the capital stock thereof shall stand on the books of said company, reduce the amount of the said capital stock, and the nominal value of all the shares thereof, and issue certificates therefor; Provided, That the rights of creditors shall not be affected or in anywise impaired by the reduction of the capital stock of any such corporation.

322. Whenever any joint stock company hereafter incorporated for the purpose of erecting any public improvement in this state, whose charter may be limited as to the time of completion of said improvement, and when any such company has been legally organized, and has actually commenced and has in progress toward completion such public improvement, it shall be lawful for any such company to have further time allowed for the final completion of said work, as is hereinafter provided.

323. Upon petition being filed by the directors of any corporation, in the district court of the county in which the principal office of such corporation is located, and upon giving thirty days' notice, by publication in a newspaper of general circulation in said county, of the object and prayer of such petition, said court shall, at any regular term after the publication of said notice, upon good cause shown, decree the extension of the time for the completion of said improvement, to such period as shall appear to such court just and reasonable.

324. Whenever any company, association, or society heretofore or hereafter incorporated shall have failed to elect its officers at the time designated, it shall be lawful for any such company, association, or society to call a meeting and elect its officers, who shall hold the respective offices until the time specified for the annual or other fixed time for holding such election; and when any incorporated company heretofore organized, or that may be hereafter organized under the provisions of this chapter, shall have a specified time fixed for its annual meeting, a majority of the stockholders in interest may, at any regular annual meeting, change the time of the annual meeting thereof.

Sec. 325 is now 704*a*, post.

326. Upon the dissolution, by the expiration of the term of its charter, or otherwise, of any corporation now existing, or hereafter created, and unless other persons be appointed by the legislature, or by some court of competent authority, the directors or managers of the affairs of such corporation, acting last before the time of its dissolution, by whatever name they may be known in law, and survivors of them, shall be the trustees of the creditors and stockholders of the corporation dissolved, and shall have full power to settle the affairs of the same, collect and pay the outstanding debts, and divide among the stockholders the moneys and property that shall remain, in proportion to the stock of each stockholder paid up, after the payment of debts and necessary expenses; and the persons so constituted trustees shall have authority to sue for and recover the debts and property of the dissolved corporation, by the name of the trustees of such corporation, describing it by its corporate name, and shall be jointly and severally responsible to the creditors and stockholders of such corporation, to the extent of its property and effects that shall come into their hands; and no suit against any such corporation shall abate in consequence of such dissolution, and said trustees may be made parties thereto by scire facias; and all liens of judgment and decrees of any courts of chancery, existing at the time of such dissolution, either in favor of or against such corporation, shall continue in force in the same manner as if such dissolution had not taken place; Provided, That in case of the death, resignation, inability, or refusal to act, of the directors or managers aforesaid, or the survivors thereof, the district court of the proper county may, on the application of any person interested, appoint trustees to fill the vacancy, with full power to perform the duties aforesaid.

327. No suit or action, either at law or in chancery, pending in any court, in favor of or against any banking or other corporation, shall be discontinued or abate by the dissolution of such corporation, whether such dissolution occur by the expiration of its charter or otherwise; but all such suits or actions may, in all courts of justice, be prosecuted by the creditors, assigns, receivers, or trustees having the legal charge of the assets of such dissolved corporation, to final judgment or decree, in the corporate name of such dissolved corporation.

328. Upon all judgments and decrees in favor of or against any such corporation, whether such judgments or decrees exist at the time of the dissolution of such corporations or are obtained afterwards, in suits or actions pending at the time of such dissolution, execution may be had, and satisfaction or performance of the same be enforced by the creditors, assigns, receivers, or trustees having the legal charge of the assets of such dissolved corporation, in the corporate name of such dissolved corporation.

329. The title of all real estate belonging to any such corporation shall, at the time of the dissolution of the same, pass to the trustees of such corporation, who shall have full power and authority to sell and dispose of any such real estate, in such manner and upon such terms as may be thought best for the interest of the creditors and stockholders, and upon any such sale to make a good and sufficient title therefor.

330. The trustees of any such dissolved corporation shall be subject to the control of the court of chancery, and be liable to be sued by petition in chancery, on behalf of any person interested, on account of any neglect or omission of duty or abuse of trust; and in case of the removal of any such trustee by such court for an abuse of trust, such court shall have the power and authority to appoint a suitable person to fill the vacancy; and any such trustee may for reasonable cause, upon the application of any creditor or stockholder, be required by the district court to give bond and security in such amount and subject to such conditions as the court may direct.

331. Any corporation created by this chapter may, at any time after its dissolution, whether such dissolution occur by the expiration of its charter or otherwise, prosecute any suit at law or in equity, in and by the corporate name of such dissolved corporation, for the use of the party entitled to receive the proceeds of any such suit, upon any and all causes of action accrued, or which, but for such dissolution, would have accrued in favor of such corporation, in the same manner and with the like effect as if such corporation were not dissolved.

332. Any such dissolved corporation may be sued at law or in equity, in and by its corporate name, for or upon any cause of action accrued, or which, but for such dissolution, would have accrued against such corporation in the same manner and with the like effect as if such corporation were not dissolved, and all process by which any suit, either at law or in equity, may be instituted against any such dissolved corporation, may be served by the sheriff or any other proper officer, by delivering to any one of the assignees, trustees, receivers, or persons having charge of the assets of such dissolved corporation a copy thereof, or by leaving such copy at the residence of any such assignee, trustee, receiver, or person having charge of such assets.

333. Judgments and decrees in favor of or against any such dissolved corporation, whether such judgments and decrees were rendered before or after such dissolution, and which have heretofore or may at any time hereafter become dormant, may be revived in favor of or against such dissolved corporation, as the case may be, in and by the corporate name of such dissolved corporation, in the same manner and with the like effect as if such corporation were not dissolved; and in all cases of judgment or decrees against any such corporation the writ of scire facias, or other proper process, shall be served in the manner prescribed in the preceding section for the process in suits against dissolved corporations.

334. Writs of error upon judgments at law may be sued out, and bills of review in chancery may be exhibited, in favor of or against any such dissolved corporation, and by its corporate name in the same manner and with the like effect as if such corporation were not dissolved, and process thereon against any such dissolved corporation shall be served in the manner prescribed in this subdivision.

335. Nothing in this chapter contained shall at any time be construed as extending or reviving the charter of any banking or other corporation dissolved either by affluxion of time or otherwise, for any other purpose than that of judicial proceedings, in favor of or against the same.

Secs. 336 to 357 formed secs. 123 to 144, ch. 25, R. S. 1866, p. 232.

336. Any number of persons may be associated and incorporated for the transaction of any lawful business, including the construction of canals, railways, bridges, and other works of internal improvement.

Lincoln Building & Saving Association v. Graham, 7, 177.

337. Every corporation, as such, has power: First—To have succession by its corporate name. Second—To sue and be sued, to complain and defend in courts of law and equity. Third—To make and use a common seal, and alter the same at pleasure. Fourth—To hold personal estate, and all such real estate as may be necessary for the legitimate business of the corporation. Fifth—To render the interest of the stockholders transferable. Sixth—To appoint such subordinate officers and agents as the business of the corporation shall require, and to allow them a suitable compensation therefor. Seventh—To make by-laws, not inconsistent with any existing law, for the management of its affairs.

Statutory enumeration of corporate powers implies exclusion of all others. State v. A. & N. R. R. Co., 24, 144 (38 N. W., 43). Corporation cannot appropriate geographical word "Nebraska" as part of its trade name. Neb. Loan & Trust Co. v. Nine, 27, 514 (43 N. W., 348). Conveyance in name of president. Zoller v. Ide, 1, 439. See Lincoln Building & Saving Association v. Graham, 7, 176.

338. The powers enumerated in the preceding section shall vest in every corporation in this state, whether the same be formed without or by legislative enactment, although they may not be specified in its charter, or as articles of association.

See Palmer v. People, 4, 73.

339. Every corporation, previous to the commencement of any business, except its own organization, when the same is not formed by legislative enactment, must adopt articles of incorporation, and have them recorded in the office of the county clerk of the county or counties in which the business is to be transacted, in a book kept for that purpose.

340. Corporations for the construction of works of internal improvement must also file in the office of the secretary of state a copy of their articles of association, and the same shall be recorded in a book kept for that purpose.

341. The articles of incorporation must fix the highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which the corporation shall, at any one time, be subject, which must in no case exceed two-thirds of the capital stock; Provided, however, That the above limitation shall not apply to debts for the risks of insurance companies, deposits in banks, and the notes, bonds, or debentures of any loan or trust company organized under the provisions of this chapter, where the payment of such notes, bonds, or debentures shall be secured by the actual transfer of real estate, by trust deed, or mortgage, for the payment of such notes, bonds, or debentures, which said real estate so transferred shall be of twice the value of the par value of such notes, bonds, or debentures; Provided, further, That said limitation shall not apply to any loan or trust company's guarantee for the payment after transfer of any notes, bonds, or debentures, where the same is secured by trust deed, or mortgage as above stated.

Provision relative to bank deposits added 1869, p. 79; that regarding loan companies, 1887, p. 336.

342. If any corporation hereafter created by the legislature shall not organize within one year after its incorporation, its corporate powers shall cease.

343. Notice must be published in some newspaper near the principal place of business, for four weeks.

344. Such notice shall contain: First—The name of the corporation. Second—The principal place of transacting its business. Third—The general nature of the business to be transacted. Fourth—The amount of capital stock authorized, and the time and conditions on which it is to be paid in. Fifth—The time of commencement and termination of the corporation. Sixth—The highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which the corporation is at any time to subject itself. Seventh—By what officers the affairs of the corporation are to be conducted.

345. Any corporation formed without legislative enactment may commence business as soon as its articles of incorporation are filed by the county clerks of the counties, as required by this subdivision, and shall be valid if a copy of its articles be filed in the office of the secretary of state, and the notice required be published within four months from the time of filing such articles in the clerk's office.

346. Every change in any of the above matters shall be recorded and published in the same manner as the original articles are required by law.

347. No corporation can be dissolved by the members thereof except by consent of two-thirds of all its members, which consent must be entered on its records, unless a different rule has been adopted in its articles of incorporation.

348. A copy of the by-laws of the corporation, and the names of all the officers appended thereto, must be posted in some conspicuous place, at the places of doing business, subject to public inspection.

349. Every corporation hereafter created shall give notice annually, in some newspaper printed in the county or counties in which the business is transacted, and in case there is no newspaper printed therein, then in the nearest paper in the state, of the amount of all existing debts of the corporation, which notice shall be signed by the president and a majority of the directors, and if any corporation shall fail to do so, after the assets of the corporation are first exhausted, then all the stockholders of the corporation shall be jointly and severally liable for all the debts of the corporation then existing, and for all that shall be contracted before such notice is given, *to the extent of the unpaid subscription of any stockholder to the capital stock of such corporation, and in addition thereto the amount of capital stock owned by such individuals.

* to * and all after * added 1891, p. 199. Applies to railroads. White v. Blum, 4, 561. The debts referred to in this section and section 352 are debts arising upon contract, and not damages for torts. Doolittle v. Marsh, 11, 244 (9 N. W., 54). See Smith v. Schmitz, 10,603 (7 N. W., 329); White v. Blum, 4, 561. Action against stockholders is quasi-penal only, and not barred in one year, the limitation being the same as in other contracts. Howell v. Roberts, 29, 487 (45 N. W., 923). Coy v. Jones, 30, 798 (47 N. W., 208). Stockholders of a bank are not liable for debts contracted before the bank was in default under this section. Porter v. Sherman County Bank, 36, — (54 N. W., 426).

350. It shall be lawful for any corporation to convey lands by deed, sealed by the common seal of said corporation, and signed by the president or presiding officer of the board of directors of the corporation; and such deed, when acknowledged by such officer to be an act of the corporation, or proved in the usual form, prescribed for other conveyances for lands, shall be recorded in the clerk's office of the county in which the lands lie, in like manner as other deeds.

Corporation which has made a loan cannot avoid the conveyance until it has repaid the money loaned. Cook v. Kuhn, 1, 473.

351. All corporations may sue for and recover from their respective members in any court of competent jurisdiction, all arrears or other debts due, or other demands which now are or hereafter may be owing to them, in like manner as they might sue for and recover the same from any indifferent person who might be a member, any law, usage, or custom to the contrary notwithstanding.

But the full amount of stock must be taken before a liability arises. Hale v. Sanborn & Follet, 16, 1 (20 N. W., 97). Hards v. Platte Valley Improvement Co., 35, 263 (53 N. W., 73).

352. If any corporation fail to comply, substantially, with the provisions of this subdivision, in relation to giving notice and other requisitions of organization, * after the assets of corporation are first exhausted, then* the property of any stockholder shall be liable for the corporate debts, *to the extent of the unpaid subscription of any stockholder to the capital stock of such corporation, and in addition thereto the amount of capital stock owned by such individual.

* to * and all after * added 1891, p. 199. When provisions of the statute not complied with, property of all the stockholders shall be liable for the corporate debts. Abbott v. Omaha Smelting Co., 4, 425. Applies only to indebtedness contracted during the time the officers are in default of publishing the notice required. Smith v. Steele, 8, 118. See White v. Blum, 4, 561.

353. If any deception be practiced by any corporation upon the public or individuals, in relation to its means or liabilities, all those engaged in such deception shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars; and any person injured by such deception may recover double the amount of damages he may have sustained by reason of the same, in any court having jurisdiction of the amount claimed.

354. A division of the funds of a corporation, for other purposes than those mentioned in the act granting the charter and the payment of dividends, which have insufficient funds to meet the liabilities of the corporation, shall be deemed a violation of the provisions of this subdivision, and subject those engaged therein to the penalties herein prescribed.

355. Any violation of the provisions of this subdivision shall cause a forfeiture of all the privileges conferred by the same, and the court may proceed to close the affairs of the corporation by an information for that purpose.

Repeated and willful acts of misuser or nonuser, which are of the essence of the contract between the corporation and the state, constitute a just ground of forfeiture of the franchise State v. C., B. & N. Ferry Co., 11, 354 (9 N. W., 563).

356. Corporations whose charters expire by their own limitation, or by the voluntary acts of the stockholders, may continue to act for the purpose of closing their business, but for no other purpose.

357. No body of men acting as a corporation under the provisions of this subdivision shall be permitted to set up the want of legal organization as a defense to any action brought against them as a corporation; nor shall any person sued on a contract made with such corporation, or for an injury to the property of such corporation, be permitted to set up the want of legal organization in defense of such action.

II. MONEYED CORPORATIONS.

Building and Loan Associations.

Secs. 359 to 362. "An act to enable associations of persons for raising funds to be loaned among their members for building them homesteads and other purposes to become bodies corporate." In force February 18, 1873. G. S., 207.

359. Any number of persons, not less than five, may associate themselves together and become a corporation as provided in chapter twenty-five of the Revised Statutes, commencing at section 123 of said chapter [336] under the title of "Corporations," for the purpose of raising moneys to be loaned among the members of such corporation, for use in buying lots or houses, or in building or repairing or removing incumbrances from houses; and such corporation shall be authorized and empowered to levy, assess, and collect from its members such sums of money, by rates of stated dues, fines, interest on loans advanced, and premiums bid by members for the right of precedence in taking loans, as the corporation, by its by-laws, shall adopt; also to acquire, hold, encumber, and convey all such real estate and personal property as may be legitimately pledged to it on such loans, or may otherwise be transferred to it in the due course of its business; Provided, That the dues, fines, and premiums so paid by members of such corporation, although in excess of twelve per cent per annum, on loans taken by them, shall not be construed to make the loans so taken usurious; And provided, also, That no person shall hold more than ten shares in any such association in his own right, each share not to exceed two hundred dollars.

360. All stockholders of any such association shall be deemed and held liable to any amount equal to their stock subscribed, or by them at any time held in addition to said stock, for the purpose of securing the creditors of said association.

361. All contracts and loans made by any corporation or association already formed and now in existence in this state, under and by virtue of said chapter twenty-five of the Revised Statutes [ch. 9, this stat.], to and with any member of said corporation or association, and not inconsistent with the laws of this state, nor anything in this act contained, are hereby declared to be legal and binding contracts between said corporation or association and the members thereof so contracting; and the securities given by said members upon said contract or loan to said corporation or association, for the security of any loan, fine, or forfeiture, according to the terms and conditions of said security or contract, therein referred to, and not inconsistent with any law of this state or in this act contained, is hereby declared to be a legal, valid, and binding security, and contract in law in the hands of said corporation or association and with the party making the same, notwithstanding a greater rate of interest than twelve per cent per annum may have been contracted for or reserved in said contract.

362. That in all corporations or associations now formed and in existence in this state, and doing business in this state, which said corporation or association have made loans to any of its members and taken securities therefor in pursuance of their constitution and by-laws, that any payment made after the passage of this act, by any member of said corporation or association, of any dues, forfeitures, or fines which may be due to said corporation or association according to the terms of the contract between said corporation or association and said member to said corporation or association, shall be deemed in law a waiver of anything in said contract or loan that might be deemed usurious in the same under the laws of this state at the time the same was made and securities given, and a ratification of said loan or contract, and of its present and future legality between said parties, as now existing under and by virtue of this act.

Secs. 363 to 380. "An act to provide a law for the government, regulation, examination, reporting, and winding up of the business of associations hereafter incorporated under the laws of this state, which shall be organized within this state for the purpose of raising a fund by the collection of dues or stated payments from its members to be loaned among its members," etc.* 1891, p. 201. In force April 4. (Coulter Law.)

363. Any association of not less than five persons, hereafter incorporated under the laws of this state, which shall be organized within this state for the purpose of raising a fund by the collection of dues or stated payments from its members, to be loaned among its members, shall, in furtherance of such purpose, and after having complied with the requirements of this act, be authorized and empowered to levy, assess, and collect from its members such sums of money, by rates of stated dues, fines, interest on loans advanced, and premiums bid by members for the right of precedence in taking loans, as the corporation may provide for in its constitution or by-laws, also, to acquire, hold, and convey all such real estate and personal property as may be legitimately pledged to it upon said loans, or may otherwise be transferred to it in the due course of its business (subject, however, to the limitations hereinafter named). The words "Loan and Building Association," "Building Association," or "Building and Loan Association" shall form part of the corporate name of every such corporation.

364. Every such association hereafter formed shall adopt a constitution which shall substantially give effect to the provisions of this act, and shall also adopt such by-laws for the government and management of its business as it shall deem proper; Provided, The same shall not be inconsistent with this act, and shall not contravene the laws or constitution of this state, or the United States, and may alter and amend the same from time to time in such manner as may be provided by its articles of incorporation. Such constitution shall contain equitable provisions, permitting any shareholder wishing to do so to withdraw from the association, in manner as follows: After three months from date of issue of the certificate of shares, a shareholder, or the legal representative of a deceased shareholder, wishing to withdraw from the said corporation, shall have the power to do so by giving thirty days' notice of such intention to withdraw, such notice being given in writing at the regular meeting of the board of directors. At the first regular meeting after the expiration of the thirty days' notice, or at any time thereafter, the member so withdrawing, or, if deceased, his legal representative, shall be entitled to receive, on demand, the amount paid in by him or her, less the admission fee and expense charges and such rate of interest as the by-laws may determine, less all fines and other charges. Should there have been, however, a net loss instead of a net gain, then such withdrawing shareholder shall receive the actual amount paid in, less his proportion of such net loss. At no time, however, shall more than one-half of the unloaned funds in the treasury of the corporation be applicable to the demands of the withdrawing shareholders without the consent of the board of directors. No shareholder shall be entitled to withdraw whose stock is pledged as security for a loan, either from the association or from any other party. It shall contain equitable provisions permitting the payment of loans before maturity, and for crediting borrowing members who have paid premiums in advance and who repay their loans before maturity, with an equitable share of the premiums paid by them. Such constitution shall also provide that if any member has become delinquent in his payments on any shares to an amount equal to the payments due thereon for any period named therein (not, however, less than three nor more than twelve months), such shares shall be canceled, and he shall, as to such shares, cease to be a member, and shall become a debtor or creditor of such association as the case may be, and it shall make equitable provisions for crediting such member with the same amount as if he had voluntarily withdrawn from the association, and if any sum be due him after deducting fines and losses, if any, to date of cancellation, it shall, if he be a borrower, be credited on his loan, and if he be not a borrower it shall be held subject to his order. Such constitution may, within the limits aforesaid, fix different periods for the cancellation of shares of borrowers and non-borrowers, and may also, within said limits, leave the period for cancellation, wholly or in part, to the discretion of the board of directors.

365. A copy of the articles of incorporation, constitution, and by-laws of every such association shall be filed in the office of the auditor of public accounts, who shall, with the state treasurer and attorney general, examine the same carefully and if they, or any two of them, shall find that they conform with the requirements of this act and contain a just and equitable plan for the management of the association's business, they, or any two of them, shall issue to such association a certificate of their approval of such constitution and by-laws; but if they, or any two of them, find their provisions to be unjust or inequitable or oppressive to any class of shareholders, they shall withhold their approval. It shall not be lawful for any association hereafter organized within this state for the purposes set forth in section 1 of this act [363] to transact any business except the execution of its articles of incorporation, the adoption of a constitution and by-laws, and the election of directors and officers, until it shall have procured the certificate of approval above provided for, nor shall any amendment of the articles of incorporation, constitution, or by-laws of any such association become operative until a copy of the same shall have been filed and a certificate of approval obtained as above provided in regard to original articles of incorporation, constitution, and by-laws.

366. No loan shall be made by such association except to its own members, nor shall any loan be made to any member of any sum in excess of the par value of his stock, and the association shall have a lien on as many of the borrower's shares as shall equal at their face value the nominal amount of the loan; good and ample real estate security unincumbered, except by prior liens held by such association, shall also be given by the borrower; Provided, however, That the stock of such association may be received as security for a loan of the amount of the withdrawal value of such stock without other security. No evidence of indebtedness taken by such association for the return of any such loan shall be negotiable in form, and, whatever be its form, every such evidence of indebtedness shall be non-negotiable in law, and no such debt, or evidence of debt, shall be assignable or transferable in any manner so as to prevent the discharge thereof by payment made to the association.

367. Such associations may purchase, hold, lease, and convey real estate for the following purposes, and no other: 1st. Such as it may need to occupy as a place of business. 2nd. Such as shall in good faith be conveyed to it in satisfaction of debts previously contracted in the ordinary course of business. 3rd. Such as it shall purchase at sales under judgments, decrees, or mortgages held by the association, or shall purchase in good faith to secure debts due to it. But no such association shall hold the title and possession of any real estate longer than three years, except for the first purpose above named. Nothing in this section shall be construed to forbid the mortgaging of real estate to such association.

368. Shares of stock in any such association may be subscribed for, held, transferred, surrendered, withdrawn, and forfeited, and payments thereon received and receipted for, by any minor over the age of fourteen years, in the same manner and with the same binding effect as though such person were of full age, except that the said minor, or his estate, shall not be bound on his subscription to stock except to the extent of payments actually made thereon. A trustee or guardian may acquire, hold, transfer, and withdraw and receive all moneys due upon shares in such associations for the use and account of any minor; but before he shall be permitted to withdraw, transfer, or receive payment upon any shares so held, such trustee or guardian shall file with the county judge where such association is located a bond for twice the value of the shares withdrawn, transferred, or money received, which bond shall be approved by said judge and shall be conditioned upon his faithfully accounting for the proceeds of the shares withdrawn, transferred, or money received, and the use thereof, and paying the same to said minor at his or her majority.

369. Such associations shall not be subject to taxation on their capital stock, nor on their loans, advances, or mortgages, but shares in said association shall, for the purposes of taxation, be considered and held as credits, and members and holders of such shares shall list the same for taxation, and the same shall be taxed in such manner and subject to such deductions as may be provided by law for the taxation of other credits. The real estate of such associations shall be subject to taxation in the same manner as provided by law in the case of other corporations and individuals.

370. The fees, dues, fines, interest, premiums, and other payments of money made, contracted for, or required to be made, by any member of such association, by virtue of or in conformity with the provisions of its constitution and by-laws, though the same may aggregate a greater amount, taking into account all the terms and conditions of payment to and from such member, than is or may be allowed by the laws of this state to be taken or collected as interest on ordinary contracts for the payment of money, shall not make any such payment or contract therefor usurious, but all such contracts may be enforced, and such fees, dues, fines, interest, premiums, and payments collected in the same manner as other debts on contracts not usurious; Provided, That the certificate of approval provided for in section 4 of this act [365], issued to such association, shall be conclusive evidence of such compliance with the requirements of this act as to entitle it to the benefits of this section; Provided, further, That no association hereafter formed within this state, except such as hold such certificate of approval, shall be exempt from the operation of the usury law of this state.

371. Every such association shall, annually, and at such other times as required by the auditor of public accounts, state treasurer, and attorney general, or any two of them, file in the office of the auditor of public accounts a statement, verified by the oath of its president or secretary and approved by three of its directors, in such form as may be prescribed by the auditor of public accounts, setting forth its actual financial condition and the amount of its assets and liabilities, and furnishing such other information as to its affairs as the auditor of public accounts may require, and a copy of such annual statement shall be published in a newspaper of general circulation in the county where such association is located, three consecutive times, and due proof of such publication by affidavit shall be filed with the auditor of public accounts. Whenever the constitution of an association fixes a date for the close of its fiscal year, the annual report of such associations * shall show its condition at such date; in all other cases such report shall show the condition of the association at the close of the calendar year, and no other or further notice or statement of the amount of the existing debts of such corporation shall be required to be published or given. The auditor of public accounts, state treasurer, and attorney general, or any two of them, shall have power to call for special reports from any such association, whenever in their judgment the same may be necessary or advisable. Any association failing to comply with the provisions of this section shall forfeit its charter rights.

372. Every person who shall willfully or knowingly subscribe, or make or cause to be made, any false statement or false entries in any books of any association organized for the purposes set forth in section one (1) of this act [363], or exhibit false papers with the intent to deceive any person authorized to examine into the affairs of such association, or shall make, state, or publish any false statement of the financial condition of such association, shall be deemed guilty of a felony; and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not exceeding ten thousand ($10,000) dollars and be imprisoned in the state penitentiary not less than one (1) nor more than five (5) years.

373. The person or persons appointed under the laws of this state to make an examination of corporations, firms, or individuals doing a banking business shall make an examination and report of every association organized under the laws of this state for the purposes named in section one (1) of this act [363], as often as shall be deemed necessary and proper and at least once a year, and the rights, powers, duties, privileges, and compensation of such person or persons in connection with such examinations, shall be the same as is or may be provided by law with reference to examinations of banks and corporations, firms, or individuals transacting a banking business; and such association shall pay the same fees for such examinations as is or may be provided by law in case of the examinations of banks.

374. Whenever it shall appear to the auditor of public accounts, state treasurer, attorney general, or any two of them, from any examination or report provided for by this act, that any building, homestead, or other association organized under the laws of this state for the purposes set forth in section one (1) of this act [363], is conducting its business in an unsafe or unauthorized manner, or is jeopardizing the interests of its members, or that it is unsafe for such association to transact business, they shall communicate such facts to the attorney general, who shall thereupon apply to the supreme court or to the district court of the county where such association is located, or to a judge of either of said courts, for the appointment of a receiver to take charge of and wind up the business of such association; and if such fact or facts be made to appear, it shall be sufficient to authorize the appointment of a receiver and the making of such orders and decrees in such cases as equity may require.

375. It shall be unlawful for any corporation hereafter organized under the laws of this state to use the words "Loan and Building Association" or "Building and Loan Association" as a part of its corporate name unless it shall have complied substantially with the requirements of this act; and every such corporation using such words unlawfully as part of its corporate name shall be fined, at the discretion of the court, in any sum not exceeding twenty-five ($25) dollars for each day it shall so unlawfully use such words as part of its corporate name.

376. Any association now organized in conformity to existing laws of this state for the purposes set forth in section one (1) of this act [363], which shall voluntarily comply with all the requirements of this act, shall be entitled to all the benefits and privileges herein granted; any such association now organized shall be required to comply with the provisions of this act in the following particulars: It shall, within ninety days after this act shall have become a law, file with the auditor of public accounts a certified copy of its articles of incorporation, constitution, and by-laws, shall make and publish reports in full compliance with section ten (10) hereof [371], shall be subject to examination in all respects as provided in section twelve (12) hereof [373], and its affairs may be wound up in the manner provided in section thirteen (13) of this act [374], and before any amendment to either its articles of incorporation, constitution, or by-laws, hereafter made, shall become operative, a copy of such amendment shall be filed with the auditor of public accounts; and the auditor, together with the state treasurer and attorney general, shall examine the same, and if they or any two of them shall find that such amendment does not introduce any unjust or inequitable feature or provision, they or any two of them shall issue their certificate of approval and such amendment shall become valid; but if they or any two of them withhold such certificate, such amendment shall be of no effect.

377. [Foreign Association.]—Every corporation, company, or association contemplating doing business in this state and having for a part of its title or name the words "Loan and Building Association," "Building and Loan Association," "Savings and Loan Association," or "Co-operative Bank, Saving, and Investment Company," and every corporation, company, or association whose stock is payable by an accumulating fund in regular or stated periodical installments, and every corporation, company, or association doing a business in a form and character similar to that authorized to be done by section one (1) of this act [363], shall, if organized or incorporated in any country, state, or territory other than the state of Nebraska, be known in this act as a foreign building and loan association.

378. It shall not be lawful for any foreign building and loan association, directly or indirectly, to transact any business in this state without first procuring a certificate of approval and authorization from the auditor of public accounts, state treasurer, and attorney general, or any two of them. Before obtaining such certificate such foreign building and loan association shall furnish the auditor with a statement sworn to by the president or secretary of the association, which statement shall show: The name and locality of the association and itemized account of its actual financial condition and the amount of its property and liabilities, the amount and number of shares subscribed, the amount which has been paid in on such shares, the number of shares redeemed, the estimated cash value of each share of its stock, and all such other information touching its affairs as said officers, or any two of them, may require. Such foreign building and loan association shall also file with the auditor of public accounts a certified copy of the laws of the state, territory, or government under which it is incorporated, and of its charter or articles of incorporation and of its constitution and by-laws and all amendments thereto, and shall appoint an attorney in each county in which it transacts or solicits business who shall be a resident of such county, and shall file with the auditor of public accounts a written instrument, duly signed and sealed, authorizing such attorney of such associations to acknowledge service of process in behalf of such association, consenting that service of process, mesne or final, upon such attorney shall be taken and held as valid as if served upon the association according to the laws of this or any other state, and waiving all claim or right of error by reason of such acknowledgment of service. If after examination of such statements and certified copies of instruments, and after said association shall have complied with the requirements of this act as to the appointment of an attorney or attorneys, the auditor of public accounts, state treasurer, and attorney general, or any two of them, shall be satisfied that such association is solvent and that the capital and investments are secure, and that the laws, charters, articles of incorporation, constitution, and by-laws governing it afford as ample protection to the interests of its members as is afforded by the laws of this state to members of associations hereafter incorporated under the laws of the state of Nebraska for the purpose mentioned in section one of this act, then the auditor of public accounts, state treasurer, and attorney general, or any two of them, may grant such association a certificate of approval authorizing it to transact business till the 31st day of January of the ensuing year, in those counties of this state in which it shall have appointed a resident attorney as above provided.

379. The statements required of foreign building and loan associations shall be renewed annually in January in such manner as required by this act and shall be made at such other times as the auditor of public accounts, state treasurer, and attorney general, or any two of them, may deem it expedient to demand the same, and the auditor of public accounts, state treasurer, and attorney general, or any two of them, may at any time revoke the certificate of approval and authorization of any such association for cause.

380. [Unauthorized Business—Penalty.]—Any person doing business or attempting to do business in this state for any foreign building and loan association which shall not at the time be the holder of a valid certificate of approval and authorization, as provided for in section seventeen (17) of this act [378], shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in any sum not exceeding one thousand ($1,000) dollars, or imprisoned in the county jail not more than thirty days, or both, at the discretion of the court.

Insurance Companies.

I. ORGANIZATION, ETC.

Secs. 381 to 419. "An act regulating insurance companies." In force June 1, 1873. G. S. p. 429.

381. That hereafter, when any number of persons associate themselves together for the purpose of forming an insurance company, for any other purpose than life insurance, under the provisions of chapter twenty-five of the Revision of 1866, and all acts amendatory and supplementary thereto, they shall publish a notice of such intention once in each week, for four weeks, in some public newspaper in the county in which such insurance company is proposed to be located; and they shall also make a certificate under their hand, specifying the name assumed by such company and by which it shall be known, the object for which said company shall be formed, the amount of its capital stock, and the place where the principal office of said company shall be located, which certificate shall be acknowledged before and certified by some notary public, or clerk of court of record, and forwarded to the auditor of state, who shall submit the same to the attorney general of state for examination, and if it shall be found by the attorney general of state to be in accordance with the provisions of this act, and not in conflict with the constitution and laws of the United States and this state, he shall make certificate of the facts and return it to the auditor of state, who shall reject the name or title applied for by any company when he shall deem the same too similar to any one already appropriated by any other company, or likely to mislead the public.

382. When the said certificate of the said company shall have received the approval of the attorney of state and auditor of state, the said company shall cause the same to be recorded as now required by law for recording articles of incorporation; and said persons, when incorporated, and having in all respects complied with the provisions of this act, are hereby authorized to carry on the business of insurance, as named in such certificate of incorporation, and by the name and style provided therein, and shall be deemed a body corporate with succession, they and their associates, successors, and assigns, to have the same general corporate powers, and be subject to all the obligations and restrictions of said chapter twenty-five of the Revision of 1866 [ch. 9, this stat.], and of such as may be amendatory or supplementary, except as may be herein otherwise provided.

383. No joint stock company shall be incorporated under the provisions of this act with a smaller capital than one hundred thousand dollars, nor more than one million dollars, as may be specified in the certificate of incorporation, which stock shall be divided into shares of one hundred dollars each, of which capital at least fifty per cent shall be fully paid up in cash, and that for the remainder of its capital there are in its possession notes of its stockholders, secured by at least one surety or by mortgages on unincumbered real estate, within this state, worth at least twice the amount of such notes, which notes or other security shall be approved by the state auditor; nor shall any company on the plan of mutual insurance commence business in this state until agreements have been entered into for insurance with at least two hundred applicants, the premiums upon which shall amount to not less than twenty-five thousand dollars, of which at least five thousand dollars shall have been paid in actual cash, and for the remainder of which notes of solvent parties, founded upon actual and bona fide applications for insurance, shall have been received; no one of the notes received as aforesaid shall amount to more than five hundred dollars, and no two thereof shall be given for the same risk or made by the same person or firm, except where the whole amount of such notes does not exceed the sum of five hundred dollars; nor shall any note be regarded or represented as capital stock, unless a policy be issued upon the same within thirty days after the organization of the company taking the same, upon a risk which shall be for no shorter period than twelve months; each of said notes shall be payable, in whole or in part, at any time when the directors shall deem the same requisite for the payment of losses by fire or inland navigation, and such incidental expenses as may be necessary for transacting the business of said company; and no notes shall be accepted as part of such capital stock unless the same shall be accompanied by a certificate of a justice of the peace, notary public, or clerk of the district court of the county in which the person executing such note shall reside, that the person making the same is, in his opinion, pecuniarily good and responsible for the same, in property not exempt from execution by the laws of their state; and no such note shall be surrendered while the policy for which it was given continues in force.

Cited and construed, Farmers Union Ins. Co. v. Wilder, 35, 578 (53 N. W., 587).

384. Having published the notice and filed the publisher's affidavit of the publication thereof with the auditor of state, together with the certificate, as required by the first section of this act [381], the persons named in the certificate of incorporation, or a majority of them, shall be commissioned to open books for the subscription of stock to the company, at such times and places as to them may seem convenient and proper, and shall keep the same open until the full amount specified in the certificate is subscribed; or in case the business of such company is proposed to be conducted on the plan of mutual insurance, then to open books to receive propositions and enter into agreement in the manner and to the extent specified in the third section of this act.

385. The affairs of any company organized under the provisions of this act shall be managed by not more than twenty-one nor fewer than five directors, all of whom shall be stockholders; within thirty days after the subscription books shall have been filled, a majority of the subscribers shall hold a meeting for the election of directors, each share entitling the holder thereof to one vote; and the directors then elected shall continue in office until their successors have been duly chosen and have accepted the trust.

386. It shall be lawful for any insurance company organized under this act, or incorporated under any law of this state, to invest its capital and the funds accumulated in the course of its business, or any part thereof, in bonds and mortgages on unincumbered real estate, within the state of Nebraska, worth double the sum loaned thereon, exclusive of buildings, unless such buildings are insured in some responsible company or companies and the policy or policies transferred to said company, and also in stocks of this state or stocks or treasury notes of the United States, in the stocks and bonds of any county or incorporated city in this state, which may have been therefore authorized to be issued by the legislature of this state, and to lend the same, or any part thereof, on the security of such stock, or lands, or treasury notes, or upon the bonds and mortgages as aforesaid, and not otherwise; and to change and reinvest the same in like securities, as occasion may from time to time require; but any surplus money over and above the paid up capital stock of any such company organized under this act or incorporated under any law of this state may be invested in or loaned upon the pledge of public stocks of the United States or any of the stock, or stocks, bonds, or other evidences of indebtedness of any solvent, dividend-paying institution incorporated under the laws of this state, or the United States, except their own stock; Provided, always, That the current market value of such stock, bonds, or other evidences of indebtedness shall be at all times, during the continuance of such laws, at least twenty per cent more than the sum loaned thereon.

387. Upon receiving notification that the requirements of the preceding sections have been complied with, the auditor of state shall make an examination, or cause one to be made by some disinterested person officially appointed by him for that purpose, and if it shall be found (if the examination shall be made other than [by] the auditor, then the finding shall be certified under oath) that the capital herein required by the company named, according to the nature of the business proposed to be transacted by such company, has been paid in and possessed by it in money, or in such stocks, notes, bonds, or mortgages as are required by the third and sixth sections of this act [383–386], then he shall so certify; and if the examination be made by other than the auditor, then the finding shall be certified under oath; or, if it is proposed to be a mutual insurance company, that it has received and is in actual possession of the capital, premiums, or bona fide engagements of insurance, or the securities, as the case may be, to the extent and value required by the third and sixth sections of this act, the name and residence of the maker of each premium note forming part of the capital of any such proposed insurance company, and the amount of such note shall be returned to the auditor. The corporators or officers of any such company or proposed mutual company contemplated by this act shall be required to certify under oath, to the auditor of state, that the capital exhibited to the person making the examination directed in this section was bona fide property of the company so examined; the certificates above contemplated shall be filed in the office of said auditor, who shall thereupon deliver to such company a certified copy of the same, with his written permission for them to commence business as proposed in their written certificate of incorporation, which, on being placed on record in the office of the recorder of the county in which the company is to be located, by the recorder, in a book prepared by him for that purpose, shall be their authority to commence business and issue policies; and such certified copy of said certificate may be used in evidence for or against said company with the same effect as the originals.

Mutual companies must have the auditor's certificate. State v. Farmers Benevolent Association, 18, 276 (25 N. W., 81).

388. [What Insurable.]—It shall be lawful for any company organized under this act, or doing business in this state: First—To insure houses, buildings, and all other kinds of property against loss or damage by fire or other casualty, and to make all kinds of insurance on goods, merchandise, or other property in the course of transportation, whether on land or water, or any vessel afloat, wherever the same may be. Second—To make insurance on the health of individuals, and against the personal injury, disablement, or death, resulting from traveling or general accidents by land or water. Third—To insure the fidelity of persons holding places of public or private trust. Fourth—To receive on deposit and insure the safe keeping of books, papers, moneys, stocks, bonds, and all kinds of personal property. Fifth—To insure horses, cattle, and other stock against loss or damage by accident, theft, or any unknown or contingent event whatever which may be the subject of legal insurance; to lend money on bottomry or respondentia, and to cause itself to be insured against any loss or risk it may have incurred in the course of its business and upon the interest which it may have in any property by means of any loan or loans which it may have made on mortgage, bottomry, or respondentia; and generally to do and perform all other matters and things proper to promote these objects; Provided, That no companies shall be organized to issue policies of insurance for more than one of the above five mentioned purposes; and no company that shall have been organized for either one of said purposes shall issue policies of insurance for any other; and no company organized under this act, or transacting business in this state, shall expose itself to loss on any one risk or hazard to an amount exceeding ten per cent on its paid up capital, unless the excess shall be reinsured by the same in some other good and reliable company; And provided, That the restriction as to the amount of risk any company shall assume shall not apply to companies organized to guarantee the fidelity of persons in places of public or private trust, nor to companies that receive on deposit and guarantee the safe keeping of books, papers, moneys, and other property.

Parol contract to insure, not merged into policy delivered after fire, and so written as to have expired before that event. Neb. & Ia. Ins. Co. v. Seivers, 27, 549, 552 (43 N. W., 351). A policy covering realty and various classes of personalty not specified is not entire; mortgage of either in violation of policy will not prevent recovery as to the other. State Ins. Co. v. Schreck, 27, 527 (43 N. W., 340). Policy not avoided by false statement of insured as to amount of loss, if it is actually in excess of policy, though latter provides for forfeiture in such case. Springfield Ins. Co. v. Winn, 27, 649, 654-7 (43 N. W., 401).

389. The annual meeting for the election of directors shall be holden during the month of January, as the by-laws of the company may direct; Provided, however, That if for any cause the stockholders shall fail to elect at any annual meeting, then they may hold a special meeting some day subsequent thereto for that purpose, by giving thirty days' notice thereof in some newspaper in general circulation in the county in which the principal office of the company shall be located, and the directors chosen at any such annual or special meeting shall continue in office until the next annual meeting, and until their successors duly elected shall have accepted.

390. The directors shall choose by ballot a president from their own number, and shall fill all vacancies which shall arise in the board or in the presidency thereof, and the board of directors thus constituted, or a majority of them, when convened at the office of the company, shall be competent to exercise all the powers vested in them by this act.

391. The directors of any such company shall have power to appoint a secretary and any other officer or agents necessary for transacting the business of the company, paying such salaries and taking such securities as they may deem reasonable; they may ordain and establish such by-laws and regulations, not inconsistent with this act or with the constitution and laws of the United States and of this state, as shall appear to them necessary for regulating and conducting the business of the company; and it shall be their duty to keep full and correct entries of their transactions, which shall at all times be open to the inspection of the stockholders, and to the inspection of persons invested by law with the right thereof.

392. All policies or contracts of insurance made or entered into by the company may be made either with or without the seal of said company; but said policies shall be subscribed by the president or such other officer as may be designated by the directors for that purpose, and shall be attested by the secretary thereof.

393. Transfers of stock may be made by any stockholder or his legal representative, subject to such restrictions as the directors shall, from time to time, establish in their by-laws, except as hereinafter provided.

394. Whenever any company organized under this act, with less than the maximum capital limited in section three thereof [383], shall, in the opinion of the directors thereof, require an increased amount of capital, they shall, if authorized by the holders of a majority of the stock to do so, file with the auditor of state a certificate setting forth the amount of such desired increase, not exceeding said maximum, and thereafter such company shall be entitled to have the increased amount of capital fixed by said certificate; and the examination of securities composing the capital stock thus increased shall be made in the same manner as provided in section seven of this act [387], for the capital stock first paid in.

395. It shall not be lawful for the directors, trustees, or managers of any insurance company organized under this act, or incorporated under any law of this state, to make any dividends except from the surplus profits arising from their business and in estimating such profits there shall be reserved therefrom a sum equal to forty per cent of the amount received as premiums on unexpired risks and policies, which amount so reserved is hereby declared to be unearned premiums; and there shall also be reserved all sums due the corporation on bonds and mortgages, bonds, stocks, and book accounts of which no part of the principal or interest thereon has been paid during the year preceding such estimate of profits, and upon which suit for foreclosure or collection has not been commenced, or which, after judgment has been obtained thereon, shall have remained more than two years unsatisfied, and upon which interest shall not have been paid; and in case of any such judgment, the interest due or accrued thereon and remaining unpaid shall also be reserved. Any dividends made contrary to these provisions shall subject the company making it to a forfeiture of their charter.

396. No company organized under this act shall purchase, hold, or convey any real estate, save for the purposes and in the manner herein set forth, to-wit: First—Such as shall be requisite for its convenient accommodation in the transaction of its business. Second—Such as shall have been mortgaged to it in good faith by way of security for loans previously contracted or for money due; or, Third—Such as shall have been conveyed to it in satisfaction of debts previously contracted in the legitimate business of the company or for money due; or, Fourth—Such as shall have been purchased at sales or upon judgments, decrees, or mortgages obtained or made for such debts. And it shall not be lawful for any such company to purchase, hold, or convey real estate in any other case, or for any other purpose, or acquired in any other manner, except that it may convey real estate which shall be found in the course of its business not necessary for its convenient accommodation in the transaction thereof; and all such last mentioned real estate shall be sold and conveyed within three years after the same shall have been deemed by the auditor of state unnecessary for such accommodation, unless the company shall procure a certificate from the said auditor that the interest of said company will materially suffer by a forced sale, in which event the sale may be postponed for such a period as the said auditor shall direct in said certificate.

397. All notes deposited with any mutual insurance company, at the time of its organization, as provided for in section three hereof [383], shall remain as security for all losses and claims, until the accumulation of the profits invested as required by the sixth section of this act [386] shall equal the amount of cash capital required to be possessed by stock companies organized under this act, the liability of each note decreasing proportionately as the profits are accumulated; but any note which may have been deposited with any mutual insurance company, subsequent to its organization, in addition to the cash premiums, or any insurance effected with such company, may, at the expiration of the time of such insurance, or upon the cancellation by the company of the policy, be relinquished, and given up to the maker thereof, or his legal representatives, upon his paying his proportion of losses and expenses which may have accrued thereon during such term. The directors or trustees of any such company shall have the right to determine the amount of the note to be given, in addition to the cash premiums, by any person insured in such company; and every person effecting insurance in any mutual company, and also their heirs, executors, administrators, and assigns, continuing to be so insured, shall thereby become members of said company during the period of insurance, and shall be bound to pay for losses and such necessary expense as aforesaid accruing to said company, in proportion to the amount of his or their deposit note or notes; Provided, That any person insured in any mutual company, except in the case of notes required by this act to be deposited at the time of its organization, may at any time return the policy for cancellation, and upon the payment of the amount due at such time upon his premium note, shall be discharged from further liability thereon.

398. The directors shall, as often as they deem necessary, after receiving notice of any loss or damage, settle and determine the sums to be paid by the several members thereof, as their respective portions of such loss, and publish the same in such manner as they shall deem proper, or the by-laws shall have prescribed; but the sum to be paid by each member shall always be in proportion to the original amount of his deposit note or notes, and shall be paid to the officers of the company within thirty days after the publication of said notice; and if any member shall, for the space of thirty days after personal demand, or by letter, for payment shall have been made, neglect, or refuse, to pay the sum assessed upon him as his proportion of any loss aforesaid, the directors may sue for and recover the whole amount of his deposit note or notes, with costs of suit; but execution shall issue for assessments and costs as they accrue only, and every such execution shall be accompanied by a list of losses for which the assessment was made; if the whole amount of deposit notes shall be insufficient to pay the loss occasioned, the sufferers insured by the said company shall receive, toward making good their respective losses, a proportionate share of the whole amount of said notes, according to the sums to them respectively insured; but no member shall ever be required to pay for any loss more than the whole amount of his deposit note or notes.

This is the proper way to collect delinquent assessments. Farmers Union Ins Co. v. Wilder, 35, 578 (53 N. W., 587).

399. Every insurance company hereinafter organized as provided in this act, shall, if it be a mutual company, embody the word "mutual" in its title, which shall appear upon the first page of every policy and renewal receipt; and every company doing business as a cash stock company shall, upon the face of its policies, express in some suitable manner that such policies were issued by stock companies.

400. It shall be the duty of the president or of the vice president and secretary of each company organized under this act, or incorporated under any law of this state, or doing business in this state, annually, on the first day of January of each year, or within thirty days thereafter, to prepare under oath and deposit in the office of the auditor of state a full, true, and complete statement of the condition of such company on the last day of the month preceding that in which such statement is filed, which last statement shall exhibit the following items and facts in the following form, viz.: First—The amount of capital stock of the company. Second—The names of the officers. Third—The name of the company, and where located. Fourth—The amount of capital stock paid up. Fifth—The property or assets held by the company, specifying the value as near as may be of the real estate owned by such company. The amount of cash on hand and deposited in banks to the credit of the company, and in what bank the same is deposited. The amount of cash in the hands of agents, and in course of transmission. The amount of loans secured by first mortgages on real estate, with the rate of interest thereon, specifying the location of such real estate, and its assessed valuation. The amount of all other bonds and loans, and how secured, with the rate of interest thereon. The amount due the company on which judgment has been obtained. The amount of stocks of this state, of the United States, of any incorporated city of this state, and of any other stock owned by the company, specifying the amount, numbers of shares, and par and market value of each kind of stock. The amount of stock held by such company as collateral security for loans, with amount loaned on each kind of stock, its par and market value. The amount of assessments on stock and premium notes, paid and unpaid. The amount of interest actually due and unpaid. All other securities and their value. The amount for which premium notes have been given, on which policies have been issued. Sixth—The liabilities of such company, specifying the losses adjusted and due. Losses adjusted and not due. Losses unadjusted. Losses in suspense, and the cause thereof. Losses resisted and in litigation. Dividends, either in scrip or cash, specifying the amount of each declared, but not due. Dividends declared and due. The amount required to reinsure all outstanding risks on the basis of forty per cent of the premium on all unexpired risks. The amount due banks or other creditors. The amount of money borrowed and the security therefor. All other claims against the company. Seventh—The income of the company during the previous year, specifying the amount received for premiums exclusive of premium notes; the amount of premium notes received; the amount received for interest; the amount received for assessment calls on stock or notes, or premium notes. The amount received from all other sources. Eighth—The expenditures during the preceding year, specifying the amount of losses paid during said term, stating how much of the same accrued prior and how much subsequent to the date of the preceding statement, and the amount at which losses were estimated in such preceding statement. The amount paid for dividends. The amount paid [for] commissions, salaries, expenses, and other charges of agents, clerks, and other employees. The amount paid for salaries, fees, and other charges of offices and directors. The amount paid for local, state, national internal revenue, and other taxes and duties. The amount paid for all other expenses, expenditures, including printing, stationery, rents, furniture, etc. Ninth—The largest amount insured in any one risk. Tenth—The amount of risks written during the year then ending. Eleventh—The amount of risks in force having less than one year to run. Twelfth—The amount of risks in force having more than one and not over three years to run. Thirteenth—The amount of risks having more than three years to run. Fourteenth—The following questions must be answered, viz: Are dividends declared on premiums received for risks not terminated? The auditor of state shall withhold the certificate of authority from any such company neglecting or failing to comply with the provisions of this section.

Applies to foreign companies. Auditor's action cannot be controlled by mandamus unless there is willful neglect of duty. State, ex rel Foreign Ins. Co., v. Benton, 25, 842 (41 N. W. 953).

401. The auditor of state is hereby authorized and empowered to address any inquiries to any insurance company in relation to its doings and condition, or any other matter connected with its transactions which he may deem necessary for the public good, or for a proper discharge of his dutes; and it shall be the duty of any company so addressed to promptly reply in writing thereto.

402. The statement of any company, the capital of which is composed in whole or in part of notes, shall, in addition to the foregoing, exhibit the amount of notes originally forming the capital, and also what proportion of said notes are still held by such company and considered capital.

403. It shall not be lawful for any insurance company, association, or partnership, organized or associated for any of the purposes specified in this act, incorporated by or organized under the laws of any other state of the United States, or any foreign government, directly or indirectly, to take risks or transact any business of insurance in this state, unless possessed of two hundred thousand dollars of actual paid up capital, exclusive of any assets of any such company as shall be deposited in any other states or territories for the special benefit or security of the insured therein. Any such company desiring to transact any such business as aforesaid, by an agent or agents in this state, shall appoint one attorney in each county in which agencies are established, resident at the county seat, and shall file with the auditor of state a written instrument, duly signed and sealed, authorizing such attorney of such company to acknowledge service of process for and in behalf of such company in this state, consenting that such service of process, mesne or final, upon such attorney shall be taken and held as valid as if served upon the company according to the laws of this state or any other state, and waiving all claim or right of error by reason of such acknowledgment or service, and also a certified copy of their charter or deed of settlement, together with a statement under the oath of the president or vice-president, or other chief officer, and the secretary of the company for which they may act, stating the name of the company and the place where located, the amount of its capital, with a detailed statement of the facts and items as required from companies organized under the laws of this state as per section twenty hereof [400]. Such statement shall also show to the full satisfaction of the auditor of state that said company has deposited, in some one of the United States or territories, a sum not less than twenty-five thousand dollars, for the special benefit or security of the insured therein, and shall file also a copy of the last annual report, if any, made under any law of the state by which such company was incorporated; and no agent shall be allowed to transact business for any company whose capital is impaired by the liabilities, as stated in section twenty of this act, to the extent of twenty per cent thereof, while such deficiency shall continue.

404. It shall not be lawful for any agent or agents or individual to act for any insurance company or companies referred to in this act, directly or indirectly, in taking risks or transacting business of insurance in this state, without procuring from the auditor of state a certificate of authority stating that such company has complied with all the requisitions of this act.

405. The statements and evidences of investments required of foreign companies as above shall be renewed annually in such manner and form as required by this act and as said auditor may direct, with any additional statement of the amount of the losses incurred or premiums received in this state during the preceding period, so long as such agency continues; and the said auditor, on being satisfied that the capital, securities, and investments remain secure as hereimbefore provided, shall furnish a renewal of his certificate as aforesaid.

406. Every insurance company organized under the laws of or doing business in this state shall conform to all the provisions of this act, applicable thereto, on or before the first day of April, 1873; and, when necessary, any existing company shall change its charter and by-laws so as to conform thereto, by a vote of a majority of its board of directors; and any president, secretary, or other officer of any company organized under the laws of Nebraska, or any officer or person doing business or attempting to do business in this state for any insurance company organized without this state, failing to comply with any of the requirements of this act, or violating any of the provisions thereof, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in a sum not exceeding one thousand dollars and be imprisoned in the county jail for a period of not less than thirty days, nor more than six months.

407. Every agent of any insurance company shall, in all advertisements of such agency, publish the location of the company, giving the name of the city, town, or village in which the company is located, and the state or government under the laws of which it is organized. The term agent or agents used in the foregoing sections shall include an acknowledged agent or surveyor, or any other person or persons who shall in any manner, directly or indirectly, transact or aid in transacting the insurance business of any insurance company not incorporated by the laws of this state. The provisions of the foregoing sections relative to foreign companies shall apply to all such companies, partnerships, associations, or individuals, whether incorporated or not; Provided, That none of the provisions of this clause shall be deemed operative in regard to insurance upon goods or merchandise in transitu.

408. It shall be the duty of the auditor of the state, whenever he shall deem it expedient so to do, in his judgment, to appoint one or more persons, not officers, agents, or stockholders of any insurance company doing business in this state, to examine into the affairs and condition of any insurance company incorporated or doing business in this state, or to make such examination himself; and it shall be the duty of the officers or agents of such company or companies to cause their books to be opened for the inspection of the auditor or the person or persons so appointed, and otherwise facilitate such examination so far as may be in their power so to do; and for the purpose of arriving at the truth in such cases, the auditor, or person or persons so appointed by him, shall have power to examine, under oath, the officers or agents of any company or others, if necessary, relative to the business and condition of said company; and whenever the auditor shall deem it best for the interest of the public so to do, he shall publish the result of such investigation in one or more papers of this state; and whenever it shall appear to the said auditor, from such examination, that the assets and funds of any company incorporated in this state are reduced or impaired by the liabilities of said company, as described under the head of liabilities in the statement required by this act, more than twenty per cent below the paid up capital stock required by this act, may direct the officers thereof to require the stockholders to pay in the amount of such deficiency within such a period as he may designate in such requisition; or he shall communicate the fact to the attorney of state, whose duty it shall then become to apply to the district court, or, if in vacation, to one of the judges thereof, for an order requiring said company to show cause why their business should not be closed, and the court or judge, as the case may be, shall thereupon proceed to hear the allegations and proofs of the respective parties; and in case it shall appear to the satisfaction of said court or judge that the assets and funds of said company are not sufficient as aforesaid, or that the interest of the public require it, the said court or judge shall decree a dissolution of said company, and a distribution of its effects; the said court or judge shall have the power to refer the application of the attorney of state to a referee, to inquire into and report upon the facts stated herein.

409. Any company receiving the aforesaid requisition from the said auditor shall forthwith call upon its stockholders for such amounts as will make its paid up capital equal to the amount filed by this act, or the charter of said company; and in case any stockholder shall refuse or neglect to pay the amount so called for, after notice personally given, or by advertisement, in such time and manner as said auditor shall approve, and it shall be lawful for the said company to require the return of the original certificate of stock held by such stockholder, and in lieu thereof, to issue new certificates for such number of shares as such stockholders may be entitled to, in the proportion that the ascertained value of the funds of the said company may be found to bear to the original capital of the said company, the value of such shares for which new certificate shall be issued to be ascertained under the direction of the said auditor, the company paying for the fractional parts of shares. And it shall be lawful for the directors of such company to create new stock, and dispose of the same, and to issue new certificates therefor, to an amount sufficient to make up the original capital of the company; and in the event of any additional losses, accruing upon new risks taken upon expiration of the period limited by the auditor, in the aforesaid requisition for the filling up of the deficiency in the capital of such company, and before said deficiency shall have been made up, the directors shall be individually liable to the extent thereof.

410. If, upon such examination, it shall appear to the said auditor that the assets of any company chartered upon the plan of mutual insurance under this act are insufficient to justify the continuance of such company in business, it shall be his duty to proceed in relation to such company in the same manner as is herein required in regard to joint stock companies; and the trustees or directors of such company are hereby made personally liable for any losses which may be sustained upon risks taken after the expiration of the period limited by the said auditor for filling up the deficiency in the capital, and before such deficiency shall have been made up; any transfer of the stock of any company organized under this act, made during the pending of any investigation required above, shall not release the party making the transfer from his liability for losses which may have accrued previous to such transfer.

411. The auditor of state shall be authorized to examine into the condition and affairs of any insurance company, as provided for in this act, doing business in this state, not organized under the laws of this state, or cause such examination to be made by some person or persons appointed by him, having no interest in any insurance company; and whenever it shall appear to the satisfaction of said auditor that the affairs of any such company are in an unsound condition, he shall revoke the certificate granted in behalf of such company, and shall cause the notification thereof to be published in some newspaper in general circulation, published at the state capital; and the agent or agents of such company are, after such notice, requested to discontinue the issuing of any new policies, or the renewal of any previously issued.

412. There shall be paid by every company, association, person or persons, agent or agents, to whom this act shall apply, the following fees: For examination and filing of the first application of any company, and issuing of the certificate of license thereon, fifty dollars, which shall go to the auditor; for filing each annual statement herein required, twenty dollars; for each certificate of authority, two dollars; for every copy of paper filed as herein provided, the sum of ten cents per folio, and fifty cents for certifying the same and affixing the seal of office thereto; all of which fees shall be paid to the officer required to perform the duties.

Auditor must account for all fees. State v. Liedtke, 12, 176 (10 N. W., 703). This does not apply to benevolent societies (442). State, ex rel. Royal Arcanum, v. Benton, 35, 463 (53 N. W., 567).

413. Whenever the existing or future laws of any other state of the United States shall require of insurance companies incorporated by or organized under the laws of this state, having agencies in such other state, or of the agents thereof, any deposit of securities in such state, for the protection of policy-holders, or otherwise, or any payment for taxes, fines, penalties, certificates of authority, license-fees, or otherwise greater than the amount required for such purposes, from similar companies of other states, by the then existing laws of this state, then, and in every such case, all companies of states establishing, or having therefore established, an agency or agencies in this state shall be and are hereby required to make the same deposit, for a like purpose, with the auditor of this state, and to pay said auditor for taxes, fines, penalties, certificates of authority, license fees, or otherwise, an amount equal to the amount of such charges and payments imposed upon or required by the laws of such state of the companies of this state, or the agents thereof.

414. It shall be the duty of every insurance company of the kind provided in this act, doing business in this state, organized under the laws of this state or any other state or country, to publish once, annually, in two newspapers of general circulation, one of which newspapers shall be published at the capital of the state (and in case of companies organized in the state of Nebraska, one of which shall be published in the county where the principal office is located), a certificate from the auditor of state that such company has in all respects complied with the laws of this state relating to insurance.

415. The necessary expenditures of any examination made or ordered to be made by the auditor of the state, under this act, shall be certified to by him and paid on his requisition by the company which is the subject of such examination; Provided, That the auditor of state shall have the power, upon receiving information that the capital of any company is impaired, to call upon any such company for a full statement of its condition, and in event of refusal or neglect of any company to answer the requisition of the auditor as aforesaid, he shall proceed to make the examination required by this act, and to take the necessary action to terminate the business of said company in this state.

416. It shall be the duty of the auditor of state to cause to be prepared and furnished to each of the companies organized under the laws of this state, and to attorneys or agents of companies incorporated by other states and foreign governments, who may apply for the same, printed forms of statements required by this act, and he may from time to time make such changes in the form of these statements as shall seem to him best adapted to elicit from the companies a true exhibit of their condition in respect to the several points hereinbefore enumerated.

417. It shall be the duty of the auditor of state to cause the information contained in the statements required of the companies organized in this state to be arranged in tabular form, and prepare the same in a single document for printing, and submit the same to the legislature as a portion of his regular report to that body.

418. It shall not be lawful for any company organized upon the mutual plan to do business and take risks upon the stock plan, neither for a company organized as a stock company to do business upon the plan of a mutual insurance company.

419. Nothing in this act shall be so construed as to prevent any number of persons from making mutual pledges and giving valid obligations to each other for their own insurance from loss by fire, lightning, tornadoes, cyclones, wind storms, hail, or death; but such association of persons shall in no case insure any property not owned by one of their number, and no life except that of their own number, nor shall the provisions of this act be applicable to such associations, or companies; Provided, Such associations or companies shall receive no premiums, make no dividends, or pay in any case more than two (2) dollars per day to any of their officers for compensation, and then only when actually employed for the association or company, nor shall they hire any agents or solicitors; Provided further, That no such company or associations shall ever make any levies or collect any money from its members except to pay for losses on property or lives insured, and such expenses as are herein provided for.

Amended 1883, p. 236; 1889, p. 426.

II. STATEMENT TO AUDITOR, ETC.

Secs. 420 to 433 formed secs. 1 to 14, ch. 25, R. S. 1866, p. 187.

420. It shall be the duty of each and every insurance company incorporated under the laws of this state to file with the auditor of the state a full and specific statement of the amount of cash paid in upon said stock; the amount of stock not paid for in cash; the amount secured by mortgages or pledges of real estate; the names and residences of the stockholders in said company, with the amount of stock owned or held set opposite the name of each, and if not all paid up in cash, the amount unsecured and the amount secured, specifying whether by real or personal security, also set opposite the name of each; the names of all the officers and agents of the company wherever residing; the amount of policies issued by and outstanding against the company, at the date of said report; the amount of premiums received by said company during the preceding six months; the amount of cash on hand; the amount of bills payable and receivable at the date of said statement; the amount of real estate owned by said company, where held and owned, and in what manner said real estate became vested in said company which report and statement shall be verified by the oath of the president and secretary of the company.

421. It shall be the duty of every insurance company now created, or that may hereafter be created, under the laws of this state, to file a semi-annual statement of the affairs of said company, with the auditor of the state, on the first day of January and July in each year, which statement shall be verified by the oath of the secretary of the company. Such statement shall contain: First—The name and locality of the company. Second—The amount of capital stock of said company. Third—The amount of its capital stock paid up. Fourth—The assets of the company, including—I. The amount of cash on hand. II. The amount of cash in hands of agents. III. The real estate unincumbered. IV. The bonds and notes of the company, and how they are secured, with the rates of interest thereon, and whether given in payment of stock subscription, or for bona fide loans. V. Debts of the company secured by mortgage. VI. Debts otherwise secured. VII. Debts for premiums. VIII. All other securities. Fifth—The amount of liabilities due or not due to banks or other creditors by the company. Sixth—Losses adjusted and due. Seventh—Losses adjusted and not due. Eighth—Losses unadjusted. Ninth—Losses in suspense. Tenth—All other claims against the company. Eleventh—The greatest amount insured by any one risk. And the auditor shall cause a brief abstract of such statement to be published in at least one newspaper at the capital of the state, and such company shall pay for said publication.

422. A failure to comply with the provisions of the two preceding sections shall subject the president and secretary of any company, each, individually, to the penalty of one hundred dollars, to be recovered in an action at law in the name of any citizen of the state, one-half of the same to the use of the state, and the other moiety to the use of the informer.

423. It is declared unlawful for any insurance company in this state to purchase or hold any real estate save what shall be necessary for the transaction of its legitimate business of insurance; and deeds and conveyances to said company for any other purposes are hereby declared to be void.

424. It shall not be lawful for any agent or agents of any insurance company incorporated by any other state or territory, directly or indirectly, to take risks or transact any business of insurance in this state without first procuring a certificate from the auditor of the state; and before obtaining such certificate, such agent or agents shall furnish the auditor with a statement, under the oath of the president or secretary of the company for which he or they may act, which statement shall show: First—The name and locality of the company. Second—The amount of its capital stock. Third—The amount of its capital stock paid up. Fourth—The assets of the company, including—I. The amount of cash on hand and in the hands of agents and other persons. II. The real estate unincumbered. III. The lands owned by the company, and how they are secured, with the rate of interest thereon. IV. The debts of the company secured by mortgage. V. Debts otherwise secured. VI. Debts for premiums. VII. All other securities. Fifth—The amount of liabilities due or not due to banks or other creditors by the company. Sixth—Losses adjusted and due. Seventh—Losses adjusted and not due. Eighth—Losses unadjusted. Ninth—Losses in suspense, waiting for further proof. Tenth—All other claims against the company. Eleventh—The greatest amount insured by any one risk. Twelfth—The greatest amount allowed by the rules of the company to be insured in any one city, town, or village. Thirteenth—The greatest amount allowed to be insured in any one block. Fourteenth—The act of incorporation of such company. Which statement shall be filed in the office of said auditor, together with a written instrument under the seal of the company, signed by the president and secretary, authorizing such agent to acknowledge service, consenting that service of process upon such agent shall be taken and held to be as valid as if served upon the company, according to the laws of the state, or any state or territory, and waiving all claims of errors by reason of such service; and no insurance company, or agents of any insurance company, incorporated by any other state or territory, shall transact any business of insurance in this state, unless such company is possessed of at least one hundred thousand dollars of actual capital, invested in stocks of at least par value, or in bonds or mortgages on real estate worth double the amount for which the same is mortgaged; and upon filing the aforesaid statement and instrument with the auditor of the state, and furnishing him with satisfactory evidence of such instrument, as aforesaid, it shall be the duty of said auditor to issue a certificate thereof, with authority to transact business of insurance, to the agent or agents applying for the same; and the auditor may demand and receive two dollars for every such certificate, to be paid by the company.

425. It shall be unlawful for any incorporated company, or association, partnership, firm, or individual, or any member, or agent or agents thereof, or for any agent or agents of any company incorporated by any foreign government, other than a state of this Union, to transact any business of insurance in this state without procuring a certificate of authority from the auditor of this state; such company, association, partnership, firm, or individual, or any agent or agents thereof, having first filed, under oath, in the office of said auditor, a statement setting forth the charter or act of incorporation of any and every such incorporated company, and the by-laws, copartnership agreement, and articles of association of any and every such unincorporated company, association, partnership, or firm, and the name and residence of such individual and the name and residence of the members of every such partnership or firm; and the matters required to be specified by the provisions of this chapter, and the written authority therein mentioned; and furnish evidence, to the satisfaction of the auditor of the state, that said company has invested in stocks of some one or more of the states of this Union, or of the United States, the amount of one hundred thousand dollars, and that such stocks are held by citizens of the United States, or in bonds or mortgages of real estate situated in the United States, fully securing the amount for which the same is mortgaged, or bonds of cities of the United States, the aggregate market value of the investment of the company in which shall not be less than one hundred thousand dollars; and such incorporated company or unincorporated company, association, partnership, firm, or individual, or any agent or agents thereof, filing said statement and furnishing evidence of investment as aforesaid, shall be entitled to a certificate of authority for such body or individual, in like manner as is provided in this chapter.

Includes life insurance companies. Bankable notes not considered as capital. In re Babcock, 21, 502 (32 N. W., 641). This includes mutual companies. State v. Farmers' Benevolent Association, 18, 276 (25 N. W., 81).

426. The statement and evidences of investment required by this chapter shall be renewed annually in the month of January of each year. The auditor of the state, upon being satisfied that the capital, securities, and investments remain secure, shall furnish a renewal of certificates as aforesaid; and the company, agent or agents obtaining such certificate shall file the same, together with the statement upon which it was obtained or renewed, in the office of the auditor of state.

427. Any person or firm in this state who shall receive or receipt for any money on account of or for any contract of insurance made by him or them, or for any such insurance company or individual aforesaid, or who shall receive or receipt for money from other persons, to be transmitted to any such company or individual aforesaid, for a policy or policies of insurance or any renewal thereof, although such policy or policies of insurance may not be signed by him or them, as agent or agents of such company, or who shall in anywise, directly or indirectly, make or cause to be made any contract or contracts of insurance, for or on acconnt of such company aforesaid, shall be deemed to all intents and purposes an agent or agents of such company, and shall be subject and liable to all the provisions of this chapter.

428. Copies of all papers required by this chapter to be deposited in the office of the auditor of this state, certified under the hand of such auditor to be true and correct copies of such papers, shall be received as evidence in all courts and places in the same manner and have the same force and effect as the original would have if produced.

429. Any person or persons violating the provisions of this subdivision shall, upon conviction thereof, in any court of competent jurisdiction, be fined in any sum not exceeding one thousand dollars, or imprisoned in the county jail not more than thirty days, or both, at the discretion of the court. Violations of the provisions of this subdivision may be prosecuted by information filed by the prosecuting attorney of the proper county, or by indictment of the grand jury.

430. Any insurance company complying with the provisions of this subdivision, and securing the certificate of the auditor for any of its agents, shall not be required to furnish the single statement, and evidences required hereby for more than one of such agents, which, being filed with the auditor of this state, shall be deemed a sufficient compliance for its free transaction of business in this state.

431. If any insurance company, firm, or individal, or their agent or agents, having filed its or their statement as required by this subdivision, and conformed to the requirements thereof, shall have on deposit in any other state or territory, or elsewhere than in this state, any portion of its capital or earnings as a guarantee fund for the exclusive benefit or security of persons insured in such state or territory, or other place, it shall be the duty of the auditor of the state to withhold from such body or individual, so alienating any such portion of their capital or resources, the certificates and authority in this subdivision provided for, until such body or individual shall file with the auditor of the state a statement, duly verified by the oath or affirmation of the president or secretary of such incorporated company, association, partnership, or firm, or of such individual, showing the amount of premiums received in this state by such company during the year ending on the first of January next preceding the filing of said statement, and shall deposit in this state, in such manner as the auditor of the state shall direct, five per cent of the amount received in money, or any solvent state or United States, stocks of at least par value, or mortgages on real estate situated in this state, of at least double the value for which the same is mortgaged; which statement and deposit shall be so made from year to year, at the time of each renewal or original grant of authority by said auditor, until the sum of forty thousand dollars is deposited as aforesaid, which said sum and every yearly part thereof deposited as aforesaid, shall be held under control of such auditor of the state, as a guarantee fund for the benefit of such persons as may be in any manner insured in their property by such company in this state, and the same or any part of the sums so deposited shall not be drawn out of the depositors until all claims for losses or premiums, or risks unexpired, shall be paid and discharged, or until all deposits made in other states, territories, or other places not within this state shall be withdrawn; and in case of the insolvency of any such company, the sums so deposited as aforesaid shall be applied by the auditor of the state, pro tanto, toward the payment of all claims against such body or individual filed in his office duly liquidated and authenticated, and losses and premiums or risks unpaid on policies issued within six months after such insolvency may occur. Any such body or individual shall be deemed insolvent, upon failure to pay any undisputed loss insured against within this state for the space of ninety days after final judgment for the amount of any loss so insured against, when no appeal shall have been taken from such judgment by either party or other proceeding begun to vacate, modify, reverse, or review such judgment, or to arrest the same, or to obtain a new trial. Such body or individual shall be entitled to receive the interests or dividends on such stock so deposited from time to time as the same may become due. This section shall not apply to any of the aforesaid bodies or individuals who have made no such deposits as in this section mentioned, elsewhere than in this state.

432. Mutual insurance companies incorporated by any state or territory other than the state of Nebraska, upon filing in the office of the auditor the act of incorporation of said company, together with a written instrument under seal of said company, signed by the president and secretary of said company under oath, certifying that said company is possessed of a capital of at least one hundred thousand dollars, secured by lien on real estate worth at cash valuation at least five times the amount of said capital, and not encumbered to more than one fourth of said cash valuation, shall be entitled to a certificate from said auditor with authority to transact business of insurance in this state, and said company shall be exempt from the provisions of this subdivision, with the exception of the publication of statement and certificate of the auditor.

433. It shall be the duty of the agent or agents in either of the foregoing sections mentioned, before taking any risks or transacting any business of insurance in this state, to file in the office of the county clerk of the county of which he or they may desire to establish an agency for any such company, a copy of the statement required to be filed with the auditor of the state as aforesaid, together with a certificate of such auditor, which shall be carefully preserved for public inspection by said clerk; and said statement and certificate shall be published one week in one daily and four weeks in one weekly newspaper, printed and published in the county in which such agent or agents has or have his or their office of business as such agents; and if no daily paper is published in such county, then such publication shall be sufficient if made in one weekly newspaper as aforesaid; but if no weekly newspaper be printed or published in such county, then such publication shall be made in one weekly newspaper of this state of most general circulation in such county.

III. MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

Sec. 434. "An act to provide for canceling insurance policies." 1885, p. 267. In force February 28.

434. Any person, company, association, or corporation transacting the business of fire, or fire, wind, storm, and tornado insurance, in this state, shall cancel any policy of insurance hereafter issued or renewed, at any time, by request of the party insured, or his legal representative, and shall return to the said party, or his representative, as aforesaid, the net amount of premium received by the company, after deducting the actual compensation of the agent or solicitor for securing the issue of said policy, and also deducting the customary short-rate premium for the expired time of the full term for which said policy was issued or renewed, anything in the policy to the contrary notwithstanding.

Secs. 435 to 437. "An act defining the liability of fire insurance companies in certain cases." 1889, p. 425. In force July 1.

435. Whenever any policy of insurance shall be written to insure any real property in this state against loss by fire, tornado, or lightning, and the property insured shall be wholly destroyed, without criminal fault on the part of the insured or his assigns, the amount of the insurance written in such policy shall be taken conclusively to be the true value of the property insured, and the true amount of loss and measure of damages.

Stipulations in policy in conflict with this provision are inoperative. Where there is a total loss there is nothing to arbitrate. German Ins. Co. v. Eddy, 36, — (54 N. W., 856).

436. This act shall apply to all policies of insurance hereafter made or written upon real property in this state, and also to the renewal, which shall hereafter be made, of all policies heretofore written in this state, and the contracts made by such policies and renewals shall be construed to be contracts made under the laws of this state.

437. The court, upon rendering judgment against an insurance company upon any such policy of insurance, shall allow the plaintiff a reasonable sum as an attorney's fee, to be taxed as part of the costs.

Validity of act sustained, and allowance of attorney fee upheld. German Ins. Co. v. Penrod, 35, 273 (53 N. W., 74).

Secs. 438 to 441. "An act to require insurance companies organized under the laws of other states and doing business in Nebraska to pay a duty or rate for the support of fire companies comprising the fire department of any city or village." 1889, p. 422. In force July 1.

This act held unconstitutional. State v. Wheeler, 33, 563 (50 N. W., 770).

IV. SPECIAL FORMS OF INSURANCE.

Secs. 442 to 450. "An act to exempt secret societies and associations from the requirements of chapter sixteen (16) of the Compiled Statutes of 1885, to define the duties, powers, and obligations of such societies and associations, and provide penalties for violations thereof." 1887, p. 337. In force June 29.

442. That any secret society or association, the management and control of which is confined exclusively to the membership of any secret society or order heretofore organized or which may hereafter be organized, which in addition to the benevolent and fraternal features thereof, shall also issue certificates of indemnity calling for the payment of a certain sum known and defined, in case of the death, disability, or sickness of any of its members, to the wife, widow, orphan or orphans, or other persons dependent upon such members, shall be exempt from the provisions of chapter twenty-five (25) of the Revised Statutes of 1866, of the territory, now state of Nebraska, the same being chapter sixteen (16) of the Compiled Statutes of 1885 [ch. 9]; Provided, That such secret society or association as aforesaid shall comply with all the requirements of this act.

Not liable to pay fees under section 412. State, ex rel. Arcanum, v. Benton, 35, 463 (53 N. W., 567).

443. Within thirty (30) days after the taking effect of this act such society, as aforesaid, shall, by its presiding officer, or recording officer, or both of them, file a certificate in the office of the auditor of public accounts, setting forth the total number of members in good standing in such society or association at the date of the taking effect of this act, the name, title, and postoffice address of each of the chief officers of such society or association; the plan of assessment upon which funds are provided to pay the certificate of indemnity issued by such society or association, together with a certified copy of the constitution and by-laws of such society. If, from such statements, the auditor of public accounts shall be satisfied that such society or association has a sufficient membership to pay a certificate so issued by such society or association, in case of the death of any of its members, by its usual method of assessment, he shall issue to such society or association a certificate authorizing it to transact business for one year.

444. On the first day of January of each year, or within fifteen days thereafter, such society or association shall, by its presiding or recording officer, or both of them, file with the auditor of public accounts a sworn statement, setting forth the total number of members in good standing on the first day of January of that year; the total number of members who have been suspended for non-payment of dues or assessments for the twelve months next preceding the date of the report; the name of each member deceased during the year next preceding the date of the report, together with the amount of money paid to each; the number of claims resisted and the reasons for resisting the payment thereof; the total amount collected for the payment of certificates of indemnity hereinbefore provided for; the amount due and unpaid upon certificates of deceased members, the total amount on hand in such fund, and the amount paid out in such fund. If the auditor shall be satisfied that such society or association has a sufficient membership to pay its certificate in full in case of the death of any of its members, by its usual method of assessment, he shall issue his certificate authorizing such society or association to transact its business for the term of one year from the first day of January next preceding the date of the report.

445. If at any time the auditor shall be credibly informed that the membership of such society or association has fallen below a number sufficient to produce the amount required to pay a certificate of membership in full, in case of the death of any of its members, he shall cause an investigation to be made of the affairs of such society or association, at the expense of such society or association, and if he shall become satisfied that its membership has fallen below the number required as aforesaid, he shall revoke the certificate provided for in section three of this chapter, and it shall be unlawful for such society or association to further transact any business within the state of Nebraska.

446. Before any change in the constitution or by-laws of any such society or association shall take effect, a copy of the same shall be filed in the office of the auditor of public accounts.

447. All moneys collected by any such society or association for the payment of its certificates of indemnity shall be used for that purpose, and none other.

448. Any person or persons violating the provisions of this act shall, upon conviction thereof, be imprisoned in the penitentiary for not more than five nor less than one year.

449. This act shall only apply to secret, benevolent, fraternal societies.

450. Any officer of any such society or association, who shall embezzle or appropriate any of the moneys or property of any such society or association to his own use, shall be deemed guilty of embezzlement, and shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished accordingly.

Secs. 451 to 469. "An act to authorize the organization of mutual insurance companies." 1891 p. 272. In force August 1.

451. That any number of persons, not less than twenty (20), residing in this state, who collectively shall own property of not less than twenty thousand (20,000) dollars in value, which they desire to have insured, may form an incorporated company for the purpose of mutual insurance, against loss by fire, lightning, or tornado.

452. Such persons shall file with the auditor of public accounts a declaration of their intention to form a company, for the purposes expressed in the preceding section, which declaration shall be signed by at least twenty of the incorporators, and shall contain a copy of the charter proposed to be adopted by them. Such charter shall set forth the name of the corporation, the name of the city, town, or village in which the business office of such company is to be located, and the intended duration of the company, and if such declaration is found conformable to this act, and not inconsistent with the constitution of this state, the auditor shall thereupon deliver to such persons a certified copy of the charter, which, on being filed in the office of the county clerk of the county where the office of such company is to be located, shall be their authority to organize and commence business. Such certified copy of the charter may be used in evidence for or against said company with the same effect as the original.

453. The number of directors shall not exceed nine (9), a majority of whom shall constitute a quorum to do business to be elected from the members by ballot, and they shall hold their offices until their successors are elected and qualified.

454. The policy-holders shall elect from their number a president and a treasurer, and shall also elect a secretary, who may or may not be a member of the company, all of whom shall hold their offices for one (1) year, and until their successors are elected and qualified.

455. The treasurer and secretary shall each give bonds to the company for the faithful performance of their duties, in such amounts as shall be prescribed by the board of directors.

456. Such corporation and its directors shall possess the usual powers and be subject to the usual duties of corporations and directors thereof, and may make such by-laws, not inconsistent with the constitution or this act, as may be deemed necessary for the management of its affairs in accordance with the provisions of this act, and may prescribe the duties of its officers and fix their compensation, and to alter and amend its by-laws when necessary.

457. Any person owning property in the territory for which any such company is formed, under such restrictions and qualifications as the by-laws may prescribe, may become a member of such company by insuring therein, and shall be entitled to all the rights and privileges appertaining thereto.

458. Such company may issue policies only on detached farm dwellings, barns (except livery, boarding, and hotel barns), and other farm buildings, and such property as may properly be contained therein, and also upon horses, mules, cattle, sheep, hogs, and against damage by fire, lightning, or tornado for any length of time, but not to extend beyond the limit and duration of the charter, and for any amount the company may deem safe on any one risk, nor shall any property be insured for more than two-thirds ($\frac{2}{3}$) its actual value. All persons so insured shall give their obligation to the company, in a written or printed application, binding themselves, their heirs and assigns, to pay their pro rata share to the company of the necessary expenses, and of all losses by fire, lightning, or tornado which may be sustained by any member thereof during the time for which their respective policies are written and they continue as members of the company, and they shall also, at the time of effecting the insurance, pay such percentage in cash and such other charges as may be required by the rules and by-laws of the company; Provided, That any company formed under the provisions of this act may in its by-laws limit the percentage of the liability of its members.

459. Any such company may classify the property insured therein at the time of issuing policies thereon under different rates corresponding as nearly as may be to the greater or less risk from fire, lightning, or tornado which may attach to each building or personal property insured.

460. No such company shall insure any property beyond the limits of the territory, nor shall it insure any property within the limit of any city or village.

461. Every member of such company who may sustain loss or damage by fire, lightning, or tornado shall immediately notify the secretary thereof, stating the amount of damage or loss claimed, then the person or persons authorized by the by-laws of such company to adjust losses shall proceed to ascertain the amount of such loss or damage and adjust the same. If there is a failure of the parties to agree upon the amount of such damage or loss, the same shall be submitted to three (3) persons as a committee of reference, one of whom shall be selected by the claimant, one by the company, and the third by such two persons, who shall be sworn to a faithful and impartial investigation and award, and who shall have authority to examine witnesses and to determine all matters in dispute, and shall make their award in writing to the secretary of the company, and such award shall be final. The pay of the membership of such committee shall be two ($2) dollars per day for each day's service so rendered in the discharge of their duties, which shall be paid by the claimant, unless the award of said committee shall exceed the sum offered by the company in liquidation of such loss or damage, in which case said expenses shall be paid by the company.

462. Whenever the amount of any loss shall have been ascertained, which exceeds in amount the cash funds of the company, the secretary shall make an assessment upon all the property insured by the company; Provided, That any company may provide in its by-laws for making assessments at stated intervals only, and may also provide that assessments shall be made by the board of directors.

463. It shall be the duty of the secretary, whenever such assessment shall have been made, to immediately notify every person composing such company personally, or by a letter sent to his usual postoffice address, of the amount of such loss, and the sum due him as his share thereof, and of the time, and to whom such payment is to be made; but such time shall not be less than twenty (20) nor more than forty (40) days from the date of such notice.

464. Suits at law may be brought against any member of such company, who shall neglect or refuse to pay any assessment made upon him or her, by the provisions of this act, and the directors or officers of any company so formed, who shall willfully refuse or neglect to perform the duties imposed upon them by the provisions of this act, shall be liable in their individual capacity to the person sustaining such loss. Suits at law may also be brought and maintained against any such company by members thereof for losses sustained, if payment is withheld after such losses become due.

465. It shall be the duty of the secretary to prepare an annual statement showing the condition of such company, and the business transacted the preceding year, and present the same at the annual meeting.

466. Any member of such company may withdraw therefrom by surrendering his policy for cancellation at any time while the company continues the business for which it was organized, by giving notice in writing to the secretary thereof, and paying his or her share of all claims then existing against said company, and a cancellation fee not to exceed one dollar; Provided, That by the withdrawal of any such member, the number of members remaining in the company shall not be reduced below twenty, or that the assets will not be reduced below twenty thousand dollars; Provided further, That the company shall have power to cancel or terminate any policy by giving the insured notice to that effect, and such cancellation of policy ends his or her membership in such company.

467. It shall be the duty of the president or vice-president and secretary of every such company, on the first day of January each year, or within a month thereafter, to prepare under their own oath, and transmit to the auditor of public accounts, a statement of the condition of the company on the last day of the month preceding, in such form as the law may direct. If, upon examination, he is of *opinion that such company is doing business correctly, in accordance with the provisions of this act, he shall thereupon furnish the company a certificate, which shall be deemed authority to continue business the ensuing year. For such examination and certificate the company shall pay one dollar ($1); for agent's certificate of authority, fifty cents (50). Each company shall pay at the time of organization ten dollars ($10) to the auditor, all of which shall be paid into the state treasury and applied to the general fund.

468. Any mutual insurance company organized to insure against fire, lightning, or tornado, and now doing business in this state under the provisions of section forty (40) of chapter forty-three (43) of the Revised Statutes,* may, with the written consent of two-thirds (⅔) of the members thereof, accept the provisions of this act, and shall thereupon be governed by its provisions. Before any such company shall be entitled to the benefits thereof the directors, or a majority of them, shall file with the auditor of public accounts the declaration provided for in section two (2) of this act.

469. Such mutual insurance companies shall never make assessments upon their members, as provided in section twelve (12) of this act [462], unless loss has first occurred, unless the directors, by a two-thirds (⅔) vote, order an assessment. They shall never make any dividends.

Secs. 470 to 484. "An act to regulate the admission of foreign surety companies to do business in this state." 1885, p. 183. In force June 5.

470. That any surety company, incorporated and organized under the laws of any state of the United States other than the state of Nebraska, for the purpose of transacting business as surety on obligations of persons or corporations, may transact such business in this state upon complying with the provisions of this act, and not otherwise.

471. No surety company not incorporated under the authority of this state shall, directly or indirectly, take risks or transact business in this state until it shall have first appointed, in writing, the auditor of public accounts of this state to be the true and lawful attorney of such company in and for this state, upon whom all lawful process in any action or proceeding against the company may be served with the same effect as if the company existed in this state. Said power of attorney shall stipulate and agree on the part of the company that any lawful process against the company which is served on said attorney shall be of the same legal force and validity as if served on the company, and that the authority shall continue in force so long as any liability remains outstanding against the company in this state. A certificate of such appointment, duly certified and authenticated, shall be filed in the office of the said auditor, and copies certified by him shall be received in evidence in all the courts of this state. Service upon such attorney shall be deemed sufficient service upon the company.

472. Whenever lawful process against a surety company shall be served upon the auditor of public accounts, he shall forthwith forward a copy of the process served on him, by mail, postpaid, and directed to the secretary of the company. For each copy of process the auditor shall collect the sum of two dollars, which shall be paid by the plaintiff at the time of such service, the same to be recovered by him as part of the taxable cost, if he prevails in the suit.

473. No person shall act within this state as agent or otherwise in procuring the or securing applications for suretyship upon the bond of any person or corporation, or aid in transacting the business of such suretyship for any company incorporated or organized under the laws of any other state, unless such company is possessed of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars capital, and unless such capital to the extent of one hundred thousand dollars is invested in stock created by the laws of the United States or by or under the laws of the state in which such company is located, or in other safe stocks or securities, the value of which at the time of such deposit shall be at or above par, which investments are deposited with the insurance commissioner, auditor, comptroller, or chief financial officer of the state under whose laws such company is incorporated, and the treasurer of this state is furnished with the certificate of such insurance commissioner, auditor, comptroller, or chief financial officer aforesaid, under his hand and official seal, that he, as such insurance commissioner, auditor, comptroller, or chief financial officer of such state, holds in trust and on deposit, for the benefit of all obligees of such company, the surety before mentioned; which certificates shall embrace the items of security so held, and shall state that he is satisfied that such securities are worth one hundred thousand dollars.

474. Every person who shall so far represent any surety company established in any other state as to receive or transmit applications for suretyship, or to receive for delivery bonds founded on applications forwarded from this state or otherwise to procure suretyship to be effected by such company upon the bonds of persons or corporations in this state, shall be deemed as acting as agent for said company, and shall be subject to the restrictions and liable to the penalties herein made applicable to agents of such companies.

475. Every such agent, before transacting any business as aforesaid, shall deposit with the auditor of public accounts a copy of the charter of the company or corporation for which he is agent as aforesaid, unless a copy thereof has already been deposited with such auditor.

476. Every such agent shall also, before transacting any business as aforesaid, deposit with the said auditor a statement, signed and sworn to by the president and secretary of the company for which he acts, stating the amount of its capital and the manner of its investments, designating the amount invested in mortgages, in public securities, in the stock of incorporated companies, stating what companies, and also the amount invested in other securities, particularizing each item of investment, the amount of existing bonds upon which such company is surety, stating what portion thereof is secured by the deposit with such company of collateral security, the amount of premium thereon, and the amount of liabilities, specifying therein the amount of outstanding claims adjusted or unadjusted, due or not due; Provided, however, That not more than one such statement need be filed on behalf of such company.

477. Every such agent shall, in the month of January, annually, also deposit with the said auditor a similar statement of the capital of the company which he represents, and the investments and risks as aforsaid, to be made up by the thirty-first day of December next preceding, signed and sworn to as above directed, and the auditor shall annually in the month of February publish an abstract of the statement filed in his office as required by section nine of this act and by this section, and the expense of publishing said abstract shall be paid by such companies; Provided, however, That not more than one such statement need be filed by such company in one year.

478. No person shall act as agent as aforesaid for any such surety company in this state unless the capital stock of the company of which he represents amounts to the sum of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars actually paid in money and invested exclusively of any obligations of the stockholders of any description.

479. No person shall act as agent of any surety company until such company and such agent shall have complied with all the requirements of the laws of this state relating to such companies and their agents, and every person acting without such compliance shall be fined one thousand dollars.

480. The auditor of public accounts shall annually examine the statements and returns required to be made by the companies and agents as aforesaid, and if in his opinion any return shall be obscure, defective, or unsatisfactory, he shall immediately require answers, under oath from the agent from whom such obscure, defective, or unsatisfactory returns shall have been made, to such interrogatories as he may deem necessary or proper to be answered in order to explain such return, and exhibit a full and accurate view of the business and resources of the company represented by such agent.

481. Every agent who shall refuse or neglect to answer such interrogatories for the space of thirty days, and continue to act as agent as aforesaid, shall be liable to the penalty prescribed in section ten of this act [479].

482. The auditor of public accounts, either personally or by a committee appointed by him, consisting of one or more persons not directors, officers, or agents of any surety company doing business in this state, may at any time examine into the affairs of any surety company incorporated by or doing business in this state. The officers or agents of said company shall exhibit its books to said auditor or committee, and otherwise facilitate such examination, and the auditor or committee may examine under oath the officers and agents of any such company in relation to its affairs; and said auditor shall, if he deems it for the best so to do, publish the result of such investigation in one or more newspapers published in the state. Whenever it shall appear to the said auditor, from the statement or from an examination of the affairs of any surety company not incorporated under the authority of this state, that such company is insolvent, or is conducting its business fraudulently, or refuses or neglects to comply with the laws of the state relating to surety companies, it shall be the duty of said auditor to revoke the certificate of authority issued to the agent or agents of any such company, and he shall cause a notice thereof to be published in one or more newspapers published in this state, and the agent or agents of such company after such notice shall transact no further business in this state. All the expenses of an examination made under the provisions of this section shall be paid to the auditor by the company examined.

483. The auditor of public accounts shall report to the attorney general any violation of the provisions of this chapter which shall come to his knowledge, and the attorney general shall institute the proper legal proceedings in the name of the state against any person violating any such provision.

484. [Fees.]—Every surety company not incorporated in this state, applying for admission to transact business therein, shall pay to the auditor of public accounts for the use of the state, for filing copy of its charter or deed of settlement, the sum of thirty dollars; for filing statement preliminary to admission, and for filing each annual statement after admission, the sum of twenty dollars, and for each agent's certificate annually, the sum of two dollars.

Sec. 485. "An act to permit and authorize plate glass insurance companies of other states of the Union to transact business in the state of Nebraska." 1889, p. 427. In force May 19.

485. That any company organized under the laws of any state in this Union for the purpose of insuring plate glass against accidental breakage exclusively, may transact such business within this state, provided said company has a paid up capital of $100,000.00 or more, deposited with their proper state officials, and fully complying with all the insurance laws of this state relating to foreign insurance companies, and especially chapter 43 of the Compiled Statutes [ch. 9] of this state.

Manufacturing Companies.

Secs. 486 to 488 formed secs. 37 to 39, ch. 25, p. 202, R. S. 1866.

486. Whenever any number of persons associate themselves together for the purpose of engaging in the business of manufacturing, they shall, under their hands and seals, make a certificate, specifying the amount of capital stock necessary, the amount of each share, the name of the place where such manufacturing establishment shall be located, and the name and style by which such company shall be known; said certificate shall be acknowledged, certified, and forwarded to the secretary of state, and by him be recorded and copied; and when so incorporated, they are hereby authorized to carry on the manufacturing operations named in said certificate of incorporation, and by the name and style provided in said certificate, shall be deemed a body corporate with succession, and they and their associates, successors, and assigns shall have the same general corporate powers as are conferred in this chapter upon bridge companies, and subject to all the restrictions hereafter provided.

487. The annual meeting of the stockholders shall be held on the first Monday of January in each year, at which meeting the directors of the company shall be elected, and such other lawful business done as the stockholders shall deem necessary and proper; and should they fail to elect directors at the annual meeting, they shall hold a special meeting at some subsequent time for that purpose, by giving thirty days' notice thereof in some newspaper of general circulation in such county; the directors shall hold their offices until their successors are chosen and qualified, but no person shall be a director after ceasing to be a stockholder. Immediately after the election, the directors shall elect one of their number president of the corporation and may appoint such other officers and agents as they may deem proper to transact their business, and prescribe the amount of compensation to be allowed them for their services, and such officers, when required by the by-laws, shall give bonds to the satisfaction of the directors for the faithful discharge of the trust committed to them, and shall have power and are hereby authorized to make such rules, regulations, and by-laws as may be necessary for their government, not inconsistent with the constitution of this state. The directors shall have the general management of the affairs of the company, and may dispose of the residue of the capital stock at any time remaining unsubscribed, in such manner as the stockholders for the time being may prescribe, and may employ the capital and means of the company in such manufactures as they shall deem best for the company, and for the erection and maintenance of such machinery, dams, buildings, races, and water courses, subject always to the control of the stockholders, as may be necessary in the business of manufacturing, but for no other purposes than those connected with and pertaining to said business; they shall cause a record to be kept of all stock subscribed and transferred, and all business transactions, and their books and records shall at all reasonable times be open to the inspection of any and every stockholder; they shall also, when required, present to the stockholders reports, in writing, of the situation and the amount of business of the company, and declare and make such dividends of the profits from the business of the company, not reducing the capital stock while they have outstanding liabilities, as they shall deem expedient.

488. The persons named in the certificate of incorporation, or a majority of them, shall be commissioners to open the books for the subscription to the capital stock of said company, and at such times and places as they shall deem proper, and the said company are authorized to commence operations upon the subscription of ten per cent of said stock.

Railroads.

I. INCORPORATION, ETC.

Secs. 489 to 497 formed secs. 72 to 80, ch. 25, R. S., 1866, p. 213, entitled "Incorporations."

489. Any number of natural persons, not less than five, may become a body corporate, with all the rights, privileges, and powers conferred by, and subject to all the restrictions of this subdivision.

490. Any number of persons as aforesaid, associating to form a company for the purpose of constructing a railroad, shall, under their hands, make a certificate, which shall specify as follows: First—The name assumed by such company and by which it shall be known. Second—The names of the places of the termini of said road, and the county or counties through which said road shall pass. Third—The amount of capital stock necessary to construct such road. Such certificate shall be acknowledged before a notary public, and certified by the clerk of the district court in the same manner as is provided for the conveyance of real estate, and shall be forwarded to the secretary of state, who shall record and carefully preserve the same in his office; and a copy thereof duly certified by said secretary, under the seal of the state, shall be prima facie evidence of the existence of such corporation.

A certificate need not specify the place of termini of a branch line within the state, nor the counties through which the same will pass. Trester v. Mo Pac. R. Co., 33, 180 (49 N. W., 1110).

491. When the foregoing provisions have been complied with, the persons named as corporators in said certificate are hereby authorized to carry into effect the objects named in such certificate in accordance with the provisions of this subdivision, and they and their associates, successors, and assigns, by the name and style provided in said certificate, shall thereafter be deemed a body corporate, with succession, with power to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, defend and be defended, contract and be contracted with, acquire and convey at pleasure all such real and personal estate as may be necessary and convenient to carry into effect the objects of the corporation; to make and use a common seal, and the same to alter at pleasure, and to do all needful acts to carry into effect the objects for which it was created. And such company shall possess all the powers and be subject to all the rules and restrictions provided by this subdivision.

No power to contract to sell or dispose of their rights, lines, property, or franchises, or to consolidate, until such road shall have been constructed. Clark v. O. & S. W. R. R., 4, 465.

492. Such corporation shall be authorized and empowered to lay out, locate, construct, furnish, maintain, operate, and enjoy a railroad with single or double tracks, with such side tracks, turnouts, offices, and depots as thall be necessary, between the places of the termini of the said road, commencing at or within, and extending to or into any town, city, or village, named as the termini of said road, and construct branches from the main line to other towns or places within the limits of this state.

Amended 1871, p. 104. Where railroad builds through a town of 1,500 or more people a depot must be established. State v. R. V. R. R. Co., 18, 512 (26 N. W., 205).

493. The capital stock of such company shall be divided into shares of one hundred dollars each, and consist of such sum as may be named in the certificate; such shares shall be regarded as personal property, and shall be subject to sale or transfer, and to execution at law.

494. An installment of ten per cent on each share of stock shall be payable at the time of making the subscription, and the residue thereof shall be paid in such installments and at such times and places as may be required by the directors of such company.

495. If any installment of stock shall remain unpaid for sixty days after the time it may be required or specified in the call by order of the board of directors, whether the said stock is held by an assignee, transferee, or original subscriber, the same may be collected by action of debt, or the directors may, at their election, serve upon such stockholder, in case he shall be a resident of the state, thirty days' notice in writing, that such installment has been due and unpaid for the term aforesaid, or in case such stockholder shall be a non-resident of this state, publish in some newspaper printed at the capital of this state, and of general circulation in this state, a like notice that such installment has been due and unpaid for the term aforesaid; and if the said installment shall not be paid, with all the charges and expenses incurred in the proceedings hereby prescribed, within ninety days after the service of notice or the last publication provided for as aforesaid, the said stock, and all the right, title, and interest of the said assignee, transferee, or original subscriber therein shall, by virtue of such failure, and without further action by such company, become forfeited, and may be disposed of by said company as it sees proper.

496. Whenever any railroad company heretofore incorporated or created, or incorporated under the provisions of this subdivision, shall, in the opinion of the directors thereof, require an increased amount of capital stock, they shall, when authorized by the holders of a majority of capital stock, file with the secretary of state a certificate setting forth the amount of such desired increase, and shall give public notice of such increase of the capital stock of such company by publishing the same for sixty days in a newspaper published in the county in which it maintains its public and principal office, and thereafter such company shall be entitled to have such increased capital as is fixed by said certificate.

497. The persons named in said certificate of incorporation, or any three of them, shall be authorized to order books to be opened for receiving subscriptions to the capital stock of said company, at such time or times, and at such place or places as they may deem expedient, after having given at least thirty days' notice in a newspaper published or generally circulated in one or more counties where books of subscription are to be opened, of the time and place of opening books; and so soon as ten per centum on the capital stock shall be subscribed, they may give like notice for the stockholders to meet at such time and place as they may designate, for the purpose of choosing seven directors, who shall continue in office until the time fixed for the annual election, and until their successors are chosen and qualified. At the time and place appointed, directors shall be chosen by ballot, by such of the stockholders as shall attend for that purpose, either in person or by lawful proxies. Each share shall entitle the owner to one vote, and a plurality of votes cast at such election shall be necessary for a choice; but after the first election for directors, no person shall vote on any share on which any installment is due and unpaid. The persons named in such certificate, or such of them as may be present, shall be inspectors of such election, and shall certify what persons are elected directors, and appoint the time and place for holding their first meeting. A majority of said directors shall form a board, and be competent to fill vacancies therein, make by-laws not inconsistent with the provisions of this subdivision of the laws of this state, and alter the same at pleasure, and transact all business of the corporation. A new election shall be annually held for directors, at such time and place as the stockholders at their first meeting shall determine, or as the by-laws of the corporation may require; and the directors chosen at any election shall, so soon thereafter as may be convenient, choose one of their number to be president, and shall appoint a secretary and treasurer of the corporation. The directors shall from time to time make such dividends of the profits of the said company as they may think proper, and the said by-laws and all alterations and revisions thereof shall be recorded and preserved in the office of the secretary of state, in the same manner as the certificate provided for in section seventy-three of this chapter [490].

Sec. 498 formed sec. 112, R. S. 1866, p. 228.

498. Every stockholder of any railroad company shall be individually liable to the creditors of such company, to an amount equal to the amount unpaid on the stock held by him for all the debts and liabilities of such company, until the whole of the capital stock held by him shall have been paid to the company; but in no other case shall the stockholders be individually liable for the debts of the corporation.

When amount due the corporation amounts to or exceeds the amount claimed by the creditor, a joint payment may be rendered against the corporation and stockholders. White v. Blum, 4, 560.

Secs. 499 and 500 formed secs. 88 and 87, R. S. 1866, p. 219.

499. Each and every railroad company incorporated under this subdivision, and such as shall hereafter accept the same, shall annually in the month of January make, upon the oath of the president, secretary, or treasurer, a full report of the condition of its affairs to the auditor of the state, showing the amount of the capital stock of such company, the gross amount of receipts during the previous year, the cost of repairs and incidental expenses, the net amount of profits, and the dividends made, with such other facts as may be necessary to a full statement of the affairs and condition of such road; and the auditor shall incorporate an abstract thereof in his annual report to the legislature.

Jackman v. M. P. R. Co., 15, 529 (19 N. W., 497).

500. Such corporations shall, upon commencing business, establish an office at some point on the line of its road, and may change the same at pleasure.

Secs. 501 to 505. "An act to require railroad corporations doing business in the state of Nebraska to have and maintain public offices in the state for the transaction of their business." 1881, p. 308. In force June 1.

501. That all railroad corporations or companies doing business in the state of Nebraska as public carriers, either for the transportation of freight or carrying passengers from any point in this state, are hereby required to have and maintain a public general office in this state, in some county through which said road runs, for the transaction of its business, which office shall be established on or before the first day of January, A. D. 1882, and notice thereof given by publication in some newspaper on the line of its road for four consecutive weeks; Provided, That railroad corporations or companies, hereafter to be incorporated under the laws of this state, shall have one year, from the date of such incorporation, in which to comply with the provisions of this act.

502. It shall be the further duty of all such railroad corporations or companies doing business as aforesaid, to keep and maintain in such offices books in which shall be recorded the amount of capital stock of such railroad corporation or company, and also the transfer of such stock, the amount of its assets and liabilities, and the names and places of residence of its officers, which said books shall be open to public inspection at all times. And the general manager, general superintendent, general freight or ticket agent or such other general officers or agents as said railroad corporations or companies shall have or employ, shall keep and maintain their offices at such general offices within this state; Provided, That railroad corporations or companies not operating over ten miles of road in this state shall be exempted from the provisions of this act.

503. The directors of every railroad corporation or company having control of any road doing business in the state of Nebraska, shall annually make a report to the auditor of public accounts, of the amount of money received for the preceding year from passengers and freight, at any and all points in this state, which report shall be made and filed with the auditor on or before the fifteenth day of January of each year.

504. Any railroad corporation or company violating any provisions of this act or failing to comply with the provisions herein contained, shall forfeit all right to do business in this state, and on application of any person feeling aggrieved, it shall be the duty of any court having jurisdiction, upon proper and satisfactory proof, to place such railroad in the hands of a receiver and proceed to wind up its business.

505. In addition to the penalties in the proceeding section, the principal officers of such corporation or company shall be subject to fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or imprisonment, upon conviction, in the penitentiary for a term not exceeding three years.

II. EMINENT DOMAIN.

Secs. 506 to 510 formed secs. 81-86, except 84, ch. 25, R. S. 1866, p. 217.

506. Such corporation is authorized to enter upon any land for the purpose of examining and surveying its railroad line, and may take, hold, and appropriate so much real estate as may be necessary for the location, construction, and convenient use of its road, including all necessary grounds for stations, buildings, workshops, depots, machine shops, switches, side-tracks, turn-tables, and water-stations; all materials for the construction and repair of said road and its appurtenances; and a right of way over adjacent lands, sufficient to enable such company to construct and repair its road, and a right to conduct water by aqueducts, and the right of making proper drains; Provided, That the lands held, taken, and appropriated, otherwise than by the consent of the owner, shall not exceed two hundred feet in width, except for wood and water stations, and depot grounds, unless where greater width is necessary for excavations, embankments, or depositing waste earth; Provided further, That no appropriation of private property, for the use of any corporation provided for in this subdivision, shall be made until full compensation therefor be first made or secured to the owners thereof.

One exercise of right of eminent domain does not exhaust power of railroad company. Deitrichs v. L. & N. W. R. R. Co., 13, 365 (13 N. W., 624). See C. B. & Q. R. v. Hall, 24, 745 (40 N. W., 280). Where the owner of land conveyed a right of way one hundred feet wide to a railroad company "its successors and assigns have right of way, and for operating its railroad only"; and afterwards another railroad was allowed to build and operate another road over a part thereof. Held, That the second railroad was an additional burden and the land owner should recover therefor. Blakely v. C., K. & N. R. Co., 34, 284 (51 N. W., 767).

507. Whenever any railroad company heretofore incorporated, or which may hereafter be incorporated, shall find it necessary for the purpose of avoiding annoyance to public travel, or dangerous or difficult curves or grades, or unsafe or unsubstantial grounds or foundations, or for other reasonable causes, to change the grade or location of any portion of their road, whether heretofore made or hereafter to be made, such railroad companies shall be and are hereby authorized to make such changes of grade and location, not departing from their general route. And for the purpose of making any such change in the location and grades of any such roads as aforesaid, such company shall have all the rights, powers, and privileges to enter upon and appropriate such lands, and make surveys necessary to effect such changes and grades, upon the same terms, and be subject to the same obligations, rules, and regulations as are prescribed by law; and shall also be liable in damages, when any may have been caused by such change, to the owner or owners of lands upon which such road was heretofore constructed, to be ascertained and paid, or deposited as herein provided; but no damages shall be allowed unless claimed within ninety days after actual notice in writing of such intended change shall be given to such owner or owners residing on the premises, or notice by publication in some newspaper in general circulation in the county, if non-resident.

508. If it shall be necessary, in the location of any part of any railroad, to occupy any road, street, alley, or public way or ground of any kind, or any part thereof, it shall be competent for the municipal or other corporation, or public officer or public authorities, owning or having charge thereof, and the railroad company, to agree upon the manner and upon the terms and conditions upon which the same may be used or occupied; and if said parties shall be unable to agree thereon and it shall be necessary, in the judgment of the directors of such railroad company, to use or occupy such road, street, alley, or other public way or ground, such company may appropriate so much of the same as may be necessary for the purposes of such road, in the same manner and upon the same terms as is provided for the appropriation of the property of individuals by the eighty-first section of this chapter [506].

Where the use of the streets obstructs the lot-owner's free use of the street he may recover damages. C., K. & N. R. R. Co. v. Hazels, 26, 369 (42 N. W., 93). See Gottschalk v. C., B. & Q. R. R. Co., 14, 554 (16 N. W., 475).

509. Such company may acquire, by purchase or gift, any lands in the vicinity of said road, or through which the same may pass, so far as the same may be deemed convenient or necessary by said company to secure the right of way to such as may be granted to aid in the construction of such road, and the same to hold or convey in such manner as the directors may prescribe; and all deeds and conveyances made by such company shall be signed by the president under the seal of the corporation, and any existing corporation may accept the provisions of this subdivision by filing in writing their acceptance thereof, under the seal of said corporation, in the office of the secretary of state. And upon filing such acceptance, such corporation shall, from the date thereof, succeed to and become invested with all the rights, privileges, immunities, and powers conferred by this subdivision, without reorganizing. The said secretary shall record and preserve such acceptance in his office, and a copy thereof, duly certified by said secretary, under the seal of the state, shall be evidence in all the courts of this state of such acceptance.

510. Any railway company may construct and carry their railroad across, over, or under any road, railroad, canal, stream, or water course, when it may be necessary in the construction of the same; and in such cases said corporation shall so construct their railroad crossings as not unnecessarily to impede the travel, transportation, or navigation upon the road, railroad, canal, stream, or water course so crossed. Said corporation shall have the right to change the channel of any stream or water course from its present location or bed, whenever it may be necessary in the location, construction, or use of their said road, provided they do not change its general course, or materially impair its former usefulness.

This does not relieve them from any damage resulting from such act. McCleneghan v. O. & R. V. R. R. Co., 25, 523 (41 N. W., 350).

Secs. 511 and 512 formed secs. 95 and 97, R. S. 1866, pp. 223-4.

511. Any railroad corporation may purchase and use real estate for a price to be agreed upon with the owners thereof; or the damages to be paid by such corporation for any real estate taken as aforesaid, when not agreed upon, shall be ascertained and determined by commissioners to be appointed by the probate judge of the county wherein such real estate is situated, in conformity with the provisions of this subdivision; Provided, That if the company shall need or require, for the purpose of constructing said railroad, to take and occupy any real estate, in any unorganized county, or other unorganized country in this state, where there is no probate judge, then the probate judge of the first organized county east of said lands upon the line of said road shall appoint commissioners to assess said damages, and to perform all other duties required by the probate judges and commissioners by the terms of this subdivision, and either shall have the right to appeal, as in other cases provided for by this subdivision.

"Owner" applies to any person having an interest in the estate. Dodge v. O. & S. W. R. R. Co., 20, 282 (29 N. W., 926). Competency of witnesses, opinions of the same, and what damages recoverable. B. & M. R. R. Co. v. Schluntz, 14, 421 (16 N. W., 439). Experts may be allowed to testify as to the value of the land immediately before the location, and its value immediately after. R. V. R. R. Co. v. Arnold, 13, 485 (14 N. W., 478). In ascertaining value of lots it was held error to admit in evidence what they cost three years before. Deitrichs v. L. & N. R. R. Co., 12, 229 (10 N. W., 718). Measure of damages and opinion of witnesses. F., E. & M. V. R. R. Co. v. Whalen, 11, 585 (10 N. W., 491). F., E & M. V. R. R. Co. v. Lamb, 11, 592 (10 N. W., 493). Petition to condemn must make a prima facie case. Clark v. C. K. & N. R. R. Co., 23, 613 (37 N. W., 484). When damages awarded have not been deposited with probate judge, may bring action for the amount of the award to enjoin the operation of the road against his premises, or sue for trespass. O. & N. W. R. R. v. Menk, 4, 24. Injunction will lie unless company has made deposit with probate judge as required by law, though appeal has been taken from award. Ray v. A. & N. R. R., 4, 440. A paper headed "transcript," certified by county judge, though not complete, held to be sufficient to give appellate court jurisdiction. N. & C. R. R. Co. v. Storer, 22, 92 (31 N. W., 69). Company liable for damages resulting from taking street. F., E. & M. V. R. Co. v. Meeker, 28, 99 (44 N. W., 79). Railroad liable for damages to a lot owner by reason of running through an alley adjoining his lot. Gottschalk v. C., B. & Q. R. R. Co., 14, 554 (16 N. W., 475). Damages may be recovered though no part of the land be actually taken. R. V. R. R. Co. v. Fellers, 16, 169 (20 N. W., 217).

512. If the owner of any real estate over which said railroad corporation may desire to locate their road shall refuse to grant the right of way through his or her premises, the county judge of the county in which said real estate may be situated, as provided in this subdivision, shall, upon the application of either party, direct the sheriff of said county to summon six disinterested freeholders of said county, to be selected by said county judge, and not interested in a like question, unless a smaller number shall be agreed upon by said parties, whose duty it shall be to carefully inspect and view said real estate, and assess the damages which said owner shall sustain by the appropriation of his or her land to the use of said railroad corporation, and make report in writing to the county judge of said county, who, after certifying the same under his seal of office, shall transmit the same to the county clerk of said county for record, and said county clerk shall file, record, and index the same in the same manner as is provided for the record of deeds in this state, and such record shall have the like force and effect as the record of deeds in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided. And if said corporation shall at any time before they enter upon said real estate, for the purpose of constructing said road, pay to said county judge for the use of said owner the sum so assessed and returned to him as aforesaid, they shall thereby be authorized to construct and maintain their said road over and across said premises; Provided, That either party may have the right to appeal from such assessment of damages to the district court of the county in which such lands are situated, within sixty days after such assessment. And in case of such appeal, the decision and finding of the district court shall be transmitted by the clerk thereof, duly certified to the county clerk, to be filed and recorded as hereinbefore provided, in his office. But such appeal shall not delay the prosecution of the work on said railroad if such corporation shall first pay or deposit with such county judge the amount so assessed by said freeholders. Such railroad company shall in all cases pay the costs of the first assessment; Provided, That if, on appeal, the appellant shall not obtain a more favorable judgment and award than was given by said freeholders, then such appellant shall be adjudged to pay all the costs made on such appeal; Provided further, That either party may appeal from the decision of the district court to the supreme court of the state, and the money so deposited shall remain in the hands of the county judge until a final decision be had, subject to the order of the supreme court.

Amended 1883, p. 179. This method is exclusive and either party may proceed under it, but does not include damages before condemnation. R. V. R. R. Co. v. Fink, 18, 86 (24 N. W., 439). Question of damages peculiarly of a local nature, and for jury. Omaha Belt R. Co. v. Johnson, 24, 708 (40 N. W., 134). Building on proposed right of way may be condemned and may be sold by company. Forney v. F., E. & M. V. R. R. Co., 23, 469 (36 N. W., 806). Damage to or loss of a house or stone quarry on the proposed right of way are proper elements of damage. Witness acquainted with land before and after may state value. B. & M. R. Co. v. White, 28, 166 (44 N. W., 95). As to damages for diversion of a stream, etc. Jackman v. M. P. R. Co., 15, 525 (19 N. W., 497). Company cannot dispute the ownership of the land on appeal. O., N. & B. H. R. R. Co. v.

Gerrard, 17, 592 (24 N. W., 279). Railroad company cannot, on appeal, disprove the title of the person to whom damages were awarded without pleading his want of title. Gerrard v. O., N. & B. H. R. R. Co., 14, 270 (15 N. W., 231). R. V. R. R. Co. v. Hayes, 13, 489 (14 N. W., 521). Dietrichs v. L. & N. W. R. R. Co., 14, 355 15 N. W., 728). The word "owner," as used in the statute, applies to all persons who have an interest in the estate. Gerrard v. O., N. & B. H. R. R. Co., 14 271 (15 N. W., 231). No appeal being taken, mandamus lies to compel company to deposit amount of award with county judge. State, ex rel. Farmer, v. G. I. & W. C. R. Co., 27, 693 (43 N. W., 419). State, ex rel. Farmer, v. G. I. & W. C. R. Co., 31, 215 (47 N. W., 857). Where, on appeal, the only question is the amount of damage, no pleadings are necessary, but if other issues are involved they must be pleaded to be available. R. V. R. R. Co. v. Hayes, 13, 491 (14 N. W., 521). Transcript must be filed within sixty days or good reason shown. Gifford v. R. V. & K. R. R. Co. 20, 541 (31 N. W., 11). Party cannot be prevented from taking appeal by neglect of officers to prepare a transcript. R. V. R. R. Co. v. McPherson, 12, 480 (11 N. W., 739). Company cannot abandon the taking of the land after trial of appeal and judgment in district court. Drath v. B. & M. R. R. Co., 15, 371 (18 N. W., 717). Railroad company which has appealed, but afterwards is satisfied with award, should move to affirm it (which will carry costs and interest), not to dismiss appeal. Robbins v. O. & N. P. R. R. Co., 27, 75 (42 N. W., 905). If company appeal, and then dismiss its appeal, the award should be affirmed, which carries with it interest and costs. Berggren v. F., E. & M. V. R. R. Co., 23, 621 (37 N. W., 470). Cannot be dismissed because railroad company does not answer. O., N. & B. H. R. R. Co. v. Umstead, 17, 460 (23 N. W., 350). Where, on appeal, verdict is less than award, costs should be divided equally. B. & M. R. R. Co. v. Spere, 24, 125 (38 N. W., 35). When, on appeal, the owner recovers more damages than was allowed by commissioners, he may have interest thereon from the time he was entitled to compensation. Sioux City R. R. v. Brown, 13, 320 (14 N. W., 407). District court should render judgment on verdict of jury in case of appeal. Dietrichs v. L. & N. R. R. Co., 12, 231 (10 N. W., 718). See A. & N. R. R. Co. v. Plant, 24, 130 (38 N. W., 33); Neb. Ry. Co. v. Van Dusen, 6, 160; Cady v. Smith, 12, 629 (12 N. W., 95). The judgment of the district court on appeal from an award is conclusive as to all matters necessarily within the issues joined. A. & N. R. R. Co. v. Forney, 35, 607 (53 N. W., 585). Condemnation proceedings may be had upon the ex parte application of either the railroad or the land-owner State, ex rel. Farmer, v. G. I. & W. C. R. R. Co., 31, 215 (47 N. W., 857). The application for appraisers must be in writing; and should state the name of the corporation, the land-owner, if known, a description of the real estate over which the road is located, the width required for right of way, and that the owner refuses to grant the same, and must be signed by some person empowered to do so by the corporation; it need not be dated, or verified, or set up incorporation of the company. Trester v. Mo. Pac. R. Co., 33, 184 (49 N. W., 1110). When a part of the land is taken, this remedy is exclusive. A petition setting forth the desire to take the strip through land named, referring to a plat attached for description, is sufficient. F., E. & M. V. R. Co. v. Mattheis, 35, 48 (52 N. W., 698).

Secs. 513 to 521. "An act to provide for the taking and prosecution of appeals," etc. 1887, p. 333. In force March 31.

513. That either party shall have the right to appeal to the district court of the county where the lands are situated from the assessment of damages allowed and mentioned in section ninety-seven (97) of chapter sixteen (16) of the Compiled Statutes (1885) of Nebraska [512], at the time and in the manner hereinafter specified and set forth.

514. That the party appealing shall within sixty days after such assessment enter into an undertaking to the adverse party, with at least one good and sufficient surety, to be approved by the county judge of such county; conditioned, first, that the appellant shall prosecute such appeal to effect without unnecessary delay; and second, that if judgment be adjudged against the appellant on the appeal, the appellant shall satisfy whatever judgment may be adjudged against such appellant.

515. That the party appealing may file such undertaking in the office of the clerk of the appellate court within the time aforesaid, which undertaking filed shall be approved by such clerk; upon the filing and approval of which undertaking the clerk shall issue a summons to the appellee to appear at the term of the court to which the appeal is returnable, which summons shall be served and returned in the time and manner as in cases commenced in the district court.

516. That when the appeal is taken by filing the appeal undertaking with the clerk of the appellate court, and a summons and alias summons shall have been duly issued against the appellee and returned "not found," it shall be lawful for the appellate court to proceed and try the appeal the same as if the appellee had been duly served with the process.

517. That said county judge shall, on demand of the appellant, make out a certified transcript of all the proceedings of such assessment, including the undertaking, and such of all papers and files as relate to or are connected with the assessment or assessments appealed from, and shall, on demand, deliver the same to the appellant, or his, her, or its agent, who shall deliver the same to the clerk of the appellate court, to which such appeal may be taken, on or before the first day of the next term of such appellate court.

518. That if such appeal shall be taken within less than twenty days next preceding said first day of said next term of appellate court, this said transcript shall be filed with said clerk on or before the first day of the next preceding term of said appellate court.

519. That said clerk, on receiving such transcript and other papers as aforesaid, shall file the same and docket the appeal; the owner of the land shall be the plaintiff in the appellate court, and the railroad company the defendant, and the parties shall proceed in all subjects in the same manner as though the action had been originally instituted in such appellate court.

No new pleadings are necessary. F., E. M. V. R. Co. v. Meeker, 28, 97 (44 N. W., 79). Judgment should be entered on the verdict and execution awarded without regard to the money deposited. Drath v. B. & M. R. R. Co., 15, 367 (18 N. W., 717).

520. That assessments made for the same right of way for the same railroad company, upon different tracts of lands belonging to the same owner or owners in the same right, may be joined in one appeal and proceeded with in the appellate court as separate counts joined in one action for damage to such tracts of land, for or on account of such right of way.

521. That this act shall not apply to any such assessments heretofore made.

Secs. 522 to 526 formed secs. 98, 99, 96, 100, 105 respectively, R. S. 1866, pp. 223 to 226.

522. Freeholders so appointed shall be the commissioners to assess all damages to the owners of real estate in said county; and said corporation may, at any time after their appointment, upon the refusal of any owner or guardian of any owner of lands in said county to grant the right of way as aforesaid, by giving the said owner or guardian ten days' notice thereof in writing, either by personal service or by leaving a copy thereof at his usual place of residence, have the damages assessed in the manner hereinbefore prescribed.

The giving of notice is an essential prerequisite to be complied with before the property of an individual can be appropriated by the corporation. Trester v. Mo. Pac. R. Co., 33, 185 (49 N. W., 1110).

523. In case of the death, absence, or refusal or neglect of any of said freeholders to act as commissioners as aforesaid, the sheriff shall, upon the selection of said probate judge, summon other freeholders to complete the panel, and said commissioners shall proceed as directed in the preceding section. Said commissioners shall receive two dollars per day, each, for their services, and the same shall be taxed in the bill of costs.

See R. V. R. Co. v. Fink, 18, 88 (24 N. W., 439).

524. Whenever any railroad corporation shall take any real estate as aforesaid, of any minor, insane person, or any married woman whose husband is under guardianship, the guardian of such minor or insane person, or such married woman with the guardian of such husband, may agree and settle with said corporation for all damages or claims by reason of the taking of such real estate, and may give valid releases and discharges therefor.

525. If, upon the location of said railroad, it shall be found to run through the lands of any non-resident owner, the said corporation may give four weeks' notice to such proprietor, if known, and if not known, by a description of such real estate, by publication four consecutive weeks in some newspaper published in the county where such lands may lie, if there be any, and if not, in one nearest thereto on the line of their said road, that said railroad has been located through his or her lands; and if such owner shall not within thirty days thereafter apply to said probate judge to have the damages assessed in the mode prescribed in the preceding sections, said company may proceed, as herein set forth, to have the damages assessed, subject to the same right of appeal as in case of resident owners; and upon the payment of the damages assessed to the probate judge of the proper county for such owner, the corporation shall acquire all rights and privileges mentioned in this subdivision.

Appraisement nine months after the time set confers no jurisdiction. Publication of notice must be four consecutive weeks. Hull v. C., B. & Q R. R. Co., 21, 383 (32 N. W., 162). See R. V. R. R. Co. v. Fink, 18, 88 (24 N. W., 439). By taking an appeal from the damages allowed by the appraisers, the land-owner enters an appearance and waives objections as to notice and other irregularities. If other issues than the question of damages are involved they must be presented by proper pleadings. Trester v. Mo. Pacific R. Co., 33, 186 (49 N. W., 1110). "Non-resident" here means a non-resident of the state, and not of the land affected. Pacific R. R. Co. v. Perkins, 36, (54 N. W., 845).

526. Any railroad corporation shall be authorized to pass over, occupy, and enjoy any of the school, university, saline, or other lands of this state; Provided, That no more than one hundred feet in width from the center of the roadway survey of such corporation, on either side, shall be taken for roadway, and not to exceed twenty acres, to conform to the subdivisions of the government survey, in any one tract for each section of twelve consecutive miles of such railroad, shall be taken for station, depot grounds, machine shops, turnouts, side-tracks, warehouses, and other appurtenances to a railroad; and that any railroad corporation that has surveyed or shall hereafter survey or locate a line of its road, immediately upon platting such survey of its line, and of the selection for depot grounds under this act, and filing such plat duly certified by the chief engineer or president of such corporation, of the fact of such survey and selection for depot grounds, duly acknowledged, with the secretary of state, and with the county clerk of the county in which said land is situated, to operate as a vested right in such corporation for two years from the date of filing the same, shall be authorized to enter upon said lands so surveyed and selected, and construct thereon all necessary railroad depot buildings, machine shops, turnouts, side-tracks, turntables, roundhouses, and other appurtenances deemed necessary for railroad purposes by such corporation, and so soon as such railroad shall be constructed over such lands so selected, and a station erected thereon, on proof of such fact to the satisfaction of the governor, and upon paying the full value for said lands for depot station and workshop grounds, and all grounds herein contemplated, except the one hundred feet of trackway, the governor shall convey in fee simple by letters patent under the great seal of the state, attested by the secretary of state, to the corporation constructing such railroad, the lands and right of way included in the plat and certificate so filed with the secretary of state as aforesaid, and no subsequent grant from the state to any other person or corporation of any tract of land including such right of way and selection for depot grounds so platted, and the plat thereof filed as aforesaid, though not excepted in such grant, shall divest said railroad corporations of their rights in the same under this act; Provided further, That the damages accruing to any occupant or owner, or other person who may reside or have improvements on said land previous to the filing of such plat, shall be determined and paid by said railroad company as heretofore provided in this subdivision.

Secs. 527 to 529. "An act to provide for the valuation and sale of state lands on which any railway company may have located its road, stations, or works." 1887, p. 534. In force July 1.

527. Any railway company incorporated under the laws of this state, which shall have constructed its railway, or located, or hereafter may construct or locate its grounds for stations, machine shops, depot grounds, turnouts, side tracks, warehouses, and other appurtenances to a railroad, incident to its organization, across or on any state lands, as provided by section 105, of chapter 16 of the Compiled

Statutes of Nebraska of 1885 [526], may apply in writing to the board of public lands and buildings, for valuation and conveyance thereof, filing with such application a plat and description of such lands.

Right to condemn real estate for right of way is restricted to corporations organized under the laws of this state. State v. Scott, 22, 642 (36 N. W., 121).

528. [Appraisement.]—On such application being made, the commissioner of public lands and buildings shall cause a copy of such application and plat to be forwarded to the chairman of the board of county commissioners, or supervisors of the county where such lands lie, and it shall be the duty of such county commissioners, or a majority of them, or if the county is under township organization, three of the supervisors to be designated by the said board of supervisors or a majority of such designated supervisors, to view the lands so desired to be purchased by such company, and return a true and correct value of such land, under oath, the material facts in which return shall be communicated to such board of county commissioners or supervisors, and entered of record in their proceedings.

529. After the foregoing proceedings have been had, the applicant to purchase shall, within ninety (90) days after such appraisement, pay to the state treasurer the appraised value of such land, and shall then be entitled to receive the deed for the same upon forwarding the proper evidence of such appraisal and receipt of the state treasurer to the commissioner of public lands and buildings; Provided further, That the damage accruing to any occupant or owner, or other person, who may reside or have improvements on said land previous to the filing of such plat, or the appraisement of such damages, shall be paid by said railroad company, such damages to be determined either by mutual agreement between the party so owning or occupying said lands, and such railway company, or by appraisement as in other cases.

Secs. 530 to 535. "An act to provide the manner in which the title may be acquired by railroad companies incorporated under the laws of this state for right of way and other necessary purposes across the educational and other lands of this state." 1887, p. 525. In force March 31.

530. That all railroad companies organized under the laws of this state which may have heretofore taken or may hereafter take any of the educational, saline, university, agricultural college, or other lands belonging to the state for right of way, stations, turnout, side tracks, or other necessary appurtenances to a railroad shall be entitled to a deed in fee simple for the land so taken, upon paying into the county treasury of the county where the land is situated the full value of the lands so taken, together with the amount for damages that the state shall sustain, together with the damages to lessee.

531. For the purpose of ascertaining the value of the lands so taken, or to be taken, the county commissioners of the county, or in case the county is acting under township organization, then three supervisors, to be appointed by their chairman, shall constitute a board of appraisers, and shall each be entitled to receive the sum of three (3) dollars per day for each day actually employed and ten cents per mile for each mile necessarily traveled, to be paid by the railroad company.

532. On application in writing to said board of appraisers by any railroad company desiring the appraisal of any of the lands mentioned in section one, it shall be the duty of said board to carefully inspect and view said land and appraise the value per acre of the lands at the time the same were taken, together with any damages the state may sustain by reason thereof.

533. The board shall make a report in writing to the county treasurer, of the value of the lands so taken, together with the amount of damages, if any, the state may sustain, and on payment of said amounts by the railway company into the county treasury, the county treasurer shall give the same receipt as he is required to give when payment is made of part principal on a contract of purchase, and the county clerk shall transmit a duplicate to the commissioner of public lands and buildings, to be by him entered of record as in other cases of payment on educational lands.

534. The railway company shall file a plat of the land so taken with the commissioner of public lands and buildings, who shall prepare a deed to be executed by the governor, conveying said lands to said company, and the amount of lands so taken shall be marked sold, by the said commissioner, from the section or part of section from which it has been sold.

535. Where any of the lands desired to be so taken are held under contract of sale or lease, the amount of lands so taken shall be deducted from the total amount mentioned in said contract, and the amount of cash so paid in on contracts of purchase shall be credited on the contract, first to the payment of the number of acres according to the contract price, and the residue as a payment on the balance of the land; Provided, however, That all damages that may be assessed by reason of injury done to any improvements on said land, or possession thereof, shall be paid to the person holding the contract of purchase or lease; Provided further, That not more than one hundred (100) feet will be taken for right of way, and not more than twenty (20) acres for all other purposes, on any one tract of six hundred and forty (640) acres; Provided further, That the lands so taken shall not be sold for less than seven (7) dollars per acre, nor less than the price per acre specified in the contract of purchase.

III. CONSOLIDATION—LEASING—PURCHASE, ETC.

Secs. 536 to 541 formed secs. 89 to 94, ch. 25, R. S. 1866, p. 230.

536. Whenever the lines of railroad of any railroad companies in this state, or any portion of such lines, have been or may be constructed, so as to admit the passage of burden or passenger cars over any two or more of such roads continuously, without break of gauge or interruption, such companies are hereby authorized to consolidate themselves into a single corporation, in the manner following: The directors of the said two or more corporations may enter into an agreement, under the corporate seal of each, for the consolidation of the said two or more corporations, prescribing the terms and conditions thereof; the mode of carrying the same into effect; the name of the new corporation; the number of directors thereof, which shall not be less than seven; the time and place of holding the first election of directors; the number of shares of capital stock in the new corporation; the amount of each share; the manner of converting the shares of capital stock in each of said two or more corporations into shares in such new corporation; the manner of compensating stockholders in each of said two or more corporations who refuse to convert their stock into the stock of such new corporation, with such other details as they shall deem necessary to perfect such consolidation of said corporations; and such new corporations shall possess all the powers, rights, and franchises conferred upon such said two or more corporations, and shall be subject to all the restrictions, and perform all the duties imposed by the provisions of this subdivision; Provided, That all stockholders in either of such corporations who shall refuse to convert their stock into the stock of such new corporation shall be paid the market value of said stock at the date of such consolidation.

Consolidation authorized only when, by it, two roads will form a continuous line. State v. A. & N. R. R. Co., 24, 158-9 (38 N. W., 43).

537. Such agreement of the directors shall not be deemed to be the agreement of the said two or more corporations until after it has been submitted to the stockholders of each of the said corporations separately, at a meeting thereof, to be called upon a notice of at least ninety days, specifying the time and place of such meeting, and the object thereof, to be addressed to each of such stockholders, when the place of residence is known, and deposit in the postoffice, and published at least for six successive weeks in one newspaper in one of the cities or towns in which each of said corporations has its principal office of business, and has been sanctioned by such stockholders, by the vote of at least two-thirds of the amount of the stock represented at such meeting, voting by ballot in regard to such agreement, either in person or by proxy, each share of capital stock being entitled to one vote. And when such agreement of the directors has been so sanctioned by each of the meetings of the stockholders, separately, after being submitted to such meetings in the manner above mentioned, then such agreement of the directors shall be deemed to be the agreement of the said two or more corporations.

538. Upon making the agreement mentioned in the preceding section in the manner required therein, and filing a duplicate in counterpart thereof, in the office of the secretary of state, the said two or more corporations (mentioned or referred to in the last two preceding sections, or any other law of this state) shall be merged in the new corporation provided for in such agreement, to be known by the corporate name therein mentioned; and the details of such agreement shall be carried into effect as provided therein.

Articles of consolidation need not be recorded in county clerk's office. The new consolidated company thus formed is a body corporate, and may exercise the right of eminent domain. Trester v. Mo. Pacific R. Co., 33, 179 (49 N. W., 1110).

539. Upon the election of the first board of directors of the corporation created by the agreement in the preceding section mentioned, and by the provisions of this subdivision, all and singular the rights and franchises of each and all of said two or more corporations, parties to such agreement, all and singular the rights and interest in and to every species of property, real, personal, and mixed, and things in action, shall be deemed to be transferred to and vested in such new corporation, without any other deed or transfer. And such new corporation shall hold and enjoy the same, together with the right of way and all other rights of property, in the same manner and to the same extent as if the said two or more corporations, parties to such agreement, should have continued to retain the title and transact the business of such corporations. And the titles and the real estate acquired by either of the said two or more corporations shall not be deemed to revert or be impaired by means of anything in this subdivision contained; Provided, That all rights of creditors, and all liens upon the property of either of said corporations, shall be and hereby are preserved unimpaired; and the respective corporations shall continue to exist, as far as may be necessary to enforce the same; Provided further, That all debts, liabilities, and duties of either company shall henceforth attach to such new corporation and be enforced to the same extent and in the same manner as if such debts, liabilities, and duties had been originally incurred by it.

540. When any two or more railroad companies shall become consolidated, as contemplated by the provisions of this subdivision, such companies so consolidated shall keep each and every railroad line that may come into its possession by such consolidation in good running order, with sufficient rolling stock to transfer the freight and passengers. They shall not discriminate against the business of either, or any of such railroad lines, either directly or indirectly, by the detention of freight or passengers, or by charging more for freight or passengers than is charged in proportion upon any other railroad line under the control of said company so consolidated *and whenever any railroad company, persons, or person, their grantors, assignors, lessors, or mortgagors shall have received any lands, bonds, moneys, or other valuable thing, to aid in the construction of any railroad in this state, such railroad company, persons, or person, their grantees, assignees, lessees, or mortgagees, shall keep all such roads in good running order, and shall run all trains over the same, and shall cause the same to be listed for taxation as provided in section 17 of chapter sixty-six, entitled "Revenue" [ch. 46, Public Finances], and for each and every violation of any condition, requirement or non-compliance with this act, the corporation, persons or person so violating, or non-complying, shall be fined in any sum not more than five hundred dollars, to be paid to the persons or person so injured, and to be collected by the proper civil action, and shall, in the discretion of the court, forfeit its charter and franchises, and the property of such corporations, companies, persons, or person so violating, or non-complying, shall be subject to execution without stay thereof, where the same has not been forfeited.

After * added 1875, p. 69.

541. Any railroad company heretofore or hereafter incorporated may, at any time, by means of subscription to the capital stock of any other company or otherwise, aid such company in the construction of its railroad for the purpose of forming a connection of said last mentioned road with the road owned by the company furnishing such aid; or any railroad company existing in pursuance of law may lease or purchase any part of or all of any railroad constructed or to be constructed by any other company, if said company's lines of railroad constructed or to be constructed are continuous or connected as aforesaid, upon such terms and conditions as may be agreed on between said companies respectively; or any two or more railroad companies, whose lines are so connected, may enter into an agreement for their common benefit, consistent with and calculated to promote the objects for which they are created; Provided, That no such aid shall be furnished, nor any purchase, lease, or arrangement perfected, until a meeting of the stockholders of each of said companies shall have been called by the directors thereof, at such time and place and in manner as they shall designate, and the holders of at least two-thirds of the stock of such company, represented at such meeting either in person or by proxy and voting thereat, shall have assented thereto.

Amended 1889, p. 575. Unauthorized leasing subjects franchise to forfeiture. State v. A. & N. R. R. Co., 24, 141 (38 N. W., 43). Lease and purchase authorized only when thereby two roads will form a continuous line. State v. A. & N. R. R. Co., 24, 164 (38 N. W., 43). One road may lease the whole or part of another. Gottschalk v. L. & N. W. R. R. Co., 14, 391 (15 N. W., 695).

Secs. 542 and 543. "An act authorizing the purchase and sale of railroads in certain cases." 1881, p. 303. In force June 1.

542. Every railroad company organized under the laws of this state whose railroad or railroads constructed or to be constructed within this state shall be so situated with reference to any railroad constructed or to be constructed through any adjoining state or territory by any railroad company organized or existing under the laws of the United States, or any state or territory, that the same may be so connected at the boundary line of this state or at any point within this state by bridge, ferry, or otherwise, as to practically form a continuous line of railway over which cars may pass, is hereby authorized to purchase such connecting railway, or to sell the same to the railroad company constructing, owning, or operating the said railroad through said adjoining state or territory as aforesaid, to said point of connection. And any such foreign railroad company purchasing under the provisions hereof any such connecting railroad within this state may manage the same by its board of directors and officers, and may operate the same, and may issue thereon its stock and bonds to the same extent and in the same manner as authorized by the laws of this state, and the said company shall file for record in the office of the secretary of state of this state a true copy of its articles of incorporation, and the said company shall thereafter possess, exercise, and enjoy within this state as to the control, management, and operation of the said road, and as to the location, construction, and operation of any extension of its said railroad or any connecting railroad or feeders within this state, all the rights, powers, privileges, and immunities, including the powers of eminent domain, possessed by other railroad corporations of this state, and shall be liable to all the restrictions imposed by the general laws of this state upon the railroad corporations of this state. The purchase of any such railroad shall be subject to any and all laws, incumbrance, or indebtedness existing against the railroad company from which such road may be purchased; Provided, however, That nothing herein contained shall be construed as authorizing the purchase by any railroad company under the provisions of this act of any parallel and competing line of railroad within this state.

543. Said corporation shall be subject to the laws of this state as to that portion of the road purchased, built, and operated in this state the same as if organized under the laws of this state.

See C., St. P., M. & O. R. R. Co. v. Lundstrom, 16, 254 (20 N. W., 198). A foreign corporation purchasing from a domestic corporation of Nebraska its line of road does not become thereby a new or a domestic corporation, and may still sue in United States court against citizens of Nebraska. C., St. P., M. & O. R. Co. v. Dakota County (Circ. Ct.), 28 Fed. Rep., 219.

Secs. 544 and 545. "An act relating to the purchase, lease, sale, and aiding of railroads in certain cases and for the ratification of prior leases, sales, and consolidations." 1887, p. 536. In force March 14.

544. Any railroad company organized under the laws of this state may buy or lease the whole or any part of the railroad and branches, constructed or to be constructed, together with all the property, rights, privileges and franchises thereto pertaining, of any railroad company organized under the laws of any other state or territory, and may aid such company in the construction of its road by the purchase of its stock and bonds, or by guaranteeing its bonds, or otherwise; and any railroad company of this state may sell or lease the whole or any part of its railroad and branches, constructed and to be constructed, together with all property, rights, privileges, and franchises thereto pertaining, to any railroad company organized or existing under the laws of any other state or territory, and any such foreign company may aid any railroad company in this state in the construction of its road and branches, by purchase of its stock and bonds, or by guaranteeing its bonds, or otherwise, whenever the roads of the respective companies (parties to such agreement to aid, or to such purchase, sale, or lease), constructed or to be constructed, shall, or will when constructed, so connect by bridge, ferry, railroad, or otherwise, as to practically form, in the operation thereof, a continuous line or lines of railroad over which cars may pass. The railroad company of another state or territory which shall so purchase or lease a railroad or railroads, in this state, shall possess, and may exercise and enjoy within this state, as to the control, management, and operation of the said road, and as to the location, construction, and operation of any extension or branches thereof, all the rights, powers, privileges, and franchises possessed by railroad corporations of this state. Such purchase, sale, or lease may be made, or such aid furnished, upon such terms and conditions as shall be agreed upon by the directors of the respective companies, but the same shall be approved or ratified by persons holding or representing two-thirds in amount of the capital stock of each of such companies respectively, at an annual stockholders' meeting, or at a special meeting of the stockholders called for that purpose, or by the approval in writing of two-thirds in interest of the stockholders of each company respectively; Provided, That nothing in the foregoing provisions shall be held or construed as curtailing the right of this state, or of the counties in this state, through which any such road or roads may be located, to levy and collect taxes upon the same, and the rolling stock thereof, pro rata, in conformity with the provisions of the laws of this state upon that subject, and the road or roads in this state so purchased, leased, or aided, shall be subject to taxation and to regulation and control by the laws of this state in all respects the same as if such purchase, sale, or lease had not taken place; Provided further, however, That before any railroad corporation of any other state or territory shall be permitted to avail itself of the benefits of this act, such corporation shall file with the secretary of this state a true copy of its charter or articles of incorporation, together with a certified copy of a resolution of its board of directors or stockholders, duly adopted, authorizing service of process to be made upon its officers or agents in this state engaged in transacting its business, in the same manner as may be provided by law for the service of process upon railroad corporations of this state.

545. Any sale, by consolidation or otherwise, or any lease, or any agreement to sell or lease the whole, or any part of a railroad or its branches in this state, with the franchises appertaining thereto, to any railroad company organized and existing under the laws of this or any other state or states, or any consolidation between such company of another state, and a corporation of this state, heretofore executed, by the proper officers of the companies, parties to such sale or lease, consolidation, or contract, may be ratified and made in all respects valid and binding by the assent of the owners of two-thirds of the stock in each of such companies, to be expressed in the manner provided in section 1 of this act [545]. Upon such ratification by stockholders such lease or sale, or consolidation or agreement to sell or lease, heretofore executed, shall become in all respects valid and binding from the date of its execution.

546. Every railroad company organized under the laws of this state shall have power to intersect, join, and unite its railroad or railroads with any railroad or railroads constructed or to be constructed in this state, or in any adjoining state or territory, by any railroad company organized under the laws of any state or territory, at such point on the boundary line of this state and such adjoining state or territory, or at such other point as may be mutually agreed upon between said companies; and all such railroad companies whose railroads are or may be connected at the boundary line of this state or at such other agreed point by bridge, transfer, ferry, or otherwise as to form practically a continuous line of railway over which cars may pass, are authorized to consolidate the stock of the respective companies, making one joint stock company thereof, and bringing the railroads thus connected under one management upon such terms as may be mutually agreed; Provided, No railroad company shall consolidate its stock, property, franchises, or earnings in whole or in part with any other railroad corporation owning or operating a parallel or competing line in this state. Articles stating the terms of such consolidation shall be approved by each company by a vote of the stockholders owning a majority of the stock in person or by proxy at either a regular annual meeting thereof, or at a special meeting called for that purpose by a notice of at least sixty days, stating the object of such meeting, to be addressed to each of such stockholders when their place of residence is known, and deposited in the postoffice and published for at least three successive weeks in one newspaper in at least one of the cities or towns in which each of said corporations has its principal business office, or by the consent in writing of such majority annexed to such articles and copies of said articles and of the records of such approval or of such consent, and accompanied by lists of the stockholders of such corporation, and the number of shares held by each, duly certified by the respective presidents and secretaries with the respective corporate seals affixed, shall be filed for record in the office of the secretary of state of this state before any such consolidation shall have any validity or effect. Upon filing for record in the office of the secretary of state of the copies of said articles of such consolidation, and of such record of approval or consent, the companies so consolidating shall become one corporation, and the said consolidating corporations shall become merged in the new corporation provided for in said articles, and shall be known thereafter by the corporate name therein adopted, and shall within this state possess all the powers, franchises, and immunities, including the right of further consolidation with other corporations under this section, and be subject to the same liabilities and restrictions imposed by the laws of this state upon other railroad companies, and shall in addition possess such powers, franchises, and immunities, and be liable to such special restrictions and liabilities, as the said consolidated corporations were within this state possessed of or subject to under any laws of this state peculiarly applicable to them or either of them at the time of such consolidation.

Rewritten 1881, p. 305. Is not in conflict with constitution; railroad incorporated in this state may consolidate with or not. State v. C., B. & Q. R. R. Co., 25, 161 (41 N. W., 125).

547. Every railroad company heretofore organized, or which may be hereafter organized under this subdivision, or which may accept the same as is hereinbefore provided, is hereby empowered to extend their road into or through any other state or territory, under such regulations as may be prescribed by the laws of such state or territory through which said road may be extended; and the rights and privileges over said extension, in the construction and use of said railroad for the benefit of said company, and controlling and applying the assets of said company, shall be the same as if their railroads had been constructed wholly within this state.

548. Every railroad company heretofore organized, or which may hereafter be organized under this subdivision, or which may accept the same as is hereinbefore provided, and which may have constructed or commenced the construction of their road so as to meet and connect with any other railroad in an adjoining state or territory, at the boundary line of this state, shall have the power to made such contracts and agreements with any such roads constructed in an adjoining state or territory for the transportation of freight and passengers, or for the use of its said road, as to the board of directors may seem proper.

FOREIGN COMPANIES.

Sec. 549. "An act to legalize the incorporation of certain railroad companies of the state of Nebraska." 1873. In force February 14. G. S., p. 206.

549. That any railroad company which has been organized under the laws of the states of Iowa, Kansas, or Missouri, and which has heretofore extended its line of railroad in this state, or built any portion of its line of road in this state, and has filed a true copy of its original articles of incorporation in the office of the secretary of state of this state, is, from the time of filing said copy of its original articles of incorporation as aforesaid, hereby declared to be a legal corporation of this state, and entitled to all the rights, privileges, and franchises of railroad companies organized under and pursuant to the laws of the state of Nebraska.

Construed and held valid. Stout v. S. C. & P. R. R., 8 Fed. Rep., 796.

Sec. 550. "An act to amend an act entitled 'An act to authorize non-resident railroad companies to build roads in Nebraska.'" Approved February 12, 1869. 1879, p. 106. In force June 1.

550. That any railroad company heretofore organized under the laws of the states of Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota, or territory of Dakota, or any company so organized under the laws of another state whose road may extend across any one or part of any one of these states or said territory, is hereby authorized to extend and build its road into the state of Nebraska. And such railroad company shall have and possess all the powers, franchises and privileges, and be subject to the same liabilities of railroad companies organized and incorporated under the laws of this state; Provided, Such non-resident company shall first file a true copy of its articles of incorporation with the secretary of this state, and shall comply with the laws of the state of Nebraska, as to filing and recording articles of incorporation, and in all things required by law relating to railroads, and otherwise in this state, and such non-resident railroad company shall keep an office in this state in some county in which its road is, or is proposed to be, and shall be liable to civil process, to be sued and to sue, as provided by law.

Secs. 551 to 554. "An act to authorize railroad companies of adjoining states to mortgage or convey their property situated in the state of Nebraska." 1871, p. 72. In force February 10.

551. That it shall be competent and lawful for any railroad company heretofore incorporated or organized, or which may be hereafter incorporated or organized under the laws of an adjoining state, and which shall have extended its railroad into this state or have become a corporation of this state under the laws thereof, to mortgage, lease, or sell that part of its railroad, and the property, rights, privileges, and franchises connected therewith, situated in this state, to any railroad in this state, and the railroad company making such purchase shall thereupon become vested with all the property, rights, privileges, and franchises of the company making such sale, and pertaining to the said railroad so sold, and shall be authorized to locate, construct, and complete, maintain and operate the railroad thus purchased, and may receive, hold, and convey all municipal aid, endowments, and property of any kind whatsoever, upon complying with the terms and conditions upon which the same were to be had, as fully and to the same extent as the railroad company making such sale could have done had no such sale been made.

552. Any railroad company heretofore incorporated or organized, or which may be hereafter incorporated or organized under the laws of an adjoining state, and which shall have extended its railroad into this state, or under the laws of this state, shall have become incorporated and authorized to construct and maintain a railroad within this state, may mortgage or lease, sell or convey the whole or any part of its railroad, situated within the state, and the rights, privileges, and franchises connected therewith, and other property pertaining thereto, to any person or persons on such terms and conditions as may be agreed upon, and the person or persons making such purchase, and their associates, may become a body corporate under the laws of this state, in the manner prescribed for the creation and organization of railroad companies in this state; and on the organization of such corporation, it may take, receive, and hold the railroad and property so purchased by said corporators, and shall have, possess, and enjoy the same, and all the rights, privileges, and franchises connected therewith, and held and possessed by the company making such sale, and shall also have all the rights, privileges, and franchises of railroad companies organized under the laws of this state, with full power and authority to construct, complete, maintain, and operate the railroad thus purchased, receive, hold, and dispose of all endowments, grants of land, municipal or individual aid granted to said company making such sale, or to which said company was or might have become entitled, upon compliance with the terms and conditions upon which such endowments, grants, donations, or aid were to be had; and the railroad company so organized may, under the laws of this state, consolidate its stock and property with any other railroad company upon such terms and conditions as may be agreed upon; Provided, however, That no sale, or purchase, shall be made of railroads situated within this state, of companies without this state, or consolidations effected as provided in this act, until the terms of such sale or consolidations shall have been approved by a majority of the stockholders in interest, in person or by proxy, at the annual or special meeting, of which due notice shall be given by publication, or in writing to all the stockholders in interest, or the same be approved by the written consent of a majority of the stockholders in interest, filed in the office of said respective companies.

553. That all contracts and agreements made by any railroad company prior to such transfer, lease, consolidation, or mortgage shall be binding on the assignees, lessees, or mortgagees of such company, and that the rights of any stockholders, or parties entitled to stock therein, shall in no way be impaired by such transfer, lease, consolidation, or mortgage.

554. When any company or persons shall have purchased any railroad, or two or more railroads are consolidated, as contemplated by the provisions of this act, such companies or persons so purchasing shall keep each and every railroad line that may come in their possession by such purchases in good running order, with sufficient rolling stock, to transport the freight and passengers. They shall not discriminate against the business with either or any of said railroad lines, either directly or indirectly, by the detentions of freights or passengers, or charging more for freight or passage than is charged in proportion upon any other railroad line under the control of said company or persons.

IV. OPERATION.

DUTIES AND LIABILITIES.

Secs. 555 and 556 formed secs. 1 and 2 of an act to define the duties and liabilities of railroad companies. 1867, p. 88. In force June 22.

555. That every railroad corporation whose lines of road or any part thereof is open for use shall, within six months after the passage of this act, and every railroad company formed or to be formed, but whose lines are not now open for use, shall, within six months after the lines of such railroad or any part thereof are open, erect and thereafter maintain fences on the sides of their said railroad, or the part thereof so open for use, suitably and amply sufficient to prevent cattle, horses, sheep, and hogs from getting on the said railroad, except at the crossings of public roads and highways, and within the limits of towns, cities, and villages, with opens, or gates, or bars at all the farm crossings of such railroads, for the use of the proprietors of the lands adjoining such railroad, and shall also construct, where the same has not already been done, and hereafter maintain at all road crossings, now existing or hereafter established, cattle guards suitable and sufficient to prevent cattle, horses, sheep, and hogs from getting onto such railroad; and so long as such fences and cattle guards shall be made after the time hereinbefore prescribed for making the same shall have elapsed, and when such fences and guards, or any part thereof, is not in sufficiently good repair to accomplish the objects for which the same is herein prescribed, is intended, such railroad corporation and its agents shall be liable for any and all damages which shall be done by the agents, engines, or trains of any such corporation, or by the locomotives, engines, or trains of any other corporations permitted and running over or upon their said railroad, to any cattle, horses, sheep, or hogs thereon; and when such fences and guards have been fully and duly made, and shall be kept in good and sufficient repair, such railroad corporation shall not be liable for any such damages, unless negligently or willfully done; Provided, however*, That any person, company, or corporation owning land adjoining the right of way of any railroad company in this state, and not within the limits of any town, village, or city, and intending to enclose his or their land, or any part thereof, that adjoins such right of way or railroad, with a fence, such person, or the secretary of such company or corporation, by direction thereof, may notify in writing such railroad company of such intention, and request such railroad company to build a lawful fence as described in this section on the line between their railroad and the land intended to be enclosed. Such notice shall definitely specify two points on such line between which points such fence is requested to be erected, and describe the field intended to be enclosed. The railroad company shall, within six months after receiving such notice, cause to be erected the fence required by such notice, and in case of a failure so to do, the party so giving notice as aforesaid may cause such fence to be erected at a reasonable cost, and collect the amount thereof from the railroad company so neglecting to erect the fence.

All after * added 1883, p. 262. The right to build and operate a railroad is granted by the state on the condition that all people be treated alike. State v. R. V. R. R. Co., 17, 647 (24 N. W., 329). Required to fence track. F., E. & M. V. R. R. Co. v. Lamb, 11, 596 (10 N. W., 493). There is no statute requiring a railroad to fence its road within the limits of a city or village.

Clary v. B. & M. R. R. Co., 14, 233 (15 N. W., 220). Barbed wire fence, over which horses stepped and were killed, not sufficient. M. P. R. R. Co. v. Metzger, 24, 91–2 (38 N. W., 27). Live fence not sufficient. C., B. & Q. R. R. Co. v. James, 26, 192 (41 N. W., 992). Where track is not fenced the negligence of the owner of stock in allowing them to run at large is no defense. B. & M. R. R. Co. v. Franzen, 15, 366 (18 N. W., 511). C., B. & Q. R. R. Co. v. Sims, 17, 693 (24 N. W., 388). Where company fail to fence and stock is killed they are absolutely liable whether owner negligent or not. B. & M. R. R. Co. v. Webb, 18, 219 (24 N. W., 706). But this liability is for damages by actual collision only. B. & M. R. R. Co. v. Shoemaker, 18, 369 (25 N. W., 365). U. P. Ry. v. Ogilvy, 18, 644 (26 N. W., 464). A railroad company is entitled to the exclusive use of its grounds except at lawful crossings of public and private ways. When party falls into an excavation which road had a right to make, the road is not liable for damages. O. & R. V. R. R. Co. v. Martin, 14, 298 (15 N. W., 696). Owner was allowed to recover for hogs killed on track which ought to have been fenced, when there was no negligence on part of either himself or the railroad company. U. P. R. R. Co. v. High, 14, 15 (14 N. W., 547). Where cattle escaped onto the track by reason of the failure of the company to keep its fence in repair, and were killed, the owner can recover. U. P. R. R. Co. v. Schwenck, 13, 484 (14 N. W., 376). Railroad company was held liable for stock killed upon its track in the night time at a point where it was required to fence but failed to do so, notwithstanding stock was prohibited from running at large in the night time. B. & M. R. R. Co. v. Brinkman, 14, 72 (15 N. W., 197). M. P. R. R. Co. v. Vandeventer, 28, 117 (44 N.W., 93). C., B. & Q R. R. Co. v. Richardson, 28, 119 (44 N.W., 103). State v. A. & N. R. R. Co., 24, 160 (38 N. W., 43). Gates at farm crossings are part of the enclosure of the railroad, and must be suitable and amply sufficient to prevent stock from getting on the track. F., E. & M. V. R. R. Co. v. Pounder, 36, — (54 N. W., 509). This includes the space on either side opposite private or farm crossings at which the company must leave openings with bars, but are not required to put in cattle guards. O. & R. V. R. Co. v. Severin, 30, 319 (46 N. W., 842). This does not require the fencing of depot and station grounds within city limits, when such grounds are constantly used in the transaction of its business. C., B. & Q. R. Co. v. Hogan, 30, 686 (46 N. W., 1015).

556. Any railroad company hereafter running or operating its road in this state, and failing to fence on both sides thereof, against all live stock running at large at all points, shall be absolutely liable to the owner of any live stock injured, killed, or destroyed by their agents, employes, or engineers, or by the agents, employes, or engines belonging to any other railroad company, running over and upon such road, or there being; Provided, That in case the railroad company liable under the provisions of this section shall neglect or refuse to pay the value of any property so injured or destroyed, after thirty days' notice in writing given, accompanied by an affidavit of the injury or destruction of said property, to any officer of the company, or any station agent, or ticket agent, employed in the management of its business, in the county where the injury complained of shall have been committed, such railroad company, their agents, and employes, shall, in an action brought to recover damages therefor, be held and they are hereby declared to be liable to pay double the value of the property so injured, killed, or destroyed as aforesaid; * Provided further, That if the railroad company do not object to the value of the property so injured or destroyed, as set forth in the notice aforesaid, within ten days, it shall be considered and taken as the true value, but if the said company are dissatisfied with the value as set forth is [in] said notice, they shall, within ten days, leave a written notice to that effect at the residence or place of business of the owner of the stock so injured or destroyed, and the value shall then be ascertained and determined in accordance with the provisions of section 5 of the general herd law.

Amended and all after * added 1877, p. 59. Cited and construed, F., E. & M. V. R. Co. v. Pounder, 36, — (54 N. W., 510).

Sec. 557 formed sec. 106, and secs. 558 to 561 formed secs. 101 to 104, R. S. 1866, p. 226.

557. When any person owns land on both sides of any railroad, the corporation owning such railroad shall, when required so to do, make and keep in good repair one causeway or other adequate means of crossing the same.

See F., E. & M. V. R. R. Co. v. Lamb, 11, 596 (10 N. W., 493). This causeway is not intended for the use of unherded animals wandering from one side of the road to the other. O. & R. V. R. Co. v. Severin, 30, 323 (46 N. W., 842).

558. Any railroad corporation may raise or lower any turnpike, plank road, or other way for the purpose of having their railroad pass over or under the same; and in such cases such corporation shall put such turnpike, plank road, or other way, as soon as may be, in good repair.

559. Every railroad corporation, while employed in raising or lowering any turnpike or other way, or in making any other alterations, by means of which the said way may be obstructed, shall provide and keep in good order suitable temporary ways to enable travelers to avoid or pass such obstructions.

560. Every railroad corporation shall maintain and keep in good repair all bridges, with their abutments, which such corporation shall construct for the purpose of enabling their road to pass over or under any turnpike, road, canal, watercourse, or other way.

561. A bell of at least thirty pounds weight or a steam whistle shall be placed on each locomotive engine, and shall be rung or whistled at the distance of at least eighty rods from the place where the said railroad shall cross any other road or street, and be kept ringing or whistling until it shall have crossed said road or street, under a penalty of fifty dollars for every neglect, to be paid by the corporation owning the railroad, one-half thereof to go to the informer, and the other half to this state, and also be liable for all damages which shall be sustained by any person by reason of such neglect.

See O., N. & B. H. R. R. Co. v. O'Donnell, 22, 479 (35 N. W., 235).

562. Every railroad company shall have power to cross, intersect, join, and unite its railroad with any other railroad before constructed, at any point on its route and upon the grounds of such other railroad company, with the necessary turnouts, sidings, and switches, and other conveniences in furtherance of the objects of its connection. And every company whose railroad is or shall hereafter be intersected by any new railroad shall unite with the owners of such new railroad in forming such intersections and connections, and grant the facilities aforesaid; and if the two corporations cannot agree upon the amount of compensation to be made therfor, or the points and manner of such crossings and connections, the same shall be ascertained and determined by commissioners, to be selected as provided in this subdivision.

Secs. 563 to 565. "An act to require all trains run upon railroads in this state to come to a full stop before crossing any other road, and to provide penalties for its violation." 1889, p. 406. In force July 1.

563. All railroad trains and locomotives without trains shall come to a full stop at least two hundred feet and not more than eight hundred feet from the crossing of the other railroads, and the engineer shall sound two long blasts of the whistle before starting forward, except where said railroads maintain a semaphore and gate with torpedo attachment, and when the signals indicate the crossings to be clear no stop need be made.

564. When trains or locomotives without trains approach a crossing simultaneously, the one on the older road shall have the right to cross first, and the last train to cross shall not start until the first train has cleared the crossing and signal indicates that track is clear.

565. Every engineer violating the provisions of the preceding section shall for each offense forfeit one hundred dollars, to be recovered in the name of the state of Nebraska for the benefit of the school fund; and the person, persons, or corporations on which road such offense is committed shall forfeit for each offense so committed the sum of two hundred dollars, to be recovered in like manner.

Secs. 565a to 565g. "An act to regulate railroads and to compel them to put in transfer switches." 1893, ch. 11, p. 142. In force August 1.

565*a*. That all railroads touching the same point in this state at which point such railroads receive and deliver freight, or at some near point, shall build and maintain transfer switches for common use in transfering freight in car-load lots from one such railroad to another and receive and forward all such freight according to the provisions of this act; Provided, That the railroads interested may apply to the state board of transportation to be relieved of this duty in any case where its performance is unusually burdensome, and if upon a personal examination of the locality where the transfer switches are to be put in, and taking testimony of persons residing in the locality, by the secretaries of such board, they find it unjust and unreasonable to require the building of such transfer switches, then such board may relieve such roads of such duty, and that evidence from any locality along the lines of roads interested shall be considered by the said board and be competent testimony in such case.

565*b*. That whenever a shipper of freight from any point in this state to any other point in this state over two or more lines of railroads t6 reach such point of destination, it shall be the duty of all such railroads as come under the provisions of this act to receive and deliver all such freight in car lots on board cars upon such transfer switch. The railroad company at point of shipment shall make a through way bill to point of destination and the rate to be charged for such shipment shall not be the sum of two or more locals, but shall be apportioned between the different roads according to the mileage of each necessarily used in such shipment, and shall be the rate for the shortest mileage distance by any railroad between point of shipment and point of destination.

565*c*. No railroad or transportation company shall make any extra charge for delivering or receiving such freight in car lots in such transfer switch.

565*d*. Be it further provided, That the cost of building the transfer switches shall be borne equally between the different roads which are connected by the switches hereinbefore provided for.

565*e*. If any railroad company or companies shall neglect or refuse to comply with the provisions of this act within sixty days from its taking effect, such railroad company or companies shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to a fine of not less than fifty dollars ($50) nor more than five hundred dollars ($500) for each and every day that such railroad company or companies shall neglect or refuse to build or maintain such switches.

565*f*. The fine hereinbefore contained may be imposed by any court having competent jurisdiction.

565*g*. All fines derived from the violation of this act shall be paid into the general school fund of the state.

Secs. 566 to 571. "An act requiring all railroads, corporations, companies, and persons operating a railroad and doing business in Nebraska to equip all engines and cars with proper, efficient, and safe automatic couplers and brakes, and for prescribing penalties for failure thereof." 1891, p. 222. In force August 1.

566. That it shall be unlawful for any corporation, company, or person operating any line of railroad in this state, any car manufacturers, or transportation company using or leasing cars, to put in use in this state any new cars or any cars that have been sent into the shop or shops for general repairs, or whose draft rigging has to be repaired with a new draw-bar or bars, that are not equipped with safety or automatic couplers or draw-bars such as shall not necessitate the going between the ends of the cars to couple or uncouple them.

567. That after January 1, 1895, it shall be unlawful for any corporation, company, or persons operating a railroad, or any transportation company using or leasing cars of any description and used in the commerce of the country, or in the construction of railroads, to have upon any railroad in Nebraska for use in transportation of freight of passengers any car that is not equipped with such safety automatic coupler as provided for in section one of this act [566].

568. That it shall be unlawful for any corporation, company, or person operating any line of railroad in this state to use any locomotive engine upon any railroad or in an railroad yard in this state after the first day of January, 1892, that is not equipped with a proper and efficient power-brake, commonly called a "drive-brake."

569. That it shall be unlawful for any corporation, company or person operating a line of railroad in this state to run any train of cars after the first day of January, 1895, that shall not have in that train a sufficient number of cars with some kind of efficient automatic power-brakes, so that the engineer upon the locomotive car can control the train without requiring brakemen to go between the ends or on the tops of the cars to use, as now, the common hand-brake.

570. Every railroad corporation, company, or person operating a railroad in this state, and every person using or leasing cars in the transportation business, or in building railroads, shall and are by this act required to include in their annual report to the state railroad commissioners the number of locomotive engines and cars used in this state, and what number is equipped with automatic power-brakes, and what number of cars equipped with automatic safety couplers and the kind of brakes and couplers used and the number of each kind when more than one kind is used.

571. Any corporation, company, or person operating a railroad in this state, and using a locomotive engine or running a train of cars, or using any freight, way, or car contrary to the provisions of this act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be subject to a fine of not less than five hundred ($500) dollars, or not more than one thousand ($1,000) dollars for each and every offense, for the benefit of the school fund; Provided, the penalties on this section shall not apply to companies hauling cars belonging to railroads other than those of this state which are engaged in interstate traffic; and any railroad employee who may be injured by the running of such engine, or train, or cars, contrary to the provisions of this law shall not be considered as waiving his rights to recover damage by continuing in the employ of such corporation, company, or person running such engine or trains of cars contrary to this law.

572. Every railroad company as aforesaid, shall be liable for all damages inflicted upon the person of passengers while being transported over its road, except in cases where the injury done arises from the criminal negligence of the persons injured, or when the injury complained of shall be the violation of some express rule or regulation of said road actually brought to his or her notice.

This section (572) formed sec. 147, ch. 11, Gen. Stat., p. 203. Laws 1867, p. 89, sec. 3. Liable only when injury has arisen from the negligence of the railroad company. McClary v. S. C. & P. R. R. Co., 3, 54. A railroad company cannot loan or transfer its line so as to escape liability for damages except by legislative sanction. When liable for injury received on a connecting road. Chollette v. O. & R. V. R. R. Co., 26, 169 (41 N. W., 1106). That the injury occurred on Sunday is no defense. Johnson v. M. P. R. R. Co., 18, 700 (26 N. W., 347). "Criminal negligence" is such negligence as would amount to a flagrant and reckless disregard of a person's own safety, and a willful indifference to the injury liable to follow. O. & R. V. R. R. Co. v. Chollette, 33, 146 (49 N. W., 1114).

Secs. 573 to 577 formed secs. 110, 108, 121, 111, 122 respectively, R. S., 1866, pp. 227, 228, 231.

573. In case any passenger on any railroad shall be injured while on the platform of a car while in motion, or in any baggage, wood, or freight car in vio- lation of the printed regulations of the company posted up at the time in a conspicuous place inside of its passenger cars then in the train, such company shall not be liable for the injury, provided said company furnished room inside its passenger cars sufficient for the accommodation of its passengers.

574. If any person shall, while in charge of locomotive engine running upon the railroad of any such corporation, or while acting as the conductor of a car or train of cars on any such railroad, be intoxicated, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, or be imprisoned not less than six months nor more than one year, and be imprisoned until the fine is paid.

575. Every such railroad corporation shall start and run their cars for the transportation of passengers and property at regular times, to be fixed by public notice, and shall furnish sufficient accommodations for the transportation of passengers and freight, and shall take, transport, and discharge all passengers to and from such stations as the trains stop at, from, or to all places and stations upon this said road, on the due payment of fare or freight bill.

See B. & M. R. R. Co. v. Rose, 11, 184 (8 N. W., 433).

576. Any railroad company receiving freight for transportation, shall be entitled to the same rights and be subject to the same liabilities as common carriers. And whenever two or more railroads are connected together, the company owning either of said roads receiving freight to be transported to any place on the line of either of the roads so connected shall be liable as common carriers for the delivery of such freight to the consignee of said freight, in the same order in which such freight was shipped.

Railroad cannot avoid the liability of a common carrier by a special contract. A. & N. R. R. Co. v. Washburn, 5, 121.

577. In case of the refusal, by such corporation or their agent, to take and transport any passenger or property, or to deliver the same or either of them under the laws, rules, and usages that regulate common carriers, such corporation shall pay to the party aggrieved all damages which shall be sustained thereby, with costs of suit.

Secs 578 and 579 formed secs. 5 and 4, Laws 1867, p. 89.

578. No notice, either express or implied, shall be held to limit the liabilities of any railroad company as common carriers, unless they shall make it appear that such limitation was actually brought to the knowledge of the opposite party and assented to by him or them, in express terms, before such limitation shall take effect.

Rule applied in case of connecting lines, also on statements of agent. U. P. R. Co. v. Marston, 30, 248 (46 N. W., 485).

579. Service upon railroad companies may be made as upon other corporations, or by leaving a copy of the summons by the proper officer with any station agent, ticket agent, conductor, or other officer of said railroad formed within the limits of this state, or left at the usual place of business within said county.

V. FREIGHT AND PASSENGER RATES.

NEWBERRY BILL.

Secs. 579*a* to 579*i*. "An act to regulate railroads, to classify freights, to fix reasonable maximum rates to be charged for the transportation of freights upon each of the railroads in the state of Nebraska and to provide penalties for the violation of this act." 1893, ch. 24, p. 164. In force August 1, 1893.

579*a*. The provisions of this act shall apply, except as in this act otherwise provided, to all railroad corporations and railroad companies, and to any common carrier or carriers engaged in this state in the transportation of freight by railroad therein, and shall also be held to apply to shipments of property made from any point within the state to any other point within the state. The term "railroad" as used in this act shall include all bridges and ferries used or operated in connection with any railroad, and also all the road in use by any corporation, receiver, trustee, or other person operating a railroad, whether owned or operated under contract, agreement, lease, or otherwise, and the term "transportation" shall include all instrumentalities of shipment or carriage, and the term "railroad corporation" contained in this act shall be deemed and taken to mean all corporations, companies, or individuals now owning or operating, or which may hereafter own or operate any railroad, in whole or in part, in this state, and the provisions of this act, except as in this act otherwise provided, shall apply to all persons, firms, and companies, and to all associations of persons, whether incorporated or otherwise, that shall do business as common carriers of freight upon any of the lines of railway in this state, the same as to railroad corporations herein mentioned.

579*b*. That all freight or property to be transported by any railroad company or companies mentioned in the preceding section, from any point in the state of Nebraska to any other point in said state, shall be classified as hereinafter in this section provided, and any other or different classification of freight, which would raise the rates on class or commodity of freights above the rates prescribed in this act, except as hereinafter otherwise provided, is prohibited and declared to be unlawful. The classification established by this act shall be known as the "Nebraska Classification." Freights shall be billed at the actual weight, unless otherwise directed in the classification. Twenty thousand pounds shall be a car load and all excessive weights shall be at the same rate per hundred pounds, except in car loads of light and bulky articles, and unless otherwise specified in the classification. When the classification makes an article "released" or "owner's risk," the same at carrier's risk will be the next rate higher, unless otherwise provided in the classification. Articles rated first-class, "released" or owner's risk, if taken at "carrier's risk," will be 1½ times first class, unless otherwise provided in the classification. All articles carried according to this classification at "owner's risk" of fire, leakage, damage, or breakage, must be so receipted for by agents of the railroad, and so considered by owners and shippers. Signing a release contract by a shipper shall not release the railroad company for loss or damages caused by carelessness or negligence of its employees.

The Nebraska Classification—Explanation of Characters.

The class is given opposite each article. 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5 stand for first, second, third, fourth and fifth classes respectively; 1½ for one and one-half first-class; D. 1 for double first-class; 2½ for two and one-half times first class; 3 t 1 for three times first-class; 4 t 1 for four times first-class; O. R. for owner's risk; C. R. for carrier's risk; S. U. for set up; K. D. for knocked down; C. L. for car load; L. C. L. for less than car load; P. P. for pre-paid; N. O. S. for not otherwise specified in this classification; classes A, B, C, D and E refer to table of rates. The figures or letters in the first column to the right of the various articles in the classification refer to less than car load lots and those in the second column refer to the rate in car load lots.

579*d*. All railroads or parts thereof which have been built in this state since the first day of January, 1889, or may be built before the 31st day of December, 1899, shall be exempt from the provisions of this act until the 31st day of December, 1899.

579*e*. Whenever any railroad company or companies in this state shall, in a proper action, show by competent testimony that the schedule of rates prescribed by this act are unjust and unreasonable, such railroad or railroads shall be exempt therefrom as hereinafter provided. All such actions shall be brought before the supreme court, in the name of the railroad company, or companies bringing the same, and against the state of Nebraska, and upon the hearing thereof, if the court shall become satisfied, that the rates herein prescribed are unjust in so far as they relate to the railroad bringing the action, may issue their order directing the board of transportation to permit such railroad to raise its rates to any sum in the discretion of the board; Provided, That in no case shall the rates so raised be fixed at a higher sum, than that charged by such railroad on the first day of January, 1893. Whenever any railroad company in this state shall claim the benefit of the provisions of this section, it shall be the duty of such railroad company, to show to the court all matters pertaining to the management thereof, and if it shall appear that said railroad company is operating branch lines of railroad in connection with its main line, and all included in one system, then, and in that case it shall be the duty of the railroad company to show to the court upon which branch or branches, or upon which portion of such system the schedule of rates prescribed in this act is unjust and unreasonable, and only such portions shall be exempted from the provisions thereof; Provided, That in no case shall a railroad company be allowed to pool the earnings of all the lines operated under one management, where more than one line is so operated, for the purpose of lowering the general average.

579*f*. That the board of transportation is hereby empowered and directed to reduce the rates on any class or commodity in the schedule of rates fixed in this act whenever it shall seem just and reasonable to a majority of said board so to reduce any rate; and said board of transportation is hereby empowered and directed to revise said classification of freight as hereinbefore in this act established whenever it shall appear to a majority of said board just and reasonable to revise said classification; Provided, That said board of transportation shall never change the classification in this act established, so that by such change of classification, the rates on any freight will become higher or greater than in this act fixed. When any reduction of rates or revision of classification shall be made by said board, it shall be the duty of said board to cause notice thereof to be published two successive weeks in some public newspaper published in the city of Lincoln, in this state, which notice shall state the date of the taking effect of such change of rate or classification, and said change of rate or classification so made by the said board and published in said notice shall take effect at the time so stated in said notice.

579*g*. That articles not enumerated in said classification in section two (2) [579*b*] of this act established, not rated in said schedule of rates in section three (3) [579*c*] of this act, shall be classed with analogous articles in said classification, and where there is any conflict between said classification and said schedule of maximum rates said rates shall govern.

579*h*. That in case any common carrier, subject to the provisions of this act, shall do, or cause to be done, or permit to be done, any act, matter or thing in this act prohibited or declared to be unlawful, or shall omit to do any act, matter or thing, in this act required to be done, such common carrier shall be liable to the person or persons injured thereby, for all damages sustained in consequence of any such violation of the provisions of this act, together with cost of suit and a reasonable counsel or attorney's fee to be fixed by the court in which the same is heard on appeal or otherwise, which shall be taxed and collected as part of the costs in the case; Provided, That in all cases demand in writing on said common carrier shall be made for the money damages sustained before suit is brought for recovery under this section, and that no suit shall be brought until the expiration of fifteen days after such demand.

579*i*. That in case any common carrier, subject to the provisions of this act, shall do, or cause to be done, or permit to be done, any act, matter or thing in this act prohibited or declared to be unlawful, or shall omit to do any act, matter or thing in this act required to be done, such common carrier shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined in any sum not less than one thousand ($1,000) dollars, nor more than five thousand ($5,000) dollars for the first offense; and for the second offense not less than five thousand ($5,000) dollars nor more than ten thousand ($10,000) dollars; and for the third offense not less than ten thousand ($10,000) dollars nor more than twenty thousand ($20,000) dollars; and for every subsequent offense and conviction thereof shall be liable to a fine of twenty-five thousand ($25,000) dollars; Provided, That in all cases under this act either party shall have the right of trial by jury.

Secs. 580 to 585. "An act to regulate railroad corporations in their transportation of passengers and baggage and to fix a maximum rate of charges, and to provide for a penalty for the violation thereof." 1885, p. 285. In force June 5.

580. It shall be unlawful for any railroad corporation operating, or which shall hereafter operate, a railroad in this state to charge, collect, demand, or receive for the transportation of any passenger over ten years of age, with baggage, not exceeding two hundred pounds in weight, on any train over its line of road in the state of Nebraska, a sum exceeding three cents per mile.

Amended 1887, p. 539.

581. Said railroad corporation shall not charge, collect, demand, or receive within the limits above specified for the transportation of any child under ten years old in the care or control of any passenger on any train a sum exceeding one-half of the rates prescribed in section one of this act [580].

582. Nothing herein shall be construed as to prevent any railroad company from adopting the rule that when the fare is paid on the train the conductor may charge and collect not to exceed twenty-five cents, in addition to the regular fare, for which he shall give back to such passenger a conductor's check which shall be good for the sum so charged at any station on such road on presentation to the agent of said road.

583. It shall be unlawful for any railroad corporation operating a railroad in this state to expel or remove from any coach used for conveying passengers over their line of road any person who offers to pay the regular rate of fare, not to exceed the maximum rate herein fixed for conveying passengers along the line of said road; Provided, Said persons conduct themselves properly while remaining therein.

584. Any railroad corporations violating any of the provisions of this act shall, upon conviction thereof, forfeit and pay for each offense not less than two hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars, such forfeiture to be paid into the school fund of the county in which such forfeiture is imposed, and shall also be liable to the party injured for all damages he or she sustained thereby.

585. The term "railroad corporation," contained in this act, shall be deemed and taken to mean all corporations, companies, or individuals now owning or operating, or which may hereafter own or operate, any railway in whole or in part in this state, and the provisions of this act shall apply to all persons, firms, and companies, and to all associations of persons, whether incorporated or otherwise, that shall do business as common carriers upon any of the lines of railway in this state (street railways excepted), the same as to railroad corporations hereinbefore mentioned.

Sec. 586 formed sec. 107, R. S. 1866, p. 227.

586. If any passenger shall refuse to pay his fare, it shall be lawful for the conductor of the train and the servants of the corporation to put him and his baggage out of the cars, using no unnecessary force, at any place within five miles of any station.

F., E. & M. V. R. R. Co. v. Lamb, 11, 596 (10 N. W., 493).

VI. BOARD OF TRANSPORTATION.

Secs. 587 to 608. "An act to regulate railroads, to prevent unjust discrimination, provide for a board of transportation, and define its duties," etc. 1887, p. 541. In force July 1. (Repealing Laws 1881, ch. 68, and Laws 1885, ch. 65.)

587. That the provisions of this act shall apply to any common carrier or carriers engaged in the transportation of passengers or property by railroad, under a common control, management, or arrangement for a continuous carriage or shipment from any point in the state of Nebraska to any other point in said state. The term "railroad," as used in this act, shall include the road in use by any corporation operating a railroad, whether owned or operated under a contract, agreement, or lease, and the term "transportation" shall include all instrumentalities of shipment or carriage. All charges made for any service rendered or to be rendered in the transportation of passengers or property as aforesaid, or in connection therewith, or for the receiving, delivery, storage, or handling of such property, shall be reasonable and just, and every unjust and unreasonable charge for such service is prohibited and declared to be unlawful.

Defines power of board; mandamus will lie to compel railroads to reduce their rates in conformity with orders of board. State v. F., E. & M. V. R. R. Co., 22, 321 (35 N. W., 118). It is the duty of the board to fix reasonable rates in the state without regard to the rate outside. State v. F., E. & M. V. R. R. Co., 23, 126 (36 N. W., 305). Warehouses and depots and other facilities must be maintained where needed. State v. R. V. R. R. Co., 17, 647 (24 N. W., 329).

588. That if any common carrier subject to the provisions of this act shall, directly or indirectly, by any special rate, rebate, drawback, or other device, charge, demand, collect, or receive from any person or persons a greater compensation for any service rendered or to be rendered in the transportation of passengers or property, subject to the provisions of this act, than it charges, demands, collects, or receives from any other person or persons for doing for him or them a like and contemporaneous service in the transportation of a like kind of traffic under substantially similar circumstances and conditions, such common carriers shall be deemed guilty of unjust discrimination, which is hereby prohibited and declared to be unlawful.

589. That it shall be unlawful for any common carrier subject to the provisions of this act to make or give any preference or advantage to any particular person, company, firm, corporation, or locality, or any particular description of traffic, in any respect whatsoever, or to subject any particular person, company, firm, corporation, or locality, or any particular description of traffic, to any prejudice or disadvantage in any respect whatsover. Every common carrier subject to the provisions of this act shall, according to their respective powers, afford all reasonable, proper, and equal facilities for the interchange of traffic between their respective lines, and for the receiving, forwarding, and delivering of passengers and property to and from their several lines and those connecting therewith, and shall not discriminate in their rates and charges between such contracting lines; but this shall not be construed as requiring any such common carrier to give the use of its tracks or terminal facilities to another carrier engaged in like business.

590. That it shall be unlawful for any common carrier subject to the provisions of this act to charge or receive any greater compensation in the aggregate for the transportation of passengers or of like kind of property, under substantially similar circumstances and conditions, for a shorter than for a longer distance over the same line in the same direction, the shorter being included within the longer distance; but this shall not be construed as authorizing any common carrier within the terms of this act to charge and receive as great compensation for a shorter as for a longer distance; Provided, however, That upon application to the board appointed under the provisions of this act, such common carrier may, in special cases after investigation by the board, be authorized to charge less for longer than for shorter distances for the transportation of passengers or property; and the board may from time to time prescribe the extent to which such designated common carrier may be relieved from the operation of this section of this act.

591. That it shall be unlawful for any common carrier subject to the provisions of this act to enter into any contract, agreement, or combination with any other common carrier or carriers for the pooling of freights of different and competing railroads, or to divide between them the aggregate or net proceeds of the earnings of such railroads, or any portion thereof; and in any case of an agreement for the pooling of freights as aforesaid, each day of its continuance shall be deemed a separate offense.

592. That every common carrier subject to the provisions of this act shall print and keep for public inspection schedules showing the rates and fares and charges for the transportation of passengers and property which any common carrier has established and which are in force at the time upon its railroad, as defined by the first section of this act. The schedules printed as aforesaid by any such common carrier shall plainly state the places upon its railroad between which property and passengers will be carried, and shall contain the classification of freight in force upon such railroad, and shall also state separately the terminal charges and any rules or regulations which in anywise change, affect, or determine any part of the aggregate of such aforesaid rates and fares and charges. Such schedules shall be printed in large type, of at least the size of ordinary pica, and copies for the use of the public shall be kept in every depot or station upon any such railroad, such places and in such form that they can be conveniently inspected. No advance shall be made in the rates, fares, and charges which have been established and published as aforesaid by any common carrier in compliance with the requirements of this section, except after ten days' public notice, which shall plainly state the changes proposed to be made in the schedule then in force and the time made in the schedule then in force, and the time when the increased rates, fares, or charges will go into effect; and the proposed changes shall be shown by printing new schedules, or shall be plainly indicated upon the schedules then in force at the time and kept for public inspection. Reductions in such published rates, fares, or charges may be made without previous public notice; but whenever any such reduction is made, notice of the same shall be publicly posted and the changes made shall immediately be made public by printing new schedules, or shall immediately be plainly indicated upon the schedule at the time in force and kept for public inspection. And when any such common carrier shall have established and published its rates, fares, and charges, in compliance with the provisions of this section, it shall be unlawful for such common carrier to charge, demand, collect, or receive from any person or persons a greater compensation for the transportation of passengers or property, or for any service in connection therewith, than is specified in such published schedule of rates, fares, and charges as may at the time be in force.

593. That every common carrier subject to the provisions of this act shall file with the board hereinafter provided for copies of its schedules of rates, fares, and charges which have been established and published in compliance with the requirements of this section, and shall promptly notify said board of all changes made in the same. Every such common carrier shall also file with said board copies of all contracts, agreements, or arrangements with other common carriers in relation to any traffic affected by the provisions of this act to which it may be a party; and in cases where passengers and freight pass over continuous lines or routes operated by more than one common carrier, and the several common carriers operating such lines or routes establish joint tariffs of rates or fares, or charges for such continuous lines or routes, copies of such joint tariff shall also, in like manner, be filed with said board. Such joint rates, fares, and charges on such continuous lines so filed as aforesaid shall be made public by such common carriers when directed by said board, in so far as may, in the judgment of the board, be deemed practicable, and said board shall from time to time prescribe the measure of publicity which shall be given to such rates, fares, and charges, or to such part of them as it may deem it practicable for such common carriers to publish, and the places in which they shall be published; but no common carrier party to any such joint tariff shall be liable for the failure of any other common carrier, party thereto, to observe and adhere to the rates, fares, or charges thus made and published. If any such common carrier shall neglect or refuse to file or publish its schedule of rates, fares, and charges, as provided in this section, or any part of the same, such common carrier shall, in addition to other penalties herein prescribed, be subject to a writ of mandamus, to be issued by any district court in the judicial district wherein the principal office of said common carriers is situated, or wherein such offense may be committed, to compel compliance with the provisions of this act, and such writ shall issue in the name of the state on the relation of the board provided for in this act, and a failure to comply with its requirements shall be punishable as and for a contempt; and the said board as complainants may also apply in any court of competent jurisdiction for a writ of injunction against such common carrier, to restrain such common carrier from receiving or transporting property as mentioned in the first section of this act until such common carrier shall have complied with the aforesaid provisions of this section.

594. That it shall be unlawful for any common carrier subject to the provisions of this act to enter into any combination, contract, or agreement, expressed or implied, to prevent, by a change of time schedule, carriage in different cars, or by other means or devices, the carriage of freights from being continuous from the place of shipment to the place of destination; and no break of bulk, stoppage, or interruption made by such common carrier shall prevent the carriage of freight from being treated as one continuous carriage from the place of shipment to the place of destination unless such break, stoppage, or interruption was made in good faith for some necessary purpose, and without any attempt to avoid or necessarily interrupt such continuous carriage or to evade any provisions of this act.

595. That in case any common carrier subject to the provisions of this act shall do, cause to be done, or permit to be done, any act, matter, or thing in this act prohibited or declared to be unlawful, or shall omit to do any act, matter, or thing in this act required to be done, such common carrier shall be liable to the person or persons injured thereby for the full amount of damages sustained in consequence of any such violations of the provisions of this act, together with a reasonable counsel or attorney's fee, to be fixed by the court in every case of recovery, which attorney's fee shall be taxed and collected as part of the costs in the case.

596. That any person or persons claiming to be damaged by any common carrier subject to the provisions of this act may either make complaint to the board as hereinafter provided for, or may bring suit in his or their own behalf for the recovery of the damages for which such common carrier may be liable under the provisions of this act, in any court of competent jurisdiction; but such person or persons shall not have the right to pursue both of said remedies, and must in each case elect which one of the methods of procedure herein provided for he or they will adopt. In any such action brought in the district court for the recovery of damages, said court may compel any director, officer, receiver, trustee, or agent of the corporation or company, defendant in such suit, to attend, appear, and testify in such case, and may compel the production of the books and papers of such corporation or company, party to any such suit. The claim that any such testimony or evidence may tend to criminate the person giving such evidence shall not excuse such witness from testifying; but such evidence or testimony shall not be used against such person on the trial of any criminal proceeding.

597. The attorney general, secretary of state, auditor of public accounts, state treasurer, and commissioner of public lands and buildings shall constitute a board of transportation, which board shall have power by a four-fifths vote to appoint three (3) secretaries to assist in the performance of the duties of said board, and they shall each be paid a salary of two thousand ($2,000) dollars per annum. Not more than two of the secretaries shall be appointed from the same political party. The secretaries of the board shall take the oath of office prescribed for state officers, and shall enter into bonds, to be approved by the governor, in the sum of ten thousand ($10,000) dollars, conditioned for the faithful performance of their duties. No persons in the employ of any railroad corporation, or holding stock in any railroad corporation, shall be employed as secretary.

598. That the board hereby created shall have authority to inquire into the management of the business of all common carriers subject to the provisions of this act, and shall keep itself informed as to the manner and method in which the same is conducted, and shall have the right to obtain from such common carriers full and complete information necessary to enable the board to perform the duties and carry out the objects for which it was created; and for the purposes of this act the board shall have power to require the attendance and testimony of witnesses, and the production of all books, papers, tariffs, contracts, agreements, and documents relating to any matter under investigation, and to that end may invoke the aid of any of the district courts in this state, or of the supreme court, in requiring the attendance and testimony of witnesses, and the production of books, papers, and documents under the provisions of this section; and any court of competent jurisdiction, within the jurisdiction of which such inquiry is carried on, may, in case of contumacy or refusal to obey a subpœna issued to any common carrier subject to the provisions of this act or other person, issue an order requiring such common carrier or other person to appear before said board (and produce books and papers if ordered) and give evidence touching the matter in question; and any failure to obey such order of the court may be punished by such court as a contempt thereof. The claim that any such testimony or evidence may tend to criminate the person giving such evidence shall not excuse such witness from testifying; but such evidence or testimony shall not be used against such person on the trial of any criminal proceeding.

Board has jurisdiction to hear complaints and make orders relative to highway crossings over railroads, and such orders may be enforced by mandamus. State, ex rel. Lancaster Co., v. C., B. & Q. R. Co., 29, 412 (45 N. W., 469).

599. That any person, firm, corporation, or association, or any mercantile, agricultural, or manufacturing society, or any politic or municipal organization complaining of anything done or omitted to be done by any common carrier subject to the provisions of this act, in contravention of the provisions thereof, may apply to said board by petition, which shall briefly state the facts; whereupon a statement of the charges thus made shall be forwarded by the board to such common carrier, who shall be called upon to satisfy the complaint or to answer the same in writing within a reasonable time, to be specified by the board. If such common carrier, within the time specified, shall make reparation for the injury alleged to have been done, said carrier shall be relieved of liability to the complainant only of the particular violation of law thus complained of. If such carrier shall not satisfy the complaint within the time specified, or there shall appear to be any reasonable ground for investigating said complaint, it shall be the duty of the board to investigate the matters complained of in such manner and by such means as it shall deem proper. No complaint shall at any time be dismissed because of absence of direct damage to the complainant.

600. That whenever an investigation shall be made by said board it shall be its duty to make a report in writing in respect thereto, which shall include the findings of fact upon which the conclusions of the board are based, together with its recommendation as to what reparation, if any, could be made by the common carrier to any party or parties who may be found to have been injured; and such findings so made shall hereafter, in all judicial proceedings, be deemed prima facie evidence as to each and every fact found. All reports of investigations made by the board shall be entered of record, and a copy thereof shall be furnished to the party who may have complained, and to any common carrier that may have been complained of.

601. That if in any case in which an investigation shall be made by said board it shall be made to appear to the satisfaction of the board, either by the testimony of witnesses or other evidence, that anything has been done, or omitted to be done, in violation of the provisions of this act, or any law cognizable by said board by any common carrier, or that injury or damage has been sustained by the party or parties complaining, or by other parties aggrieved in consequence of any such violation, it shall be the duty of the board to forthwith cause a copy of its report in respect thereto to be delivered to such common carrier, together with a notice to said common carrier to cease and desist from such violation, or to make reparation for the injury so found to have been done, or both, within a reasonable time, to be specified by the board; and if, within the time specified, it shall be made to appear to the board that said common carrier has ceased from such violation of law, and has made reparation for the injury found to have been done, in compliance with the report and notice of the board, or to the satisfaction of the party complaining, a statement to that effect shall be entered of record by the board, and the said common carrier shall thereupon be relieved from further liability or penalty for such particular violation of law.

602. That whenever any common carrier, as defined in and subject to the provisions of this act, shall violate or refuse, or neglect to obey any lawful order or requirement of the board in this act named, it shall be the duty of the board, and lawful for any company or person interested in such order or requirement to apply in a summary way, by petition filed in the judicial district in which the common carrier complained of has its principal office, or in the district in which the violation or disobedience of such order or requirements shall happen, alleging such violation or disobedience as the case may be, and the said court shall have power to hear and determine the matter on such short notice to the common carrier complained of as the court shall deem reasonable, and said court shall proceed to hear and determine the matter speedily as a court of equity, but in such manner as to do justice in the premises; and to this end such court shall have, if it think fit, to direct and prosecute in such mode and by such persons as it may appoint; and such inquiries as the court may think needful to enable it to form a just judgment in the matter of such petition; and on such hearing the report of said board shall be prima facie evidence of the matters therein stated; and if it be made to appear to such court on such hearing, or on report of any such person or persons, that the lawful order or requirement of said board drawn in question has been violated or disobeyed it shall be lawful for such court to issue a writ of injunction or other proper process, mandatory or otherwise, to restain such common carrier from further continuing such violation or disobedience of such order or requirement of said board, and enjoining obedience to the same; and in case of any disobedience of any such writ of injunction or other proper process, mandatory or otherwise, it shall be lawful for such court to issue writs of attachment, or any other process of said court incident or applicable to writs of injunction or other proper process, mandatory or otherwise, against such common carrier, and, if a corporation, against one or more of the directors, officers, or agents of the same, or against any owner, lessee, trustee, receiver, or other person failing to obey such writ of injunction or other proper process, mandatory or otherwise; and said court may, if it shall think fit, make an order directing such common carrier or other person so disobeying such writ of injunction or other proper process, mandatory or otherwise, to pay such sum of money not exceeding for each carrier or person in default the sum of five hundred dollars for every day after a day to be named in the order that such carrier or other person shall fail to obey such injunction or other proper process, mandatory or otherwise; and such moneys shall be payable as the court shall direct, either to the party complaining, or into court to abide the ultimate decision of the court, or in the treasury; and payment thereof made, without prejudice to any other mode of recovering the same, be enforced by attachment or order in the nature of a writ of execution, in like manner as if the same had been recovered by a final decree in personam in such court. Either party to such proceedings before said court may appeal to the supreme court of the state, under the same regulations as now provided by law in respect to appeals in ordinary cases; but such appeals shall not operate to stay or supersede the order of the court, or the execution of any writ or process thereon, and such court may in every such matter order the payment of such costs and counsel fees as shall be deemed reasonable.

603. That the board may conduct its proceedings in such a manner as will best conduce to the proper dispatch of business, and to the ends of justice, a majority of the board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, but no member of said board shall participate in any hearing or proceeding in which he is pecuniarily interested. Any party may appear before said board and be heard in person or by attorney. Every vote and official act of the board shall be entered of record, and its proceedings shall be public, upon the request of either party interested. Said board shall have an official seal, which shall be judicially noticed. Either of the members of the board, or of the secretaries, may administer oaths and affirmations. The board shall have authority to employ and fix the compensation of a stenographer for the use of said board and its secretaries, whose salary shall not exceed one thousand and five hundred dollars ($1,500) per year. Said board shall have the general supervision of all railroads operated by steam in the state, and shall inquire into any neglect of duty or violation of any of the laws of this state by railroad corporations doing business in this state, or by any officer, agent, or employee of any railroad corporation doing business in this state; and shall from time to time carefully examine and inspect the condition of each railroad in this state, and its equipments and manner of the conduct and management of the same, with reference to the public safety, interest, and conveniences. It shall carefully investigate any complaint made in writing, and under oath, concerning any lack of facilities or accommodations furnished by any railroad corporation doing business in this state, for the comfort, convenience, and accommodation of individuals and the public, or any unjust discrimination against either any person, firm or corporation, or locality, either in rates, facilites furnished, or otherwise; and whenever, in the judgment of said board, any repairs are necessary upon any portion of the road, or upon any stations, depots, station houses, or warehouses, or upon any of the rolling stock of any railroad doing business in this state, or additions to, or any changes in its rolling stock, stations, depots, station houses, or warehouses are necessary in order to secure the safety, comfort, accommodation, and convenience of the public and individuals, or any change in the mode of conducting its business or operating its road is reasonable and expedient in order to promote the security and accommodation of the public, or in order to prevent unjust discriminations against either persons or places, it shall make a finding of the facts, and an order requiring said railroad corporation to make such repairs, improvements, or additions to its rolling stock, road, stations, depots, or warehouses, or to make such changes either in the manner of conducting its business, or in the manner of operating its road, as such road shall deem proper, reasonable, and expedient; and said finding shall be entered in a record kept for that purpose, and said board shall cause a copy of the same to be served on the said railroad corporation by any sheriff or constable in this state, in the same manner as a summons is required to be served, and shall also transmit to the person, firm, or corporation interested a copy of the same. Said railroad corporation shall, within ten days after being served with a copy of said findings and order, show cause, if any it has, why it should not comply with said order, by filing with said board an answer, verified in the same manner as pleadings of fact in the district court are required to be verified. .If no answer shall be filed as aforesaid, then such finding and order shall be final and conclusive as against said railroad corporation.

Upon the filing of an answer, as provided for in this section, the said board shall set a day, not exceeding thirty days from the date of the filing of such answer, for the hearing of the matter, and shall notify said railroad company or any other person or persons or corporations interested of the time so fixed, and the place of hearing the same, and shall carefully and fully investigate the matter, and for that purpose may subpœna witnesses, and compel their attendance, and the productions of any books or papers, in the same manner as the courts of law of this state may do. After a full investigation of the matter said board shall again make a finding of the facts and make such an order as it may deem just in the premises. If said railroad shall refuse or neglect to comply with such order, the board shall order the attorney general or the county attorney of the proper county to institute a suit to compel such railroad company to comply with such order; and it shall be the duty of the attorney general or the county attorney of the proper county, at the request of the board or any person interested in any such order or finding, to apply to the supreme court, or to the district court of any county through or into which its line of road may run, in the name of the state and on the relation of said board, for a writ of mandamus to compel such railroad company to comply with such order; and upon the hearing of any such cause such finding and order shall be, as against such railroad company, prima facie evidence of the reasonableness of such order and of the necessity of such repairs, changes, additions, or improvements, or other matters in such order required to be done or omitted.

604. That the principal office of the board shall be in the city of Lincoln where its general sessions shall be held; but whenever the convenience of the public or of the party may be promoted, or expenses prevented thereby, the board may hold special sessions in any part of the state. The board of transportation or any member thereof or either of its secretaries may prosecute any inquiry necessary to its duties in any part of the state, into any matter or question of fact pertaining to the business of any common carrier subject to the provisions of this act.

605. That the board of transportation is hereby authorized to require annual reports from all common carriers subject to the provisions of this act, to fix the time and prescribe the manner in which such reports shall be made, and to require from such carriers specific answers to all questions upon which the board may need information. Such annual reports will show in detail the amount of capital stock issued, the amounts paid therefor, and the manner of payment for the same; the dividends paid, the surplus fund, if any, and the number of stockholders; the funded and floating debts and the interest paid thereon; the cost and value of the carrier's property, franchises, and equipments; the number of employees and the salaries paid each class; the amount expended for improvements each year, how expended, and the character of such improvements; the earnings and receipts from each branch of business and from all sources; the operating and other expenses; the balances of profit and loss, and a complete exhibit of the financial operations of the carrier each year, including an annual balance sheet. Such reports shall also contain such information in relation to rates or regulations concerning fares or freights, or agreements, arrangements, or contracts with other common carriers, as the board may require, and the said board may, within its discretion, for the purpose of enabling it the better to carry out the purposes of this act, prescribe (if in the opinion of the board it is practicable to prescribe such uniformity and methods of keeping accounts) a period of time within which all common carriers subject to the provisions of this act shall have, as near as may be, a uniform system of accounts and the manner in which such accounts shall be kept.

606. Said board shall, on or before the first Monday in December of each year, make a report to the governor of their doings for the preceding fiscal year ending June 30. This report shall contain such information and data collected by the board as may be considered of value in the determination of questions connected with the regulation of commerce in the state, together with such recommendation as to additional legislation relating thereto as the board may deem necessary.

607. [Application of Act—Exceptions.]—That nothing in this act shall apply to the carriage, storage, or handling of property free or at reduced rates for the United States or municipal governments, or for charitable purposes, or to and from fairs and expositions for exhibition thereat, or the issuance of mileage, excursion, commutation passenger tickets; nothing in this act shall be construed to prohibit any common carrier from giving reduced rates to ministers of the gospel; nothing in this act shall be construed to prevent railroads from giving free carriage to their own officers or employees, or to prevent the principal officers of any railroad company or companies from exchanging passes or tickets with other railroad companies to their officers and employees or others, and nothing in this act contained shall in any way abridge or alter the remedies now existing at common law or by statute, but the provisions of this act are in addition to such remedies.

608. To carry out the provisions of this act without undue burden to the state officers who compose the state board of transportation, their secretaries are hereby empowered, in all matters of examination or investigation, to perform the duties prescribed for the board themselves; Provided, That all final decisions shall be made by the board themselves.

VII. MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

Secs. 609 and 610 formed secs. 117 and 84, R. S. 1866, pp. 230 and 218.

609. Every railroad company shall have power and is hereby authorized to mortgage or execute deeds of trust of the whole or any part of their property and franchises, including any lands or other property granted to said company by the United States, to secure money borrowed by them for the construction and equipment of their roads, and may issue their corporate bonds in sums not less than five hundred dollars—secured by said mortgages or deeds of trust—payable to bearer or otherwise, and, if payable to bearer, negotiable by delivery, bearing interest at a rate not to exceed ten per cent per annum, and convertible into stock, or not, as shall be plainly expressed on the face of each and every bond so issued by said company, and may sell them at such rates or prices as they may deem proper; and if said bonds should be sold below their nominal or par value, they shall be valid and binding upon the company, and no plea of usury shall be put in or allowed by said company upon any suit or proceedings upon the same. The principal and interest on said bonds, or either of them, may be made payable within or without this territory.

610. Such company shall have power to borrow money on the credit of the corporation, and may execute bonds or promissory notes therefor, and to secure the payment thereof may pledge the property and income of such company.

Secs. 611 to 613 formed secs. 118 to 120, ch. 25, R. S. 1866, p. 230.

611. Any mortgage or deed of trust made upon the lands, roads, or other property of any railroad company shall bind and be a valid lien upon all the property mentioned in such deed or mortgage, including rolling stock; and the purchaser under foreclosure of mortgage or trust deed shall have and enjoy all the rights of a purchaser on execution sale; Provided, That nothing in this subdivision shall be so construed as in any manner to interfere with, change, or modify the rights of this state, or of the United States, to any lands granted by congress to this state or to said companies, or to transfer any right in said lands, otherwise than as subject to all the conditions imposed by the grant made by the United States.

612. Said mortgages or deeds of trust may, by their terms, include and cover not only the property of the companies making them at the time of their date, but property both real and personal. which may thereafter be acquired by them, together with all the material and property necessary for the use and operation of said road, and shall be as valid and effectual as if the property were in possession at the time of the execution thereof.

613. Said mortgages or deeds of trust shall be recorded in the office of the register of deeds of each organized county through which said road mortgaged or deeded may run in this state, or wherever it may hold lands included in said mortgages or deeds of trust, and shall be notice to all the world of the rights of all parties under the same; and for this purpose, and to secure the rights of mortgagees or parties interested under deeds of trust so executed and recorded, the rolling stock, personal property, and material necessary for operating the road of said company, belonging to said road, and appertaining thereto, shall be deemed a part of the road, and said mortgages and deeds so recorded shall have the same effect, both as to notice and otherwise, as to the real estate covered by them.

SEC. 614. "An act to prevent railroad corporations to impose upon the people by bogus surveys in counties or precincts where they are asked to vote bonds or other valuables in aid of such railroad corporations." 1879, p. 151. In force June 1.

614. No proposition shall be submitted to the electors of any county in this state for donations of bonds or any other valuables, to any railroad corporation, unless said railroad corporation, through its authorized and responsible agent, files for record in the county clerk's office, where such donations of bonds or any other valuables are to be voted upon, a plat of the survey showing their exact line of route through said county, within at least two weeks previous to such an election; and no bonds, and so forth, shall be valid in case they are voted unless said railroad corporation build their line of road within forty rods of their survey as filed in the county clerk's office.

SECS. 615 and 616. "An act to compel railroads to name their stations the same as the city or village in which located, and to fix a penalty for a failure so to do." 1891, p. 221. In force Aug. 1.

615. All railroad companies operating lines of railway in this state shall, on a petition signed by a majority of the legal voters of such city or village to the railroad company, call any station located in any city or village the same as the corporate name of said city or village, and the name thereof shall be prominently exposed to public view.

616. Any railroad company failing to comply with the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall be fined in a sum not less than one hundred ($100) dollars nor more than five hundred ($500) dollars.

SECS. 617 to 621. "An act authorizing the incorporation of union depot companies." 1887, p. 342. In force April 4.

617. Any number of persons, not less than five, may associate themselves together and become incorporated for the purpose of constructing, maintaining, and operating union freight and passenger depots, and the tracks, structures, appliances, and appurtenances incident and necessary to the use of the same, in like manner and by like proceedings as are now provided in chapter 16 of the Revised Statutes of 1885 [ch. 9, Corporations], for the organization of railway companies, including the exercise of the power of eminent domain.

618. Such union depot companies shall be authorized and empowered to locate, establish, construct, furnish, maintain, operate, and enjoy union freight and passenger railway depots at such points as may be determined upon, with such tracks, side tracks, turn-outs, switches, offices, and structures as may be deemed necessary; and shall have power to acquire, take, and hold all real, personal, and mixed property necessary or convenient for the execution of the powers herein granted, and the accomplishment of the objects and purposes of this act.

619. Every union depot company shall have power and is hereby authorized to mortgage or execute deeds of trust of the whole or any part of its property and franchises, including all lands owned or to be acquired by said company, to secure money borrowed by it for the construction and equipment of such union depots and appurtenances; and may issue its corporate bonds in sums of not less than one thousand ($1,000) dollars each, secured by said mortgages or deeds of trust, payable to bearer or otherwise; and, if payable to bearer, negotiable by delivery, and bearing interest at a rate not to exceed seven per centum per annum, and convertible into stock, or not, as shall be expressed on the face of each and every bond so issued by said company; and may sell such bonds at such rates or prices as they may deem proper; and if said bonds shall be sold below the nominal or par value, they shall be binding upon said company, and no plea of usury shall be put in or allowed by said company upon any suit or proceedings upon the same. The principal and interest on said bonds, or either of them, may be made payable within or without the state; and such bonds may be issued to the amount deemed necessary by the board of directors of said company, for the construction and completion of said union depot and appurtenances.

620. Any mortgage or deed of trust made upon the real or personal property of such union depot company shall bind and be a valid lien upon all the property mentioned in such deed or mortgage, and the purchase [r] under foreclosure of said mortgage or deed of trust shall have and enjoy all the rights of a purchaser on execution sale.

621. Said mortgages or deeds of trust may by their terms include and cover not only the property of the companies making them at the time of their date, but property both real and personal which may thereafter be acquired by them, together with all the material and property necessary for the use and operation of said union depots, and shall be as valid and effectual as if the property were in possession at the time of the execution thereof.

VIII. STREET RAILWAYS.

Secs. 622 to 626. "An act to provide for the incorporation of street railroad companies within the cities of this state." 1877, p. 135. In force June 1.

622. Any number of persons may be associated and incorporated under the general laws of this state providing for the creation of corporations for the purpose of constructing and operating a street railroad within any of the cities of this state, upon procuring the consent of a majority of the electors of any such city as hereinafter provided.

Street railway companies are common carriers of passengers and liable as such upon common law principles, and must exercise more than ordinary care for the safety of their passengers. Spellman v. Lincoln Rapid Transit Co., — Neb., — (55 N. W., 270).

623. Every such corporation, previous to the commencement of any business, except its own organization, must adopt articles of incorporation and have them recorded in the office of the county clerk of the county in which the city within which it is proposed to construct and operate such street railroad is situated, and must procure the consent of a majority of the electors of such city as herein provided.

624. The articles of incorporation must fix the termini of the street railroad which the company propose to construct and describe the precise route between such termini, which shall be one continuous line from the one terminus to the other, and also name the streets through which said railway is to be constructed; said articles shall also state the length of the railway so proposed to be constructed, which shall not be authorized or consented to by the electors of any such city, at any one election to exceed the length of five miles.

Amended 1893, ch. 23, p. 160. In force August 1.

625. The question of the consent of a majority of the electors of any such city to the constructing and operating of any such street railroad, shall be determined by submitting the question to the electors of such city at an election to be held for that purpose, and of which election it shall be the duty of the mayor of any such city upon the request of the common council of said city, to give at least ten days' notice by publishing a notice in some newspaper published in such city, which notice shall state the termini, of said proposed street railway as well as describe the precise route between such termini, which shall be one continuous line from one terminus to the other, and also name the streets through which said railway is to be constructed, which proposed railway shall not exceed five miles in length; the form in which such notice shall be taken and the time when such election shall be held, and no election shall hereafter be held except under this provision; And provided further, That no franchise to construct street railways shall be hereafter granted, nor shall any election be hereafter held to vote upon any proposition to give the consent of the electors of any such city to the construction of any street railway, unless there shall have been filed at least ten days before such election, a map or plat showing the route and location of the proposed street railway in the county office wherein are kept the record of deeds of real estate and also whether the proposed railway along such route is to be a single or double track.

Amended 1893, ch. 23, p. 160. In force August 1.

626. Every such election shall be held at the time designated in the notice and shall be held in the same manner and at the same places as the general city elections, and the returns shall be canvassed by the council of such city at its next meeting after any such election, and the result declared, and if a majority of the votes cast at such election shall be in favor of the constructing and operating of such proposed street railroad, the council shall cause the city clerk to make out a certificate of the result stating that the consent of a majority of the electors of such city has been given to the constructing and operating of such railroad, and deliver the same to the chief officer of such street railroad company, who shall cause the same to be recorded in the office of the county clerk where the articles of association of such street railroad company are recorded, and in the same record, and such certificate shall be prima facie evidence of the facts stated therein; and thereupon, such street railroad company shall be authorized to proceed and construct and operate such street railroad, as described in its articles of association, or any portion thereof, subject to such rules and regulations as may be established by ordinances of such city; Provided, That any street railroad hereafter authorized to be constructed shall be built upon the line or route so described in said notice and plat, and not otherwise, and shall be constructed from one of the termni so fixed continuously to the other, and shall be a single or double track as shown on such plat; but no street railway shall hereafter be constructed or consent or authority therefore be given by any city or its electors, upon or along any part of any street in any city, upon or along which any street railway has been already constructed, and where any other company or party owns any street railway upon any part of such street it is hereby authorized and empowered to consent to the use of any part of its railway by any other company upon such terms as may be agreed upon by them; Provided, That no such use shall be allowed or enjoyed without its consent; Provided, further, that no authority to construct street railway on any street of any city in this state under any franchise hereafter granted, or consent of the electors of any such city thereto, hereafter given, shall be operative or effective unless the owners of a majority of the feet front of the real property abutting upon the street or streets upon which it shall be proposed to construct any such street railway, shall in writing consent thereto, which written consent shall be filed in the office of the city clerk of the city wherein such street is situated before any election to give the consent of the electors of such city shall be called.

Secs. 627 to 633. "An act to enable street railways to unite their roads by consolidation, purchase, sale, by subscription to or purchase of capital stock, and to mortgage their railroads and property for the construction, equipment, and extension of their roads." 1889, p. 398. In force February 12.

627. Any street railway company existing in pursuance of law in this state or which may be hereafter created and organized therein, any portion of whose road has been located and constructed so as to form with the road of any other street railway company existing, created, and organized as aforesaid, connected or continuous lines and routes of travel or transportation, is hereby authorized to consolidate its railway property and appurtenances with such other street railway and its property and appurtenances into a single corporation; Provided, That any such consolidation or transfer of the property, rights, powers, and franchises of any such company shall not in any manner impair or affect any existing right of reversion under which any of said companies now chartered or organized may exist, in the manner following: The board of directors of said two or more corporations may enter into an agreement, under the corporate seals of each, for the consolidation of said two or more corporations, prescribing the terms and conditions thereof, the mode of carrying the same into effect, the name of the new corporation, the number of the directors thereof, which shall not be less than seven (7) nor more than eleven (11), the time and place of holding the first election of directors, the number of shares of stock in the new corporation, the amount of each share, the manner of converting the shares of corporate stock in each of said two or more corporations into shares in such new corporation, the manner of compensating stockholders in each of said two or more corporations, who refuse to convert their stock into the stock of such new corporation, with such other details as they shall deem necessary to perfect such consolidation of said corporations, and such resulting consolidated corporation shall by operation of law succeed to and hold in perpetuity all the property, rights, powers, and franchises converted upon said constituent companies, and shall assume and perform all the public obligations, duties, agreements, and requirements as common carriers imposed upon said constituent companies.

628. Upon making the agreement mentioned in the preceding section in the manner required therein, and filing a duplicate thereof in the office of the secretary of state and county clerk of the county in which the corporation exists, accompanied by the consent in writing of the owners of two-third (⅔) of the capital stock of each of said constituent companies, and consent being duly acknowledged by a notary public under his seal of office in like manner as is prescribed for the acknowledgment of deeds, the said two or more corporations shall be merged in the new corporation provided for in such agreement, to be known by the corporate name therein mentioned, and the details of such agreement shall be carried into effect as provided therein.

629. Upon the election of the first board of directors of the corporation created by the agreement in the preceding sections mentioned, all and singular the rights and franchises of each and all of said two or more corporations, parties to such agreement, and all and singular the rights and interest in and to every species of property, real, personal, and mixed, and things in connection, shall be deemed to be transferred to and vested in such new corporation without any other deed or transfer, and such new corporation shall hold and enjoy the same and all other rights of property vested in the said two or more corporations; Provided, That all the rights of creditors and all liens upon the property of either of said corporations shall be and hereby are preserved unimpaired; and the respective corporations shall continue to exist so far as may be necessary to enforce the same.

630. Any street railway company existing in pursuance of law in this state may, at any time, by means of subscription to the capital stock of any other company, or otherwise, aid such company in the construction of its road for the purpose of forming a connection with the line of road owned by such other company.

631. Any street railway company existing in pursuance of law in this state may lease or purchase any part or all of any other street railway constructed by any other company, or may purchase the capital stock of the same, or may sell and convey by deed or otherwise, or may lease to another street railway company, any part or all of its own railway and franchises upon such terms and conditions as may be agreed upon between the said companies respectively, and any two or more street railway companies, whose lines are so connected as to form continuous routes of travel, may perfect any arrangement for their common benefit to assist and promote the object for which they were created.

632. Any street railway existing in pursuance of law in this state shall have power and is hereby authorized to mortgage and execute deeds of trust upon its railway and property, in whole or in part, including its real and personal property and franchises, to secure money borrowed for the construction and equipment of their roads, and may also issue their corporate bonds in sums not less than one thousand dollars ($1,000), to make all of said mortgages or deeds of trust payable to bearer or otherwise, negotiable by delivery, bearing interest at rates not to exceed seven (7) per centum per annum, convertible into capital stock or not at the option of the holder, and may sell the same at such rates and prices as they may deem proper, and if said bonds shall be sold below their nominal par value they shall be valid and binding upon the company, the principal and interest of said bonds, or either of them, may be made payable within or without this state at such place as may be determined upon by said company.

633. The word "street railway," as used in the foregoing section, shall be construed to embrace all street railroads built and operated for the convenience of passengers along the streets and alleys and public thoroughfares of cities in this state. The motive power by which the same may be operated shall be restricted to horse, mule, electric, or cable powers.

Telegraphs and Telephones.

Secs. 634 to 646. "An act to prohibit extortion and discrimination in the transmission of telegraph dispatches." 1883, p. 321. In force July 1.

634. That all associations, whether the same shall have been or may hereafter be organized or incorporated under the laws of this state, or by and under authority of any other state or territory, or by authority of the United States, whose object and purpose is the transmission, collection, and distribution of dispatches by telegraph, shall be subject to the regulations and restrictions hereinafter prescribed by this act.

635. Every telegraph company and every press association or corporation engaged in the transmission, collection, distribution, or delivery of telegraphic dispatches, either for private use or for publication in newspapers, shall, within thirty days after this act goes into effect, file in the office of the secretary of state a statement, certified to under oath by its president and secretary or by two of its officers, embodying the following information, to-wit: The name of the association, amount of capital invested, character of its business, together with a true copy of its articles of incorporation or articles of copartnership, with regulations and by-laws then in force.

636. It shall be the duty of the secretary of state to issue a certificate to every association or corporation that has filed the statement required by the second section of this act upon payment of five ($5) dollars, which certificate shall convey authority to such association or corporation to conduct its business within this state, under the restrictions and penalties imposed herein.

637. Every telegraph company, press association, or corporation engaged in the transmission, collection, and delivery of telegraphic dispatches that shall refuse or fail to comply with the above provisions within the time herein prescribed, shall forfeit its right to carry on the collection, transmission, and delivery of dispatches for publication or for private use, and shall furthermore forfeit to the county where such business is carried on, for each and every day it so continues in violation of this act, the penal sum of one thousand (1,000) dollars, to be recovered in any court of competent jurisdiction, and it shall be the duty of district attorneys to prosecute such violations of this act at the expense of the respective counties wherein said act is violated.

638. All telegraph companies and associations operating telegraph lines in this state shall transmit and forward all dispatches directed to newspapers, or private individuals, or public officers, with impartiality, in the order in which they are received, and use due diligence in their delivery, without discrimination as to any person or party to whom they may be directed.

639. Every officer or employee of any telegraph company or association engaged in the transmission of dispatches who shall willfully delay the transmission or delivery of any dispatch, or divulge the contents of any dispatch entrusted to his or her care, to any person except the party entitled to receive the same, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished by fine of not less than fifty ($50) nor more than one hundred ($100) dollars for each offense, or imprisonment of not less than thirty days nor more than three months in the county jail, at the discretion of the court.

640. It shall be unlawful for any telegraph company, its agents or operators, to demand, charge, or receive from any individual, association, or corporation a greater sum for the transmission and delivery of any telegram or message over a given distance than it demands, charges, or receives for the transmission and delivery of any telegram or message containing an equal number of words over a greater distance, providing that dispatches transmitted during the night and dispatches for publication in newspapers may be forwarded and delivered at reduced rates; such rates must, however, be uniform to all patrons for the same service.

641. [Favoritism.]—It shall be unlawful for any telegraph company, association, or organization engaged in the business of forwarding dispatches by telegraph, to demand, collect, or receive from any publisher or proprietor of a newspaper any greater sum for a given service than it demands, charges, or collects from the publisher or proprietor of any other newspaper for a like service, and the violation of the provisions of sections seven and eight of this act by any telegraph company or association shall constitute a misdemeanor, and upon conviction said telegraph company or association shall be fined for each and every offense in any sum not less than one hundred ($100) dollars nor more than one thousand ($1,000) dollars, with costs of prosecution, and in addition thereto such telegraph company or association shall be liable for all damages sustained by the person or parties in consequence of such discrimination.

642. Every telegraph company and every press association engaged in the transmission, collection, distribution, or publication of dispatches shall afford the same and equal facilities to all publishers of newspapers, and furnish the dispatches collected by them for publication in any given locality to all newspapers there published on the same conditions as to payment and delivery.

643. Any press association, corporation, or organization violating the foregoing section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall, for each and every offense, be fined in any sum not less than one hundred ($100) nor more than one thousand ($1,000) dollars, and in addition thereto such association and the members therof shall be jointly and severally liable for all damages sustained by the owner of any newspaper in consequence of such discrimination.

644. If any telegraph company, association, or organization engaged in the transmission of telegraph dispatches from any place in this state, or the person having the control or management thereof, refuse to receive dispatches from any person, corporation, or any other telegraph company, or to transmit the same with fidelity and without unreasonable delay, it shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined for each and every offense in the sum of not less than fifty ($50) nor more than one hundred ($100) dollars, and in addition be liable for damages to the person or corporation sustaining a loss by reason of such refusal or failure to so transmit.

645. Any telegraph company engaged in the transmission of telegraphic dispatches is hereby declared to be liable for the non-delivery of dispatches entrusted to its care, and for all mistakes in transmitting messages made by any person in its employ, and for damages resulting from a failure to perform any other duty required by law, and any such telegraph company shall not be exempted from any such liability by reason of any clause, condition, or agreement contained in its printed blanks.

This requirement is reasonable and is binding on all companies doing business in the state, even if the message is to be sent out of the state. Kemp v. W. U. Tel. Co., 28, 667 (44 N. W., 1064). This section is constitutional. And the company cannot release themselves from liability by printed stipulation on the message blank requiring the message to be repeated. W. U. Tel. Co. v. Lowrey, 32, 732 (49 N. W., 707).

646. In all cases where application is made to any telegraph company, or the operator, agent, clerk, or servant thereof, to send a dispatch, it shall be the duty of such operator, agent, or clerk, who may receive dispatches at that station, plainly to inform the applicant, and if required by him to write upon the dispatch that the line is not in working order, or that the dispatches already on hand for transmission will occupy the line, so that the dispatch offered cannot be transmitted within the time required, if the facts be so; and for omitting so to do, or for intentionally giving false information to the applicant in relation to the time within which the dispatch offered may be sent, such operator, agent, or clerk, and the company by which he is employed, shall incur a like penalty as in section eleven of this act [644].

Secs. 647 and 648. "An act granting the right of way to telegraph or telephone companies along public highways, and providing for a penalty in case of malicious injury or interference with the same." 1887, p. 634. In force July 1.

647. That any telegraph or telephone company incorporated or doing business in this state shall be and is hereby granted the right of way along any of the public roads of the state for the erection of poles and wires; Provided, That poles shall be set at least six feet within the boundary line of said roadway and not placed so as to interfere with road crossings; Provided, That said wires shall be placed at the height of not less than twenty feet above all road crossings.

648. Any person or persons who shall break, injure, destroy, or otherwise interfere with the poles, wires, or fixtures of any telegraph or telephone company in this state shall be subject to action and penalty prescribed in section 98, chapter 13, Criminal Code [5682].

Telephone companies are public servants and must treat all alike. Webster Telephone Case, 17, 126 (22 N. W., 237).

Miscellaneous Corporations.

BRIDGE COMPANIES.

Secs. 649 to 656 formed secs. 29 to 36, ch. 25, R. S. 1866, p. 200.

649. Whenever any number of persons, not less than five, associate themselves together for the purpose of constructing a bridge over any of the streams of water in this state, they shall, under their hands and seals, make a certificate, specifying the amount of capital stock necessary, the amount of each share, the place where such bridge is to be built, and on what stream; and said certificate shall be acknowledged, certified and forwarded to the secretary of state, and by him recorded and copied; and when so incorporated, they are hereby authorized to carry on the operations named in said certificate of incorporation, and by the name and style provided in such certificates shall be deemed a body corporate with succession, and they and their associates, successors, and assigns shall have the same general corporate powers and be subject to all restrictions hereafter provided; but in all cases the banks on both sides of the stream where the said bridge is to be erected shall be owned by said company, or they shall obtain in writing the consent of the owner or owners of the banks where the said bridge is to be erected to erect the said bridge as aforesaid, unless the said banks at such point shall be in a public highway.

Proposition to vote bonds containing provision for collecting tolls from persons crossing the bridge not void, especially after bonds negotiated. Fremont Building Ass'n v. Sherwin, 6, 52.

650. The corporators herein named shall open the books of said company for subscription to the capital stock of said bridge, and so soon thereafter as ten per cent of the capital shall be subscribed, they shall call a meeting of the persons who have subscribed stock as aforesaid, and shall then and there proceed to elect five directors, who shall be stockholders in said company, who shall hold their offices as such directors for one year from and after said election, and until their successors are elected and qualified, one of whom shall be president, one treasurer, and one secretary, to be named on the tickets when voted for by the stockholders as aforesaid; each stockholder shall be entitled to one vote for each and every share of stock he may own; and after the first election no stockholder shall be entitled to a greater number of votes than the number of shares he may have paid into the said company.

651. The treasurer of said company, before entering upon his duties of office, shall enter into a bond, with good and sufficient security, to be approved by said board of directors, payable to the said company, conditioned for the faithful performance of all and singular the duties of his said office, and that he will well and truly account for and pay over to the said company all moneys and property that shall, from time to time, come into his hands by virtue of his said office, and that he will use due and proper diligence to collect all moneys and demands that from time to time shall be due and owing to the said company, which it shall be his duty by law to collect.

652. The president shall preside at all meetings when present and not otherwise incapacitated, in which case, or in case of his absence, the board of directors shall choose a president from among their number, who shall perform the duties of the president at such meeting, and perform such duties as may from time to time be pointed out by the by-laws and rules of said company.

653. The secretary shall keep a record of all meetings of the board of directors and other proceedings of said company not required to be performed by any other officers of the said board of directors, and perform such other and further duties as may be assigned him from time to time by the rules and by-laws of the said company.

654. The said company shall have power, from time to time, at any regular meeting of the board of directors, to make, alter, and change such by-laws and rules for the government of the said company.

655. The company, previous to receiving any tolls upon said bridge, shall set up and keep in a conspicuous place a board on said bridge, on which shall be written, painted, or printed, in a plain and legible manner, the rates of toll, which rates of toll shall have been prescribed by the district court of the proper county; and if any company shall demand or receive any greater rates of toll than the rate prescribed by said court, they shall be subject to a fine of ten dollars for each offense.

656. The compensation of the president and other officers of such company shall be regulated and fixed by the rules and by-laws of such company from time to time.

Secs. 657 to 660. "An act to enable associations of persons to become bodies corporate for the purpose of acquiring and holding title to real estate, issuing and negotiating bonds thereon, and borrowing money for the use of the members of said corporation." 1891, p. 217. In force August 1.

657. That any number of persons, not exceeding twenty, may associate themselves together and become a corporation as provided in chapter (16) of the Compiled Statutes of Nebraska for 1887, commencing at section (123) of said chapter, entitled Corporations [336], for the purpose of acquiring and holding real estate, issuing and negotiating bonds thereon and borrowing money for the use of the members of said corporation; Provided, That no person shall become a member of said corporation unless such person shall be the owner in his own right in fee simple of at least forty (40) acres of land situated in the county in which such corporation may be formed; Provided further, That the bonds so issued shall not bear a greater rate of interest than seven per cent per annum.

658. Each member of such corporation shall convey to said corporation by good and sufficient warranty deed clear of all incumbrance at least forty (40) acres of land situated in the county in which such corporation may be formed, and that the land so conveyed shall constitute the capital stock of said corporation.

659. That each member of said corporation in consideration of the land so conveyed by such member shall receive paid up shares of stock of said corporation to the value of the land so conveyed, and the value of such land shall be ascertained by the appraisement of disinterested appraisers, said appraisers to be appointed and the appraisement conducted in such manner as may be provided by the constitution and by-laws of such corporation.

660. Such corporation shall be empowered and authorized to levy, assess and collect from its respective members such sums of money as may be deemed necessary to pay the interest that may accrue on the bonds so issued and money so borrowed and to enforce the collection and payment of the same by such laws as they may adopt; Provided, That no person shall hold more than ten (10) shares in his own right, such shares not to exceed two hundred ($200) dollars each.

III. CORPORATIONS NOT FOR PECUNIARY PROFIT.

Charitable and Fraternal Societies.

Secs. 661 to 666. "An act for the incorporation of charitable societies." In force February 25, 1873. G. S., 209.

661. That three or more persons who may desire to become incorporated for any charitable purpose may execute under their hands, and acknowledge before some person within the state authorized to take the acknowledgment of deeds, one or more duplicate articles of agreement as hereinafter specified, one copy whereof shall be filed and recorded in the office of the secretary of state. And a record shall be made of such articles or of a certified copy thereof in the clerk's office of the county or counties in this state in which the office of such association for the transaction of business may be located; and upon the execution and acknowledgment of such articles, the signers thereof, and those who may hereafter become associated with them, shall become a body politic and corporate, for the purposes set forth in said articles. Charitable societies within the meaning of this act shall be construed to include only societies intended to assist those suffering from any disease, infirmity, or necessity; Provided, however, That no person shall, by reason of membership in any such society, become entitled thereby to any special dividend or benefit of the funds thereof, depending on such membership.

662. The articles of association shall contain: First—The names of the persons associating in the first instance and their places of residence. Second—The name of such corporation and the place where its office for the transaction of business is located, and the period for which it is incorporated, not exceeding thirty years. Third—The object for which it was organized, which shall be stated with convenient certainty and expressly. Fourth—The number of its trustees and regular officers, and the time and place of holding its annual meeting. Fifth—The terms and conditions of membership.

663. The affairs of such corporations shall be managed by not less than five nor more than twenty trustees, to be chosen by the members thereof, and to hold office for one year and until their successors be chosen. And the regular officers thereof, except the treasurer and secretary, shall be chosen from such trustees. The officers may be chosen by the trustees or by the members of such corporation, as the articles shall prescribe. The by-laws of such corporation shall be adopted by the trustees, who may change them at their pleasure. All such trustees shall be citizens of the United States and residents of the state of Nebraska. A majority of the trustees shall be a quorum to transact business.

664. No such corporation shall have power to take or hold any real estate, except such as may be necessary for any hospital or asylum under its control, or for the transaction of its business, for a longer period than ten years.

665. All the funds received by any such corporation shall be used in the first instance, or shall be invested, and the income thereof used (after paying the necessary expenses) for the exclusive purpose set forth in the articles of association, and no portion thereof shall be used for any such purpose except within this state, and no portion of the funds of any such corporation shall be used or contributed towards the erection, completion, or furnishing of any building not owned or used by such corporation. Such corporation may take, by gift, purchase, or devise, property to an amount not exceeding one hundred thousand dollars, and it shall be lawful to invest the same upon mortgage, or in or by loan on railroad stocks or bonds, or any city, county, state, or government securities; but no loan shall be made to any trustee or officer of such corporation; Provided, That any such corporation may, in its articles of agreement, specify the kind of securities in which its funds shall be invested, and that no part of its funds shall be invested in any other securities than those named in its articles, or where the securities shall not be specified in the articles of agreement, then such funds shall only be invested in such securities as are specified in this act.

666. Any corporation formed under this act shall, whenever required by the attorney general, or by the legislature, report a full statement of its affairs under the oath of at least two of its trustees, and for any neglect to furnish such report when required, all of the trustees so neglecting shall be liable to a penalty of fifty dollars each, to be recovered by action of debt in the name of the people of Nebraska.

Secs. 667 and 668. "An act incorporating subordinate lodges of Masons, Odd Fellows, and Good Templars." 1869, p. 64. In force February 4.

667. All organizations known as subordinate lodges of the Ancient Free and Accepted Masons, all organizations known as subordinate lodges of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, and Farmers' Alliance and Knights of Labor, and also the organization known as the grand lodge Knights of Pythias of Nebraska, together with such subordinate lodges of said Grand Lodge Knights of Pythias of Nebraska within this state as have been, or may hereafter be, established, and chartered by said grand lodge, all organizations known as the subordinate granges to the Nebraska state grange, all organizations known as Good Templars, which have been, or may hereafter be regularly chartered by the respective grand lodges or bodies of the several orders or organizations in the state of Nebraska, and also the organization known as the Grand Army of the Republic, department of Nebraska, together with such posts of said Grand Army of the Republic within this state as have been, or may hereafter be, established and chartered by said department, and all organizations known as subordinate lodges of the order of Bohemian Benevolent Society C. S. P. S., and the Bohemian Roman Catholic Benevolent Society C. R. K. P. J. of Nebraska, and the auxiliary societies of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, the Brotherhood of St. Andrews, as have been or may hereafter be established, be and they are hereby incorporated, and shall be hereafter entitled to all the privileges and rights incident to bodies corporate, so long as they retain their respective organizations and charters aforesaid.

Amended and other societies added 1885, p. 203; 1889, p. 403; 1891, p. 218.

668. All subordinate lodges of Masons, Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias, Good Templars, and all subordinate granges, the Farmers' Alliance, and Knights of Labor, all posts of the Grand Army of the Republic, and Bohemian Benevolent Association C. S. P. S., the Bohemian Roman Catholic Benevolent Society C. R. K. P. J., and Woman's Christian Temperance Union, the Brotherhood of St. Andrews, shall be known by the name and title designated in their several respective charters, as issued by the said grand lodges, department, or organization, by which name they shall be capable of suing and being sued, pleading and being impleaded, in the several courts of this state the same as natural persons, and shall have power to hold and convey real estate and personal property, and do all things usually done by corporations.

Amended 1885, p. 204; 1889, p. 404; 1891, p. 218.

669. Nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to affect the incorporation of lodges or other organizations heretofore incorporated by act of the legislature.

This section added 1885, p. 204.

Educational Institutions.

Secs. 670 to 683 formed secs. 15 to 28, ch. 25, R. S. 1866, p. 195.

670. Any number of persons, not less than five, desiring to establish a college, university, normal school, or other institution for the purpose of promoting education, religion, morality, agriculture, or the fine arts, may, by complying with the provisions of this subdivision, become a body corporate and politic with perpetual succession, and may assume a corporate name by which they may sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded in all courts of law and equity; may have a corporate, seal, and the same alter and break at pleasure; may hold all kinds of estate, real personal, or mixed, which they may acquire by purchase, donation, devise, or otherwise, necessary to accomplish the objects of the incorporation, and the same to dispose of and convey at pleasure.

671. To ascertain the property and value thereof of any institution desirous of becoming a body corporate, under the provisions of this subdivision, it shall be the duty of the probate judge of any county of this state, on application, in writing, of any number of persons not less than five, of whom not less than five shall be resident freeholders of the county where such application is made, or where such institution is or is intended to be located, setting forth the objects for which they desire to become incorporated, to select three disinterested freeholders of the county, and voters therein, as appraisers, who shall first take an oath for the faithful discharge of their duties, before some competent officer, and such appraisers shall then proceed to make a schedule, and upon actual view to appraise the true value, in money, of all such goods, chattels, lands, and tenements, choses in action, rights, credits, and subscriptions, as such applicants shall exhibit to such appraisers, and shall return such schedule with their appraisement, and certificate of some officer authorized to administer oaths, that such appraisers were first duly sworn by him to discharge their duties as such appraisers, to the probate judge of the proper county; and if the amount so found shall be equal to the sum required for the commencement of any such institution as said applicants desire, such probate judge shall give such applicants a certificate of the fact, and they shall enter it in a book of records, by them provided for that purpose, which certificate, together with the corporate name and the articles of association, they shall also cause to be recorded in the county clerk's office of the county where such institution is or is intended to be located, and they shall thenceforward be a body corporate and politic, according to the provisions of this subdivision, and such probate judge, appraisers, and county clerk shall be entitled to the same fees as for like services in other cases, and no more.

672. The corporators of any college or university which may be organized in accordance with the provisions of this subdivison may elect five or more trustees, of whom not less than five shall be resident freeholders of the county where such college or university is located, who shall constitute a board of directors for such institution, and they shall have power to fill vacancies that may occur in their board, and shall hold their offices until their successors are elected and qualified according to the rules and by-laws that may be adopted by the board of trustees, but at all times at least five of such board of trustees shall be residents, freeholders of the county where such institution is located; and when any such board, in their corporate name, shall have acquired for the benefit of such institution five thousand dollars, in real and personal property, to be ascertained as herein provided, said trustees shall have power to appoint a president, professors, tutors, and teachers, and any other necessary agents and officers, and fix the compensation of each, and may enact such by-laws, not inconsistent with the laws of this state or of the United States, for the government of the institution and for conducting the affairs of the corporation, as they may deem necessary, and shall have power to confer, on the recommendation of the faculty, all such degrees and honors as are conferred by colleges and universities of the United States, and such others having reference to the course of study and the accomplishment of the student, as they may deem proper.

673. In case it should happen that an election for directors should not be held on the day appointed by the by-laws of any institution or company formed under the provisions of this subdivision, such corporation shall not, for that reason, be deemed to be dissolved, but it shall be lawful on any other day to hold a meeting and elect its directors in such manner as shall be prescribed by the by-laws thereof.

674. The trustees of any university, college, or academy may hold in trust any property devised, bequeathed, or donated to such institution, upon any specific trust, consistent with the object of said corporation.

675. The president and professors shall constitute the faculty of any literary college or university instituted under the provisions of this subdivision, and have power to enforce the rules and regulations enacted by the trustees for the government and discipline of the students, and to suspend and expel offenders, as may be deemed necessary.

676. When any number of persons shall have procured by subscription, donation, devise, purchase, or otherwise, the sum of five hundred dollars, for the purpose of establishing and sustaining an academy, such persons may adopt a corporate name and enter the same in the county clerk's office of the proper county, and proceed to the election of such officers and teachers as they may deem necessary; may, in their corporate name, sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, in any court of law or equity of competent jurisdiction, and may have a corporate seal, may purchase and hold personal or real estate, and dispose of the same at pleasure, and do all other acts and things necessary for the promotion of education and the general interests of such academy.

677. Any college, university, or academy now instituted may come under the provisions of this subdivision by complying with the requisitions herein contained, and all such institutions now in existence, or that may hereafter be established, may connect therewith, to be used as a part of their course of education, and mechanical shops, or machinery, or lands for agricultural purposes, not exceeding three hundred and twenty acres, to which may be attached all necessary buildings for carrying on the mechanical or agricultural purposes of such institutions.

678. Any company which may be formed in pursuance of this subdivision, or which may now exist by virtue of any special act of incorporation, the property of which is held as stock, and not derived by donation, gift, devise, or gratuitous subscriptions, may increase its capital stock or change it into scholarships, when it becomes necessary for the purpose of carrying out the object for which such company or corporation is formed, in the following manner: The directors for the time being shall make out and sign a certificate, in which they shall set forth the amount to which such capital stock is to be increased, and the object, which certificate shall be deposited in the office of the county clerk of the proper county, and be by him recorded in the same manner as the articles of association and corporate name are required by this subdivision to be recorded.

679. Before the capital stock of such company shall be increased it shall be the duty of the directors to publish a notice, signed by at least a majority of them, in a newspaper of general circulation in the county in which such institution is located, at least four consecutive weeks, appointing a time and place for holding a meeting of the stockholders of the said company, specifying the amount to which it is proposed to increase the capital stock thereof; and a vote of at least two-thirds of the shares of the stock represented at such meeting shall be necessary to an increase of its capital stock, and to authorize the directors to make and sign the certificate mentioned in the preceding section.

680. Any university, college, or academy that may become a body corporate under the provisions of this subdivision, the property of which is not derived by donation, gift, devise, or subscription, but is owned by individuals in the shape of stock subscribed or taken, the owners of said stock shall be individually liable for the debts of said corporation to the amount of their stock respectively, and also in a sum equal thereto, over and above the amount of their stock; Provided, That the trustees or directors of any corporation organized under the provisions of this subdivision, the property of which is not owned by individuals in the shape of stock subscribed or taken, but is held upon trust or derived by devise, donation, gift, or subscription, shall not contract any indebtedness beyond the actual means or assets of said corporation; and if said trustees or directors contract debts or incur liabilities beyond the actual means or assets of said corporation, the trustees or directors so contracting shall be held liable in their individual capacity for the payment of the same, but the property of said corporation shall first be exhausted.

681. Whenever three or more persons shall desire to create a board of trustees, to become incorporated as the trustees of an endowment fund for any educational, religious, or charitable purpose, they shall do so in the following manner, to-wit: Whenever, at any meeting called for the purpose, the said persons, at least three of whom shall be residents of this state, not less than three in number, as aforesaid, shall resolve to become a party corporate and politic, having a seal and corporate name, whereby they may sue and be sued in courts of justice in this state, they shall prepare a statement, setting forth the name by which they shall be called, the amount of said fund, and the manner in which and the district to which the said fund shall be applied, whether within or without this state, together with the names of the persons who shall act as trustees, which said statement shall be subscribed by all the persons composing said meeting, in the presence of some magistrate or judicial officer having a seal, who shall attest the signing of the same, and the same shall be recorded in the office of the county clerk in the county where said meeting was held, and thereupon the persons named in said statement as trustees, and their successors in office, shall become a body corporate and politic for the purposes in said statement named and specified; and a certified copy of said record, under the hand and seal of the county clerk of said county, shall at all times be prima facie evidence of the existence of said corporation.

682. In any case where, in the original statement in the preceding section provided for, it is contemplated that the fund may be applied to any object not inconsist nt with the purposes of education, religion, or charity, different from that parteicularly specified in said statement, the trustees above named, or their successors in office, may apply to the district court in the county where the record hereinbefore provided for was made, for the privilege to make such change, designating particularly the purposes to which it is proposed to apply the same; and the said court, on being satisfied that such change is not inconsistent with the object of the original creation and institution of said fund, shall authorize and sanction such change.

* to * added 1871, p. 106.

683. The said board of trustees and their successors in office shall be a body politic with perpetual succession, and they shall hold their offices for such terms and receive their appointments in such manner as shall be designated in the statement on record in the office of the county clerk, as hereinbefore provided.

Secs. 684 to 686. "An act to provide for the incorporation of universities under certain circumstances. 1879, p. 189. In force June 1.

684. Whenever any person or persons shall have become possessed of funds, securities, and property of the value of one hundred thousand dollars or more, for the purpose of an institution of learning of the rank and grade of a college or university, it shall be competent for him or them to present to the judge of the district court of the county in which such institution is, or is proposed to be, situated, a petition setting forth the fact, and such circumstances as may be pertinent, praying the appointment of one or more commissioners to examine into the truth thereof; and thereupon it shall be the duty of the said judge to appoint a commissioner or commissioners for the purpose aforesaid. The person or persons so appointed shall be, by said judge, sworn to full inquiry and true report make of the matters given to him or them in charge, and the said oath, duly subscribed by the parties and certified by the said judge, shall be filed in the office of the clerk of said county. The said commissioner or commissioners shall thereupon personally examine the property, funds, and securities alleged to be set apart for the purpose aforesaid, and shall appraise the same and report the facts thus ascertained to the said judge. If, from the said report, it shall appear to the said judge that the sum of one hundred thousand dollars in property, funds, and securities of that value have been set apart for the purpose aforesaid, so as to be irrevocably and inviolably appropriate[d] thereto, the said judge shall endorse the said report with an order approving the same, and directing that the same be filed in the office of the said county clerk, together with the petition aforesaid, and other papers presented to him in the same matter, which petition, report, order, and papers shall be recorded by the said clerk in the book of incorporations to be kept in his office.

685. Whereupon the person or persons possessed of the said funds, securities, and properties may, under his or their hands, appoint five or more persons to be trustees of the said institution, who shall thereupon become a body politic and corporate under a name and style to be named, designated, and appointed for the purpose by the aforesaid person or persons in the said writing, appointing the said trustees, which paper writing of appointment shall be filed and recorded in the book of incorporations in the office of the said county clerk, and the said trustees, under the name and style so named, designated, and appointed, may sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, in all courts of law and equity; have a common seal, and the same alter, break, and renew at pleasure, and hold all kinds of estate, real and personal, and mixed, which they may acquire by purchase, donation, devise, or otherwise, necessary to accomplish the purpose of the corporation, and the same to dispose of and convey at pleasure. And a certified copy of the said paper writing appointing said trustees, and naming, designating, and appointing the name and style of such corporation, shall be prima facie evidence in all courts, and before all officers, boards, commissioners, and tribunals of the due incorporation of such body politic and corporate.

686. The said board of trustees shall have power to fill all vacancies in their number, to make rules, regulations, and by-laws for the government of their board and of the institution; to appoint a president, professors, tutors and teachers, and any other necessary officers and agents, and fix the compensation of each; to erect within, and as departments of said institution, such schools and colleges of the arts and sciences and professions as to them may seem proper, and to confer such academic degrees and honors as are conferred by colleges and universities of the United States. *And to borrow from time to time, for the purpose of paying indebtedness such sum or sums of money as they may see fit, and to secure such loan or loans by mortgage or trust deed executed by their president and secretary, upon their college or university buildings and grounds, and otherwise as they shall deem expedient; Provided, That, if such institution has stockholders, the said board of trustees shall first be authorized to borrow such money and execute said mortgage or trust deed by vote of the owners of a majority of the stock.

Amended and all after * added 1893, ch. 12, p. 144. In force March 20.

Secs. 687 and 688. "An act authorizing the trustees of any educational institution in Nebraska to change the name and grade of such institution, and legalizing the action of their official successors." 1885, p. 197. In force February 10.

687. That the trustees of any incorporated educational institution in this state shall have the power, by and with the consent of the body or association by which such trustees are elected, to change the name and grade of such institution; and thereupon all the property of such institution shall pass into the hands and control of the trustees of the succeeding institution, together with all the rights, privileges, immunities, and franchises belonging to the originally incorporated institution; and all official action taken by the trustees of such succeeding institution of altered grade shall be and are hereby declared legal and binding.

688. Any action heretofore taken by any educational institution in this state, of a nature similar to the provisions contained in section one of this act, is hereby legalized and declared valid and binding upon all persons whatsoever.

Secs. 689 and 690. "An act to provide for the reorganizing, under the general laws of incorporations, of all incorporations heretofore formed under special acts." 1871, p. 106. In force March 17.

689. The Nebaska University, an incorporation formed under a special act of the legislature of the territory of Nebraska, approved July 25, 1858, and amended by an act approved October 25, 1858, and all other incorporations formed under the special acts of the legislature of the territory of Nebraska, previous to the approval of the general incorporation law, may be and are hereby empowered through their trustees to reorganize under the general incorporation law of this state.

690. The trustees of any incorporation reorganized according to section one of this act shall be and are hereby empowered to act as successors of such former trustees, and to have and to hold and to take legal possession of all franchises, rights, privileges, and estates of said special incorporation against all persons whatsoever, and for the interest and purposes of the original incorporation, and for no other purposes whatever.

Religious Societies, Etc.

Secs. 691 to 695. "An act for the incorporation of churches, parishes, and religious societies." 1883, p. 177. In force June 1.

691. Churches, parishes, and societies of all religious bodies, sects, and denominations in this state having a central governing body with spiritual jurisdiction extending over the whole state, or a part thereof, being more than six counties, may become incorporated by complying with the terms and provisions of this act.

Church organization may make rules for government of members. If they have no rules, those of the common law prevail, and a member cannot be expelled without notice. Jones v. State, 28, 495 (44 N. W., 658). When rights of property are in question, courts will inquire whether or not organic rules and forms of proceeding prescribed by the church have been followed. Pounder v. Ash, 36, — (54 N. W., 847).

692. The chief or presiding or executive officer of the religious bodies, sects, and denominations mentioned in the first section of this act may, at such place in this state as he may appoint for the purpose, convene a meeting of himself and some other officer subordinate to himself, but having general jurisdiction throughout the state or part of the state aforesaid, and the priest, minister, or clergyman of the proposed church, parish, or society, and at least two laymen resident within the limits thereof, of which meeting the said chief or presiding or executive officer shall be president, and one of the other persons present shall be secretary.

693. The said five persons being so convened and organized as a meeting shall adopt articles of incorporation, which shall fix: 1. The name of the church, parish, or society, and the place of its location. 2. The amount of debts which it shall be competent to contract, beyond which amount the corporation have no power to contract debts binding at law or in equity upon it, its members, or its property. 3. The manner in which it may contract and become bound for debts, and may convey, incumber, or charge its property. 4. The manner in which the succession of the members of the said corporation shall be regulated, and vacancies in their number filled. 5. The time of the commencement and termination of the corporation. 6.

By what officers its affairs may be conducted. Which articles being subscribed and acknowledged by the persons present at the meeting, and recorded in the office of the county clerk of the county where such church, parish, or society shall be located, whereupon such corporation shall be competent to transact all business in and by its corporate name.

694. The persons attending said meeting shall be the corporators and members of the corporation until their places may be supplied by and under the provisions of the articles of incorporation.

695. Corporations organized under the provisions of this act shall be subject to the laws of this state in respect of corporations which are applicable to them, save as herein expressly provided.

Secs. 696 to 700 formed secs. 40 to 44, ch. 25, R. S. 1866, p. 204.

696. It shall be lawful for any religious sect or denomination, fire company, or any literary, scientific, or benevolent association (other than colleges, universities, academies, or seminaries) within this state to elect at a meeting of a majority of the members of any organized church, fire company, literary, scientific, or benevolent association as aforesaid, called for that purpose, any number of their members, not less than three, to serve as trustees or directors, and one member as clerk, who shall hold their offices during the pleasure of the society or association; Provided*, That all religious bodies that have in their articles of association, constitution, by-laws or discipline, provisions for the election of trustees or directors to hold property for the use and benefit of the membership and ministry thereof, may and are hereby authorized to elect such trustees or directors according to such provisions, and that a certificate of such election, signed by the president and clerk of such meeting or conference, shall be placed upon the records of the county in which said property may be situated; And provided further, That this act shall also include and apply to, and provide for, the incorporation of any synod, conference, association, diocese, presbytery, or any other ecclesiastical body or court of any religious sect or denomination, comprising or extending over the whole state or any part thereof, and in every such case in which such body to be incorporated shall comprise or extend over more than one county in this state, the certificate of election of the trustees or directors shall also be filed in the office of the secretary of state and there recorded.

Amended and all after * added 1889, p. 487.

697. That the clerk so elected shall make a true record of the proceedings of such meeting provided for in this subdivision, so far as the same pertains to the organization of the body and the election of such trustees or directors, and certify and deliver a true copy of the same to the clerk of the county where such meeting shall be held, if said body shall not comprise or extend over more than such county, together with the name by which such church, fire company, association, or body shall thereafter desire to be known; and it shall be the duty of such county clerk, immediately upon the receipt of such certified statement, to record the same in a book of record to be kept by him, provided for that purpose at the expense of his county, for which service he may demand the sum of ten cents per hundred words; and in case said body shall comprise and extend over more than one county, then such clerk shall deliver such certified copy of said proceedings and such name to the secretary of state of this state, who shall in like manner file and record the same in his office in a book provided for such purposes at the expense of the state; and from and after the making of such record by the county clerk or the secretary of state, as the case may be, the said trustees or directors and their associated members, as such body, company, church, association, synod, conference, presbytery, diocese, or other court, and their successors, shall be invested with the powers, privileges, and immunities incident to aggregate corporations, and a certified transcript of the record herein authorized to be made by county clerk or secretary of state shall be deemed and taken in all courts and places whatsoever in this state as prima facie evidence of the existence of such corporation.

698. The trustees or directors who may be appointed under the provisions of this subdivision, and their successors in office, shall have perpetual succession by such name as may be designated, and by such name may be legally capable of contracting and prosecuting and defending suits, and shall have capacity to acquire, hold, enjoy, dispose of, and convey all property, real and personal, which they may acquire by purchase, donation, or otherwise, for the purpose of carrying out the intentions of such society or association, but they shall not acquire or hold property for any other purpose.

699. Such society or association, when incorporated, may elect such officers and make such rules and regulations as may be necessary and expedient for its own government and the management of its fiscal and other affairs to effect their respective objects.

700. If said board of trustees or directors, as is provided for in this subdivision, shall be vacated, either in whole or in part, by death, resignation, or otherwise, such board of trustees or directors may be revived, or such vacancy or vacancies filled, in the manner pointed out in this subdivision for the original organization of said board, and a majority of said trustees or directors shall be a quorum for the transaction of business.

Secs. 701 to 703. "An act authorizing churches, religious and charitable associations to change their names and declaring the effect thereof." 1887, p. 341. In force July 1.

701. That any church, religious or charitable association or corporation existing now, or hereafter coming into existence, by virtue of any special charter from the legislature of this state or of the territory of Nebraska, or by virtue of the General Statutes of the state, may and hereby is authorized to change its name at any regular annual meeting of said association by a two-thirds affirmative vote of the members present at said meeting.

702. Public notice of such action by said church or association shall be given by publishing the same in some newspaper in general circulation in the county where said church or association is located for three weeks successively next after said meeting, and by recording the minutes of said meeting in the same place as articles of incorporation are now by law required to be recorded.

703. The change of the name of any church or religious or charitable association under this act shall not in any manner impair the right, title, or interest in or to any property held by said association whose name becomes changed, and any incumbrance or liability created before said change shall remain unimpaired thereby.

Sec. 704 formed sec. 60, ch. 25, R. S. 1866, p. 210.

704. When any real estate shall have been or may hereafter be bequeathed, aliened, donated, or otherwise entrusted to any religious society in this state, or to any of the trustees or officers of any such society, and such society shall be desirous to sell, exchange, or incumber, by mortgage or otherwise, any such real estate, it shall be lawful for the district court of the proper county, upon good cause shown upon petition of any such society, or some person authorized by them, to make an order authorizing the sale or incumbrance of any such real estate, and said court may include in such order directions how the proceeds of such sale or incumbrance shall be appropriated or invested; Provided, Such order shall in no case be inconsistent with the original terms upon which such real estate became invested or entrusted to such religious society.

Sale may be enjoined by contributors to building fund where latter would be diverted from intended use. Avery v. Baker, 27, 397-8 (43 N. W., 174).

704a. When any religious society shall petition, as is provided for in the preceding section, all persons who may have a vested, contingent, or reversionary interest in the real estate sought to be sold or encumbered shall be made parties to said petition, and such parties shall be notified of such petition in the same manner as is or may be provided for in cases of petitions for partitions of real estate; Provided, That the provisions of this chapter shall not extend to any ground used or occupied as burial places for the dead.

Miscellaneous.

Secs. 705 to 707. "An act to enable associations of persons of the learned professions to become bodies corporate." 1877, p. 119. In force June 1.

705. All associations of members of the professions of law, medicine, or divinity now existing, or which may hereafter be formed, may become incorporated and have all the powers, rights, duties, and liabilities of corporations for the attainment of their respective objects, by filing in the office of the secretary of state a copy of their constitution and by-laws duly attested by their president or presiding officer and countersigned by their secretary.

706. All such associations shall upon their organization elect an executive council of not less than three nor more than six persons, who, together with the president and secretary of such association, shall constitute the trustees or directors, and perform the duties and have the powers defined in sections forty-two and forty-four of chapter eleven, entitled "Corporations" [698 and 700].

707. Such associations may have and use a seal with such devices as may be proper, and change the same at pleasure.

Secs. 708 to 716. "An act to authorize the incorporation of detective associations, to provide for bonds of collection and awards by, to prescribe their powers, duties, and liabilities, prevent frauds by, and punish false pretenders." 1885, p. 189. In force March 5.

708. Whenever any number of persons associate themselves together for the purpose of carrying on the detective or secret service business for pay, they shall make a certificate in writing, subscribed and verified by the oaths or affirmations of all the members thereof, showing the full name and place of residence of each, the name and style by which such association shall be called, and the name of the town and county where their principal office shall be located, which certificate shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state, to be by him preserved and recorded in his office in the manner hereinafter provided.

709. Within thirty days from the date of filing the certificate as provided in section one of this act [708], the members of such association shall execute and deliver to the secretary of state a bond for the state of Nebraska in the penal sum of ten thousand (10,000) dollars, signed by all the members of such association, with a number of sureties equal to two for each member of said association, which sureties shall severally justify in sums aggregating the sum of ten thousand (10,000) dollars as hereinafter provided, conditioned for the faithful performance by such association of all the duties of their employment as prescribed in this act, and each member of such association shall make an oath or affirmation, to be endorsed on such bond and subscribed by him before some officer authorized to administer oaths and by him certified thereon, that he will support the constitution of the United States, and the constitution of the state of Nebraska, and will faithfully and impartially discharge the duties of a detective as prescribed in this act. Upon the receipt of such bond by the secretary of state he shall file the same, to be preserved in his office, and shall certify in writing that such association has complied with the law authorizing the incorporation of detective associations, and affix thereto the great seal of the state of Nebraska, attest the same, and record such certificate, together with the certificate and bond filed by such association, in a book to be kept for that purpose, and shall within five days thereafter, deliver said certificate issued by him to some member of said association, or mail the same, properly sealed, stamped, and addressed, to said association at the town where their principal office is located, and upon receipt of such certificate it shall be the duty of such association, before transacting any business, other than to meet for such purpose, to elect a chief and secretary, who shall continue in office until their successors are elected and qualified.

710. The justification of sureties on the bond required by section two of this act shall be an oath or affirmation endorsed on such bond to the effect that each of said sureties is a resident and freeholder of the state of Nebraska and is worth at least the sum in which he justifies, over and above all debts and liabilities by him owing, and all property exempt by law from levy and sale on execution, which oaths or affirmations shall be subscribed by the sureties and taken before and certified to by some officer authorized to administer oaths.

711. When any detective association shall be incorporated under the provisions of the three preceding sections of this act, such association is authorized to engage in the secret service or detective business through and in the name of such association, and shall be deemed a body corporate limited, without successors, and they may sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, in all courts of law and equity in and by their corporate name, and may have a corporate seal and may alter the same at will, and may acquire and hold such property as they may deem expedient or necessary, whether it be real, personal, or mixed, for the uses and purposes of their employment as defined in this act, and may employ any number of persons to assist them, but it shall be the duty of such association to deliver to every person employed by them a certificate showing the date of their employment, the name of the association, and the time for which such person is employed, which certificate shall be signed by the chief and attested by the secretary of such association; Provided, however, That whenever any person shall be admitted to such association as a member and not an employee, such association shall file a new certificate and bond in the office of the secretary of state, and at the expiration of every five years from the date of the last certificate issued to such association they shall make and file in the office of the secretary of state new bond and certificate, and in either case such new certificate and bond shall be in all respects the same as that required by the first three sections of this act and verified and recorded in the same manner.

712. It shall be the duty of the members and employes of every detective association incorporated under the provisions of this act, to preserve inviolate all secrets of state which may come to their knowledge, and all secrets confided to them in the course of their employment, unless required in the furtherance of justice to divulge the same in courts of examination, trial, or impeachment, to aid executive, judicial, and police officers in preventing crime, the pursuit, identification, arrest, and conviction of secret offenders and fugitives from justice, and to report to the chief any information or threatened insurrection against the state which may come to their knowledge, which chief shall forthwith convey such information to the governor, and upon the request of any magistrate within the county where the principal office of such association shall be located, it shall be the duty of such members thereof to execute all writs issued by such magistrate upon information against any person prosecuted by the state of Nebraska, for any offense punishable by fine, imprisonment, or death.

713. When any magistrate shall require a member of any detective association incorporated under the provisions of this act to execute any writ as provided in section five [712], it shall be the duty of such magistrate to direct such writ to the chief of such association, and the return thereon shall be verified in the same manner as provided by law for returns of such writs by sheriffs, and shall be signed by the chief's name and the name of the association, and if served by any other member than the chief, he shall add to the name of the chief and the association his name as associate, and such return shall be entitled to the same credit as returns by sheriffs, and when actually engaged in such service the members of such association shall have the same authority given by law to sheriffs in discharge of like duties, and such association shall be entitled to the same fees and mileage, to be taxed and collected in the same manner as provided by law for the payment of fees to sheriffs.

714. The members of every detective association incorporated under the provisions of this act, and their sureties, shall be liable on the bond of such association in damages to the party injured for loss of or damages to any money, property, or thing of value which may come into their possession, or the possession of their employes, in the course of their employment, and for the escape of any prisoner in their charge, if such loss, damage, or escape is caused by the negligence or misconduct of any member or employe of such association, which damages may be recovered in any court of competent jurisdiction in the county where the principal office is located, according to their certificate on file in the office of the secretary of state; Provided, That such association may have a lien on any stolen money or property recovered by them for the amount of the reward publicly offered or agreed in writing to be paid, and may refuse to deliver such money or property to the person offering such reward until the payment of the same be made.

715. Any detective association incorporated under the provisions of this act may be dissolved by two-thirds of the living members thereof making and filing in the office of the secretary of state a certificate showing the names of all the members, the date of their incorporation, and the name of the association, the names of any member who may be dead or has absconded or severed his connection with the association, declaring it their intention to dissolve such corporation at a time to be named in such certificate, which time shall not be less than forty days after the first publication of such certificate in the manner hereinafter provided; such certificate shall be subscribed and verified by the oaths or affirmations of two-thirds of the living members of such association and published four consecutive weeks in some newspaper printed and of general circulation in the county where their principal office is located, and if no such paper be printed in said county, then in some paper printed and of general circulation in the county where the capital of the state is located; Provided, however, That a failure for more than thirty days after the association of a new member, or the expiration of five years, to file a new certificate and bond as provided in section four of this act shall work a dissolution of such corporation, and upon the dissolution by operation of law or action of the members of such association, all the property and effects of every nature belonging to such association shall descend to and be vested in the members thereof jointly.

716. Any person who shall in the name of, or by virtue of, their association with or employment by any detective association incorporated under the provisions of this act engage in the secret service for pay, or offer to any other person their services as a detective, without having first complied with the requirements of the first three sections or having received a certificate of their employment, as provided in section four of this act [711], shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in any sum not exceeding fifty ($50) dollars or imprisoned in the county jail not to exceed thirty days, and any person who shall, by means of such false and fraudulent pretended association with or employment by any detective association, incorporated under the provisions of this act, obtain from any other person any goods, merchandise, money, property, effects, or other thing of value, if the property or money so fraudulently obtained be the value of thirty-five ($35) dollars or upwards, such person so offending shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than five years nor less than one year; but if the value of the property be less than thirty-five ($35) dollars, the person so offending shall be fined in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars or be imprisoned in the county jail not exceeding sixty days, and be liable to the party injured for the damages sustained.

CEMETERY ASSOCIATIONS.

717. It shall be lawful for any number of persons, not less than five, who are residents of the county in which they desire to form themselves into an association, to form themselves into a cemetery association, and to elect any number of their members, not less than three, to serve as trustees, and one member as clerk, who shall continue in office during the pleasure of the society; all such elections shall take place at a meeting of a majority of the members of such association, and after notice for at least twenty days in a newspaper, or by posting at least three written notices at public places in the township.

718. The clerk, hereinbefore authorized to be appointed, shall forthwith make out a true record of the proceedings of the meeting provided for by the preceding section, and certify and deliver the same to the clerk of the county in which such meeting shall be held, together with the name by which such association shall desire to be known; and it shall be the duty of each county clerk in this state, immediately upon the receipt of such certified statement, to record the same in a book by him provided for that purpose, at the expense of the county; and the clerk shall be entitled to the same fees for his services as he is entitled to demand for other similar services; and from and after the making of such record by the county clerk, the said trustees, and their associated members and successors, shall be invested with the powers, privileges, and immunities incident to aggregate corporations; and a certified transcript of the record, herein authorized to be made by the county clerk, shall be deemed and taken in all courts and places whatsoever within this state as prima facie evidence of the existence of such cemetery association.

719. The trustees who may be appointed under the provisions of this subdivision shall have perpetual succession, and shall be capable in law of contracting, and prosecuting and defending suits at law and in equity; and, where suits shall be brought against said incorporation, mesne process against it may be served by leaving an attested copy thereof with one of the trustees, at least ten days before the return day thereof.

720. Such association may have power to prescribe the terms on which members may be admitted, the number of its trustees and other officers (subject to the limitations set forth in this subdivision), and the time and manner of their election and appointment, and the time and place of meeting for the trustees and for the association, and to pass all such other by-laws as may be necessary for the good government of such association, not inconsistent with this or any other statute of the state, nor in violation of the constitution.

721. Such association shall be authorized to purchase or take, by gift or devise, and hold lands exempt from execution and from any appropriation to public purchasers, for the sole purpose of a cemetery, not exceeding three hundred and twenty (320) acres, which shall be exempt from taxation if used exclusively for burial purposes, and in nowise with a view to profit. After paying for such land, all the future receipts and income of such association, whether from the sale of lots, from donations, or otherwise, shall be applied exclusively to buying out, protecting, preserving, and embellishing the cemetery and the avenues leading thereto, and to the erection of such building or buildings, vault or vaults, as may be necessary for the cemetery purposes, and to paying the necessary expenses of the association. No debts shall be contracted in the anticipation of future receipts, except for originally purchasing, laying out, inclosing, and embellishing the grounds and avenues, and erecting buildings and vaults, for which a debt or debts may be contracted, not exceeding thirty-five thousand ($35,000) dollars in the whole, to be paid out of future receipts; and such association shall have power to adopt such rules and regulations as they deem expedient for disposing of and conveying burial lots.

722. Burial lots sold by such association shall be for the sole purpose of interments, and shall be subject to the rules prescribed by the association, and shall be exempt from taxation, execution, attachment, or any other claim, lien, or process whatever, if used exclusively for burial purposes, and in nowise with a view to profit.

723. Such association shall cause a plat of their grounds, and of the lots by them laid out, to be made and recorded, such lots to be numbered by regular consecutive numbers, and shall have power to inclose, improve, and adorn the grounds and avenues, and erect buildings for the use of the association; and to prescribe rules for the enclosing and adorning lots, and for erecting monuments in the cemetery; and to prohibit any use, division, improvement, or adornment of a lot which they may deem improper, and an annual exhibit shall be made of the affairs of the association.

724. Any person who shall willfully destroy, mutilate, deface, injure, or remove any tomb, monument, or gravestone, or other structure placed in any cemetery, or any fence, railing, or other work for the protection or ornament of a cemetery, or tomb, monument, or gravestone, or other structure aforesaid, or of any cemetery lot within a cemetery, or shall willfully destroy, cut, break, or injure any tree, shrub, or plant, within the limits of a cemetery, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, upon conviction thereof before any court of competent jurisdiction, be punished by a fine of not less than five dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, and by imprisonment in the county jail for a term of not less than one day nor more than thirty days, according to the nature and aggravation of the offense; and such offender shall also be liable, in an action of trespass in the name of the association, to pay all such damages as have been occasioned by his unlawful act or acts, which money, when recovered, shall be applied to the reparation and restoration of the property destroyed or injured as above; and in all prosecutions and suits under this chapter members of said association shall be competent witnesses.

725. Lands appropriated and set apart as burial grounds, either for public or private use, and so recorded in the county clerk's office of the county where such lands are situated, shall not be subject to sale on execution on any judgment to be hereafter recovered, to taxation, to dower, nor to compulsory partition.

1877, p. 211. Garfield formed from Wheeler November 8, 1881. (See 854 et seq.)

821. The county of York is bounded as follows: Commencing at the southwest corner of township nine north, of range four west; thence east to the southeast corner of township nine north, of range one west; thence north to the northeast corner of township twelve north, of range one west; thence west to the northwest corner of township twelve north, of range four west; thence south to the place of beginning.

Secs. 822 to 835. "An act to provide for the organization of new counties and to locate the county seats thereof." In force September 1, 1873. G. S., p. 228, except sec. 8 (G. S., sec. 84), repealed, 1875, p. 162.

822. When it shall be made to appear by the affidavit of three resident freeholders in any one of the unorganized counties of this state that such county contains a population of not less than two hundred inhabitants, and ten or more of such inhabitants being taxpayers, may, by memorial, petition the governor to appoint three persons therein mentioned, to act as special county commissioners, and one person by them named to act as a special clerk for such county; and shall also name some place, centrally located in the county, for a temporary county seat; whereupon it shall be the duty of the governor to appoint and commission the persons so named for special county officers, and shall, by appointment, under his hand and seal, declare the said place the temporary county seat of such county.

823. The said commissioners and clerk, before entering upon the discharge of their respective duties, shall take and subscribe an oath, faithfully, promptly, and impartially to perform them as herein required; and such oath shall be filed with and left in the office of the county clerk.

824. The said commissioners, or a majority of them, shall proceed to divide such county into suitable and convenient precincts, and such commissioners shall give at least thirty days' previous notice of the time which they shall fix upon for holding the first election of precinct and county officers, by conspicuously posting in one of the most public places in each precinct notices of such election, subscribed by them, and attested by the clerk; the notices posted in each precinct shall specify the place of voting therein.

Precincts are mere territorial divisions created for certain political and administrative purposes, and without the semblance of corporate character. They can neither plead nor be impleaded in actions, nor are they capable of imposing upon themselves any obligation or liability except in pursuance of express legislative authority. State v. Dodge County, 10, 22 (4 N. W., 370).

825. The voters at such election may assemble at nine o'clock A. M., in each precinct, and shall select from among their own number two judges and two clerks for the election, who, before they enter upon the discharge of their duties, shall take the oath required by judges and clerks of election, any one of whom may administer such oath to the other; and the said election shall be governed by the laws regulating elections at the time. The special commissioners shall constitute the board of canvassers for such election, and in the discharge of their duties as such, shall be governed by the law in force at that time.

County is permanently organized upon holding election and canvassing votes. Behr v. Willard, 11, 601 (10 N. W., 525).

826. At such first election, the voters of the county shall determine the permanent location of the county seat; for this purpose each voter may designate on his ballot the place of his choice for the county seat, and when the votes are canvassed, the place having a majority of all the votes polled shall be the county seat, and public notice of said location shall be given by the county commisssoners within thirty days, by posting up notices in three several places in each precinct in the county, and a copy of such notice shall be recorded by the county clerk in the book of miscellaneous records.

827. In any county where an election has been heretofore held under any law existing at the time of said election, to determine the permanent location of the county seat of such county, and said election shall be declared void by any court of competent jurisdiction in an action instituted for that purpose, the county commissioners of said county shall submit, at the next general election to be held sixty days after the entering of such judgment, to the qualified voters of the county seat of the county, as if no election had ever been held in such county.

Entirely rewritten 1883, p. 185. Election cannot be called without petition. Laws v. Vincent, 16, 216 (20 N. W., 213).

828. If no one place has a majority of all the votes polled, as provided in section five [826], it shall be the duty of the county commissioners within one month after said election, or within one month after the officers elected at the first election have qualified according to law, to order a special election, and give ten day's notice thereof, by posting up three notices in each precinct in said county, at which election votes shall be taken by ballot between the three highest places voted for at the first election; and if no choice is made at such election, notice of another election shall be given as above provided for, to decide between the two places having the highest number of votes at the last election, and the place having the highest number of votes shall be the county seat.

829. Whenever any county seat shall be located upon any public lands of the United States, it shall be the duty of the county commissioners to enter or purchase a quarter section of land at the place so designated, at the expense of and for the use of the county, within three months thereafter, if said land be subject to private entry; if not, the commissioners shall claim the same as a pre-emption under the laws of the United States, for the use of said county.

830. Such land shall be surveyed into lots, squares, streets, and alleys, and platted and recorded in the county clerk's office; and lots necessary for public buildings shall be reserved by the commissioners for that purpose.

831. The remainder of said lots shall be offered at public sale by the sheriff of the county to the highest bidder, at such time as the county board may designate. Notices of such sale shall be posted up in three public places of the county, and published in some newspaper of general circulation therein, at least thirty days previous to such sale. The terms of sale shall be determined by the county commissioners, and they may dispose of lots at private sale upon such terms as they may deem best.

832. Purchasers of the aforesaid lots shall receive a certificate of purchase from the sheriff, entitling the holder to a deed for the same, when payment in full shall be made according to law. If the purchaser of any lot fails to pay for the same within the time required by the county commissioners, not to exceed one year in any case, the right of the purchaser to such lot shall be forfeited, and the same shall be again sold by the county commissioners as hereinbefore provided.

833. The proceeds of the sale of such lots, after deducting all necessary expenses, shall be paid into the county treasury and constitute a fund for the erection of public buildings for the use of the county, at the county seat, and shall be used for no other purpose whatever.

834. Whenever any county organized under the provisions of this chapter shall have been previously attached to any other county for election, judicial, and revenue purposes, it shall be the duty of the county clerk chosen at the first election, after having qualified according to law, to procure from the proper officer of such county a transcript of all deeds, mortgages, judgments, and liens of every description upon real or personal property lying and being in such newly organized county, and cause the same to be recorded in the proper offices of his own county; such clerk shall be at full liberty to take such transcripts himself, and when recorded in the proper office in his own county, shall stand headed with the name of the county and offices where taken, and a certificate attached thereto that they are correct; and such clerk shall receive for his services ten cents per folio for taking such transcripts, ten cents per folio for recording them, and ten cents per mile for traveling in going after and returning with them, which shall be audited, allowed, and paid to him by his own county.

835. All county and precinct officers elected at the first election as herein provided shall continue to hold their respective offices until the next general election held for the same offices in other counties, as provided by the election law in force at that time, and until their successors are elected and qualified.

Secs. 836 to 844. "An act to provide for the relocation of county seats." 1875, p. 159. In force February 24. Repealing section 8, p. 229, G. S.

836. Whenever the inhabitants of any county are desirous of changing their county seat, and upon petitions therefor being presented to the county commissioners, signed by resident electors of said county, equal in number to three-fifths of all the votes cast in said county at the last general election held therein, said petition shall contain, in addition to the names of the petitioners, the section, township, and range on which, or town or city in which the petitioners reside, their ages and time of residence in the county, it shall be the duty of such board of commissioners to forthwith call a special election in said county for the purpose of submitting to the qualified electors thereof the question of the relocation of the county seat. Notice of the time and the places of holding said election shall be given in the same manner, and said election shall be conducted in all respects the same as is provided by law relating to general elections for county purposes. The electors at said election shall designate on their ballots what city, town, or place they desire said county seat located at or in, and any place receiving three-fifths of all the votes cast shall become and remain, from and after the first day of the third month next succeeding such election, the county seat of said county.

Cannot call election without petition. Laws v. Vincent, 16, 216 (20 N. W., 213). Objection to petition must be made before election. Ellis v. Karl. 7, 390. To authorize the board to call such an election the petition must contain the requisite number of names at the time it is acted upon by them, and any of the petitioners may withdraw their names at any time before such petition is acted upon by the board. State v. Nemaha County, 10, 35 (4 N. W., 373). The notice must conform to the law. The place of removal must be stated on the ballots. People, ex rel., v. Hamilton County, 3, 252. County board proper tribunal in first instance to determine whether petition was signed by requisite number of electors. State v. Nelson, 21, 578 (32 N. W., 589). Mandamus will lie to compel board to call election on a proper petition. State, ex rel. Wilcox, v. Crabtree, 35, 110 (52 N. W., 842). When the intention of the voter is clearly ascertainable from his ballot, together with extrinsic evidence of a public nature, the law requires the counting of the ballot. State v. Dinsmore, 5, 147. The words "resident electors" exclude persons temporarily in the county. The board should reject all repetitions, false or fictitious names. A supplemental petition is unauthorized. Bribery or fraud in securing names to the petition will vitiate it. Ayres v. Moan, 34, 210 (51 N. W., 830). Petition of three-fifths of the voters at last election showing section, town, and range, or city in which the petitioner resides, his age and length of residence in the county, is jurisdictional. Objections filed must be heard by the board. Crews v. Coffman, — Neb., — (55 N. W., 267).

837. If it shall appear upon the canvass of said votes that no one place has received three-fifths of all the votes cast, and if it shall further appear that three-fifths of all the votes cast have been cast in favor of places other than the one where said county seat is then located, it shall be the duty of said board of county commissioners to immediately call a special election in the same manner as provided in section one of this act.

Board cannot be compelled to canvass forged returns. State v. Kavanagh, 24, 509-10 (39 N. W., 431). Canvassers have no right to throw out illegal votes; nor will mandamus lie to compel commissioners to canvass votes. State, ex rel. Reed, v. Ramsey, 8, 291.

838. At which election the electors of said county shall designate upon their ballots either the name of the place where the county seat is then located, or one of the two places, other than the said county seat, which received the largest number of votes cast at the special election first held, and in canvassing said votes no votes shall be counted except such as are cast for one of the three places before mentioned.

839. If three-fifths of all said votes so to be counted shall be in favor of the relocation of such county seat at either of the places voted for, the place receiving three-fifths of such votes shall become and remain from and after the first day of the third month next succeeding said election the county seat of such county.

840. If it shall appear upon the canvass of said vote that no one place has received three-fifths of all the votes legally cast at said election, and if it shall further appear that less than two-fifths of all said votes have been cast in favor of the present county seat, said board of county commissioners shall, at the next general election held in such county, again submit to the electors thereof the question of the relocation of the county seat.

841. If the present county seat received a less number of votes, at the second special election hereinbefore provided for, than either of the other places voted for thereat, then the electors shall designate on their ballots the name of one of the two places, other than said county seat, where they desire the county seat so located, and the one of said places receiving the largest number of votes shall be and become, from and after the first day of January following such election, the county seat of said county; but if at said election only one of the places voted for received more votes than the place where the county seat is then located, the electors of said county shall designate upon their ballots either the name of the place where the county seat is then located, or of the place which received the highest number of votes cast at the aforesaid special election, and in canvassing said votes no votes shall be counted except such as are cast for one of the two places before mentioned.

842. If three-fifths of all said votes so to be counted shall be in favor of the relocation of such county seat, the place so receiving three-fifths of all of said votes shall become and remain, from and after the first day of January next succeeding said election, the county seat of such county.

843. If at either of the elections in this act provided for more than two-fifths of the votes cast shall be in favor of the place where the county seat is then located, the question of the relocation thereof shall not be again submitted for the space of two years from the date of said election, and in case the county seat shall be relocated as herein provided for, the question of the relocation thereof shall not be again submitted to the electors for the space of five years thereafter.

If the then county seat receive three-fifths, no further election can be held for five years; and an attempt to resubmit the question will be enjoined. Soloman v. Fleming, 34, 43 (51 N. W., 304).

844. When any such county seat shall have been relocated, it shall be the duty of county officers to forthwith remove their respective offices, and all county records, papers, and property in their offices or charge, to the place where said county seat shall have been relocated; and any county officer who shall refuse to comply with any of the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall be fined in any sum not exceeding one thousand dollars, and a conviction of any such officer of such misdemeanor shall work a vacancy in his said office.

County commissioners or county officers have no discretion whatever after the result is announced. Scott v. McGuire, 15, 305 (18 N. W., 93).

Secs. 845 to 927. "An act concerning counties and county officers."† 1879, p. 353. In force September 1.

845. The boundaries of the several counties of this state shall remain as are established until the same be changed according to law.

846. In all cases where any organized county lies adjacent to any boundary line of this state, and it shall appear that any island, territory, or tract of land lies between such county and the state boundary, and is not included within the defined boundaries of any organized county, and is not a military reservation of the United States, such unincluded island, territory, or tract of land shall attach to and be a part of such adjacent county for all purposes, until otherwise provided by law.

847. Where any county is bounded by the middle of the channel of any stream water-course, and by reason of any change of such channel any island or tract of land shall be thrown to the other side of such bounding channel, after the original organization and establishment of the boundaries of any county, the old channel of the stream or water-course shall, for all county and state purposes, be deemed the channel thereof.

848. When a majority of the legal voters, residing upon any territory, shall petition the county board of their own county, and also of the county to which they desire such territory to be transferred, for leave to have such territory transferred to such county, it shall be the duty of the several county boards so petitioned to submit the question at the next general election in said counties; *_Provided,_ That no such petition shall be granted until after the expiration of three years from last submission of the question.

Amended 1885, p. 210. All after * added 1889. p. 74.

† The title "counties and county officers" is not open to the constitutional objection of containing more than one subject. State v. Page. 12, 387 (11 N. W., 495). Secs. 73 to 131 of this act are inserted in the chapter on Officers [3118 to 3185]; secs. 132 to 141 in that on Public Finances [4180 to 4189].

849. Notices of such election shall contain a description of the territory proposed to be transferred, the names of the counties from and to which such transfer is intended to be made, and shall be posted with the other notices for general elections.

850. The ballots used in the said elections may be in the following form, to-wit: "For transferring territory," and "Against transferring territory," when, if a majority of the voters voting upon said question in the county from which said territory is proposed to be taken, and a majority of the voters of the county to which the same is proposed to be transferred, shall be "For transferring territory," then the said territory shall be transferred to and become a part of the county to which it is proposed to transfer the same, on and after the first day of January succeeding such election, and shall be subject to all the laws, rules, and regulations thereof; Provided, That all assessments and collections of taxes and judicial or other official proceedings commenced prior to said first day of January, shall be continued, prosecuted, and completed in the same manner as if no transfer had been made; And provided further, That all township or precinct officers within said transferred territory shall continue to hold their respective offices within the county to which they may be transferred until their respective terms of office expire.

851. No county shall be reduced under the provisions of this act to less contents than 400 square miles.

852. No transferred territory under the provisions of this act shall be released from the payment of its proportion of the debts of the county from which such territory is transferred; and such proportionate indebtedness from such transferred territory shall be collected by the county to which such territory is transferred, at an equal or greater rate than is levied and collected in the county from which such territory was transferred—such rate to be ascertained by the certificate of the county clerk of said last named county, and when so collected, to be paid over to the county entitled thereto. The territory so transferred shall not be taxed for the payment of any indebtedness of the county to which said territory is transferred, incurred previous to said transfer.

853. When any unorganized territory lies adjoining to and is not embraced within the boundaries of any county, and a majority of the inhabitants of said territory petition the commissioners of said adjoining county to be attached to the same, the county board of said county shall within sixty days order an election as provided for in sections 4, 5, and 6 of this act [848–850], and said territory shall become attached to and be a part of said county by a majority vote of the same, and be subject in all other respects to the provisions of this act.

Amended 1885, p. 210. Legislature cannot by act add to or strike from the boundaries of a county territory belonging thereto. Wayne County v. Cobb, 35, 236 (52 N. W., 1102).

854. Whenever it is desired to form a new county out of one or more of the then existing counties, and a petition praying for the erection of such new county, stating and describing the territory proposed to be taken for such new county, together with the name of such proposed new county, signed by a majority of the legal voters residing in the territory to be stricken from such county or counties, shall be presented to the county board of each county to be affected by such division, and it appearing that such new county can be constitutionally formed, it shall be the duty of such county board or county boards to make an order providing for the submission of the question of the erection of such new county to a vote of the people of the counties to be affected, at the next succeeding general election of which the notice shall be given, the votes canvassed, and the returns made as in case of election of county officers, and the form of the ballot to be used in the determination of such question shall be as follows: "For new county," and "Against new county."

Propositions may be separately submitted at same election. State v. Newman, 24, 43–5 (38 N. W., 40). Board must grant the prayer of the first legal petition filed, and refuse to submit the others. Two propositions partly embracing the same territory cannot be submitted at once. New counties cannot be formed if they reduce the county from which formed to less than the constitutional limit. State, ex rel. Pennell, v. Armstrong, 30, 493 (46 N. W., 618).

855. If it shall appear that three-fifths of all the votes cast at such election, in each of the counties interested, is in favor of the erection of such new county, the county clerk of each said counties shall certify the same to the secretary of state, stating in such certificate the name, territorial contents, and boundaries of such new county; whereupon the secretary of state shall notify the governor of the result of such election, whose duty it shall be to order an election of county officers for such new county, at such time as he shall designate, and he may, when necessary, fix the place of holding election, notice of which shall be given in such manner as the governor shall direct. At such election the qualified voters of said new county shall elect all county officers for said county, except as hereinafter excepted, who shall be commissioned and qualified in the same manner as such officers are in other counties in this state, and who shall continue in office until the next general election for such officers, and until their successors are elected and qualified, and who shall have all the jurisdiction and perform all the duties which are or may be conferred upon such officers in other counties of this state.

Vote required changed from majority, 1889, p. 74. These officers only hold until the next general election or until their successors qualify. State v. Field, 26, 399 (41 N. W., 988). Not duty of treasurer of old county to collect from new, unpaid taxes levied before division. State, ex rel. Malloy, v. Clevenger, 27, 424 (43 N. W., 243). Requirement of three-fifths constitutional. State, ex rel. Packard, v. Nelson, 34, 172 (51 N. W., 648).

856. All the justices of the peace, constables, and other township or precinct officers who were previously elected and qualified in the county or counties from which such new county has been formed, whose term of office shall not have expired at the time of said election, and whose residence shall be embraced within the limits of said new county, shall continue in office until their terms of office shall expire, and until their successors shall be elected and qualified.

857. The votes for the county officers of said new county shall be canvassed and returns made by the county clerk or county clerks of the county or counties from which such new county was formed, as provided by law in other cases.

858. The oath of office may be administered to the several county officers of such new county by any person authorized by law to administer oaths; and as soon as said county officers are duly qualified, the county shall be regarded as legally organized, and for judicial purposes shall be deemed and taken as belonging to the district in which said new county, or the greater part thereof, is embraced, and terms of the district court shall be held at such place in said new county as the county board thereof shall designate, until the county seat thereof shall be permanently located. The times of holding such court shall be appointed by the judge thereof until otherwise provided by law.

859. The courts of any county or counties from which such new county is erected may, by proper order, transfer any suit or other legal proceeding affecting real estate in such new county to the proper court of such new county, or may transfer any suit and all papers and records pertaining thereto to such new county, when all the parties thereto are residents of such new county; but all judgments and other liens in the county or counties from which such new county was erected shall have the same effect as if no new county had been erected.

860. All the property, both real and personal, and all the debts and liabilities and choses in action of every kind belonging to the county or counties from which such new county was formed, shall be divided by the several county boards of the counties interested between the county or counties from which such new county is formed and the new county, in proportion to the assessed value of property for the last preceding year, which has been taken from such original county or counties and carried to such new county; and if such board cannot agree upon such division, they may refer the matters of difference to arbitrators, or the rights to such property and carried to such new county; and if such board cannot agree upon such division, they may refer the matters of difference to arbitrators, or the rights to such property may be settled by a suit in the district court, brought by either party for that purpose. In case the said property cannot be divided or removed, the county receiving the same shall pay to the other a proportionate value for the same.

Whether applies to uncollected taxes, quære. State v. Clevenger. 27, 424 (43 N. W., 243).

861. The county clerk of the new county shall transcribe in books prepared for that purpose, from the records of the county or counties from which the new county is formed, all deeds, mortgages, leases, and title papers of every description, with the certificate of acknowledgment thereto, and the date of filing the same for record, of lands lying in the new county, which were previously recorded in the county or counties from which the new county was formed; and said clerk shall be allowed by such new county such compensation as his services are reasonably worth. The clerk of such new county shall also prepare a numerical index of the lands and lots in such new county in the same manner as county clerks are by law directed to prepare and keep such index.

862. Said clerk shall note at the end of each paper he shall transcribe the book and page from which the same was transcribed, and shall make a correct double index of said records; and on the completion of his duties said clerk shall return said books to the county clerk of said new county, with his certificate attached thereto, showing that he has complied with the law: whereupon they shall be taken and considered to all intents and purposes as books of records of deeds, mortgages, and title papers for said new county. And copies of said record, certified by the officer having the custody of the same, shall be evidence in all courts and places, in the same manner that copies of records are evidence in other cases, and with like effect.

See State v. Dixon County, 24, 112 (37 N. W., 936).

863. The county seat of such new county shall be fixed as provided by law for the fixing of county seats upon the organization of new counties.

864. Each county which has heretofore been or may hereafter be established in this state, according to the laws thereof, shall be a body politic and corporate, by the name and style of "The county of..................," and by that name may sue and be sued, plead and may be impleaded, defend and be defended against in any court having jurisdiction of the subject-matter, either in law or equity, or other place where justice shall be administered.

865. The powers of the county as a body corporate or politic shall be exercised by a county board, to-wit: In counties under township organization by the board of supervisors, which shall be composed of the town and such other supervisors as are or may be elected pursuant to law; in counties not under township organization, by the board of county commissioners.

866. Each county shall have power: First—To purchase and hold the real and personal estate necessary for the use of the county, and to purchase and hold, for the benefit of the county, real estate sold by virtue of judicial proceedings in which the county is plaintiff or is interested, and all real estate conveyed by general warranty deed to trustees, in which the county is the beneficiary, whether such real estate is situated in the county so interested, or in some other county or counties of the state. Second—To sell and convey, or lease, any real or personal estate owned by the county. Third—To make all contracts and to do all other acts in relation to the property and concerns of the county necessary to the exercise of its corporate powers.

867. The county boards of the several counties shall have power: First—To take and have the care and custody of all the real and personal estate owned by the county. Second—To manage the county funds and county businesss, except as otherwise specifically provided. Third—To make all orders respecting the property of the county, to keep the county buildings insured, to sell the public grounds or buildings of the county, and purchase other property in lieu thereof; *Provided, That said county boards may, if they deem it for the best interests of the county, to sell county property upon such terms of credit as shall by resolution of said county boards be determined upon; Provided further, That such deferred payments shall be for not more than two-thirds of the purchase price, the same to be secured by note or notes, and a first mortgage upon the property so sold, said deferred payments to draw not less than six (6) per cent interest per annum from date until paid, said interest to be paid annually. Said county boards shall also have the power to sell or negotiate, without recourse upon the county, said notes and mortgage so by them taken, provided the same shall not be sold for less than par value, including accrued interest.* Fourth—To lay out, alter, or discontinue any road running through their county, and perform such duties concerning roads as may be prescribed by law. Fifth—To examine and settle all accounts against the county, and all accounts concerning the receipts and expenditures of the county. Sixth—To authorize the vacation of any city or village plat when the same is not within any incorporated city or village, on the petition of two-thirds of the owners thereof. Seventh—To change the name of any city or village plat on the petition of a majority of the legal voters residing therein, when the inhabitants thereof have not become a body corporate.

* to * added 1887, p. 350. Powers of county boards those prescribed by law or incidentally necessary to carry them into effect. State, ex rel. Clark, v. Buffalo County, 6, 460. Have original jurisdiction of claims, but appeal lies to district court. Brown v. Otoe County, 6, 116. Claimant may appeal from decision of the board to district court. Clark v. Dayton, 6, 203. Two members of a board cannot try a third for an alleged misdemeanor. Hutchinson v. Ashburn, 5, 404. Board no authority to raise or lower fees; must draw warrants for what the law allows, Kemerer v. State, 7, 132. No power to issue bonds. Hamlin v. Meadville, 6, 233. Members of the board are not liable individually for injuries received from defective roads. McConnell v. Dewey, 5, 392. Board not concluded by certificate of judge allowing attorney fee in a felony. Boone County v. Armstrong, 23, 766 (37 N. W., 626).

868. The county board shall not sell the public grounds, as provided in the third subdivision in the preceding section, without having first submitted the question of selling such public grounds to a vote of the electors of the county.

869. It shall be the duty of the county board of each county:

First. To cause to be annually levied and collected taxes authorized by law for county purposes, not exceeding one dollar and fifty cents on the one hundred dollars' valuation, unless authorized by a vote of the people of the county, and in addition thereto sufficient to pay the interest, and create a sinking fund for the payment of the principal, of all indebtedness which existed at the adoption of the constitution, November 1, 1875.

Second. To erect or otherwise provide a suitable court house, jail, and other necessary county buildings, and for that purpose to borrow money and issue the bonds of the county to pay the same; to keep the said buildings in repair and to provide suitable rooms and offices for the accommodation of the several courts of record, the county board, clerk, treasurer, sheriff, clerk of the district court, county superintendent, county surveyor, and county attorney (provided said county attorney shall hold his office at the county seat), and suitable furniture therefor. But no appropriation exceeding fifteen hundred dollars shall be made for the erection of any county building without first submitting the proposition to a vote of the people of the county at a general election or a special election ordered by said board for that purpose, and the same is ordered by a majority of the legal voters voting thereon.

This subdivision originally required a two-thirds vote; changed to three-fifths and otherwise amended 1887, p. 355; again amended and vote changed to a majority, 1889, p. 83. Bonds to build county jail cannot be issued by county commissioners under this. State v. Lincoln County, 18, 287 (25 N. W., 91). Amendatory act of 1889 constitutional. Fenton v. Yule, 27, 758 (43 N. W., 1140). Baird v. Todd, 27, 784 (43 N. W., (1143). Bonnell v. County of Nuckolls, 32, 189 (49 N. W., 225). Call Pub. Co. v. Lincoln, 29, 149 (45 N. W., 245.) See State v. Babcock, 23, 134 (36 N. W., 348).

Third. To provide and keep in repair, when the finances of the county will permit, suitable fire-proof safes for the county clerk and county treasurer.

Fourth. To provide suitable books and stationery for the use of the county board, county clerk, county treasurer, county judge, sheriff, clerk of the district court, *county superintendent, and county attorney.

All after * added 1887, p. 353.

Fifth. To cause to be published at the close of each annual, regular, or special meeting of the board a brief statement of the proceedings thereof in one newspaper of general circulation published in the county, and also their proceedings upon the equalization of the assessment roll; Provided, That no publication in a newspaper shall be required unless the same can be done at an expense not exceeding one-third of the legal rate for advertising notices.

Sixth. At their regular meeting in January of each year to prepare an estimate of the necessary expenses of the county during the ensuing year, the total of which shall in no instance exceed the amount of taxes authorized by law to be levied during that year, including the amounts necessary to meet outstanding indebtedness, as evidenced by bonds, coupons, or warrants legally issued; and such estimate, containing the items constituting the amounts, shall be entered at large upon their records and published four successive weeks before the levy for that year in some newspaper published and of general circulation in the county, or if none is published, then in some newspaper of general circulation therein; and no levy of taxes shall be made for any other purpose or amounts than are specified in such estimate as published, but any item or amount may be stricken from such estimate, or reduced, at the time the levy is made. If any levy shall be made in excess of such estimate, the tax shall not therefore be void, but the members of the county board and their sureties shall be jointly and severally liable upon their official bonds for the full amount of such excess, which shall be collected by civil action, as in other cases, for the use of the school fund of the county. If the members of the said board neglect to comply with any other provisions of this section, the tax shall not therefore be void, but they shall each be liable to a penalty of five hundred dollars, to be recovered by civil action, as in other cases, for the use of the school fund of the county.

Where estimate does not include outstanding warrants of preceding years, the fund arising from the levy of the present year cannot be legally used to pay warrants of preceding years; not, at least, until all of the expenditures contemplated by the yearly estimate for present year have been met. State v. Harvey, 12, 32 (10 N. W., 406). County board will not be compelled to act upon claims where no estimates have been made and there are no funds in the treasury for their payment. Lancaster County v. State, 13, 525 (14 N. W., 517). Tax levied for "county bridge fund," although not based upon a previous estimate, is valid. State v. Wise, 12, 314 (11 N. W., 329). Mandamus lies against the county board to compel them to include in the estimate bona fide claims allowed against the county. State, ex rel. Wessell, v. Weir, 33, 35 (49 N. W., 785).

Seventh. That in all cases where any bridge or any public building, the property of any county within this state, shall be injured or destroyed by any person or persons, either negligently, carelessly, or willfully and maliciously, it shall be the duty of the county board of the proper county, for and in the name of the county, to sue for and recover such damages as shall have occurred by reason thereof, and the money so recovered shall be paid into the treasury of the proper county, and be by the treasurer credited to the fund out of which bridge or building was constructed or repaired.

870. Whenever the county board shall deem it necessary to assess taxes, the aggregate of which shall exceed the rate of one dollar and fifty cents per one hundred dollars valuation of the property of the county, except when such excess is to be used for the payment of indebtedness existing at the adoption of the constitution, the county board may, by an order entered of record, set forth substantially the amount of such excess required and the purpose for which the same will be required, and if for the payment of interest or principal, or both, upon bonds, shall in a general way designate the bonds and specify the number of years such excess will require to be levied and provide for the submission of the question of assessing the additional rate required to a vote of the people of the county at the next election for county officers after adoption of the resolution, or at a special election ordered by said county board for that purpose. If the proposition for such additional tax be carried, the same shall be paid in money and in no other manner.

* to * added 1887, p. 356. These provisions have no application to valid bonds issued before this section took effect. State, ex rel. Ahern, v. Walsh, 31, 479 (48 N. W., 263).

871. The mode of submitting questions to the people for any purpose authorized by law shall be as follows: The whole question, including the sum desired to be raised, or the amount of the tax desired to be levied, or the rate per annum, and the whole regulation, including the time of its taking effect, or having operation, if it be of a nature to be set forth, and the penalty of its violation, if there be one, is to be published for four weeks in some newspaper published in the county. If there be no such newspaper, the publication is to be made by being posted up in at least one of the most public places in each election precinct in the county, and in all cases the notices shall name the time when such question shall be voted upon, and the form in which the question shall be taken, and a copy of the question submitted shall be posted up at each place of voting during the day of election.

Water and paving bonds in cities can only be issued after vote. State v. Babcock, 25, 503 (41 N. W., 450). Must be complied with in issuance of precinct bonds under provisions of ch. 58 of Laws 1885. State v. Babcock, 21, 604 (33 N. W., 247). See B. & M. R. R. Co. v. Clay County, 13, 369 (13 N. W., 628). The question of issuing bonds for seed grain under a special act of the legislature must be submitted to a vote of the people. In re House Roll 284, 31, 505 (48 N. W., 275).

872. When the question submitted involves the borrowing or expenditure of money, or issuance of bonds, the proposition of the question must be accompanied by a provision to levy a tax annually for the payment of interest, if any, thereof, and no vote adopting the question proposed shall be valid unless it likewise adopt the amount of tax to be levied to meet the liability incurred.

School bond proposition submitted under sec. 28, act of 1887, p. 599, need not contain provision for levying tax. State, ex rel. Bd. of Education, v. Benton, 29, 472 (45 N. W., 794). See B. & M. R. R. Co., v. Clay County, 13, 369 (13 N. W., 628); Fremont Building Ass'n v. Sherwin, 6, 53 The issuance of bonds must be submitted to vote; a petition of a majority of the electors is not sufficient. In re House Roll 284, 31, 505 (48 N. W., 275).

873. At the time specified in such notice a vote of the qualified electors shall be taken in each precinct, at the place designated in such notice. The votes shall be received, and returns thereof made, and the same shall be canvassed by the same officers and in the same manner as required at each general election.

See State v. Hill, 10, 60 (4 N. W., 514).

874. If it appears that two-thirds of the votes cast are in favor of the proposition, and the requirements of the law have been fully complied with, the same shall be entered at large by the county board upon the book containing the record of their proceedings, and they shall then have power to levy and collect the special tax in the same manner that the other county taxes are collected. Propositions thus acted upon cannot be rescinded by the county board.

This means two-thirds of the total vote cast at said election. State v. Anderson, 26, 521 (42 N. W., 421). Amended by implication by ch. 10, Laws 1889, so as to require but a majority vote. Fenton v. Yule, 27, 765 (43 N. W., 1140).

875. Money raised by the county board in pursuance to the provisions of the preceding sections of this act is specially appropriated and constituted a fund, distinct from all others, in the hands of the county treasurer, until the obligation assumed be discharged.

876. On the trial of any suit in which a county be interested, the inhabitants of such county shall be competent witnesses and jurors, if otherwise competent and qualified according to law.

877. Upon the allowance of any claim or account against the county, the county board shall direct the county clerk to draw a warrant upon the county treasurer in payment thereof, such warrant to be signed by the chairman of the county board, countersigned by the county clerk, and sealed with the county seal, but the same shall not be delivered to the party until the time for taking an appeal has expired, and if such appeal be taken, then not until the same shall have been determined.

Treasurer should not register until after ten days. Means v. Webster, 23, 432 (36 N. W., 809). Cited, State v. Furnas County, 10, 362 (6 N. W., 434); State v. Thorne, 9, 461 (4 N. W., 63).

878. It shall be unlawful for the county board of any county in this state to issue any warrants for any amount exceeding the aggregate of 85 per cent of the amount levied by tax for the current year, except there be money in the treasury to the credit of the proper fund for the payment of the same; nor shall it be lawful for the county board to issue any certificate of indebtedness in any form in payment of any account or claim, nor to make any contracts for or to incur any indebtedness against the county in excess of the tax levied for county expense during the current year; nor shall any expenditure be made, or indebtedness be contracted to be paid out of any of the funds of said county in excess of the amount levied for said fund.

Amended and raised from 50 per cent to 75 per cent, 1881, p. 223; and to 85 per cent, 1883, p. 186. County board has no authority to audit claims, unless there are funds in the treasury, or taxes levied upon which a warrant can be drawn. Lancaster County v. State, 13, 526 (14 N. W., 517). County board has no authority to issue warrants in excess of the limitation fixed in this statute. State v. Colfax County, 10, 30 (4 N. W., 377). Action upon county warrant cannot be brought immediately upon the receipt of warrant. Action not barred by statute of limitation. Brewer v. Otoe County, 1, 384. See note to section 25, citing State v. Harvey, 12, 32 (10 N. W., 406); see U. P. R. R. Co. v. Buffalo County, 9, 451 (4 N. W., 53). The county board cannot lawfully incur indebtedness in excess of the tax levied for the current year; nor can they issue warrants on any fund exceeding eighty-five per cent of the amount levied, unless the money to the credit of that fund is in the treasury. But the salary of a county officer is not an indebtedness created or incurred by the county board. State, ex rel Wessel, v. Weir, 33, 37 (49 N. W., 785).

879. Each warrant shall specify the amount levied and appropriated to the fund upon which it is drawn, and the amount already expended of such sum.

880. Any warrant drawn after 75 per cent of the amount levied for the year is exhausted, and where there are no funds in the treasury for the payment of the same, shall not be chargeable as against the county, but may be collected by civil action from the county board making the same, or any member thereof.

Raised from 50 to 75 per cent, 1881, p. 223. Warrant drawn in excess of limit, county commissioners liable for. U. P. R. R. Co. v. Buffalo County, 9, 453 (4 N. W., 53).

881. Before any claim against a county is audited and allowed, the claimant or his agent shall verify the same by his affidavit, stating that the several items therein mentioned are just and true, and the services charged therein, or articles furnished, as the case may be, were rendered or furnished as therein charged, and that the amount claimed is due and unpaid after allowing just credits. All claims against a county must be filed with the county clerk. And when the claim of any person against a county is disallowed, in whole or in part, by the county board, such person may appeal from the decision of the board to the district court of the same county by causing a written notice to be served on the county clerk, within twenty days after making such decision, and executing a bond to such county, with sufficient security, to be approved by the county clerk, conditioned for the faithful prosecution of such appeal, and the payment of all costs that shall be adjudged against the appellant. * Upon the disallowance of any claim, it shall be the duty of the county clerk to notify the claimant, his agent or attorney, in writing, of the fact, within five days after such disallowance. Notice mailed within said time shall be deemed sufficient.

Former act required notice to be served on chairman of board. Amended, and all after * added 1885, p. 211. All claims against county must be submitted to county board, and the only mode of prosecuting an action on such claims is by an appeal from its decision. Dixon County v. Barnes, 13, 295 (13 N. W., 623). Commissioners cannot be compelled by mandamus to audit an account, but, in a proper case, can be compelled to act upon it. State v. Furnas County, 10, 363 (6 N. W., 434). Injunction will not lie to restrain payment of claim by commissioners; remedy is appeal. Garrison v. People, 6, 283. A demand for taxes illegally collected is a "claim" against the county. Richardson County v. Hull, 28, 813 (45 N. W., 53). A county is not liable in damages at common law, or under the Revised Statutes of 1866, for injuries caused by the breaking down of a public bridge which was caused by negligence of the county commissioners. Woods v. Colfax County, 10, 552 (7 N. W., 269). This does not apply to demands arising upon torts. Hollingsworth v. Saunders County, 36, — (54 N. W., 81). A claim for costs of redeeming land sold for taxes wrongfully is a valid claim against a county. Fuller v. County of Colfax, 33, 723 (50 N. W., 1044). Aggrieved party has a right to appeal to the district court. Ex parte Schmitker, 6, 110. Claimant waives his right of appeal by accepting warrant for amount allowed. Hamilton County v. Bailey, 12, 60 (10 N. W., 539). Appeals for damages caused by location of a road should not be taken under this section, but under sec. 39 of the chapter on Roads. Richardson County v. Miles, 14, 313 (16 N. W., 150) [ch. 18]. No specific form of judgment required. Black v. Saunders County, 8, 442. An appeal lies from the action of the board in refusing to allow claim for return of taxes paid under protest. McClay v. City of Lincoln, 32, 419 (49 N. W., 282). A cause of action under sec. 71 of revenue law of 1869 is a claim against a county; dismissal of appeal from action of board on such claim is a final adjudication thereof. Richardson County v. Hull, 24, 536 (39 N. W., 608). Cited and sustained, State v. Colfax County, 10, 31 (4 N. W., 377).

882. Any taxpayer may likewise appeal from the allowance of any claim against the county by serving a like notice within ten days and giving a bond similar to that provided for in the preceding section.

Amended 1885, p. 212. See State v. Furnas County, 10, 363 (6 N. W., 434). An attempt to appeal made in good faith by a taxpayer will not be dismissed on account of informalities or omissions in the undertaking. Roube v. Cedar County, 35, 896 (53 N. W., 1009).

883. The clerk of the board, upon such appeal being taken, and being paid the proper fees therefor, shall make out a complete transcript of the proceedings of the board relating to the matter of their decision thereon, and shall deliver the same to the clerk of the district court; and such appeal shall be entered, tried, and determined the same as appeals from justice courts, and costs shall be awarded thereon in like manner.

The appellee is plaintiff, and as such has no right of removal to the federal court under the act of March 3, 1887, which gives such right to the defendant only. Tullock v. Webster County (Circ. Ct.), 40 Fed. Rep., 706.

884. The provisions of this subdivision shall not be so construed as to prevent the county board from once reconsidering their action on any claim upon due notice to parties interested.

Cannot reconsider claim allowed before act took effect. State v. Cathers, 25, 255 (41 N. W., 182).

885. Whenever a tax is levied for the payment of a specific debt, the amount of such tax collected shall be kept as a separate fund in the county treasury, and expended only in the liquidation of such indebtedness; Provided, That any surplus remaining in the treasury after full payment of such indebtedness shall be transferred to the general fund of the county.

886. A copy of the field notes of the original survey of each county by the United States shall be procured, and a map of the county shall be constructed in accordance therewith on a scale of not less than one inch to a mile, and laid off in townships and sections. Such map and field notes shall be deposited in the office of the county clerk, and be by him preserved. Whenever the boundaries of any county are changed, the necessary alteration in such map may be made, or a new map of the county may be made if the county board so direct.

887. All persons chargeable with money belonging to any county shall render their accounts to and settle with the county board at the time required by law, and pay into the county treasury any balance which may be due the county, take duplicate receipts therefor, and deposit one of the same with the clerk of the county within five days thereafter.

888. If any person thus chargeable shall neglect or refuse to render true accounts or settle as aforesaid, the county board shall adjust the accounts of such delinquent, according to the best information they can obtain, and ascertain the balance due the county, and may institute the proper action to recover such balance so found due.

889. In such case, the delinquent shall not be entitled to any commission, and shall forfeit and pay to the county a penalty of twenty per cent on the amount found due the county. Such penalty shall be added to the amount so found due, and it shall be the duty of the court in which any action is brought to recover the same to include such penalty in any judgment which may be rendered against the delinquent in such action; such penalty, when collected, to be paid into the county treasury for the benefit of the school fund.

890. The board shall procure and keep a seal, with such emblems and devices as they may think proper, which shall be the seal of the county, and no other seal shall be used by the county clerk, except where the county clerk is ex-officio clerk of the district court, in which case he shall use the seal of said court in all matters and proceedings therein. The impression of said seal by stamp shall be a sufficient sealing in all cases where sealing is required.

891. The county board may, when they deem it necessary, employ an attorney to prosecute and defend all actions in which the county is a party or may be interested, and to advise such board upon any matter pending before them, but the compensation allowed such attorney shall not in any one year exceed the sum of one thousand dollars.

Repealed by implication. Brome v. Cuming County, 31, 362 (47 N. W., 1050). Under prior law county board had no authority to employ another than the district attorney to advise it. Platte County v. Gerrard, 12, 249 (11 N. W., 298). Attorney employed for one year at $400, and retained for following year without agreement as to salary, can recover only $400, though he has stated in presence of members of board that he would not serve for that amount. Capps v. Adams County, 27, 366 (43 N. W., 114).

892. The county board of any county, whenever the account or claim of any person against the county is presented to them for allowance, may, in their discrecretion, procure from the county treasurer a certificate of the amount of delinquent personal taxes assessed against the person in whose favor the account or claim is presented, and may deduct from any amount found due upon such account or claim the amount of such tax, and issue a warrant for the balance remaining.

893. For any delinquent personal taxes so set off and deducted from any such account or claim, the board shall issue an order to the county treasurer directing him to draw from the same fund out of which said account or claim should have been paid the amount of said delinquent taxes so set off or deducted, and apply the same upon the said delinquent personal taxes in satisfaction thereof; and the said treasurer shall, upon application, receipt therefor to the person whose taxes are so satisfied.

894. In any suit against a county, any delinquent personal taxes assessed against the person in whose favor the cause of action accrued may be set off against any amount claimed in such action.

895. No county officer shall in any manner, either directly or indirectly, be pecuniarily interested in or receive the benefit of any contracts executed by the county for the furnishing of supplies, or any other purpose; neither shall any county officer furnish any supplies for the county on order of the county board without contract.

896. Any county officer violating the provisions of the preceding section shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and upon conviction thereof shall be imprisprisoned in the penitentiary for a period not exceeding five years, or fined in any sum not exceeding two thousand dollars, or both imprisonment and fined as aforesaid.

897. The board of county commissioners in all counties having not more than one hundred and twenty-five thousand (125,000) inhabitants, shall consist of three (3) persons, and in counties having more than one hundred and twenty-five thousand (125,000) inhabitants, shall consist of five (5) persons; Provided, That in counties having less than one hundred and twenty-five thousand population which have five (5) commissioners when this act takes effect, the incumbents of said office shall continue to hold and occupy such offices until the expiration of the terms for which elected; Provided, That the electors in any county containing less than one hundred and twenty-five thousand (125,000) inhabitants, may vote at any general election as to whether their county board shall consist of three (3) or five (5) commissioners. Counties under township organization voting to change to commissioner system, may vote at the same time as to the number of commissioners desired. Whenever, in counties not under township organization, a petition or petitions for the submission of the question, signed by not less than two hundred electors of the county, voting at the last general election, shall be filed in the office of the county clerk, not less than thirty (30) days before the date of any general election, it shall be the duty of said county clerk to cause said question to be submitted to the voters of said county, at such election, and give notice thereof in the general notice of such election. The forms of ballots shall be respectively: "For three (3) commissioners;" "For five (5) commissioners;" and the same shall be written or printed upon the regular ballots cast for officers voted for at such election, and shall be counted and canvassed in the same manner. If a majority of votes cast at said election on said proposition have written or printed thereon the words "For five commissioners," thereafter said county shall have five (5) commissioners, and if a majority of the ballots cast at said election have thereon written or printed the words "For three commissioners," thereafter the said county shall have three (3) commissioners. Ballots on which appear both "For three commissioners" and "For five commissioners," neither being stricken out, shall not be counted as cast on said proposition. The commissioners shall have the qualifications of electors, and shall be elected in their respective districts at the annual general election.

Amended 1887, p. 359; rewritten 1891, p. 225. Commissioners shall reside in the district from which elected; if they remove therefrom their office becomes vacant. State v. Skirving, 19, 501 (27 N. W., 723).

898. Each county not under township organization having not more than one hundred and twenty-five thousand (125,000) inhabitants shall be divided into three districts numbered respectively one (1), two (2), and three (3), or into five districts as provided for in section fifty-three (53) [897], which shall be numbered respectively one (1), two (2), three (3), four (4), and five (5); and in counties having more than one hundred and twenty-five thousand (125,000) inhabitants, shall be divided into five districts, numbered respectively one (1), two (2), three (3), four (4), and five (5), and shall consist of two (2), or more voting precincts, comprising compact and contiguous territory and embracing, as near as may be possible, an equal division of the population of the county, and not subject to alteration oftener than once in three (3) years; and one (1) commissioner shall be elected from each of said districts by the qualified electors of the district, as hereinbefore provided. The district lines shall not be changed at any session of the board unless all of the commissioners are present at such session; Provided, That in counties of one hundred and twenty-five thousand (125,000) inhabitants, or more, and in counties where a majority have voted for five (5) commissioners, it shall be the duty of the commissioners, or supervisors, of such county, at their first meeting after the publication of state or federal census, or after an election deciding to have five (5) commissioners, to divide said county into five (5) commissioners districts, as provided for in this bill; Provided further, That the three (3) commissioners of such county whose term of office will expire after said election shall continue to represent the districts in which, they shall reside, after the redistricting of such county, until the expiration of the terms for which they were elected; And provided further, That at the general election next after the division of a county into five (5) districts, one (1) commissioner shall be elected for each of the two (2) remaining districts. Of the two persons elected in such districts, the person receiving the highest number of votes shall hold his office for the term of three (3) years, and the person receiving the next highest number of votes shall hold his office for the term of two (2) years; and each commissioner elected thereafter, in pursuance of the provisions of this section, shall hold his office for three (3) years and until his successor is elected and qualified; Provided, That in counties having more than seventy thousand (70,000) and less than one hundred and twenty-five thousand (125,000) inhabitants, the county commissioners shall be elected by a vote of the entire county.

Rewritten 1887, p. 359; amended 1891, p. 227. Cited and construed, State, ex rel. Snell, v. Westcott, 34, 84 (51 N. W., 599).

899. At the first election held to choose the board of commissioners under this act in any county, the person having the highest number of votes shall continue in office for three years; the next highest, two years, and the next highest, one year; but if any two or more persons have the same number of votes, their term of office shall be determined by the board of canvassers, and each commissioner elected at the first general election, as herein provided, shall hold his office for three, two, and one years, as the case may be, and until his successor is elected and qualified, and each commissioner elected thereafter, in pursuance of the foregoing section, shall hold his office for three years, and until his successor is elected and qualified.

900. The county commissioners shall meet and hold sessions for the transaction of county business, at the court house in their respective counties, or at the usual place of holding sessions of the district court, on the second Tuesday in January, third Monday in June, and first Tuesday in October of each year, and may adjourn from time to time.

The commissioners must transact county business at the county seat, and cannot enter into contracts at any other place. Merrick County v. Batty, 10, 179 (4 N. W., 959).

901. The county clerk shall have the power to call special sessions when the interests of the county demand it, upon giving five days' notice of the time and object of calling the commissioners together, by posting up notices in three public places in the county, or by publication in a newspaper published therein.

Commissioners not confined to business mentioned in the call. Commissioners of Kearney County v. Kent, 5, 229.

902. When two only of the commissioners of the board shall attend, and shall be divided on any question, the decision thereof shall be deferred until the next meeting of the board, and then the matter shall be decided by a majority of the board.

903. [Chairman shall sign warrants.]—In counties having three (3) commissioners, the commissioner whose term of office expires in one (1) year shall be chairman of the board for that year; and in counties having five (5) commissioners, the board of commissioners, at its regular meeting in January of each year, shall elect a chairman of the board to serve for the ensuing year, and such chairman shall sign all warrants on the treasurer for money to be paid out of the county treasury.

Rewritten 1887, p. 360; amended 1891, p. 228.

904. Each board of county commissioners shall divide the county into convenient precincts; and, as occasion may require, erect new ones, subdivide precincts already established, and alter precinct lines. And whenever any portion of territory containing in the aggregate not less than one township of land, and not more than four townships lying contiguous, shall contain not less than fifteen voters, it shall be the duty of the county commissioners, on receipt of a petition signed by a majority of the legal voters therein, to constitute such portion of the territory a voting precinct.

The commissioners should divide the county into convenient precincts. State v. Emery, 20, 302 (30 N. W., 57). Proposition to vote bonds. Fremont Bldg. Ass'n v. Sherwin, 6, 53. Cited, State, ex rel. Eble, v. Leavitt, 33, 290 (49 N. W., 1097).

905. When a precinct shall be divided, any justice of the peace or constable of the original precinct shall continue to act as such in the newly created precinct in which he may reside at the time of the division, the same as if the precinct had not been divided.

COUNTY SUPERVISORS.

(See township organization, 945 et seq.)

906. The county boards of the several counties in the state that may adopt township organization shall be composed of the supervisors of the organized townships thereof, and the supervisors from cities of the first and second class and villages; such supervisors shall hold two regular meetings in each year at the county seat in their respective counties, for the transaction of general business as a board of supervisors. They may hold special meetings at such times as they may find convenient, and shall have power to adjourn from time to time as they may deem necessary. They may also hold such other meetings as are by law provided.

907. Special meetings of the board of supervisors shall be held only when requested by at least one-third of the members of the board, which request shall be in writing, addressed to the clerk of the board, and specifying the time and object of such meeting; upon reception of which request, the clerk shall immediately notify in writing each member of the board of the time and object of such meeting, and shall cause notice of such meeting to be published in some newspaper of the county, if any shall be published therein; Provided, That no business shall be transacted at any special meeting except such as is specified in the call.

908. The regular meetings of the board of supervisors in all counties having township organization shall be held on the second Tuesday of January and the first Tuesday after the second Monday in July.

Amended 1889, p. 76.

909. The board of supervisors at their first regular meeting of each year shall organize by choosing one of their number as chairman, who shall preside at all meetings of the board during the year; and in case of his absence at any meeting, the members present shall choose one of their number as temporary chairman.

910. The supervisors shall severally lay before the board of supervisors, at the first regular meeting after election, their several certificates of election, which shall be examined by the board of supervisors, and if found regular shall be filed in the office of the county clerk.

911. In addition to the powers hereinbefore conferred upon all county boards, the board of supervisors shall have power to appropriate funds to aid in the construction of roads and bridges not exceeding two mills of the levy for the current year for general purposes, except by a vote of the people authorizing them to expend a greater amount; to change the boundaries of towns, and to create new towns as provided by law, to designate and give names thereto, and to fix the place of holding the first town meeting therein; and to change the name of any town upon the petition of a majority of the voters of said town.

912. Two-thirds of all the supervisors elected in any county shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, and all questions which shall arise at meetings shall be determined by the votes of a majority of the supervisors present, except in cases otherwise provided for.

Impeachment proceedings can be heard if two-thirds of the board are present. State v. Saline County, 18, 422 (25 N. W., 587). In changing the boundaries of a township a majority of all members present are necessary, not a majority of those voting. Township of Inavale v. Bailey, 35, 453 (53 N. W., 465).

913. The board of supervisors shall sit with open doors, and all persons may attend their meetings.

914. Every chairman of the board of supervisors shall have power to administer an oath to any person concerning any matter submitted to the board, or connected with their powers and duties.

915. In order to insure uniformity in the keeping of town records and other matters pertaining to the duties of town officers, it shall be the duty of the board of supervisors to purchase for the use of the respective towns suitable books and blanks thereof, the cost in the first instance to be paid by warrant upon the county treasury, and the amount to be charged to the respective towns, and levied and collected with other town taxes.

916. Whenever the board of supervisors shall create a new town or change the name of an existing town, the proceedings in giving a name to such new town or changing the name of an existing town, shall be as follows: The proposed name to be given to such new town, or existing town, shall be filed in the office of the auditor of public accounts, there to be retained for at least one year; and the auditor of public accounts, at any time after the filing of such proposed name, shall, upon application of said board, grant his certificate stating that such proposed name, from information appearing in his office, has not been adopted by any city, town, village, or municipal corporation in this state; which certificate must be obtained by said board before any action whatever shall be taken by said board toward making such change of name; and all proceedings instituted in any court or other place, under a name changed, without complying with the provisions of this section, shall be held to be void and of no effect. If such name has been adopted elsewhere in the state, the auditor of public accounts shall so notify the board, whereupon another name shall be filed in his office, which shall there remain in a like manner as hereinbefore provided, and the certificate shall be issued by the auditor of public accounts immediately after such filing, stating that such name has not been elsewhere adopted; whereupon said board may proceed to make such change of name, and not before; and all proceedings pending, and all rights and privileges acquired in the name of such town, by such town, or by any person residing therein, shall be secured to such town or person, and such proceedings continued to final consummation in such name, the same as though the same had not been changed.

917. It shall be the duty of the county board of each organized county in the state of Nebraska to cause to be surveyed, by a competent surveyor, all irregular subdivided tracts or lots of land, other than regular government subdivisions, and cause the same to be platted on a scale of not less than ten (10) inches to the mile;

Provided, however, That where any county has in its possession the correct field notes of any such tract or lot of land, a new survey shall not be necessary, but such tracts may be mapped from such field notes.

918. The said board shall cause duplicate maps to be made, on which said tracts or lots of land shall be accurately described by lines and numbered from one (1) up to the highest number of such tracts in each section, which numbers, together with the number of the section, town, and range, shall be distinctly marked on such maps. One of said maps shall be conspicuously hung in the office of the county clerk and the other in the office of the county treasurer.

919. The said board shall also cause to be entered in duplicate, in suitable books, to be provided for that purpose, the field notes of all such tracts of land within their respective counties, wherein shall be described each tract, according to survey, and each tract shall be therein numbered to correspond with its number on the maps. One of such books or field notes shall be filed in the office of the county clerk, and the other in the office of the county treasurer.

920. When the maps and books of field notes shall be filed as hereinbefore provided, the description of any tract or lot of land described in said maps, by number, section, town, and range, shall be a sufficient and legal description thereof, for revenue and and all other purposes.

921. All counties which have not been organized in the manner provided by law, or any unorganized territory in the state, shall be attached to the nearest organized county directly east, for election, judicial, and revenue purposes; Provided, That Sioux county shall be attached to Cheyenne county for all the purposes provided for in this section; Provided further, That if no county lies directly east of any such unorganized territory or county, then such unorganized territory or county shall be attached to the county directly south, or if there be no such county, then to the county directly north, and if there be no county directly north, then to county directly west of such unorganized territory or county.

See Ex parte Carr, 22, 538 (35 N. W., 409); State v. Page, 12, 386 (11 N. W., 495); and note to sec. 10, art. VI, of constitution, citing Ex parte Crawford, 12, 380 (11 N. W., 494). Meaning of "directly west" in case stated. State, ex rel. Norton, v. Van Camp, 36, — (54 N. W., 113).

922. The county authorities to which any unorganized county or territory is attached shall exercise control over, and their jurisdiction shall extend to, such unorganized county or territory, the same as if it were a part of their own county.

Ex parte Crawford, 12, 381 (11 N. W., 494.)

923. If two or more organized counties, or portions thereof, lie directly east of any unorganized county, then the portions of territory of such unorganized county which lie either north or south of a line running directly west and in continuation of the boundary line between such organized counties shall be attached to the organized county directly east of such territory, for all purposes of this subdivision.

924. In all counties where the cost of furnishing the officers with books, blanks, and stationery shall exceed the sum of $200 per year, the supplies for such purposes shall be let in separate contracts, to the lowest competent bidder, who shall give bond for the faithful performance of his contract, with at least two good and sufficient sureties, residents of the state. The bond required by this section shall be approved by the county board, and the sureties therein shall justify in the same manner as sureties on official bonds.

May reject all bids, but if let must be to lowest bidder. State v. Saline County, 19, 254 (27 N. W., 122). Does not apply to tax list or commissioners' proceedings. State, ex rel. Bare, v. Lincoln County, 35, 350 (53 N. W., 147).

925. It shall be the duty of the county clerk, on or before the first day of December, annually, to prepare separate estimates of the books, and blanks, and stationery required for the use of the county officers during the coming year, and which by law are not required to be furnished by the state, and during the first week in December he shall publish a brief advertisement in one newspaper published in his county, stating the probable gross number of each item of books, blanks, and stationery required by such county during the year following the first day of January next ensuing, and inviting bids therefor, which bids shall be filed with said clerk on or before the said first day of January.

926. The county board shall, at their first meeting in January in each year, open said bids and award the contract for the furnishing of all such books, blanks, and stationery as may be required by county officers to the lowest bidder competent under the provisions of this subdivision, and who complies with all its provisions; Provided, That the county board may reject any or all bids.

927. The accounts for books, blanks, and stationery furnished under said contract shall be audited and paid as other accounts against the county, and no county board or other county officer shall procure any such books, blanks, and stationery from any person other than the contractor or his assignee, during the existence of such contract, and no account therefor shall be paid by the county.

All bids must be filed with the county clerk on or before the first day of January. The commissioners cannot consider a bid filed thereafter. There must be distinct propositions for books, blanks and stationery, and bids must be definite. A bid to furnish articles "at what it cost to lay them down" is too indefinite. State, ex rel. Whedon, v. York County, 13, 65 (12 N. W., 817). See State v. Dixon County, 24, 110 (37 N. W., 936).

Secs. 928 to 933. "An act to authorize counties to acquire real estate to build thereon county buildings and provide compensation therefor." 1879, p. 184. In force June 1.

928. That the county board shall have power to acquire, take, hold, and appropriate so much real estate as shall be necessary and convenient for the use of the county, to construct county buildings; Provided, That no appropriation of private property for the use of the county aforesaid shall be made until full and just compensation therefor be first made to the owner thereof.

929. The damages to be paid by a county for any real estate taken as aforesaid, when not agreed upon, shall be ascertained and determined by commissioners to be appointed by the county judge of said county as hereinafter provided.

930. In the event that damages cannot be agreed upon, the county judge of the county seeking to appropriate such real estate shall, upon application of the county board or the owner of the real estate, direct the sheriff of said county to summon six disinterested freeholders of said county, to be selected by said judge, and not interested in a like question, unless a smaller number is agreed upon by the said parties, whose duty shall be to inspect said real estate and assess the damages which said owner will sustain by the appropriation of his land to the county as aforesaid, and make report in writing to the county judge of said county, who, after certifying the same under his seal of office, shall transmit the same to the county clerk of said county for record, and the said county clerk shall file, record, and index the same in the same manner as is provided for the record of pleads [deeds] in this state, and such record shall have the like force and effect as the record of deeds in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided; and if said county board shall, at any time before they enter upon said real estate for the purpose of constructing said county buildings, pay to said county judge for the use of said owner the same [sum] so assessed and returned as aforesaid, they shall thereby be authorized to construct and maintain their county buildings upon said premises; Provided, That either party may have the right to appeal from such assessment of damages to the district court of said county in which such land is situated, within sixty days after said assessment be filed with said county judge, and in case of such appeal the decision and finding of the district court shall be transmitted to [by] the clerk thereof, duly certified, to the county clerk, to be filed and recorded as hereinbefore provided in his office. But such appeal shall not delay the prosecution of the work on said county buildings, if such county commissioners shall first pay or deposit with said county judge the amount so assessed by said freeholders, and in no case shall said county board be liable for the costs on such appeal unless the owners of such real estate shall be adjudged entitled upon the appeal to a greater amount of damages than was awarded by said freeholders. The county board shall in all cases pay the cost of the first assessment; Provided, That either party may appeal from the decision of the district court to the supreme court of the state, and the money so deposited shall remain in the hands of the county judge until a final decision be had, subject to the order of the supreme court.

931. In case of death, absence, refusal, or neglect of any of said freeholders to act as commissioners, it shall be the duty of the sheriff of said county to fill vacancies by forthwith summoning disinterested freeholders of the county to act as such commissioners. Said freeholders, before entering upon the discharge of their duties, shall take and subscribe an oath honestly and truly to assess the damages which such owner or owners shall sustain by the appropriation of his lands to the county, which said oath shall be filed in the office of said county judge. Said appraisers shall each receive two dollars per day for their services, and the same shall be taxed in the bill of costs.

932. If upon the selection of a site for county buildings it shall be found necessary to acquire and appropriate the lands of any non-resident owner, the said county board shall give four weeks' notice to such owner, if known, and if not known, by description of such real estate by publication four consecutive weeks in some newspaper published in the county where such land is situated, or if none is published therein, then such notice shall be published for the same time in some newspaper of general circulation in such county, that the county board of such county have selected a site for the construction of county buildings, which site includes his or her lands, and that the same will be taken and appropriated for the purpose of the construction of county buildings, and if such owner shall not within thirty days thereafter apply to said county judge to have the damages assessed in the mode hereinbefore prescribed, said county board may proceed, as herein set forth, to have the damages assessed, subject to the same right of appeal as in case of resident owners, and upon the payment of the damages assessed to the county judge for such owner, the county board shall acquire all rights and privileges mentioned in this act.

933. This act shall in no way affect the power of the county board now possessed by law to purchase a site for the construction of county buildings, but is cumulative.

Sec. 934. "An act to transfer surplus county sinking and other funds to the county general fund." 1877, p. 214. In force June 1.

934. That the board of county commissioners of the several counties of the state may appropriate to the county general fund any county sinking fund in the county treasury not levied for the payment of any bonded indebtedness; also any county moneys from whatever source, excepting the moneys levied for school purposes, that remain on hand in the county treasury, and are no longer required for the purposes for which the same were levied.

County board can only transfer surplus of sinking fund that is left after paying the debt in full. U. P. R. R. Co. v. Dawson County, 12, 256 (11 N. W., 307).

Sec. 935 "An act to authorize the transfer of certain county funds from one fund to another." 1883, p 181. In force June 1.

935. The board of county commissioners of any county in the state of Nebraska shall have the power to transfer any unexpended balance or any portion thereof remaining in the county general fund at any time to any other county fund, when the interests of the county seem to demand such transfer; Provided, That in no case shall such transfer reduce the amount of said county general fund below the sum of two thousand ($2,000) dollars.

Secs. 936 to 939. "An act to authorize the county board of the several counties of this state to use the surplus general funds of the respective counties in purchasing food, fuel, and seed grain and feed for teams, and to distribute the same among the destitute and needy farmers of said counties, and providing the manner in which the same shall be distributed." 1891, p. 308. In force March 24.

936. That the county board of any county of this state shall have power and are hereby authorized to draw their warrants on the surplus general fund of the county that may be on hand and not otherwise disposed of, and use the money in the purchase of food, fuel, seed grain, and feed for teams for the benefit of the destitute farmers of such county, caused by crop failure in 1890.

937. That the county board shall sell the food, fuel, seed grain, and feed for teams, or any of the same, to such persons only as are engaged in agriculture, at a price not exceeding the actual cost thereof, and shall take the promissory note of the purchaser, payable to the county and due in three years from date, with interest at the rate of seven per cent per annum, payable annually, and which notes shall be held and collected by the county when due, and when collected the money shall be paid into the county treasury.

938. No farmer shall be permitted to purchase any of said food, fuel, seed grain, feed for teams until he shall first make affidavit that he is actually engaged in farming; that he is in destitute circumstances; that he has no food, fuel, or seed grain, as the case may be, and that he is in need of the same; or if he have any or a part of the above substance, to state the kind and quantity thereof. And shall also furnish the affidavit of two creditable witnesses of the township wherein such purchaser may reside, stating that he is a reputable citizen of said county and that verily they believe the statements contained in his affidavit are true.

939. That no farmer under the provisions of this act shall be allowed to purchase more food, provisions, or fuel than in the judgment of the county board is needful and proper. And no farmer shall be allowed more than the value of twenty-five dollars in seed grain to be selected by the purchaser, and no farmer shall be allowed more than fifty bushels of grain for feed for teams.

Sec 940. "An act to provide for the protection of land or other property from high water in certain cases." 1885, p. 213. In force June 5.

940. That whenever any portion of a county exceeding 320 acres in amount is put in peril of destruction by reason of the probable diversion of the channel of any river or water-course, and whenever a petition stating such fact, signed by twenty freeholders in the precinct, is filed with the county commissioners of said county, it shall be the duty of the said board of county commissioners to view said premises within the succeeding thirty days, and if upon actual view it shall appear that a portion of the county exceeding 320 acres is in actual peril of destruction, they may cause to be built any dam, embankment, or dike, or aid to such an extent as they may deem proper in the building of any dam, embankment, or dike that they may deem necessary for the protection of said land. The amount expended toward such improvements to be paid out of the general fund of the county.

Secs. 941 to 943. "An act authorizing board of county commissioners to publish certain proceedings and notices in German newspapers." 1879, p. 179. In force June 1.

941. That in counties in this state where a newspaper is published in the German, Swedish, and Bohemian languages, and the said newspaper has regular daily, tri-weekly, weekly circulation of fifteen hundred copies or more, and it shall be proven by the affidavit of the publisher or foreman thereof to the board of county commissioners in said county that the said paper has such a circulation, it shall be the duty of the county commissioners in said county to have published in said newspaper a report of all the proceedings of said board of county commissioners at each meeting; said report to be prepared by the clerk of said county and delivered to the publisher of said paper, or left at the office of said paper within two days after each meeting of said board of county commissioners. All advertisements of lands offered for sale by the county treasurer of said county shall be delivered to the publisher of said German, Swedish, and Bohemian papers, or left at the office of said paper for publication on the same day when the said advertisement shall be inserted in any paper or papers printed in the English language and published in said county.

942. The rate charged for said publication of said reports, notices, and advertisements mentioned in section one of this act shall be the same in said papers printed in the German language as is provided by law to be paid for legal advertisements in papers in this state printed in the English language.

943. If any county in this state shall contain two or more papers printed in the German language, and the majority of the county commissioners shall be satisfied upon proper proof that two or more of said papers have an actual and regular circulation of fifteen hundred copies or more, then it shall be the duty of the board of commissioners at their first meeting in January of each year to elect by ballot the German paper published in said county which shall publish the reports, notices, and advertisements as aforesaid during the year next ensuing after said meeting.

Sec. 944. "An act to confer upon boards of county commissioners power to cause the removal of explosive and dangerous material." 1879, p. 66. In force June 1.

944. The board of county commissioners of each organized county shall have the power to abate or remove any deposit of nitro-glycerine, explosive oils, gunpowder, or other dangerous explosive or inflammable material which is so deposited or situated that if ignited it would, in their opinion, endanger the life, or buildings, or property of any person; and to cause by the order of said board that the owner or owners of such material remove the same; and in case the owner or owners of such material or the person or persons having charge of the same do not remove the same to some place designated or agreed to by said board, within ten days after personal service of such notice to remove the same, each and every person so offending shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in a sum not exceeding one hundred dollars nor less than twenty-five dollars.

Secs. 945 to 1006. "An act to provide for township organization, to define the rights, powers, and liabilities of towns, and the duties, powers, and compensation of the officers thereof." 1883, p. 202. In force June 1. See County Supervisors, 906 et seq.

945. At any general election that may be held in the several counties of the state, the qualified voters in any county may vote for or against township organization in such county.

946. The county commissioners, on petition of fifty or more legal voters, shall cause to be submitted to the voters of the county the question of township organization under this act, by ballot, to be written or printed, or partly written or partly printed, "For township organization," or "Against township organization," the vote to be canvassed and returned in like manner as votes for county officers.

947. If it shall appear by the returns of said election that a majority of the legal voters of said county voting at said election are for township organization, then the county so voting for its adoption shall be governed by and subject to the provisions of this act on and after the first day of the meeting of the county supervisors, as hereinafter provided.

Commissioners continue to act until board of supervisors organize. State v. Kinzer; State v. Musselman, 20, 177 (29 N. W., 307).

948. For the purpose of temporary organization, each voting precinct shall be a township until otherwise ordered by the county board. And at the general election at which the question of adoption of township organization is submitted, as aforesaid, *the electors of each precinct may choose one supervisor, one town clerk, one town treasurer, one assessor, three judges and two clerks of election, and one overseer of highways in each road district; and if it appears that a majority of the legal votes cast have therein the words "For township organization," the county clerk shall publish the fact, and such officers, having duly qualified, shall hold their offices respectively until the next general election for township officers, and until their successors shall be elected and qualified; Provided, That at such election, in precincts having more than three thousand inhabitants, there shall be elected one additional supervisor; in precincts having five thousand inhabitants there shall be elected two additional supervisors, and for every additional two thousand inhabitants there shall be elected one additional supervisor—the population to be ascertained by the last federal or state census preceding the election. In case of a failure to elect proper town officers at said election, then such county shall not be governed by this act until the first Tuesday in January following the next general election after the adoption of township organization, and it shall be the duty of the county commissioners, before said next general election, to divide the county into townships and name the same in the same manner as the county board are directed to do by the provisions of this chapter;* Provided further, That in wards of cities of the first and second class, whose limits are co-extensive with precincts, the electors thereof shall only choose supervisors, assessors, and judges and clerks of election.

* to * added 1887, p. 378. The several statutes on township organization are to be construed together. This section is not affected by section 1588. Albert v. Twohig, 35, 563 (53 N. W., 582).

949. In case a majority of the legal votes cast at said election shall be "For township organization," and the electors have chosen supervisors in a majority of the precincts in the county as provided in the preceding section, there shall be held a special meeting of the newly elected county board, commencing on the fifteenth day after such election, at the county seat, and when such board shall have met and organized, the power of the county commissioners of such county shall cease and their offices become vacant. At such special meeting the county board may transact such county business as may be required to be transacted before the next regular meeting of the board, and shall proceed to divide such county into towns or townships, making them conform as near as practicable to townships according to the government survey. When fractions of townships are caused by the county lines not being in accordance with the surveyed townships, then the county board may attach such fractions to adjoining towns when the number of inhabitants or amount of territory in such fraction shall not be sufficient for a separate town. When a surveyed township shall have too few inhabitants for a separate organization, then such township may be added to some adjoining town, or such township may be divided between two or more towns for the time being; and when creeks or rivers so divide a township as to make it inconvenient for transacting town business, then such creek or river may be made the town boundary, and the town fractions so formed may be disposed of as other fractional townships. No city of over six thousand inhabitants shall be included within the corporate limits of any township, but the territory occupied by such city of over six thousand inhabitants shall constitute a town by the name of such city for the purpose of town meetings and organization as hereinafter provided.

Amended and much of the section omitted 1887, p. 380. A supervisor is a township officer. Resignation should be addressed to town clerk. How vacancy filled. State v. Taylor, 26, 580 (42 N. W., 729). State v. Forney, 21, 225 (31 N. W., 802) Vacancy in office of supervisor may be filled by mayor and council. State v. Planbeck, 36, — (54 N. W., 669).

950. The county board shall designate the name of each town, and may change the name of any town upon a petition of a majority of the voters of said town, in the manner provided by law.

951. The county clerk shall record in a book kept for that purpose the names and boundaries of each town as designated by the county board, and shall forthwith forward an abstract thereof to the auditor of public accounts of this state, who shall make a record of the same.

952. The county clerk shall, at least twenty days before the first Tuesday in April, designate some central and convenient place in each town for holding of the first town meeting.

953. The county clerk shall thereupon make out notices stating the time (which shall be the first Tuesday in April thereafter) and place for holding the first town meeting. Such notice shall be posted by the sheriff in some public place in said town at least fifteen days before the holding of the meeting.

954. The first town meeting shall be conducted in the manner as other town meetings hereinafter provided for.

955. The corporate name of each town shall be the town of (name of town), and all acts done by the town and all actions by or against the town, shall be in its corporate name.

956. Every town shall have corporate capacity to exercise the powers granted thereto, or necessarily implied, and no others. It shall have power: First—To sue and be sued. Second—To acquire by purchase, gift, or devise, and to hold property, both real and personal, for the use of its inhabitants, and again to sell and convey the same. Third—To make all such contracts as may be necessary in the exercise of the powers of the town.

957. The electors present at the annual town meeting shall have power: First—To make all orders for the sale, conveyance, regulation, or the use of the corporate property of the town that may be deemed to be conducive to the interests of its inhabitants. Second—To take all necessary measures and give directions for the exercise of their corporate powers. Third—To provide for the institution, defense, or disposition of suits at law or in equity in which the town is interested. Fourth—To take such action as shall induce the planting and cultivation of trees along the highways in such towns, and to protect and preserve trees standing along or on highways. Fifth—To construct and keep in repair public wells, and to regulate the use thereof. Sixth—To prevent the exposure or deposit of offensive or injurious substances within the limits of the town. Seventh—To make such by-laws, rules, and regulations as may be deemed necessary to carry into effect the powers herein granted, and to impose such fines and penalties, not exceeding $20 for one offense, as shall be deemed proper, except when a fine or penalty is already allowed by law, such fine or penalty to be imposed by any justice of the peace of the town where the offense is committed. Eighth—To direct the raising of money by taxation for the following purposes: 1st. For constructing or repairing roads and bridges within the town to the extent allowed by law. 2d. For the prosecution or defense of suits by or against the town, or in which it is interested. 3d. For any other purpose required by law. 4th. For the purpose of building or repairing bridges over streams dividing said town from any other town. 5th. For the support of the poor within the town; Provided, That when the county board of any county shall have established a poor-house under any statute law of the state, the support of the poor shall be provided for by the county board, and no taxes for that purpose shall be voted by the electors at town meetings except sufficient to provide temporary relief. 6th. For the compensation of town officers at the rate allowed by law, and when no rate is fixed, for such amount as the electors may direct. Ninth—To guard against the destruction of property in said town by prairie fire. Tenth—To restrain, regulate, or prohibit the running at large of cattle, horses, mules, asses, swine, sheep, and goats, and determine when such animals may go at large, if at all; Provided, That all votes thereupon shall be by ballot. Eleventh—To authorize the distraining, impounding, and sale of cattle, horses, mules, asses, sheep, goats, and swine, for penalties incurred and costs of proceedings; Provided, That the owner of such animals shall have the right to redeem the same from the purchaser thereof at any time within one month from the day of sale, by paying the amount of the purchaser's bid, with reasonable cost for their keeping, and interest at the rate of seven per cent per annum.

Prior to act of 1887 duty of each town, not of county board, to maintain bridges. Whitcomb v. Reed, 24, 55 (37 N. W., 684).

958. In case any town in any county wherein township organization has been or may be adopted, shall refuse or neglect to organize and elect town officers at the time fixed by law, it shall be the duty of the board of supervisors of the county, upon the affidavit of any freeholder, resident of said town, filed in the office of the county clerk, setting forth the facts, to proceed at any regular or special meeting of the board and appoint the necessary town officers for such town, and the persons so appointed shall hold their respective offices until others are chosen or appointed in their places, and shall have the same power and be subject to the same duties and penalties as if they had been duly chosen by the electors of the town.

State v. Forney, 21, 225 (31 N. W., 802.)

959. Whenever it shall be made to appear to the board of supervisors that the town officers appointed by them or by any preceding board, as provided in the foregoing section, have failed to qualify as required by law, so that such town cannot become organized, the board of supervisors may annex such town to any adjoining town, and the said town so annexed shall thereafter form and constitute a part of such adjoining town.

960. The citizens of the several towns of this state, qualified by the constitution to vote at general elections, shall assemble and hold annual town meetings in their respective towns on the first Tuesday in April, at such place in such town as the electors thereof at their annual town meetings shall from time to time appoint. And notices of the time and place of holding such meeting, after the first meeting, shall be given by the town clerk by posting up written or printed notices in three of the most public places in said town, at least ten days prior to said meeting.

961. The electors of each town shall have power at their annual town meetings to elect such town officers as may be required to be chosen to direct the institution and defense of suits at law or in equity in which such town may be a party in interest; to direct such sum to be raised in such town for the support and maintenance of roads and bridges, or for any other purpose provided by law as they may deem necessary; to take measures and give directions for the exercise of their corporate powers; to impose penalties upon persons offending against any such regulations; and to make rules, regulations, and by-laws necessary to carry into effect the powers herein granted.

962. It shall be the duty of the town clerk to cause all by-laws, rules, and regulations of the town, within twenty days after their adoption, to be published by posting in three public places of the town, or by inserting once in any newspaper published in the county; but all such by-laws, rules and regulations, shall take effect and be in force from the date of their adoption, unless otherwise directed by the electors of the town.

963. Special town meetings shall be held when the supervisor, town clerk, and justice of the peace, or any two of them, together with at least twelve freeholders of the town, shall in writing file in the office of the town clerk, a statement that a special meeting is necessary to the interests of the town, setting forth the objects of the meeting; and the town clerk, or in his absence the supervisor, shall post up notices in five of the most public places of the town, giving at least ten days notice of such special meeting, setting forth the objects of the meeting as contained in the statement filed as aforesaid; the place of holding special town meetings shall be at the place where the last annual town meeting was held; but in case such place may be found inconvenient, the meeting may adjourn to the nearest convenient place; Provided, That not less than one-third of the electors of a town shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business at any special town meeting.

964. The electors at special town meetings, when properly convened, shall have full power to fill vacancies in any of the town offices when the same shall not already have been filled by appointment; to provide for raising money for repairing highways or buildings, or repairing bridges in case of emergency, and to direct the building or repairing thereof; to act upon any subject within the power of the electors at any annual town meeting which was postponed at the preceding annual town meeting, for want of time, to be considered at a future special town meeting, but special town meetings shall have no power to act upon any subject not embraced in the statement and notice calling the same.

State v. Taylor, 26, 588 (42 N. W., 729).

965. The electors present at any time between the hours of nine and ten o'clock in the forenoon of the day on which there is an annual or a special town meeting shall be called to order by the town clerk if present; if not present, then the voters may elect by acclamation one of their number chairman; they shall then proceed to choose one of their number to act as moderator of such town meeting.

966. Before the moderator of any town meeting shall enter upon the duties of his office, he shall take an oath faithfully and impartially to discharge the duties of such office, such oath to be administered by the town clerk or other proper officer.

967. The town clerk last before elected or appointed shall be the clerk of the town meeting, and shall keep faithfully minutes of its proceedings, in which he shall enter at length every order or direction and all rules or regulations made by such meeting, and the same shall be signed by himself and the moderator.

968. If the town clerk be absent, then some other suitable person shall be chosen by the electors present and shall act as clerk of the meeting.

969. All questions upon motions made at town meetings shall be determined by a majority of the electors voting, and the presiding officer shall ascertain and declare the result of the votes upon each question.

970. When the result of any vote shall upon such declaration be questioned by one or more of the electors present, the moderator shall make the vote certain by causing the voters to rise and be counted, or by dividing off.

971. No person shall be a voter at any town meeting unless he shall be qualified to vote at general elections and has been for the last ten days a resident of the town wherein he shall offer to vote.

972. If any person offering to vote at any election, or upon any question arising at such town meeting, shall be challenged as an unqualified voter, the presiding officer shall proceed thereupon in like manner as the judges of general elections are required to do, adapting the oath to the circumstances of the town meeting, and the laws in force in regard to false swearing and illegal voting at general elections shall apply to false swearing and illegal voting at town meetings.

973. Town meetings shall be kept open from the time of opening in the morning until six o'clock in the afternoon, unless a majority of the voters present vote to adjourn at an earlier hour, if the business before the meeting shall have been concluded.

974. The minutes of the proceedings of every town meeting, subscribed by the moderater and clerk of such meeting, shall be filed in the office of the town clerk within two days after such town meeting.

975. Every person chosen or appointed to the office of supervisor, town clerk, assessor, town treasurer, or overseer of highways, before he enters upon the duties of his office, and within ten days after he shall be notified of his election or appointment, shall take and subscribe before some authorized person an oath or affirmation to faithfully and impartially perform the duties of his office as prescribed by law, and shall cause a certificate of the same to be filed in the office of the town clerk.

976. If any person chosen or appointed to any or either of the town offices shall neglect to take and subscribe such oath, and cause a certificate thereof to be filed, as above required, such neglect shall be deemed a refusal to serve.

977. All town officers, except justice of the peace and constables, shall hold their offices for one year, and until their successors are qualified.

978. It shall be the duty of every person retiring from a town office to deliver to his successor in office all the records, books, papers, moneys, and property belonging to such office held by him.

979. The town treasurer of each town shall give bond to the town in the sum of $5,000, or double the amount of money that may come into his hands, to be fixed by the town board. Whenever it shall be ascertained that such bond has been forfeited, suit in the name of such town on said bond may be brought by any resident freeholder of such town.

980. The supervisor shall prosecute in the name of his town, or otherwise as may be necessary, for all penalties given by law to such town or for its use, and for which no other officer is specially directed to prosecute; and no person shall be disqualified from being a juror in a suit by or against a town by reason of his being an inhabitant of such town.

981. The supervisor of each town (who shall be ex-officio overseer of the poor) shall attend the regular meetings of the board of supervisors of the county, and every adjourned or special meeting of said board of which he shall have notice; he shall receive all accounts which may be presented to him against the town; he shall lay before the board of supervisors such copies of entries concerning moneys to be raised in his town as shall be delivered to him by the town clerk.

Town liable on contract of supervisor for support of poor; such liability not avoided by failure to levy taxes. Waltham v. Mullally, 27, 490 (43 N. W., 252).

982. He shall keep a just and true account of the receipts and expenditures of all moneys which shall come into his hands by virtue of his office, in a book to be provided for that purpose at the expense of the town, and said book shall be delivered to his successor in office.

983. On Tuesday preceding the annual town meeting he shall account to the town board for all moneys received and disbursed by him in his official capacity.

984. At every such accounting, the town board, or a majority of them, shall enter a certificate in the supervisor's official book of accounts, showing the state of his accounts at the date of certificate.

985. If any supervisor shall refuse or shall willfully neglect to perform any of the duties of his office contained in the preceding sections of this act, he shall forfeit to the town, for the benefit of school fund, the sum of $50, to be recovered by a suit at law or in equity, and be disqualified to act as the supervisor of said town.

986. Assistant supervisors, and supervisors elected in the cities of the first and second class, shall have no power or duties as town officers, but shall be members of the county board of their respective counties, and shall have and enjoy the same powers and rights as other members.

987. The town clerk of each town in this state shall have the custody of all records, books, and papers of the town, and shall file all certificates of oaths and other papers required by law to be filed in his office; and shall have power to administer the oath of office to all town officers; and it is hereby made the duty of the town clerk to administer all oaths which may be required in the transaction of any township business in the town where he may be clerk; Provided, That nothing herein shall be so construed as to deprive any other person qualified by law from administering said oaths.

988. The town clerk shall transcribe in the book of records of his town the minutes of the proceedings of every town meeting held therein, and he shall enter in his book every order or direction, and all rules and regulations of any such town meeting.

989. The town clerk shall deliver to the supervisor, before the next regular meeting of the board of supervisors of the county, certified copies of all entries of votes for raising money made since the last regular meeting of said board.

990. Certified copies of all papers filed in the office of the town clerk, and books of record shall be evidence in all courts in like manner as the original.

991. In each town the supervisor, town clerk, and justices of the peace of the town shall constitute the town board, and shall examine the accounts of the supervisor and overseer of highways for moneys received and disbursed by them, and shall require all town officers to account to them for any and all money received or disbursed by them in their official capacity, and shall examine and audit all charges and claims against the town; and the compensation of all town officers, except the compensation of supervisors for county services. In case of the absence of either or any of said officers, or their failure to attend any meeting of the board, those attending may associate with them the assessor of the town in place of any absentee, who shall act for the time being as member of such board.

Neither error nor appeal lies from action of board in rejecting a claim. Waltham v. Mullally, 27, 490 (45 N. W., 252).

992. The board shall meet at the town clerk's office for the purpose of examining and auditing the town accounts three times in each year, as follows: On the Tuesday next preceding the annual town meeting, and on the Tuesday next preceding each of the regular meetings of the board of supervisors of the county, and at such other times as the interests of the town may require.

993. The accounts so audited, and those rejected, if any, shall be delivered with the certificates of the auditors, or a majority of them, to the town clerk, to be by him kept on file for the inspection of all persons; they shall also be produced by the town clerk at the next annual town meeting, and shall be there publicly read by him.

994. Orders for the payment of money shall be drawn on the town treasurer, and signed by the town clerk, and countersigned by the supervisor. *All claims and charges against the town, duly audited and allowed by the town board, shall be paid by orders so drawn. No order shall be drawn on the town treasurer in excess of seventy-five per cent of the amount of taxes levied for the current year on the property of said town subject to be expended by said town, unless the money is in the treasury of said town to pay the order so drawn on presentation. When any order drawn as aforesaid is presented to the town treasurer for payment, and is not paid for want of funds, the town treasurer shall endorse on said order, "Presented and not paid for want of funds," and shall note in a book of registration, to be kept by him for that purpose, the fact of the presentation and non-payment of said order, and said order shall draw interest at seven per cent per annum from the date of presentation until there are funds sufficient in the hands of said treasurer to pay the same, after paying all orders drawn against such tax levy presented prior thereto, and said orders shall be paid in the order of their presentation and registration. The money received by the town treasurer as the proceeds of the tax levied in any year shall be applied first in payment of the orders drawn against said levy, and such levy shall be deemed specifically appropriated, so far as the same may be lawfully expended by said town, to the payment of orders drawn against said levy.

All after * added 1885, p. 232.

995. The board shall require all accounts presented to be verified by affidavit, setting forth that the same are correct and just and unpaid.

996. Said board shall make a certificate, to be signed by a majority of said board, specifying the value of the claim and to whom the amount is allowed, and shall cause such certificate to be delivered to the town clerk of said town, to be by him kept on file for the inspection of all persons, and a statement of the aggregate amount shall be delivered to the supervisor of the town, to be by him laid before the board of supervisors at their regular annual meeting.

Last sentence of original section omitted 1885, p. 233.

997. The following shall be deemed town charges, to-wit: The compensation of town officers for services rendered their respective towns; contingent expenses necessarily incurred for the use and benefit of the town; the moneys authorized by the vote of any town meeting for any town purpose, and every sum directed by law to be raised for town purposes.

998. The moneys necessary to defray the town charges of each town shall be levied on the taxable property in such town, in the manner prescribed by law for raising revenue. *The rate of taxes for town purposes shall not exceed, for roads, two mills on each dollar of the valuation; for bridges, two mills on each dollar of the valuation; for all other purposes, three mills on each dollar of the valuation. And if the electors at the annual town meeting fail to vote a tax to pay the town charges hereinbefore specified, or the town board fail to certify up to the county board the amount of tax voted, if any, by a town meeting, then the county board shall have power and it shall be the duty of such county board to levy upon the taxable property in said town a tax sufficient to pay all such town charges.

All after * added 1885, p. 233. Failure to levy taxes does not avoid town's liability on supervisor's contract for support of poor. Waltham v. Mullally, 27, 485 (43 N. W., 252).

999. The following town officers shall be entitled to compensation as hereinafter specified: Town treasurer, three per centum on the amount collected by him as taxes, excepting on school taxes, on which taxes he shall receive one per centum; the town clerk and supervisor shall each receive two dollars per day for each day actually and necessarily employed in attending to the duties of their respective offices; Provided, That the town clerk shall receive fees for the following services and not a per diem: For serving notices of election as required by law, twenty-five (25) cents each; filing papers, ten (10) cents each; posting notices as required by law, twenty-five (25) cents each; for recording any order or instrument of writing authorized by law, five cents for each one hundred words; for copying any record in his office and certifying the same, ten cents for each one hundred words, to be paid by the person applying for the same; and for copying by-laws for posting or publication, five cents for each one hundred words.

Provisions as to treasurer inserted 1885, p. 234.

1000. The members of the town board shall be entitled to two dollars per day each for their services while actually engaged in their duties as such board.

Amended 1885, p. 235.

1001. No justice of the peace or town officer shall be entitled to any fee or compensation from any individual elected or chosen to a town office for administering to him the oath of office.

1002. Whenever any controversy or cause of action shall exist between any towns of this state, or between any town and individual or corporation, proceedings may be had and suits brought, either at law or in equity, for the purpose of trying and finally settling such controversies. In all such suits and proceedings, the town shall sue and be sued by its corporate name, except where town officers shall be authorized by law to sue in their name of office for the benefit of the town.

1003. In all legal proceedings against the town by name, the first process and all other writs or proceedings required to be served shall be served on the supervisor of the town, and whenever any suit or proceeding shall be commenced against the town, it shall be the duty of the supervisor to attend to the defense thereof, and lay before the electors of the town at the first town meeting a full statement of such suit or proceeding for their consideration and direction.

1004. All judgments recovered against a town or against town officers, in actions prosecuted by or against them in their name of office, shall not be collected by execution, but shall be a town charge, and when levied and collected shall be paid to the person or persons to whom the same shall have been adjudged.

1005. The board of supervisors shall meet at such times as may be provided by law, and each member thereof shall be allowed, when actually employed, the sum of three dollars per day and mileage at the rate of five cents per mile for each mile necessarily traveled, and no more, as compensation for his services and expenses in attending the meetings of the board or any other business for the benefit of the county; Provided, That mileage shall only be allowed for one round trip to each member for each regular or special session of the county board, but mileage shall be allowed as hereinbefore provided for all necessary travel by committees; Provided, That nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to allow the supervisor more than two dollars per day while actually employed as member of his township board.

1006. None of the provisions of this act in regard to meeting of electors of their respective towns and their powers shall apply to towns whose limits are coextensive with cities of the first and second class, but such cities and the inhabitants thereof shall continue to be governed by the laws specially applicable thereto, with such power only as conferred by law or election in the choosing of supervisors, assessors, judges, and clerks of election and other county officers.

Secs. 1007 to 1014. "An act to provide for the discontinuance of township organization in any county, to adjust the affairs of and provide a revenue to pay the indebtedness of the towns and establish a temporary county organization." 1885, p. 235. In force June 5.

1007. Any county of the state of Nebraska which may have adopted township organization, or that may hereafter adopt the same pursuant to the constitution and any statute of the state, shall discontinue the same whenever the majority of the electors of said county voting on the question of such discontinuance shall so decide in the manner herein provided.

1008. Whenever a petition or petitions for a submission of the question of the discontinuance of township organization to the voters of his county, signed by not less than one-third of the number of electors of the county voting at the last general election, shall be filed in the office of the county clerk not less than thirty days before the date of any general election, it shall be the duty of said county clerk to cause said question to be submitted to the voters of said county at such election and give notice thereof in the general notice of such election.

1009. The forms of ballots shall be respectively "For continuance of township organization" and "Against continuance of township organization," and the same shall be written or printed upon the regular ballots cast for officers voted for at such election, and shall be counted and canvassed in the same manner.

1010. If it shall appear from the returns of said election that a majority of the votes cast on the question are against the continuance of township organization, then such organization shall cease to exist as soon as a board of county commissioners are appointed and qualified, as hereinafter provided.

1011. When township organization shall cease in any county, as provided by this act, the office of county commissioner, which became vacant by reason of its adoption, is hereby restored, and such county is hereby divided into commissioner districts, with the same boundaries and comprising the same territory as such districts had when township organization was adopted.

1012. On the first Saturday after the first Tuesday of January following the election at which township organization shall be voted to be discontinued, the county commissioners of such county, for the purpose of temporary organization under this act, shall be appointed by the county clerk, treasurer, and county judge of said county, and their successors shall be elected at the next general election in the manner provided by law in cases of the first election of a board of commissioners in any county.

1013. The board of county commissioners, appointed as herein provided, shall be the legal successors of the board of supervisors in said county, and the county in which township organization shall be discontinued; and such board of county commissioners shall thereafter be governed by the laws that shall govern counties not under township organization, and in the same manner that said county would have been governed had not such organization been adopted.

1014. Where township organization shall be discontinued in any county, it shall be the duty of the town clerk in each town in said county, as soon as the board of county commissioners are appointed and qualified, to deposit with the county clerk of the county all town records, papers, and documents pertaining to the affairs of such town, and to certify to him the amount of indebtedness of such town outstanding at the time of such discontinuance, and the board of county commissioners shall have full and complete power to settle all the unfinished business of the towns as fully as might have been done by the town itself, and dispose of any and all property belonging to such towns, the proceeds of which, after paying all indebtedness, shall be disposed of by the board of county commissioners of such county for the benefit of the taxable inhabitants thereof, by their crediting all unexpended balances of said towns to such fund or funds as they in their discretion shall deem for the best interest of such county, and it shall be their duty, at such time as shall be provided by law, to levy a tax upon the taxable property of such towns, to pay any unliquidated indebtedness it may have outstanding.

CHAPTER 11.—COURTS.

Courts of Impeachment.

Secs. 1015 to 1068, except 1037 to 1040 and sec. 1059, which are additional acts inserted. "An act to amend chapter 13 of the Revised Statutes of 1866, entitled 'Courts.'" 1879, p. 82. In force March 1.

1015. All impeachments of state officers shall be tried before the supreme court, except the impeachment of any judge of said court, and the impeachment of a judge of the supreme court shall be tried before all the district judges of the state.

Under the constitution of 1875 the supreme court did not succeed to the political function of the senate as a court of impeachment. Impeachment therein provided for is a judicial proceeding. In re Impeachment of George H. Hastings et al., — Neb., — (55 N. W., 774).

1016. A court of impeachment shall have power to proceed with a trial only when two-thirds of all the members thereof are in attendance, but any less number shall have power to adjourn to any reasonable time.

1017. A court of impeachment shall make such rules and orders as in its discretion shall be best adapted to a full, fair, and impartial investigation of the charges made and to the promotion of substantial justice.

1018. The clerk of the supreme court shall act as the clerk of the court of impeachment, and the court may appoint a short-hand reporter, and such officers shall each receive such an allowance as the court of impeachment may authorize to be by them reported for the consideration of the legislature at its next session.

1019. Whenever the court of impeachment in any way interferes with the business of any other court or county of the state, that of the court of impeachment shall take precedence.

1020. When the court of impeachment is composed of the district judges of the state they shall elect one of their number to act as the presiding judge of said court; in all other cases the chief justice shall preside, and the clerk of said court shall keep a full record of each day's proceedings, in a book to be specially provided for that purpose, and of which book the clerk of the supreme court shall always be the custodian, and each day's proceedings shall be signed by the judge presiding.

1021. The written opinions of any court of impeachment shall be reported in the volume of supreme court reports issued after the adjournments of said court.

1022. An impeachmen tof any state officer shall be tried, notwithstanding such officer may have resigned his office, or his term of office has expired; and if the accused person be found guilty, judgment of removal from office, or disqualifying such officer from holding or enjoying any office of honor, profit, or trust in the state, or both, may be rendered as in other cases.

The power to impeach conferred upon the legislature extends only to civil officers while in office, and does not extend to private citizens after they have retired from office. In re Impeachment of Hill et al, — Neb., — (55 N. W., 791). No amendment to articles preferred by legislature can be permitted after they have been filed in court. In re Impeachment of Leese, — Neb., — (55 N. W., 798).

1023. An impeachment against any state officer shall be tried and judgment of removal from office, or of disqualification to hold office, may be rendered, notwithstanding the offense for which said officer is tried occurred during a term of office immediately preceding.

Supreme Court.

1024. The supreme court shall consist of three judges, a majority of whom shall be necessary to constitute a quorum or pronounce a decision.

1025. The judge of the supreme court having the shortest term to serve, not holding his office by appointment or election to fill a vacancy, shall be the chief justice, and as such shall preside at all terms of the supreme court; and in case of his absence, the judge having in like manner the next shortest term to serve shall preside in his stead.

1026. No person shall be eligible to the office of judge of the supreme court unless he be at least thirty years of age and a citizen of the United States; nor unless he shall have resided in this state at least three years next preceding his election; nor unless he shall have been regularly admitted as an attorney in this state, and remained as an attorney in good standing at the bar thereof.

1027. The supreme court shall have original jurisdiction in cases relating to the revenue, civil cases in which the state shall be a party, mandamus, quo warranto, and habeas corpus, and shall have appellate and final jurisdiction of all matters of appeal and proceedings in error which may be taken from the judgments or decrees of the district courts, in all matters of law, fact or equity, where the rules of law or the principles of equity appear from the files, exhibits, or records of said court to have been erroneously determined.

Does not give the court original jurisdiction to vacate a judgment in a criminal case. Paulson v. State, 25, 347 (41 N. W., 249). The writ cannot operate as a writ of error. State, ex rel. Betts, v. McClay, 36, — (54 N. W., 524).

1028. Terms of the supreme court shall be held at the capitol, beginning on the first Tuesday in January and the Third Tuesday in September of each year.

Original act read first Tuesday in January and July. Amended 1889, p. 422.

1029. The judges of the supreme court, or a majority of them, are hereby authorized to appoint and hold a special term of said court at such time as they may designate, for disposing of the unfinished business of any general term of said court, and may appoint one special term of said court in any one year for general or special purposes.

1030. If a quorum is not in attendance on the first day of any term, the fact shall be entered on the journal by the clerk, and the court shall stand adjourned until the next day, and like proceedings shall be had, from day to day, until the fourth day, and should there still be no quorum, the court will stand adjourned until the next term in course. No proceedings shall in any manner be affected by such adjournment, or failure to hold a court, but shall stand continued to the next term.

1031. The reporter of the supreme court, who, under the provisions of section 8, article VI of the constitution, acts as clerk thereof, shall keep his office at the capital, shall be the custodian of the seal of said court, perform the duties devolving upon him by law, and be subject to the orders of the court. He shall receive an annual salary of $1,500, payable as the salary of other state officers is paid.

1032. The opinions of the court on all questions brought before them, as well as such motions, collateral questions, and points of practice as they may think of sufficient importance, shall be reduced to writing, filed with and recorded by the clerk of the court. All dissenting opinions must be written, filed, and recorded in the same manner.

1033. It shall be the duty of the reporter of the supreme court to prepare the opinions of said court for publication as fast as they are delivered to him, and when sufficient material is accumulated to form a volume of not less than six hundred pages, he shall cause the same to be printed, stereotyped, and bound in a good and substantial manner, equal to volume four of said reports. He shall deliver one thousand copies of each volume, with the stereotype plates thereof, to the auditor of public accounts, who shall draw his warrant in payment thereof, at the rate of two dollars and twenty-five cents ($2.25) per volume. The copyright of each volume shall be entered by said reporter for the benefit of the state, and all papers relating thereto shall be filed and recorded in the office of the secretary of state. The title of said volume shall be "Nebraska Reports," which, with the number of the volume, shall be printed on the back of each volume, and the reports of every case must show whether either, and if so which, judge dissented from the decision therein.

The salary of reporter is in full of all work done by him in preparing the MS. for the printer. In re Brown, 15, 697.

1034. The supreme court reports shall be deposited in the state library. Copies thereof shall be distributed to each judge of the supreme, district, and county court, to each state and territorial library, to each officer of the executive department of this state, and to each judge of the United States district and circuit courts of this state; and to the library of congress, two copies. The reporter shall be permitted to distribute such a number of copies as he sees fit, not exceeding ten of each volume, for notice in law periodicals published in the United States. The balance of said reports shall be sold as called for at the rate of $2.50 per volume. The money arising from such sales shall be paid into the treasury and constitute a library fund to be expended in the purchase of books for the benefit of the library. The accounts for such purchases shall be audited and paid as other accounts against the state are audited and paid, warrants therefor to be drawn on the library fund. Exchanges of said volumes may also be made with book publishers for books of equal value to the amount of said exchanges at the rate per volume hereinbefore provided for.

1036. The court may also appoint not exceeding two bailiffs, who shall receive the compensation allowed by law, to be paid as other claims upon the state treasury are paid, upon a certificate of the clerk of the supreme court stating the number of days of service rendered by said bailiffs. Such bailiffs shall have power to serve any process issuing out of said court in the exercise of its original jurisdiction, and shall receive the same fees as sheriffs for similar services.

Secs. 1037 to 1040. "An act to provide for stenographers or clerks for the judges of the supreme court, to define their duties, and to provide for their salaries." 1887, p. 381. In force March 31.

1037. Each of the judges of the supreme court of this state are authorized and empowered to appoint a stenographer, or clerk, to assist them in the mechanical or clerical duties of their office.

1038. Each stenographer or clerk, so appointed, shall reside in the same city with the judge appointing him, and perform such clerical work as may be assigned to him.

1039. Each stenographer or clerk shall receive compensation at the rate of four ($4) dollars per day while actually employed, payable from the treasury, out of the general fund.

1040. For carrying into effect the provisions of this act, the auditor is hereby authorized and directed to draw his warrant on the general fund, upon the presentation of the proper vouchers, approved by the judges of the supreme court, for the amounts named therein.

Secs. 1040*a* to 1040*c*. "An act authorizing the appointment of supreme court commissioners and defining their duties." 1893, ch. 16, p. 150. In force March 9. (Watson's bill.)

1040*a*. The supreme court of the state, immediately upon the taking effect of this act, shall appoint three persons, no two of whom shall be adherents to the same political party, and who shall have attained the age of thirty years and are citizens of the United States and of this state and regularly admitted as attorneys at law in this state, and in good standing at the bar thereof, as commissioners of the supreme court.

1040*b*. It shall be the duty of said commissioners, under such rules and regulations as the supreme court may adopt, to aid and assist the court in the performance of its duties in the disposition of the numerous cases now pending in said court, or that shall be brought into said court during the term of office of such commissioners.

1040*c*. The said commissioners shall hold office for the period of the three years from and after their appointment, during which time they shall not engage in the practice of law. They shall each receive a salary equal to the salary of a judge of the supreme court, payable at the same time and in the same manner as salaries of the judges of the supreme court are paid. Before entering upon the discharge of their duties they shall each take the oath provided for in section one (1) of article fourteen (14) of the constitution of this state. All vacancies in this commission shall be filled in like manner as the original appointment.

District Courts.

1041. No person shall be eligible to the office of district judge in any of said districts unless he is also eligible to the office of supreme judge.

1042. The district courts shall have and exercise general, original and appellate jurisdiction in all matters, both civil and criminal, except where otherwise provided.

All presumptions are in favor of the jurisdiction of district court. Bedford v. Ruby, 17, 98 (22 N. W., 76). Courts of equity and common law jurisdiction not necessarily limited in exercise thereof by statutory powers. Earle v. Earle, 27, 283 (43 N. W., 118). Barker v. Barker, 27, 137 (42 N. W., 889).

1043. A special term may be ordered and held by the district judge in any county in his district, for the transaction of any business, if he deem it necessary. In ordering a special term he shall direct whether a grand or petit jury, or both, shall be summoned.

McElvoy v. State, 9, 163 (2 N. W., 378).

1044. The district judges may interchange, and hold each other's courts; and whenever it shall appear by affidavit, to the satisfaction of any district judge in the state, that the judge of any other district is unable to act, on account of sickness, interest, or absence from the district, or from any other cause, the judge to whom application may be made shall have power to make any order, or do any act relative to any suit, judicial matter, or proceeding, or to any special matter arising within the district where such vacancy or disability exists, which the judge of such district court could make or do; and the order or act shall have the same effect as if made or done by the judge of such district.

May grant temporary injunction by making proper showing. Ellis v. Karl, 7, 386.

1045. The clerk of each district court shall keep a record of the proceedings of the court, under direction of the judge. He shall, if the business of the court does not prevent, make up the record of each day's proceedings before the opening of court on the next day, and the first business of each day, after the first, shall be read in open court, and if found correct shall be signed in open court by the judge.

The proceedings, including those of the last day of the session, shall be made up and signed by the judge before the final order of adjournment is made.

Where indictment found but no entry on journal made, subsequent court may order entry made conforming to facts. Garrison v. People, 6, 281. May be changed at a subsequent term to correspond with the fact. Notice of application for must be served. Brownlee v. Davidson, 28, 785 (45 N. W., 51.) The supreme court has no authority over the ministerial officers of the district court. State v. Le Fevre, 25, 224 (41 N. W., 184).

1046. The district court may, by rule, compel an inferior court or board to allow an appeal, or to make or amend records according to law, either by correcting an evident mistake or supplying an evident omission.

1047. If the judge does not appear on the day appointed for holding the court, the clerk shall make an entry thereof in his record, and adjourn the court until the next day, and so on until the fourth day, unless the judge appear.

1048. If the judge does not appear by five o'clock in the afternoon of the fourth day, the court shall stand adjourned till the next regular term.

1049. If the judge is sick, or for any other sufficient cause is unable to attend court at the regularly appointed time, he may, by a written order, direct an adjournment until a particular day therein specified, and the clerk shall, on the first day of the term, or as soon thereafter as he receive the order, adjourn the court as therein directed.

1050. No recognizance, or other instrument or proceeding, shall be rendered invalid by reason of there being a failure of the term, but all proceedings pending in court shall be continued to the next regular or special term, unless an adjournment be made as authorized in the last preceding section.

1051. In case of such continuances or adjournments, persons recognized or bound to appear at the regular term, which has failed as aforesaid, shall be held bound in like manner, to appear at the time so fixed, and their sureties (if any) shall be liable, in case of their non-appearance, in the same manner as though the term had been held at the regular time, and they had failed to make their appearance thereat.

1052. Upon any final adjournment of the court all business, not otherwise disposed of, shall stand continued generally.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

1053. All judicial proceedings must be public, unless otherwise specially provided by statute.

1054. All courts have power to administer oaths connected with any matter pending before them, either by any judge, justice, or clerk thereof, or by any other person appointed for that purpose by them.

1055. A judge or justice is disqualified from acting as such, except by mutual consent of parties, in any case wherein he is a party, or interested, or where he is related to either party by consanguinity or affinity within the fourth degree, or where he has been attorney for either party in the action or proceeding, and such mutual consent must be in writing and made a part of the record.

1056. No court can be opened, nor can any judicial business be transacted, on Sunday or on any legal holiday, except—1st. To give instructions to a jury then deliberating on their verdict. 2d. To receive a verdict or discharge a jury. 3d. To exercise the powers of a single magistrate in a criminal proceeding. * 4th. To grant or refuse a temporary injunction or restraining order.

All after * added 1889, p. 379. Where legal holiday falls on Sunday, the next Monday is not a holiday except as to commercial paper. Ostertag v. Galbraith, 23, 735 (37 N. W., 637). Adjournment of the court to, and opening it on, Thanksgiving day, no step in the case being taken on that day, is not cause for new trial. Polin v. State, 14, 516 (16 N. W., 898). A replevin writ cannot be served on Sunday. Bryant v. State, 16, 653 (21 N. W., 406). Case set for a legal holiday stands continued to the next day. State v. King, 23, 548 (37 N. W., 310). When verdict in justice's court is returned on Sunday, justice should immediately render judgment upon it. Thompson v. Church, 13, 288 (13 N. W., 626). An order allowing an attachment on a debt before due cannot be made on Sunday or a legal holiday. Merchants National Bank of Omaha v. Jaffray, 36, — (54 N. W., 259). But can on debt after due. Whipple v. Hill, — Neb., — (55 N. W., 227).

1057. A judge of the district court may sit at chambers anywhere within his district for the purpose of,—1. Granting, dissolving, or modifying temporary injunctions. 2. Confirming judicial sales. 3. Discharging attachments. 4. Hearing proceedings in "aid of execution." 5. Hearing application for sale of personal property held under attachment. 6. Hearing application for the appointment of a receiver or to discharge one already appointed, or to modify the order appointing one. 7. Hearing an application for additional security. 8. Hearing an application for mandamus or habeas corpus. 9. To discharge such other duties or to exercise such other powers as may be conferred upon a judge in contradistinction to a court. 10. For the purpose of receiving a plea of "guilty" from any person charged with a felony, and passing sentence thereon, upon reasonable notice to the prosecuting attorney.

May grant mandamus at chambers, in his district, where right is clear. Clark v. State, 24, 265 (38 N. W., 752). Under this section a judge could not award a writ of mandamus in vacation. State v. Pierce County, 10, 476 (6 N. W., 763). But see act of 1881, sec. 1059.

1058. In hearing any matters mentioned in subdivisions 2, 3, 4, 5, and 7, of the preceding section, the same shall be had in the county where the action is pending or the property is situated.

Sec. 1059. "An act to give to the several judges of the judicial districts of Nebraska certain powers when sitting in chambers anywhere within their respective judicial districts." 1881, p. 226. In force June 1.

1059. That any judge of the district court may sit at chambers at any time and place within his judicial district, and while so sitting shall have the power—1. To grant, dissolve, or modify temporary injunctions. 2. To discharge attachments. 3. To hear and determine application for writ of mandamus, and applications for writ of habeas corpus. 4. To discharge such other duties or to exercise such other powers as may be conferred upon a judge in contradistinction to a court. 5. To receive a plea of "guilty" from any person charged with a felony and passing sentence thereon, upon reasonable notice to the prosecuting attorney.

See Clark v. State, 24, 265 (38 N. W., 752). A district judge at chambers within his district, has power to hear and determine an application for a peremptory writ of mandamus. Strunk v. State, ex rel. Lipp, 33, 326 (50 N. W., 14). Linch v. State, ex rel., etc., 30, 740 (47 N. W., 88).

COURT COMMISSIONER.

1060. The judge of each judicial district shall appoint some suitable person in each county of his district as a court commissioner, who shall hold his office during the pleasure of such judge. Such commissioner must be an attorney at law in good standing, and must have been engaged in practice as such attorney at least five years, and have practiced in this state at least two years. He shall, before entering upon the duties of his office, give a bond and take the oath of office required by law to be given and taken by county judges; and shall receive the same fees for like services. He shall perform such duties and exercise such powers as are imposed or conferred upon him by the laws of the state.

TERMS OF COURT.

1061. The judges of the district court shall, on the first day of January of each year, fix the time of holding terms of court in the counties composing their respective districts, during the ensuing year, and cause the same to be published throughout the district, if the same can be done without expense. The clerk of each district court shall note on the bar docket of each term the time so fixed for holding court in his county. The terms shall be so fixed as not to conflict with the time fixed by rules of the supreme court for the hearing of causes therein from said districts. The clerk of the supreme court shall, before the first day of January of each year, notify each district judge of the times fixed by the supreme court for the hearing of causes from his district. All terms of the district court shall be held at the county seat in the court house, or other place provided by the county board. *Terms of court may be held at the same time in different counties in the same judicial district, by the judge of the district court thereof, if there be more than one, and upon request of the judge or judges of such court, any term in such district may be held by a judge of the district court of any other district of the state. When necessary, the district court sitting in any county may be continued into and held during the time fixed for holding such court in any other county within the district, or may be adjourned and held beyond such time.

All after * added 1885, p. 242. Latter clause held valid. Tippy v. State, 35, 371 (53 N. W., 208).

CLERKS OF THE DISTRICT COURT.

1063. Every clerk appointing a deputy under the provisions of this chapter shall be liable for all the official acts of said deputy clerk.

SHORT-HAND REPORTER.

1064. There shall be appointed within and for each of the judicial districts of this state, by the district judge, a stenographic reporter who shall be well skilled in the art of stenography, and capable of reporting the oral proceedings had in court verbatim, *and said reporter or his deputy shall not be allowed to practice law in the district court within and for the district he is appointed during the tenure of his office as such stenographer.

All after * added 1889, p. 421.

1065. The said reporter shall take the oath required to be taken by judicial officers, shall hold his office during the pleasure of the district judge, and receive an annual salary of $1,500, to be paid by the state as the salary of other officers is paid.

1066. [Duties.]—The said reporter shall attend all terms of the district court held within and for the district for which he is appointed, and shall make a stenographic report of all oral proceedings had in such court, including the testimony of witnesses, with the questions to them, verbatim, and any further proceedings or matter when directed by the presiding judge so to do; but the parties may, with the consent of the judge, waive the recording by such reporter of any part of the proceedings herein required to be taken; this shall not include arguments to the jury. And whenever, during the progress of the cause, any question arises as to the admissibility or rejection of evidence or any other matter causing an argument to the court, such argument shall not be recorded by the reporter, but he shall briefly note the objection made and the ruling of the court thereon, and any exceptions taken by either party to such ruling.

1067. The said reporter shall keep and maintain an office within the district for which he shall be appointed, and shall keep and preserve in his said office all stenographic reports made by him as in this subdivision required. Such records shall be the property of the state, and upon the termination of his office the said reporter shall deliver the same to his successor in office.

1068. It shall be the duty of such reporter to furnish, on the application of the district attorney or any party to a suit in which a stenographic record of proceedings has been made, a long-hand copy of the proceedings so recorded, or any part thereof, for which he shall be entitled to receive, in addition to his salary, a fee of five cents per hundred words, to be paid by the party requesting the same, except where such copy is required by the district attorney on the part of the state, in which case the reporter shall furnish such copy without the payment of any fee; Provided also, That in all criminal cases wherein, after conviction, the defendant shall make an affidavit that he is unable, by reason of his poverty, to pay for such copy, the court or judge thereof may, by order endorsed on such affidavit, direct the reporter to make such copy without the payment of any fee. It shall be the duty of the reporter to deliver such long-hand copy of the proceedings therein within forty days from the final adjournment of the term at which the judgment is rendered, to the party demanding it.

If a party, without his fault, is deprived of his bill of exceptions by reason of the reporter's failure to prepare a transcript of the testimony in time, a new trial will be granted. Curran v. Wilcox, 10, 451 (6 N. W., 762). One convicted of felony must pay for his transcript. State v. Moore, 8, 24.

Secs. 1069 and 1070. "An act to permit the appointment of deputy stenographic reporters in the several judicial districts of the state of Nebraska." 1883, p. 319. In force June 1.

1069. The stenographic reporters within and for each of the judicial districts of this state may severally, each with the consent of the judge of the district in which he acts, appoint as deputy a person well skilled in the art of stenography, and capable of reporting the oral proceedings had in court verbatim.

1070. A deputy reporter so appointed shall take the oath required to be taken by judicial officers, and may perform the duties of the reporter as provided in the Compiled Statutes of Nebraska, chapter 19, "Courts" [ch. 11], and the reporters of the court shall pay for the services of such deputy.

Secs. 1071 to 1075. "An act to amend section 58 of chapter 14, General Statutes." 1875, p. 76. In force April 1.

1071. It shall be the duty of the judges of the several district courts, in all cases, both civil and criminal, to reduce their charge or instructions to the jury to writing, before giving the same to the jury, unless the so giving of the same is waived by the counsel in the case in open court, and so entered in the record of said case; and either party may request instructions to the jury on points of law, which shall be given or refused by the court. All instructions asked shall be in writing. [See 4803.]

This requirement can be waived by the parties. Gibson v. Sullivan, 18, 559 (26 N. W., 368). Instructions should be given with reference to testimony of each case, and attention of jury directed to question at issue. Billings v. McCoy Bros., 5, 189. Instructions asked which states the law correctly should be given; should be clear and definite and not tend to prejudice. Matthewson v. Burr, 6, 321. Has no reference to rulings on points which arise during progress of trial. Forbes v. Hicks, 27, 117 (42 N. W., 898). Oral instructions must be reduced to writing and filed with the clerk before submission to the jury. Yates v. Kinney, 23, 654 (37 N. W., 590). Instructions not applicable to issues made by pleadings should be refused. Webster & Burr v. O'Shee, 13, 428 (14 N. W., 164). High v. Merchants Bank, 6, 159. Williams v. State, 6, 340. Reed v. Beardsley, 6, 498. Meredith v. Kennard, 1, 312. If one part of instruction misstates the law it will not be cured by another paragraph which states it correctly. Wasson v. Palmer, 13, 378 (14 N. W., 171). When an instruction has a tendency to confuse or mislead a jury, it is ground for a new trial. Howell & Gibson v. Sewing Machine Co., 12, 177 (10 N. W., 700). Instructions not warranted by the evidence, held erroneous. Sheldon v. Williams, 11, 275 (9 N. W., 86). Undue prominence should not be given to one branch or item of evidence, by particular mention, to the disparagement of the rest. Markel v. Moody, 11, 213 (7 N. W., 853). The assumption by the court of a fact of which there is no evidence, is error. Turner v. O'Brien, 11, 114 (7 N. W., 850). When the evidence produced by plaintiff would not support a verdict in his favor, a nonsuit is proper. Reynolds v. B. & M. R. R. Co., 11, 186 (7 N. W., 737). Where there is no evidence in favor of plaintiff, court may direct jury to find for defendant. Lent v. B. & M. R. R. Co., 11, 201 (8 N. W., 431.) An instruction which in effect withdraws a case from the jury, cannot be sustained where there is testimony that should be submitted to them. Eaton v. Carruth, 11, 231 (9 N. W., 58). An instruction, though correct as an abstract proposition of law, which submits to the jury a question not in issue, or which has a tendency to mislead, should not be given. Smith v. Evans, 13, 314 (14 N. W., 406). Whether the facts be disputed or undisputed, if different minds may honestly draw different conclusions from them, the case is one for the jury. A. & N. R. R. Co. v. Bailey, 11, 332 (9 N. W., 50). Instructions must not assume the possible existence of a state of facts which the jury has no right to find from the evidence. Instruction must not be ambiguous and uncertain and liable to lead the jury astray. City of Crete v. Childs, 11, 253 (9 N. W., 55). Where, under the issue made by the pleadings, proof of a material fact devolves upon the defendant, and no testimony is offered on either side, it is error for the court to instruct the jury to find for defendant. Johnson v. Dinsmore, 11, 394 (9 N. W., 558). Not error for a court to refuse to instruct upon the matter of a prisoner's sanity when there is no evidence tending to show he is insane. Wells v. State, 11, 410 (9 N. W., 552). Judge should not give undue importance to rights of one party; should avoid expressing his opinion as to the effect of the evidence, and should not assume that there is a conflict in the evidence when there is none. Kersenbrock v. Martin, 12, 374 (11 N. W., 462). An erroneous charge will not reverse judgment when made on a point entirely out of the case made by evidence, and the verdict can be supported by the proof made, but where instructions not called for by the evidence are given, and are misleading to the jury, judgment will be reversed. Meredith v. Kennard 1, 319. It is error to submit the question of materiality to a jury. Palmer v. Largent, 5, 225. Instructions erroneous, too general. Woolman v. Wirtsbaugh, 22, 492 (35 N. W., 216). Instructions are a part of the record and need not be preserved by bill of exceptions. Cleveland Paper Co. v. Banks, 15, 23 (16 N. W., 833). H. & G. I. R. R. Co. v. Ingalls, 15, 129 (16 N. W., 762). If jury not properly instructed on law, verdict will be set aside. Bollman v. Lucas, 22, 815 (36 N. W., 465). Instructions must be construed together. Campbell v. Holland, 22, 607 (35 N. W., 871). Gray, Burt & Kingman v. Farmer, 19, 71 (26 N. W., 593). It is error to give instructions without filing them with the clerk, or marking them "given" or "refused," but such error is waived if not excepted to at the time. Tagg v. Miller, 10, 443 (6 N. W., 764). Fry v. Tilton, 11, 459 (9 N. W., 638). Under indictment for murder. Walrath v. State, 8, 89. Criminal trial—insanity. Clarke v. O. & S. W. R. R., 4, 470. In case of felony, if instruction had a tendency to prejudice the minds of the jury a new trial will be granted, though no exception taken. Thompson v. People, 4, 530. No exception taken, no foundation for a review. Scofield v. Brown, 7, 222. See Meyer v. M. P. R. R. Co., 2, 334; Steele v. Russell, 5, 214; Kay v. Noll, 20, 386; Esterly & Son v. Van Slyke, 21, 615 (33 N. W., 209).

1072. If the court refuse a written instruction, as demanded, but give the same with a modification, which the court may do, such modification shall not be by interlineation or erasure, but shall be well defined and shall follow some such characterizing words as "changed thus," which words shall themselves indicate that the same was refused as demanded.

Instructions need not be in the very words requested, if given in other words as favorable. Jameson v. Butler, 1, 120. Not error to refuse instructions substantially the same as those given. Curry v. State, 5, 418. Curry v. State, 4, 554.

1073. The court must read over all the instructions which it intends to give, and none others, to the jury, and must announce them as given, and shall announce as refused, without reading to the jury, all those which are refused, and must write the words "given," or "refused," as the case may be, on the margin of each instruction.

Error to give instructions which tend to confuse the jury. Mutual Hall Ins. Co. v. Wilde, 8, 431. Instruction marked "Asked for by defendant; refused," was read to the jury and allowed to be taken by them. Held, not reversible error. Langworthy v. Connelly, 14, 341 (15 N. W., 737). Failure to read, reversible error. McDuffie v. Bentley, 27, 387 (43 N. W., 123). Omission of word "given" from margin held not to vitiate instruction. Gillen v. Riley, 27, 170 (42 N. W., 1054). Where the court fails to write the word "given" on the margin of an instruction exception must be specially taken on that ground or it is waived. Omaha & Florence Land & Trust Co. v. Hansen, 32, 449 (49 N. W., 456).

1074. If the giving or refusal be excepted to, the same may be without any stated reason therefor, and all instructions demanded, as well as all instructions given to the jury by the court on its own motion, must be plainly and legibly written in consecutively numbered paragraphs, and filed by the clerk before being read to the jury by the court; and such instructions shall be preserved as part of the record of the cause in which they were given.

Right to except to instructions waived unless taken at time of giving of instructions. Brown v. Hurst, 3, 353. Garrison v. People, 6, 284. General exception insufficient. Brooks v. Dutcher, 24, 300 (38 N. W., 780). If not objected to, right to have instructions numbered will be waived. Smith v. State, 4, 288. The objections to instructions must be presented to the trial court by motion for a new trial. Hanover Fire Ins. Co. v. Schellak, 35, 701 (53 N. W., 605).

1075. No oral explanation of any instruction authorized by the preceding sections shall, in any case, be allowed, and any instruction or charge, or any portion of a charge or instructions, given to the jury by the court and not reduced to writing, as aforesaid, or a neglect or refusal on the part of the court to perform any duty enjoined by the preceding sections, shall be error in the trial of the case, and sufficient cause for the reversal of the judgment rendered therein.

This does not include oral explanations reduced to writing and filed. Burrell v. State, 25, 591 (41 N. W., 399).

County Courts.

Secs. 1076 to 1110. "An act concerning the organization, powers, and jurisdiction of probate courts." 1873. In force March 3. G. S., 263.

1076. That there is hereby established, in each organized county in this state, a probate court, which shall be held at the county seat by the probate judge of such county, and shall be a court of record. Such court shall be deemed to be always open, and any cause, matter, or proceeding may be proceeded with therein at any time after the giving of notice or service of process in the mode prescribed by law. And the proceedings and determinations of such court heretofore had or made in any cause, matter, or proceeding, at any time other than at a regular term of such court, as heretofore prescribed by law, shall be as valid and effectual, for all purposes, as if had or made at such regular term.

1077. County judges in their respective counties shall have and exercise the ordinary powers and jurisdiction of a justice of the peace [5374], and shall in civil cases have concurrent jurisdiction with the district court [1042], in all civil cases in any sum not exceeding one thousand dollars, exclusive of costs, and in actions of replevin where the appraised value of the property does not exceed that sum, and the provisions of the code of civil procedure, relative to justices of the peace, shall, where no specified provision is made by this subdivision, apply to the proceedings in all civil actions prosecuted before said county court; Provided, That county courts shall not have jurisdiction: I. In any action for malicious prosecution. II. In any action against officers for misconduct in office, except where like proceedings can be had before justices of the peace. III. In actions for slander and libel. IV. In actions upon contracts for the sale of real estate. V. In any matter wherein the title or boundaries of land may be in dispute, nor to order or decree the sale or partition of real estate.

Word probate changed to county, and limit of jurisdiction raised to $1,000, 1883, p. 220. County court formerly had jurisdiction in civil cases only to the amount of $500; and where court is without jurisdiction of the subject-matter, parties cannot confer jurisdiction by consent. Brondberg v. Babbott, 14, 518 (16 N. W., 845). County courts have jurisdiction to recover damages for assault and battery where amount sought to be recovered does not exceed $500 ($1,000 now). Brauer v. Luntzer, 12, 474 (11 N. W., 730). County court has jurisdiction in an action brought to recover on a party wall agreement. Garmire v. Willy, 36, — (54 N. W., 563). County judges shall have the ordinary jurisdiction of justice of the peace. Judgment can only be set aside when it was obtained by fraud, partiality, or undue means. Cox v. Tyler, 6, 302. In cases involving over $200, county court has the power of district court; under $200, only those of a justice. Schell v. Husenstine, 15, 12 (16 N. W., 758). A cause of action cannot on appeal to district court be so amended as to claim more than $1,000. U. P. Ry. v. Ogilvy, 18, 639 (26 N. W., 464). No jurisdiction to set aside deed obtained by false representations. Barker v. Barker, 27, 137 (42 N. W., 889). County courts have no jurisdiction to naturalize foreigners. State, ex rel. Fossler, v. Webster, 7, 474.

1078. The courts of probate in their respective counties shall have exclusive jurisdiction of the probate of wills, the administration of estates of deceased persons, and the guardianship of minors, insane persons, and idiots; Provided, No judge of probate shall act in any case or matter where he is next of kin to the deceased, nor where he is legatee or devisee under a will, nor where he is named as executor or trustee in a will, or is one of the subscribing witnesses thereto, nor where he is related to any party in interest in any case before him, by consanguinity or affinity, or has such an interest therein as would exclude him from acting as a juror in such case or matter, nor where he has acted as attorney or counsel in any case or matter before him.

This disqualification does not apply to such acts as filing papers, etc. State v. Gurney, 17: 523 (23 N. W., 524).

1079. They shall have power— I. To hear and determine claims and set-offs in the matter of estates of deceased persons. II. To hear and determine questions of applications for, and to grant and issue letters of administration, testamentary, and of guardianship, and revoke the same. III. To take the probate of wills. IV. To cause to be taken, to receive, file, and record all inventories, sale, and appraisement bills of the estates of deceased persons. V. To require executors, administrators, and guardians to exhibit and settle their accounts, and account for the estates and property that have come into their possession as such. VI. To appoint commissioners to partition personal estate. VII. To authorize guardians to sell and convey or mortgage the personal estate of their wards, to provide for their wants, education, and support.

1080. If it shall appear to any such court, by the application, under oath, of any party interested in the bond of any executor, administrator, or guardian appointed by such court, that there is reasonable doubt as to the solvency or sufficiency of the securities upon any such bond, such court shall cause such executor, administrator, or guardian to be ordered to show cause why he shall not execute a new bond in the premises, with surety to be approved by such court, as provided by law.

1081. If, upon the hearing of any such matter, the court shall require a new bond with sureties, and such executor, administrator, or guardian shall fail to comply with the order of the court, he shall be removed from his said trust, and his letters revoked, and another executor, administrator, or guardian, as the case may be, appointed in his place.

1082. It shall be the duty of the probate judge, in each county, to hold a regular term of the probate court at his office at the county seat, commencing at nine o'clock A. M. on the first Monday of each calendar month, for the trial of such civil actions brought before such court as are not cognizable before a justice of the peace. Such regular term shall be deemed to be open without any formal adjournment thereof until the third Monday of the same month, when all causes not then finally determined shall be continued by such court to the next regular term; but such courts shall be deemed to be always open for the filing of papers and issuance of process in civil actions, and for the purpose of taking and entering judgment by confession.

The third Monday is a term day. Ryan v. State Bank, 10, 529 (7 N. W., 276). Statute directory—cases may be tried at any time by agreement of parties. Mapstrick v. Ramge, 9, 394 (2 N. W., 739). Court may hear cases out of term time by agreement. Cozine v. Hatch, 17, 696 (24 N. W., 389). And where court continued a case out of the term to a legal holiday it goes over to the next term. Moore & Cozine v. Herron, 17, 697 (24 N. W., 425). Not necessary to state that the court had been regularly adjourned from day to day until case finally disposed of. Commissioners of Kearney county v. Kent, 5, 228. Sufficiency of judgment. Lewis v. Watrus, 7, 479. Leave to amend pleadings in open court, notice to adversary not necessary. Naracong v. Graves 8, 445.

1083. [Proceedings.]—In all cases commenced in said courts wherein the sum exceeds the jurisdiction of a justice of the peace [5576], it shall be the duty of the county judge to issue a summons, returnable on the first day of the next term of said court, if there be ten days intervening between the issuance of the summons and the first day of the term, and if not, then to be made returnable on the first day of the next term thereafter, which summons shall be directed and delivered to the sheriff or any constable of said county, and the sheriff or constable shall serve the same upon the defendant as in other civil cases, at least ten days before the return day thereof. When the summons has not been served ten days before the first day of the term, the cause shall stand continued until the next regular term of said court, and shall then stand for trial, without further notice to the defendant.

Limit of jurisdiction formerly $100, 1883, p. 221. If amount claimed does not exceed $100 ($200 now), a summons should be issued and served same as before a justice of the peace. Brauer v. Luntzer, 12, 475 (11 N. W., 730). In granting new trial, county court is governed by same rule as justice and must grant the same, if at all, within four days from the time of entering judgment. Vaughn v. O'Connor, 12, 479 (11 N. W., 738).

1084. Action in replevin.—In all actions in replevin, the summons shall be in like form, and be returnable within the like time as in similar actions before justices of the peace [5507], but if, upon a return of the writ, it appears that the appraised value of the property taken thereon exceeds the jurisdiction of a justice of the peace [5576], and does not exceed the jurisdiction of the county court, such action shall stand continued, as of course, to the next regular term of said court, and shall then be disposed of as other causes during such term; but if it appears that the appraised value of the property in such action exceeds the jurisdiction of the county court, then such action, on the return of the writ, shall be forthwith certified to the district court.

Amended 1883, p. 221. Summons should be returnable not more than twelve days from date. Roggencamp v. Moore, 9, 108 (2 N. W., 227).

1085. Bill of particulars.—In all civil actions in the county court, where the amount claimed exceeds the jurisdiction of a justice of the peace, the plaintiff, his agent or attorney, shall, before the summons is issued therein, file in such court a petition, setting forth, in ordinary and concise language, his demands; and the defendant shall also, on or before the first day of the term at which the cause stands for trial, file in such court his answer containing any set-off or other defense he may have. Such petition shall be verified in like manner as a petition is required to be verified in the district court [4657], and when so verified, no other or greater proof shall be required to entitle the plaintiff to judgment upon default than in actions in the district court.

Amended 1883, p. 222. Sufficiency of petition in county court. Spellman v. Frank, 18, 112 (24 N. W., 442). See Whiteley v. Davis, 20, 506 (31 N. W., 74).

1086. Pleadings.—In actions before said court, where the amount claimed exceeds the jurisdiction of a justice of the peace, motions and demurrers shall be allowed, and the rules of practice concerning pleadings and processes in the district court [4649] shall be applicable, so far as may be, to pleadings in the county court.

Amended 1883, p. 222. Leave to amend petition instanter, defendant not entitled to extension of time. Narracong v. Graves, 8, 445. County court has power to vacate and modify its own judgments during the term. Volland v. Wilcox, 17, 50 (22 N. W., 71).

1087. If no answer is filed on or before the first day of the term, in any action to be tried during such term, the plaintiff may have the default of the defendant entered, and may proceed to judgment on any succeeding day during the term, upon proving his cause of action.

1088. Either party may demand a jury for the trial of any cause pending in the probate court, wherein the amount claimed exceeds one hundred dollars; but such demand must be made in writing and entered on the docket on or before the filing of the answer in such cause.

Bill of exceptions allowed only in case tried by jury. Taylor v. Tilden & McFarland, 3, 341. To entitle one to bill of exceptions trial must be had to jury. Rudolf v. Winters, 7, 127. B. & M. R. R. Co. v. Dick & Son, 7, 244. Demand for jury must be made on or before filing answer. Stevenson v. Anderson, 12, 86 (10 N. W., 552).

1089. Upon the filing of such demand for a jury, the probate judge shall cause a jury to be selected and summoned in the same manner as is provided for selecting jurors in civil actions before justices of the peace [5444].

1090. The probate judge shall, on the first day of each term, or as soon thereafter as may be, prepare [a] calendar of the causes standing for trial at such term, placing the causes upon such calendar in the order in which the same are numbered on the docket, and setting the causes for trial, in such order, upon convenient days during such term; and the provisions of this code relative to the trial docket in the district court [4844] shall, so far as they are in their nature applicable, apply to such calendar.

1091. Arrest and attachment.—Orders for arrest and for attachments of property may issue in actions brought under this chapter, but when the demand in such action exceeds the jurisdiction of a justice of the peace, the proceedings upon such orders shall be the same, as near as may be, as in actions brought in the district court. The return day of such orders shall, when issued at the commencement of the action, be the same as that of the summons; when issued afterwards, they shall be made returnable forthwith.

Amended 1883, p. 222. An order of attachment may issue before the summons is served. Coffman v. Brandhoeffer, 33, 282 (50 N. W., 6).

1092. Stay of execution.—Any person against whom a judgment is rendered, on all sums exceeding two hundred dollars, may have stay of execution in like manner as upon judgments rendered in the district court [5003], and upon the same conditions; and upon all sums of two hundred dollars and under, the same as provided for in actions before justices of the peace [5521].

Amended 1885, p. 244. Execution may issue against both principal and sureties. State v. Fleming, 21, 323 (32 N. W., 73). Not void though imperfect. Hansen v. Bergquist, 9, 278 (2 N. W., 858).

1093. Any person having a judgment rendered by a probate court may cause a transcript thereof to be filed in the office of the clerk of the district court in any county of this state, and when said transcript is so filed, and entered upon the judgment record, such judgment shall be a lien on real estate in the county where the same is filed, and when the same is so filed and entered upon such judgment book, the clerk of such court may issue execution thereupon in like manner as execution is issued upon judgments rendered in the district court [4999].

1094. The probate judge shall issue execution on judgments rendered by said court, and the proceedings upon any such execution shall, in all cases, be as is provided by law governing executions issued upon the judgments of a justice of the peace. [5519].

1095. All writs, citations, and all process in civil actions, issuing out of any probate court, shall be under the seal thereof, and be signed by the probate judge.

Approval of bonds, etc., need not be attested by seal. Holmes v. State, 17, 73 (22 N. W., 232) Connelly v. Edgerton, 22, 88 (34 N. W., 76).

1096. All process in civil actions in such court shall be directed to the sheriff or any constable of the county, and the same shall be served by the officer to whom it is directed, and return thereof made at the time therein directed; and for any neglect or omission to do so, he and his sureties may be proceeded against in like manner as in similar cases before justices of the peace [5536, 5556, 5761].

1097. All writs, notices, orders, citations, and other process, except in proceedings for contempt, may be served in like manner as a summons in a civil action in the district court [4606], and the service of the same by a copy thereof, left at the usual place of residence of the party to be served, shall be deemed equivalent to personal service thereof in cases where personal service is required by law; but to bring a party into contempt there must have been actual personal service of the process upon the disobedience of which the contempt is founded, and there must be actual personal service of all process in the proceedings for contempt. In cases where writs, notices, citations, or other process cannot be served as aforesaid in this state, the probate court may, in cases where it may be necessary, order the serviec thereof to be made by publication in some newspaper in this state in such manner as the court may direct, and thereupon the same proceedings may be had as in [if] such writs or other process had been served as aforesaid in this state. Nothing contained in this section shall limit or take away the power of the probate court or judge thereof to give notice or cause the same to be given by publication in the various cases provided by law.

Words of a return need not be in the precise words of the statute. Betts v. Boyd, 31, 817 (48 N. W., 889).

1098. All writs and other process, except subpœnas, may be executed and served, as the case may require, in any county in the state; and if it be a county other than that of the residence of the probate judge, the same shall be directed to the sheriff of such other county.

Under the law as it was formerly, summons could not issue to another county. Bowen v. School Dist. No. 3, 10, 267 (4 N. W., 981). County judge, and probably justice, may issue summons to other counties to bring in other obligors on a note. Bair v. Bank, 27, 580 (43 N. W., 347).

1099. It shall be the duty of the sheriffs of the several counties to execute or serve all writs and process issued by any probate court and to them directed, and to return the same; for any neglect or refusal so to do, they [may] be proceeded against in the probate court the same as for a neglect or refusal to execute or serve process issued out of the district court [5048].

Hilton v. Backman, 24, 490 (39 N. W., 419).

1100. In civil actions brought under the provisions of this chapter, either party may appeal from the judgment of the probate court, or prosecute a petition in error, in the same manner as provided by law in cases tried and determined by justices of the peace [5477]. The amount of the bond or undertaking taken shall be double the amount of the judgment and costs, and shall be approved by the probate judge.

See 5459. There must be a judgment to appeal from. Brounty v. Daniels, 23, 164 (36 N. W., 463). If judge do not approve bond left with him he should at once notify the party. Asch v. Wiley, 16, 41 (20 N. W., 21). Appeal by principal against whom, with sureties, judgment has been rendered, gives district court jurisdiction to render judgment against all. Wilcox v. Raben, 24, 370 (38 N. W., 844). Appeal bond may be amended or a new one filed. Notice of appeal need not be given. Bazzo v. Wallace, 16, 293 (20 N. W., 314). See Rogers v. Russell, 11, 363 (9 N. W., 547). Cause must be tried on same issues as were raised in the lower court, except new matter arising since the trial. Darner v. Daggett, 35, 695 (53 N. W., 608). Errors of law will not be reviewed in the supreme court upon a petition from the county court to the district court in a civil action tried in county court without a jury. Nickerson v. Needles, 32, 230 (49 N. W., 433).

EVIDENCE.

1101. Depositions may be taken to be used in evidence in any cause, matter, or proceeding pending in any probate court, in the like manner and upon the like notice as in actions in the district court [4892]. Depositions so taken must be addressed and transmitted to the judge of the court in which the cause, matter, or proceeding is pending.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

1102. When for any cause the probate judge fails to attend at the commencement of any regular term, or at the time when any cause is assigned for trial, or at the time to which any cause may be continued, the parties shall not be obliged to wait more than one hour, and if he does not attend within the hour, the parties in attendance shall be required to attend at nine o'clock A. M. of the following day, and if such judge shall not attend at that time, the cause shall stand continued until the first day of the next regular term. This section shall apply only to causes not cognizable before justices of the peace.

1103. In all actions brought in the probate court in pursuance of the provisions of this chapter, parties, jurors, and witnesses shall be obliged to appear at the time when the summons is returnable, or at which the cause is assigned for trial, or to which it may be continued.

1104. The provisions of this code relative to adjournment of causes before justices of the peace [5430] shall apply to civil actions in the probate court not cognizable before such justices, so far only as the causes for adjournment and the conditions to be imposed thereon are concerned, but the time for which the cause may be adjourned shall be regulated by the probate judge in the exercise of a reasonable discretion; Provided, That such action cannot be adjourned over more than three regular terms of said court, upon the application of either party, without the consent of the other.

1105. The probate judge shall keep a docket in which all of his proceedings in civil actions shall be entered in like manner, as near as may be, as the proceedings before justices of the peace in civil actions; and the provisions of this code relating to justice's docket shall, as near as may be, apply to the docket of the probate judge [5558].

1106. The probate books shall consist of a record, entry, estate, and fee book, which shall be kept as follows: I. The record book shall contain a full record of all wills, testaments, and codicils, and the probate thereof, all letters testamentary, of administration and guardianship, and all bonds of executors, guardians, and administrators. The original papers shall be filed and preserved in the office. II. There shall be entered in the estate book all inventories, appraisements, sale bills, and other exhibits and reports received by the court, relative to the settlement or disposition of estates, showing the amount of all such estates, as shown by such instruments. III. The entry book shall contain a fair statement of all the matters, controversies, and suits that may have arisen for decision and adjudication before said court, with the names of the parties, dates of each entry, and the judgment or opinion of the court, and all orders thereof, and a full record of all determinations of the district or supreme court upon appeal or petition in error in such matters, controversies, and suits. IV. The fee book shall contain an exact account of all fees allowed and paid in each case, showing the names of the persons receiving the same, and for what such fees were paid.

1107. An index shall be attached to each book required to be kept by the probate judge, in which shall be inserted in alphabetical order the names of the parties or persons in whose names the entries in such books are made.

1108. Every record made in any probate court, excepting original orders, judgments, and decrees thereof, shall have attached thereto a certificate signed by the judge of such court, showing the date of such record and the county in which the same is made, and it shall not be necessary to call such judge or his successor in office to prove such record so certified. And in any cause, matter, or proceeding in which the probate court or probate judge has jurisdiction, and is required to make a record not provided for in this chapter, such record shall be certified in the same way and with like effect as aforesaid.

1109. When any probate judge shall be disqualified from acting in any cause or matter before him, or is temporarily absent from the county, the county commissioners may appoint a competent and disinterested person to act in place of such judge, in such case or other matter, during such absence or disqualification, who shall give bonds in the same manner and possess the same powers, and be subject to the duties, restrictions, and liabilities therein as are prescribed by law respecting probate judges.

Does not apply to mere ministerial acts. State v. Gurney, 17, 523 (23 N. W., 524). Will continue to act until such matter is fully disposed of. Neb. Mfg Co. v. Maxon, 23, 226 (36 N. W., 492). In the absence of record to the contrary, it will be presumed that the acting judge has been duly appointed. Taylor v. Tilden & McFarland, 3, 343.

1110. All bonds required by law to be taken in or by order of the probate court shall be for such sum, with such sureties as the judge shall prescribe, except as otherwise provided by law, and such bonds shall be for the security and benefit of all persons interested, and shall be taken to the state of Nebraska, except where they are required to be taken to the adverse party.

Secs. 1111 to 1113. "An act prescribing the method of proving records of probate courts relative to the sale of lands and appointment of guardians, executors, and administrators in certain cases and perpetuating the evidence thereof." G. S., 1873, p. 271. In force February 26.

1111. That in all cases where lands have been sold by order of the probate court in any county in the territory or state of Nebraska, on application of the guardian of any minor child or children, or executor or administrator, and it shall appear in any action in any court held within this state, relating to the title to such land, that the record, or any part of the record, of such sale is imperfect or deficient or that such record, or any part thereof, or any paper or papers, notice, affidavit, document, instrument, or any proceeding whatsoever, from the filing of the petition, for license to sell until the execution of the deed to the purchaser, has been lost or destroyed by fire or otherwise, or cannot be found, the contents of such record, paper, notice, affidavit, document, instruments, or other proceeding may be proved in the same manner as in case of other lost instruments or papers, by secondary evidence, and when so proved they shall have the same effect as if proven by the production of the original record, paper, notice, affidavit, document, instrument, or other proceedings, or by a duly certified copy thereof.

Covers all cases where county court records are lost or destroyed. Trumble v. Williams, 18, 152 (24 N. W., 716).

1112. When in such action it shall appear that the record, or any bond, paper, instrument, or other proceeding connected with the appointments of the guardian, executor, or administrator, by whom such sale was made, has been lost or destroyed by fire or otherwise, or cannot be found, the contents thereof may be proven in the manner and with the effect prescribed in section one of this act, as to the matters therein provided for.

1113. The testimony of any witness, as to any matter or thing mentioned in this act, may be perpetuated, and shall be received and admitted in any action aforesaid, and with the effect prescribed in this act, in the same manner as prescribed by law in other cases.

APPEALS.

Secs. 1114 to 1120. "An act providing for an appeal from the decision of the county court in certain matters." 1881, p. 227. In force June 1.

1114. In all matters of probate jurisdiction, appeals shall be allowed from any final order, judgment, or decree of the county court to the district court by any person against whom any such order, judgment, or decree may be made, or who may be affected thereby.

This act repeals by implication secs. 233 to 238 of the decedent act governing appeals. Bond can be filed within thirty days, and no notice is necessary. Malick v. McDermot's Estate, 25, 267 (41 N. W., 157). Act complete in itself. Davis v. Davis, 27, 859 (44 N. W., 40). The judgment on the probate of a will may be appealed from. The consent of the court is not necessary; it is a matter of right. Bazzo v. Wallace, 16, 295 (20 N. W., 315). Appeal lies from order of county judge allowing or disallowing a claim against an estate. Bond with but one surety is not void but may be amended. Casey v. Peebles, 13, 8 (12 N. W., 840). An appeal lies from an order appointing an administrator, and such appeal is tried de novo in the district court. In re Miller, 32, 485 (49 N. W., 427).

1115. All appeals shall be taken within thirty days after the decision complained of is made.

Filing a bond twenty-seven days after adverse judgment and of transcript, with clerk of district courr, ten days thereafter, sufficient. Davis v. Davis, 27, 861 (44 N. W., 40). Appeal not defeated by neglect of judge to prepare transcript so that it could be filed within the thirty days. Cheney v. Buckmaster, 29, 423 (45 N. W., 640). Omaha C. C. & L. Co. v. Fay, — Neb., — (55 N. W., 211).

1116. Every party so appealing shall give bond in such sum as the court shall direct, with two or more good and sufficient sureties, to be approved by the court, conditioned that the appellant will prosecute such appeal to effect without unnecessary delay, and pay all debts, damages, and costs that may be adjudged against him. The bond shall be filed within thirty days from the rendition of such decision. But an executor, administrator, guardian, or guardian ad litem shall not be required to enter into bond in order to enable him to an appeal. If it shall appear to the court that such an appeal was taken vexatiously or for delay, the court shall adjudge that the appellant shall pay the cost thereof, including an attorney's fee to the adverse party, the court to fix the amount thereof, and said bond shall be liable therefor in cases where it is required.

Appeal being taken, all matters pertaining to account are transferred to district court. Jacobs v. Morrow, 21, 237 (31 N. W., 739). When bond is approved, the presumption is that it conforms to the rules of the court. Jacobs v. Morrow, 21, 236 (31 N. W., 739). The costs of the contestant in trying the validity of a will may be charged against the testator's estate, or not, in the discretion of the court. Mathis, Ex'r, v. Pitman, 32, 191 (49 N. W., 182).

1117. After such bond has been filed, the appeal shall be granted, but shall not be a supersedeas in any other matter relating to the administration of the estate, except that from which the appeal is specially taken.

1118. When such appeal is taken, the county court shall, on payment of his fees therefor, transmit to the clerk of the district court, within ten days after perfecting such appeal, a certified transcript of the record and proceedings relative to the matter appealed from.

Stark v. Bellamy, 29, 608 (46 N. W., 85).

1119. Upon the filing of such transcript in the district court, that court shall be possessed of the action, and shall proceed to hear, try, and determine the same, in like manner as upon appeals brought upon the judgment of the same court in civil actions.

It is error to refuse a trial by jury upon the demand of either party to the controversy. Sheedy v. Sheedy, 36, — (54 N. W., 560).

1120. The final decision and judgment in matters so appealed shall be certified to the county court, and proceedings shall be had thereon necessary to carry the final decision and judgment into execution.

Secs. 1121 to 1123. "An act to provide clerks or assistants for the county judge in counties having over 25,000 inhabitants and providing for payment of same." 1887, p. 465. In force March 31.

1121. That in all counties in the state of Nebraska having over twenty-five thousand (25,000) inhabitants the judge of the county court shall be supplied with the help necessary for the use of said office, said clerks or help to be paid in manner hereafter provided.

1122. The salaries of said clerks or assistants shall be fixed, allowed, and paid monthly, by the county commissioners or supervisors, out of the general fund of said county.

1123. That all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act be and the same are hereby repealed.

CHAPTER 12.—DECEDENTS' ESTATES.

Secs. 1123-1 to 1123-30 comprised the first thirty sections of ch. XIV, R. S., p. 56, G. S., p. 276, which was attempted to be repealed by Laws 1889, p. 473. Since this edition was in type this act has been held void in Trumble v. Trumble, — Neb., — (— N. W., —), for that reason the old act is inserted here, but for obvious reasons, the act of 1889 is still retained, 1124 to 1235. The second number following the number 1123 before each section, corresponds with original section number.

1123-1. The widow of every deceased person shall be entitled to dower, or the use, during her natural life, of one-third part of all the lands whereof her husband was seized, of all estate of inheritance at any time during the marriage, unless she is lawfully barred thereof.

A dower interest is insufficient to authorize action in partition. Hurste v. Hotaling, 20, 181 (29 N. W., 299).

1123-2. If a husband seized of an estate of inheritance in lands, exchange them for other lands, his widow shall not have a dower of both, but shall have her election to be endowed of the lands given, or of those taken in exchange; and if such election be not evinced by commencement of proceedings to recover her dower of the lands, given in exchange, within one year of the death of her husband, she shall be deemed to have elected to have taken her dower of the lands received in exchange.

1123-3. When a person seized of any estate of inheritance, shall have executed a mortgage of such estate before marriage, his widow shall be entitled to dower out of the lands mortgaged, as against every person except the mortgagee, and those claiming under him.

1123-4. Where a husband shall purchase lands during coverture and shall, at the same time mortgage his estate in such lands to secure the payment of the purchase money, his widow shall not be entitled to dower out of such lands as against the mortgagee or those claiming under him, although she shall not have united in such mortgage; but she shall be entitled to dower as against all other persons.

1123-5. When, in either of the cases mentioned in the two preceding sections, the mortgagee, or those claiming under him, shall, after the death of the husband, cause the mortgaged premises to be sold by virtue of such mortgage, and any surplus shall remain after payment of the moneys due thereon, and the costs and charges of the sale, such widow shall be entitled to the interest or income of one-third part of such surplus, for her life as dower.

1123-6. If in either of the cases above specified, the heir or other person, claiming under the husband, shall pay and satisfy the mortgage, the amount so paid shall be deducted from the value of the land, and the widow shall have set out to her, for her dower in the mortgaged lands, the value of one-third of the residue after such deduction.

1123-7. When a widow shall be entitled to dower out of any lands which shall have been aliened by the husband in his lifetime, and such lands shall have been enhanced in value after the alienation, such lands shall be estimated in setting out the widow's dower, according to their value at the time when they were so aliened.

1123–8. When a widow is entitled to dower in the lands of which her husband died seized, and her right to dower is not disputed by the heirs or devisees, or any person claiming under them, or either of them, it may be assigned to her in whatever counties the lands may lie, by the judge of probate for the county in which the estate of the husband is settled, upon the application of the widow, or any other person interested in the lands; notice of which application shall be given to such heirs, devisees, or other persons, in such manner as the judge of probate shall direct. For the purpose of assigning such dower, the judge of probate shall issue his warrant to three discreet and disinterested persons, authorizing and requiring them to set off the dower by metes and bounds, when it can be done without injury to the whole estate.

County court may assign dower. Guthman v. Guthman, 18, 104 (24 N. W., 435).

1123–9. The commissioners shall be sworn before a judge or justice of the peace, to the faithful discharge of their duties, and shall, as soon as may be, set off the dower according to the command of such warrant, and make return of their doings, with an account of their charges and expenses, in writing, to the probate court; and the same being accepted and recorded, and an attested copy thereof filed in the office of the register of deeds of the county where the lands are situated, the dower shall remain fixed and certain, unless such confirmation be set aside or reversed on appeal; and one-half the costs of such proceedings shall be paid by the widow, and one-half by the adverse party.

1123–10. When the estate out of which dower is to be assigned, consists of a mill or other tenements, which cannot be divided without damage to the whole, and in all cases where the estate cannot be divided by metes and bounds, the dower may be assigned of the rents, issues, and profits to be had and received by the widow as a tenant in common with the owners of the estate.

1123–11. When a widow is entitled to dower in the lands of which her husband died seized, she may continue to occupy the same with the children or other heirs of the deceased, or may receive one-third part of the rents, issues, and profits thereof, so long as the heirs or others interested do not object, without having the dower assigned.

1123–12. A married woman residing within this state, may bar her right of dower in any estate conveyed by her husband, or by his guardian if he be a minor, by joining in a deed of conveyance, and acknowledging the same, as prescribed by law, or by joining with her husband in a subsequent deed acknowledged in like manner.

1123–13. A woman may also be barred of her dower in all the lands of her husband, by a jointure settled on her, with her assent, before the marriage, provided such jointure consists of a freehold estate in lands for the life of the wife at least, to take effect, in possession or profit, immediately on the death of the husband.

Wife may be barred by not asserting right in time. Miller v. Boehne, 17, 379 (22 N. W., 797).

1123–14. Such assent shall be expressed, if the woman be of full age, by her becoming a party to the conveyance by which it is settled, and if she be under age, by her joining with her father or guardian in such conveyance.

1123–15. Any pecuniary provision that shall be made for the benefit of an intended wife, and in lieu of dower, shall, if assented to as provided in the preceding section, bar her right of dower in all the lands of her husband.

1123–16. If any such jointure or pecuniary provision be made before marriage, and without the assent of the intended wife, or if it be made, after marriage, she shall make her election before the death of her husband, whether she will take such jointure or pecuniary provision, or be endowed of the lands of her husband; but she shall not be entitled to both.

1123–17. If any lands be devised to a woman, or other provision be made for her in the will of her husband, she shall make her election, whether she will take the lands so devised of the provision so made, or whether she will be endowed of the lands of her husband; but she shall not be entitled to both, unless it plainly appears by the will to have been so intended by the testator.

1123–18. When a widow shall be entitled to an election under either of the two preceding sections, she shall be deemed to have elected to take such jointure, devise or other provision, unless, within one year after the death of her husband, she shall commence proceedings for the assignment or recovery of her dower.

1123–19. If a woman is lawfully evicted of lands assigned to her as dower, or settled upon her as jointure, or is deprived of the provision made for her by will or otherwise, in lieu of dower, she may be endowed anew, in like manner as if such assignment, jointure or other provision had not been made.

1123–20. A woman being an alien shall not, on that account, be barred of her dower; and any woman residing out of the state shall be entitled to dower of the lands of her deceased husband, lying in this state, of which her husband died seized; and the same may be assigned to her or recovered by her, in like manner as if she and her deceased husband had been residents within the state at the time of his death.

A non-resident wife is not entitled to dower in lands conveyed by husband in his lifetime. Atkins v. Atkins, 18, 475 (25 N. W., 724).

1123–21. No woman who shall be endowed of any lands, shall commit or suffer any waste on the same; but every woman so endowed shall maintain the houses and tenements, with the fences and appurtenances, in good repair, and shall be liable to the person having the next immediate inheritance therein, for all damages occasioned by any waste committed or suffered by her.

1123–22. A widow who, at the time of her husband's death, shall be living therewith and not owning in her own right a residence suitable to her condition in life, may remain in the dwelling house of her husband after his death so long as she remains a widow, without being chargeable with rent, and shall have her reasonable sustenance out of the estate for three years.

1123-23. [Damages for withholding dower.]—Whenever, in any action brought for the purpose, a widow shall recover her dower in lands of which her husband shall have died seized, she shall be entitled also to recover damages for the withholding of such dower.

1123-24. [Measure of.]—Such damages shall be one-third part of the annual value of the mesne profits of the lands in which she shall so recover her dower, to be estimated, in a suit against the heirs of her husband, from the time of his death, and in suits against other persons, from the time of her demanding her dower of such persons.

1123-25. [How estimated.]—Such damages shall not be estimated for the use of any permanent improvements, made after the death of her husband, by his heirs, or by any person claiming title to such lands.

1123-26. When a widow shall recover her dower in any lands alienated by the heir of her husband, she shall be entitled to recover of such heir, in a civil action, her damages for withholding such dower, from the time of the death of her husband to the time of the alienation by the heir, not exceeding six years, in the whole; and the amount which she shall be entitled to recover from such heir shall be deducted from the amount she would otherwise be entitled to recover from such grantee, and any amount recovered as damages from such grantee shall be deducted from the sum she would otherwise be entitled to recover from such heir.

1123-27. When the widow shall have accepted an assignment of dower in satisfaction of her claim upon all the lands of her husband, it shall be a bar to any further claim of dower against the heir of such husband, or any grantee of such heir, or any grantee of such husband, unless such widow shall have been lawfully evicted of the lands so assigned to her as aforesaid.

1123-28. When a widow, not having right to dower, shall, during the infancy of the heirs of her husband, or any of them, or of any person entitled to the lands, recover dower, by the default or collusion of the guardian of such infant heir or other person, such heir or other person, so entitled, shall not be prejudiced thereby; but when he comes of full age, he shall have an action against such widow, to recover the lands so wrongfully awarded for dower.

1123-29. When any married woman seized in her own right of any estate of inheritance in lands shall die leaving no issue, the lands shall descend to her surviving husband during his natural lifetime as tenant by curtesy, and after his decease to her father. If she shall have no father her estate shall descend to her mother. If she shall have no father nor mother her estate shall descend in equal shares to her brothers and sisters, and to the children of any deceased brother or sister by right of representation; Provided, That if the wife at her death shall have issue by any former husband to whom the estate might descend, such issue shall take so much of the same as has not come to her as a gift from her surviving husband discharged from the right of the surviving husband to hold the same as tenant by curtesy; Provided, That if the wife at her death shall have issue by her surviving husband alone, or if she have issue by a former husband and issue also by her surviving husband, then the surviving husband, on the death of his wife, shall hold as tenant by curtesy only one-third interest in the inheritance of his own issue by said deceased wife.

Amended 1887, p. 388. A wife owning land in her own right leased it for five years shortly before her death. The husband's right by curtesy therein was sold under execution; sale confirmed and deed made. The purchaser brought ejectment against the lessee for possession. Held, That he could not obtain possession during the period of the lease. Forbes v. Sweesy, 8, 520. Construction of statute as it was prior to 1887. McCulloch v. Valentine, 24, 219 (38 N. W., 854).

1123-30. When any person shall die seized of any lands, tenements or hereditaments, or of any right thereto, or entitled to any interest therein in fee simple, or for the life of another, not having lawfully devised the same, they shall descend, subject to his debts, in the manner following: First—In equal shares to his children, and to the lawful issue of any deceased child, by right of representation; and if there be no child of the intestate living at his death, his estate shall descend to all his other lineal descendants; and if all the said descendants are in the same degree of kindred to the intestate, they shall have the estate equally; otherwise they shall take according to the right of representation. Second—If he shall have no issue, his estate shall descend to his widow during her natural lifetime, and, after her decease, to his father; and if he shall have no issue nor widow, his estate shall descend to his father. Third—If he shall have no issue, nor widow, nor father, his estate shall descend in equal shares to his brothers and sisters, and to the children of any deceased brother or sister by right of representation; Provided, That if he shall have a mother also, she shall take an equal share with his brothers and sisters. Fourth—If the intestate shall leave no issue, nor widow, nor father, and no brother nor sister living at his death, his estate shall descend to his mother, to the exclusion of the issue, if any, of the deceased brother and sister. Fifth—If the intestate shall leave no issue, nor widow, and no father, mother, brother, nor sister, his estate shall descend to his next of kin in equal degree, excepting that when there are two or more collateral kindred in equal degree, but claiming through different ancestors, those who claim through the nearest ancestor shall be preferred to those claiming through an ancestor more remote; Provided, however, Sixth—If any person shall die leaving several children, or leaving one child, and the issue of one or more other children, and any such surviving child shall die under age, and not having been married, all the estate that came to the deceased child, by inheritance from such deceased parent, shall descend, in equal shares, to the other children of the same parent, and to the issue of any such other children, who shall have died, by right of representation. Seventh—If, at the death of such child who shall die under age, and not having been married, all the other children of his said parent shall also be dead, and any of them shall have left issue, the estate that came to said child, by inheritance from his said parent, shall descend to all the issue of other children of the same parent; and if all the said issue are in the same degree of kindred to said child, they shall share the said estate equally, otherwise they shall take according to the right of representation. Eighth—If the intestate shall leave a widow, and no kindred, his estate shall descend to such widow. Ninth—If the intestate shall have no widow, nor kindred, his estate shall escheat to the people of this state.

Husband does not inherit wife's personal property, and can only sue for damage for death of wife where there are next of kin. Warren v. Englehart 13, 283 (13 N. W., 401). Upon the death of a tenant in fee with defect of heirs, the title and right of possession to his lands and personal property vests in the state eo instanti, and at once becomes a part of the general school fund. State, ex rel. Roberts, v. Reeder, 5, 203.

BAKER'S DECEDENTS LAW.

Sec. 1124. "An act, etc.; repealing sections 1 to 29, ch. 23, R. S. 1866, and amending sec. 30 of the same." 1889, p. 473. In force March 29. (See also 1235.)

This act held void, Trumble v. Trumble, — Neb., — (— N. W., —), but as it is already in type, and as motion for rehearing cannot be heard before the September term, it is still retained. The former law immediately precedes this.

1124. When any person shall die seized of any lands, tenements, or hereditaments, or of any rights thereto, or entitled to any interest therein in fee simple, or for the life of another, not having lawfully devised the same, they shall descend, subject to his debts, in the manner following: First—If the intestate leave no issue, one-half shall descend to his widow in absolute title, and one-half to his father and mother. Second—If the intestate shall leave only one issue, one-half shall descend to his widow in absolute title, and one-half to his issue. Third—If the intestate leave two or more issue, one-third shall descend to his widow in absolute title, and the residue in equal shares to his children and to the lawful issue of any deceased child by right of representation. Fourth—If the intestate leave no issue and no father, one-half shall descend to his widow in absolute title, and one-half to his mother. Fifth—If the intestate leave no issue, and no mother, one-half shall descend to his widow in absolute title, and one-half to his father, and in case of the death of both father and mother, their distributive share shall descend to the deceased's brothers and sisters, in equal shares, and to their lawful issue by right of representation. Sixth—If the intestate leave no widow, his estate shall descend to his children in equal shares, and to the lawful issue of any deceased child by right of representation. Seventh—If the intestate leave no issue, and no widow, all his estate shall descend to his parents, and in case of the death of either, then to the surviving parent, and in case of the death of both, in equal shares to his brothers and sisters, and to the lawful issue of any deceased brother or sister by right of representation. Eighth—If the intestate leave no issue, nor widow, and no father, mother, brother, or sister, his estate shall descend to his next of kin in equal degree; excepting when there are two or more collateral kindred in equal degree, but claiming through different ancestors, those who claim through the nearest ancestor shall be preferred; Provided, however, Ninth—If any person shall die, leaving several children, or leaving one child, and the issue of one or more other children, and any such surviving child shall die under age, and not having been married, all the estate that came to the deceased, by inheritance from such deceased parent, shall descend in equal shares to the other children of the same parent and to the issue of any such other children who shall have died, by right of representation. Tenth—If at the death of such child who shall die under age, and not having been married, all the other children of his said parent shall also be dead, and any of them shall have left issue, the estate that came to said child by inheritance from his said parent shall descend to all the issue of other children of the same parent; and if all the said issue are in the same degree of kindred to the said child, they shall share the said estate equally; otherwise they shall take according to the right of representation. Eleventh—If the intestate shall leave a widow and no kindred, his estate shall descend to such widow. Twelfth—If the intestate shall leave no widow nor kindred, his estate shall escheat to the state of Nebraska; Provided further, That the homestead, if any, left by the intestate shall descend as follows: The homestead shall be appraised by the county treasurer and county clerk and one freeholder to be appointed by the judge of the county court, all to be residents of the county in which the homestead is situate. The judge of the county court shall, within sixty days after he has been notified in writing, by any person, of the death of the deceased, and that the intestate leaves a homestead, or if the judge of the county court shall ascertain said facts from any other source, shall appoint such appraiser, and notify the county treasurer and county clerk and the appraiser appointed by said judge of the county court, in writing, to meet on a day fixed by said judge, within thirty days from the notice to meet at his office. The said appraisers shall then proceed at once to appraise the homestead of the deceased at its cash value, which appraisement shall be made and returned in writing, under oath, by said appraisers, and shall be made a part of the records of said court. In case that any of the said appraisers shall fail to meet, the said court shall appoint other freeholders in their place, who shall proceed and appraise said homestead under this provision, and any vacancy at any time shall be filled in the same way. The judge of the county court shall thereupon deduct from said appraisement the amount of incumbrance, if any, upon said homestead, and if the residue does not exceed the sum of one thousand (1,000) dollars, said homestead shall descend to the widow in absolute title, subject to the incumbrance on the same, if any; in case there is a residue after deducting the amount of the incumbrance, if any, and the one thousand dollars, it shall descend as provided in this act. And it is further provided that the widow shall have the option to retain the homestead, subject to the incumbrance, if any, by paying such share or shares as descend to other heirs within six months from her election to retain the homestead, which shall be within sixty days after the return of the appraisal; and in case she does not so elect, the property shall be sold by the said appraisers at public sale, for cash, subject to the incumbrance, if any, after giving notice by publication four consecutive weeks in some newspaper published in said county, which notice shall contain a description of the homestead and the place and terms of sale, which sale shall be conducted in the same manner as a sheriff's sale of real estate on execution. Said appraisers shall make a full return of all their doings in and about the sale, including the notice to sell, under oath, to the county judge, who shall certify all of said papers to the district court of said county on or before the first day of the next term thereof, and said district court shall confirm or disaffirm said sale, as in cases of sale of real estate by order of said court. And in case the sale is disaffirmed, said court shall order another sale. In case said sale is affirmed, the said district court shall order said appraisers to execute a deed of conveyance to the purchaser and deliver the same to the clerk of said court, who shall deliver the same, together with a certified copy of the proceedings in said district court, to the judge of the county court, and take his receipt for the same. The said county court shall at once notify the purchaser that he holds said deed for delivery to said purchaser, upon the payment of the purchase money for said real estate to said county judge by said purchaser; and in case said purchaser shall fail or neglect to pay said purchase money, as above provided, within thirty days from and after he has been notified that said county court holds said deed, said purchaser shall pay all the costs of said sale and confirmation, including the expense of an attorney's fee expended in the sale and confirmation of said sale, which can be collected by any one to whom said fees are to be paid, or by any one who has paid the same or any part thereof. When said purchase money has been paid to the said judge of the county court, as above provided, he shall at once proceed to distribute the same as follows: The first one thousand dollars shall be paid to the widow, the residue as other personal property. Said appraisers shall receive the same fees as jurors, and shall be paid out of said estate. The widow's share cannot be affected by any will of her husband unless she consents thereto in writing within thirty days after his will has been left with the county judge for probate, and she advised of its contents by a certified copy of the will duly served on her by personal service, and her consent, as aforesaid, filed with the county judge, who shall make it a part of the record. The same share of the real estate of the deceased wife, as provided in this act, shall be set apart to the surviving husband. All provisions made in this act in regard to the widow of a deceased husband shall be applicable to the surviving husband of the deceased wife. The widow of any deceased person shall be entitled to her distributive share of all the lands whereof her husband was seized of all estate of inheritance at any time during the marriage, unless she joins in a deed of conveyance with her husband, or is otherwise lawfully barred; Provided, however, If the wife is insane she may be barred of her dower and interest in her husband's real estate at any time during the life of the husband, by deed of her lawfully appointed guardian; Provided, That the widower of any deceased person shall be entitled to his distributive share, equal to that received by the widow, of all the lands whereof his wife was seized of all estate of inheritance at any time during the marriage, unlesss he joins in a deed of conveyance with his wife or is otherwise lawfully barred. The estate of dower and curtesy are hereby abolished.

Wife owning real estate during her lifetime leased the same for a term of years. After her death a creditor of husband obtained judgment and sold husband's interest in said estate. Held, that the creditor only took the interest the husband had in the premises, and could not obtain possession of the premises until the expiration of the lease. Forbes v. Sweesy, 8, 527. A mere dower interest is not sufficient to authorize the person entitled thereto to partition. Hurste v. Hotaling, 20, 182 (29 N. W., 299). See State, ex rel. Roberts, v. Reeder, 5, 206; Warren v. Englehart, 13, 285 (13 N. W., 401); Alexander v. Alexander, 26, 68 (41 N. W., 1065); Rice v. Saxon, 28, 380 (44 N. W., 456). One H. died intestate, possessed of land, leaving a widow and one son; the son died intestate and without issue in 1880. Held, That under the statute as it existed at that time, the mother inherited the land from her son. Gwyer v. Hall, 34, 589 (52 N. W., 372). Where a child takes an estate by inheritance from its mother, on death of the child the estate passes to the father; but where the death of the child is caused by willful murder at the hands of the father, the estate will not descend to him. Shellenberger v. Ransom, 31, 61 (47 N. W., 700).

1125. Every illegitimate child shall be considered as an heir of the person who shall, in writing, signed in the presence of a competent witness, have acknowledged himself to be the father of such child, and shall in all cases be considered as an heir of his mother, and shall inherit his or her estate in whole or in part as the case may be, in the same manner as if he had been born in lawful wedlock; but he shall not be allowed to claim, as representing his father or mother, any part of the estate of his or her kindred, either lineal or collateral, unless, before his death, his parents shall have intermarried and had other children, and his father, after such marriage, shall have acknowledged him, as aforesaid, or adopted him into his family, in which case such child and all legitimate children shall be considered as brothers and sisters, and on the death of either of them intestate, and without issue, the other shall inherit his estate, and he theirs, as hereinbefore provided, in like manner as if all the children had been legitimate, saving to the father and mother respectively their rights in the estate of all the said children as provided hereinbefore, in like manner as if all had been legitimate.

1126. If any illegitimate child shall die intestate, without lawful issue, his estate shall descend to his mother, or, in case of her decease, to her heirs at law.

1127. The degrees of kindred shall be computed according to the rule of the civil law; and kindred of the half blood shall inherit equally with those of the whole blood, in the same degree, unless the inheritance came to the intestate by descent, devise, or gift of some one of his ancestors, in which case all those who are not of the blood of such ancestor shall be excluded from such inheritance.

1128. Any estate, real or personal, that may have been given by the intestate in his lifetime, as an advancement to any child or other lineal descendant, shall be considered as a part of the estate of the intestate, so far as it regards the division and distribution thereof among his issue, and shall be taken by such child or other descendant towards his share of the estate of the intestate.

James v. Sutton, 36, — (54 N. W., 670).

1129. If the amount of such advancement shall exceed the share of the heir so advanced, he shall be excluded from any further portion in the division and distribution of the estate, but he shall not be required to refund any part of such advancement; and if the amount so received shall be less than his share, he shall be entitled to as much more as will give him his full share of the estate of the deceased.

1130. If such advancement be made in real estate, the value thereof shall, for the purposes mentioned in the preceding section, be considered a part of the real estate to be divided; and, if it be in personal estate, it shall be considered a part of the personal estate; and if in either case it shall exceed the share of real and personal estate, respectively, that would have come to the heir so advanced, he shall not refund any part of it, but shall receive so much less out of the other part of the estate as will make his whole share equal to those of the other heirs who are in the same degree with him.

1131. All gifts and grants shall be deemed to have been made in advancement, if they are expressed in the gift or grant to be so made, or if charged in writing by the intestate as an advancement, or acknowledged in writing as such by the child or other descendant.

1132. If the value of the estate so advanced shall be expressed in the conveyance, or in the charge thereof made by the intestate, or in the acknowledgment of the party receiving it, it shall be considered as of that value in the division and distribution of the estate; otherwise it shall be estimated according to its value when given, as nearly as the same can be ascertained.

1133. If any child or lineal descendant so advanced shall die before the intestate, bearing issue, the advancement shall be taken into consideration in the division and distribution of the estate, and the amount thereof shall be allowed accordingly by the representatives of the heirs so advanced, in like manner as if the advancement had been made directly to them.

1134. Nothing in this chapter shall affect the title of a husband as tenant by the curtesy, nor that of a widow as tenant in dower; nor shall the same affect any limitation of any estate by deed or will.

Right by curtesy may be conveyed by deed or mortgage, and may be sold on execution. Deming v. Miles, 35, 739 (53 N. W., 665).

1135. Inheritance of succession by right of representation takes place when the descendants or any deceased heir take the same share of right in the estate of another person that their parents would have taken if living. Posthumous children are considered as living at the death of their parents.

SALE OF LANDS FOR THE PAYMENT OF DEBTS BY EXECUTORS, ADMINISTRATORS, AND GUARDIANS.

Secs. 1136 to 1172 formed secs. 67 to 104, ch. 14, R. S. 1866. (Sec. 71 omitted in numbering.)

1136. When the personal estate of any deceased person, in the hands of his executors or administrators, shall be insufficient to pay all his debts, with the charges of administering his estate, such executors or administrators may sell his real estate for that purpose, upon obtaining a license therefor, and proceeding therein in the manner hereinafter provided.

Administration may be granted upon the basis of the real property alone, where there is no personalty and unpaid debts. Estate of Moore v. Moore, 33, 509 (50 N. W., 443. Cited and construed. Stack v. Royce, 34, 838 (52 N. W., 675).

1137. In order to obtain such license, the executor or administrator shall present a petition to the district court of the county in which he was appointed, setting forth the amount of personal real estate that has come to his hands, and how much thereof, if any, remains undisposed of; the debts outstanding against the deceased, so far as the same can be ascertained; a description of all real estate of which the testator or intestate died seized; and the condition and value of the respective portions or lots; which petition shall be verified by the oath of the party presenting the same.

Amended 1867, p. 114; 1887, p. 384. Cited and construed, Stack v. Royce, 34, 852 (52 N. W., 675).

1138. If it shall appear by such petition that there is not sufficient personal estate in the hands of the executor or administrator to pay the debts outstanding against the deceased, and the expenses of administration, and that it is necessary to sell the whole or some portion of the real estate for the payment of such debts, the judge of the district court shall thereupon make an order, directing all persons interested in the estate to appear before him at a time and place therein to be specified, not less than six weeks and not more than ten weeks from the time of making such order, to show cause why a license should not be granted to the executor or administrator applying therefor, to sell so much of the real estate of the deceased as shall be necessary to pay such debts.

1139. A copy of such order to show cause shall be personally served on all persons interested in the estate, at least fourteen days before the time appointed for hearing the petition, or shall be published four successive weeks in such newspaper as the court shall order; Provided, however, If all persons interested in the estate shall signify in writing their assent to such sale, the notice may be dispensed with.

1140. The judge of the district court, at the time and place appointed in such order, or at such other time as the hearing shall be adjourned to, upon proof of the due service or publication of a copy of the order, or upon filing the consent, in writing, to such sale, of all persons interested, shall proceed to the hearing of such petition, and if such consent be not filed, shall hear and examine the allegations and proofs of the petitioner, and of all persons interested in the estate, who shall think proper to oppose the application.

1141. The executor or administrator may be examined on oath, and witnesses may be produced and examined by either party, and process to compel their attendance and testimony may be issued by the district judge in the same manner and with the like effect as in other cases.

1142. If it shall appear to the court that it is necessary to sell a part of the real estate, and that by a sale of such part, the residue of the estate, or some specific part or piece thereof, would be greatly injured, said court may authorize the sale of the whole estate, or such part thereof as may be judged necesary, and most for the interest of all concerned.

1143. When the executor or administrator is authorized to sell more than is necessary for the payment of debts, he shall, before the sale, give bond to the judge of the district court, with sufficient sureties, to account for all the proceeds of the sale that shall remain after the payment of the debts and charges, and to dispose of the same according to the law; and in all cases where license is granted for the sale of real estate the judge of the district court may require a further bond from the executor or administrator, when he shall deem it necessary.

In all cases bond must be given. McClay v. Foxworthy, 18, 297 (25 N. W., 86).

1144. The proceeds of any real estate sold for the payment of debts, and charges of administration, as provided in this subdivision, shall be deemed assets in the hands of the executor or administrator, in like manner as if the same had been originally part of the goods and chattels of the deceased, and the executor and administrator, and the sureties in his administration bond, shall be accountable and chargeable therefor.

1145. No license to sell real estate shall be granted, if any of the persons interested in the estate shall give bond to the judge of the district court, in such sum and with such sureties as he shall direct and approve, with condition to pay all the debts and the expenses of administration so far as the goods and chattels, rights and credits of the deceased shall be insufficient therefor, within such time as the judge of the court shall direct.

1146. The bond mentioned in the preceding section shall be for the security, and may be prosecuted for the benefit of the creditors, as well as the executor or administrator.

1147. If the judge of the district court shall be satisfied after a full hearing upon the petition, and an examination of the proofs and allegations of the parties interested, that a sale of the whole or some portion of the real estate is necessary for the payment of valid claims against the deceased, and charges of administration, or if such sale be assented to by all persons interested, he shall thereupon make an order of sale, authorizing the executor or administrator to sell the whole, or so much and such part of the real estate described in the petition as he shall judge necessary or beneficial.

1148. The order shall specify the lands to be sold, and the judge of the district court may therein direct the order in which several tracts, lots, or parcels shall be sold; and if it appear that any part of such real estate has been devised, and not charged in such devise with the payment of debts, the district judge shall order that part descended to heirs to be sold before that so devised; and if it appear that any lands devised or descended have been sold by the heirs or devisees, then the lands in their hands remaining unsold shall be ordered to be first sold.

1149. Upon the making of such order, and the filing with the judge of the district court of such bond as is required by the provisions of this subdivision, a certified copy of the order of sale shall be delivered by the judge to the executor or administrator, who shall thereupon be authorized to sell the real estate as therein directed, within one year after the making of the order, but not after that period.

1150. License to sell real estate, as provided in this subdivision [1136 et seq.] may extend to the reversion of the dower of the widow of a deceased person; and if such reversion be not sold with the other real estate, it may be sold after the expiration of the widow's term.

1151. When a sale is ordered, notice of the time and place of holding the same shall be posted up in three of the most public places in the county in which the land is situated, and shall be published in a newspaper if there be one printed in the same county, and if there be none, then in such paper as the court may direct, for three weeks successively next before such sale, in which notice the lands and tenements to be sold shall be described with common certainty.

1152. Such sale shall be in the county where the lands are situated, at public vendue, between the hours of nine in the morning and the setting of the sun the same day, and said sale shall be held open for one hour within said specified time, which hour shall be stated in the notice of sale provided for in the preceding section.

1153. The executor or administrator making the sale and the guardian of any minor heir of the deceased shall not directly or indirectly purchase, or be interested in the purchase of any part of the real estate so sold; and all sales made contrary to the provisions of this section shall be void; but this section shall not prohibit any such purchase by a guardian for the benefit of his ward.

1154. On such sale, the executor or administrator may give such length of credit, not exceeding three years, and for not more than three-fourths of the purchase money, as shall seem best calculated to produce the highest price, and shall have been directed or shall be approved by the judge of the district court, and shall secure the moneys for which credit is given, by a bond of the purchaser and by a mortgage of the premises sold.

1155. The executor or administrator making any sale shall immediately make a return of his proceedings upon the order of sale in pursuance of which it is made, to the judge of the district court granting the same, who shall examine the proceedings, and may also examine such executor, or administrator, or any other person on oath, touching the same; and if he shall be of opinion that the proceedings were unfair or that the sum bid is disproportionate, to the value, and that a sum exceeding such bid at least ten per cent, exclusive of the expenses of a new sale, may be obtained, he shall vacate such sale, and direct another to be had, of which notice shall be given; and the sale shall be in all respects as if no previous sale had taken place.

On the presentation of a proper petition, the district judge acquires jurisdiction, and such jurisdiction will not be lost by mere errors. Stack v. Royce, 34, 856 (52 N. W., 675).

1156. If it shall appear to the district judge that the sale was legally made and fairly conducted, and that the sum bid was not disproportionate to the value of the property sold, or if disproportionate, that a greater sum than above specified cannot be obtained, he shall make an order confirming such sale, and directing conveyances to be executed.

Court should confirm sale. Saxon v. Cain, 19, 492 (26 N. W., 385).

1157. Every executor or administrator authorized to sell real estate, as provided in this subdivision, shall, before making such sale, take and subscribe an oath before the judge of the district court, or some other officer authorized to administer oaths, that in disposing of the real estate which he is licensed to sell he will exert his best endeavors to dispose of the same in such manner as will be most for the advantage of all persons interested, which oath shall be filed with the judge of the district court before the confirmation of the sale.

1158. An affidavit of the executor or administrator, or of some other person having knowledge of the fact, that notice of any such sale was given as provided in this subdivision, being made before the judge of the district court or some other officer authorized to administer oaths, and filed and recorded in the district court, together with a copy of the notice, shall be admitted as evidence of the time, place, and manner of giving the notice.

1159. If, at the time appointed for any such sale, the executor or administrator shall deem it for the interest of all persons concerned therein that the sale shall be postponed, he may adjourn the same from time to time, not exceeding, in all, three months.

1160. In case of such adjournment, notice thereof shall be given by a public declaration at the time and place first appointed for the sale, and if the adjournment shall be more than one day, further notice shall be given by posting or publishing the same, or both, as the time and circumstances may admit.

1161. When a testator shall have given any legacy by will, that is effectual to pass or charge real estate, and his goods and chattels, rights and credits shall be insufficient to pay such legacy, together with his debts and the charges of administration, the executor or administrator, with the will annexed, may be licensed to sell his real estate for that purpose, in the same manner and upon the same terms and conditions as are prescribed in this subdivision [1136 et seq.], in the case of a sale for the payment of debts.

1162. If a deceased person, at the time of his death, was possessed of a contract for the purchase of land, his interest in such land and under such contract may be sold, on the application of his executor or administrator, in the same manner as if he had died seized of such land, and the same proceedings may be had for that purpose as are prescribed in this subdivision [1136 et seq.], in respect to lands of which he died seized, except as hereinafter provided.

This does not apply to leases of state school lands. Mulloy v. Kyle, 26, 316 (41 N. W., 1117).

1163. Such sale shall be made subject to all payments that may thereafter become due on such contracts, and if there be any such payments thereafter to become due, such rule shall not be confirmed by the judge of the district court until the purchaser shall execute a bond to the executor or administrator for the benefit and indemnity of the person entitled to the interest of the deceased in the land so contracted for, in double the whole amount of payments thereafter to become due on such contract, with such sureties as the judge of the district court shall approve.

1164. Such bond shall be conditioned that such purchaser will make all payments for such land as shall become due after the date of such sale, and will fully indemnify the executor or administrator, and the person so entitled, against all demands, costs, charges, and expenses, by reason of any covenant or agreement contained in such contract; but if there be no payment thereafter to become due on such contract, no bond shall be required of the purchaser.

1165. Upon the confirmation of such sale, the executor or administrator shall execute to the purchaser an assignment of such contract, which assignment shall vest in the purchaser, his heirs and assigns, all the right, interest, and title of the person entitled to the interest of the deceased in the land sold at the time of the sale, and such purchaser shall have the same rights and remedies against the vendor of such land as the deceased would have had if he were living.

1166. The proceeds of every such sale of the interest of the deceased person in lands under contract, as hereinbefore mentioned, shall be disposed of, in all respects, in the same manner as the proceeds of the sale of lands of which the deceased died seized, according to the provisions of this subdivision [1144].

1167. All sales and conveyances of land made by executors or administrators, pursuant to the provisions of this subdivision [1136 et seq.], shall be subject to all charges thereon, by mortgage or otherwise, existing at the time of the death of the testator or intestate; and in case the estate of the deceased shall be in any way liable for the amount secured by any such mortgage, or for any such charge, such sale shall not be confirmed by the judge until the purchaser shall execute a bond to the executor or administrator, as required in this subdivision in the case of the sale of a contract for the purchase of lands on which payments are to become due [1154].

1168. When an executor or administrator shall be appointed in any state or territory, or in any foreign country, on the estate of any person dying out of this state, and no executor or administrator thereon shall be appointed in this state, the foreign executor or administrator may file an authenticated copy of his appointment, in the district court in any county in which there may be any real estate of the deceased.

See McAnulty v. McClay, 16, 420 (20 N. W., 266).

1169. Upon filing such authenticated copy of his appointment, such foreign executor or administrator may be licensed by the same court to sell real estate for the payment of debts or legacies, and charges of administration, in the same manner, and upon the same terms and conditions, as are prescribed in the case of an executor or administrator appointed in this state [1157 et seq.], excepting in the particulars in which a different provision is hereinafter made.

1170. When it shall appear to the court granting the license that such foreign executor or administrator is bound by sufficient surety or sureties, in the state or country in which he was appointed, to account for the proceeds of such sale for the payment of debts, or legacies, and charges of administration, and a copy of such bond, duly authenticated, shall be filed in such court, no further bond for that purpose shall be required of him by the court.

1171. If an authenticated copy of such bond shall not be filed, as mentioned in the preceding section, such foreign executor or administrator, before making such sale, shall give bond, with sufficient sureties, to the judge of the district court, with condition to account for and dispose of the proceeds of such sale for the payment of the debts or legacies of the deceased, and the charges of administration, according to the law of the state or country in which he was appointed.

1172. When such foreign executor or administrator is licensed to sell more than is necessary for the payment of debts, legacies, and charges of administration, as before provided for in this subdivision, he shall, before making the sale, give bond with sufficient sureties to the judge of the district court, with condition to account to him for all proceeds of the sale that shall remain after payment of the said debts, legacies, and charges, and to dispose of the same according to law.

Secs. 1173 to 1378 formed secs. 114 to 335, ch. 14, R. S. 1866, p. 79 (16 sections repealed).

1173. In all cases of sale by an executor, administrator, or guardian of part or the whole of the real estate of his testator, intestate, or ward, under a license granted by any district court, by virtue of the provisions of this subdivision, whether such executor, administrator, or guardian was appointed in this state or elsewhere, the surplus of the proceeds of the sale remaining on the final settlement of the accounts shall be considered as real estate and disposed of among the persons, and in the same proportion, as the real estate would have been by the laws of this state if it had not been sold.

1174. Every guardian, whether appointed in this state or elsewhere, when licensed to sell real estate, as provided in this subdivision [1136 et seq.], shall, before making such sale, take and subscribe an oath like that required in the same case of an executor or administrator; and notice shall be given and the proceedings shall be conducted in the like manner as is prescribed in the case of an executor or administrator, and the evidence of giving such notice may be perpetuated in the same manner.

1175. If any person shall appear and object to the granting of any license prayed for under the provisions of this subdivision [1136 et seq.], by the executor, administrator, or guardian, and if it shall appear to the court that either the petition or objection thereto is unreasonable, the court may, in its discretion, award costs to the party prevailing, and may enforce the payment thereof.

1176. No action for the recovery of any estate sold by an executor or administrator, under the provisions of this subdivision, shall be maintained by any heir or other person claiming under the deceased testator or intestate, unless it be commenced within five years next after the sale, and no action for any estate sold in like manner by a guardian shall be maintained by the ward, or by any person claiming under him, unless it be commenced within five years next after the termination of the guardianship, except as hereinafter provided.

1177. The preceding section shall not apply to persons out of this state, nor to minors or others under any legal disability to sell at the time the right of action shall first accrue; but all such persons may commence such action at any time within five years after the removal of the disability or their return to this state.

1178. In the case of any action relating to any estate sold by an executor, administrator, or guardian, in which an heir or person claiming under him shall contest the validity of the sale, it shall not be avoided on account of any irregularity in the proceedings, provided it shall appear: First—That the executor, administrator, or guardian was licensed to make the sale by the district court having jurisdiction. Second—That he gave a bond, which was approved by the judge of the district court, in case a bond was required upon granting a license. Third—That he took the oath prescribed in this subdivision. Fourth—That he gave notice of the time and place of the sale, as in this subdivision prescribed [1136 et seq.]; and, Fifth—That the premises were sold accordingly, and the sale confirmed by the court, and that they are held by one who purchased them in good faith.

Failure to appoint a guardian ad litem is not available as an objection. McClay v. Foxworthy, 18, 298 (25 N. W., 86).

1179. If there shall be any neglect or misconduct in the proceedings of the executor, administrator, or guardian, in relation to such sale, by which any person interested in the estate shall suffer damages, such aggrieved party may recover the same in a suit on the bond, or otherwise, as the case may require.

1180. If the validity of a sale made by an executor, administrator, or guardian shall be drawn in question by any person claiming adversely to the title of the deceased testator or intestate, or of the ward, or claiming under any title that is not derived from or through the deceased person or the ward, the sale shall not be held void on account of any irregularity of the proceedings, provided it shall appear that the executor, administrator, or guardian was licensed to make the sale by a district court having jurisdiction, and that he did accordingly execute and acknowledge, in legal form, a deed for the conveyance of the premises.

1181. Any executor, administrator, or guardian who shall fraudulently sell any real estate of his testator, intestate, or ward, contrary to the provisions of this subdivision [1136 et seq.], shall be liable in double the value of the land sold, as damages, to be recovered in a civil action by the person having an estate of inheritance therein.

WILLS.

1182. Every person of full age and sound mind, being seized in his own right of any lands, or any right thereto, or entitled to any interest therein descendable to his heirs, may devise and dispose of the same by his last will and testament in writing; and all such estates not disposed of by will shall descend as the estate of an intestate, being chargeable in both cases with the payment of all debts; and any married woman may devise and dispose of any real or personal property held by her, or to which she is entitled in her own right, by her last will and testament, in writing, and may alter or revoke the same in like manner that a person under no disability may do, and subject to the same restrictions.

Proviso requiring consent of husband omitted 1881, p. 233. To dispose of property the will must be made while the testator is of sound mind. Seebrock v. Fedawa, 30, 430 (46 N. W., 650).

1183. Every devise of land, in any will hereafter made, shall be construed to convey all the estate of the devisor therein, which he could lawfully devise, unless it shall clearly appear, by the will, that the devisor intended to convey a less estate.

Intention of testator governs. Will construed, and held that under it husband took no estate by curtesy. McCulloch v. Valentine, 24, 216 (38 N. W., 854). Words of inheritance are not necessary as at the common law. Little v. Giles, 25, 321 (41 N. W., 186). Construed, right of widow, a devisee, to convey fee in case at bar. Giles v. Little, 13 Fed. Rep., 102.

1184. Any estate, right, or interest acquired by the testator after the making of his will shall pass thereby in like manner as if possessed at the time of making the will, if such shall manifestly appear by the will to have been the intention of the testator.

1185. Every person of full age and sound mind may, by his last will and testament, in writing, bequeath and dispose of all his personal estate remaining at his decease, and all his rights thereto and interest therein, and all such estate not disposed of by the will shall be administered as intestate estate.

1186. No will made within this state, except such nuncupative wills as are mentioned in the following section, shall be effectual to pass any estate, whether real or personal, nor to charge, or in any way affect the same, unless it be in writing, and signed by the testator, or by some person in his presence, and by his express direction, and attested and subscribed in the presence of the testator by two or more competent witnesses; and if the witnesses are competent at the time of attesting the execution of the will, their subsequent incompetency, from whatever cause it may arise, shall not prevent the probate and allowance of the will, if it be otherwise satisfactorily proved.

1187. No nuncupative will shall be good, when the estate thereby bequeathed shall exceed the value of one hundred and fifty dollars, that is not proved by the oath of three witnesses, at least, that were present at the making thereof, nor unless it be proved that the testator, at the time of pronouncing the same, did bid the persons present, or some of them, to bear witness that such was his will, or to that effect; nor unless such nuncupative will was made at the time of the last sickness of the deceased, and in the place of his or her habitation or dwelling, or where he or she had been resident for the space of ten days or more next before the making of such will, except when such person was unexpectedly taken sick, being from home, and died before he or she returned to the place of his or her habitation.

1188. After six months shall have passed after speaking any testamentary words, no testimony shall be received to prove the same as a nuncupative will, unless the said words, or the substance thereof, were reduced to writing within six days after the same testamentary words were spoken, nor shall letters testamentary or probate of any nuncupative will pass the seal of any probate court until fourteen days, at least, after the decease of the testator be fully expired; nor shall any nuncupative will be at any time approved and allowed unless process shall first have been issued to call in the widow and other person or persons principally interested, if resident within the state, to the end that they may contest the same if they please. Nothing herein contained shall prevent any soldier, being in actual service, nor any marine, being on shipboard, from disposing of his wages, and other personal estate, by nuncupative will.

1189. All beneficial devises, legacies, and gifts whatsoever, made or given in any will, to a subscribing witness thereto, shall be wholly void, unless there be two other competent subscribing witnesses to the same; but a new charge on the lands of the devisor for the payment of debts shall not prevent his creditors from being competent witnesses to his will.

1190. [Exception.]—But if such witness, to whom any beneficial devise may have been made or given, would have been entitled to any share of the estate of the testator, in case the will was not established, then so much of the share that would have descended or been distributed to such witness, as will not exceed the devise or bequest made to him in the will, shall be saved to him, and he may recover the same of the devisees or legatees named in the will, in proportion to and out of the parts devised or bequeathed to them.

1191. No will, nor any part thereof, shall be revoked, unless by burning, tearing, canceling, or obliterating the same, with the intention of revoking it, by the testator, or by some person in his presence and by his direction; or by some other will or codicil in writing, executed as prescribed in this chapter; or by some other writing signed, attested, and subscribed in the manner provided in this chapter, for the execution of a will [1186]; excepting only that nothing contained in this section shall prevent the revocation implied by law from subsequent changes in the conditions or circumstances of the testator.

1192. Any will in writing, being enclosed in a sealed wrapper, and having endorsed thereon the name of the testator and his place of residence, and the day when and the person by whom it is delivered, may be deposited by the person making the same, or by any person for him, with the probate judge in the county where the testator lives, and the probate judge shall receive and safely keep such will, and give a certificate of the deposit thereof.

1193. Such will shall, during the lifetime of the testator, be delivered only to himself, or to some person authorized by him, by an order in writing, duly proved by the oath of a subscribing witness; and after the death of the testator, and at the first probate court, after the notice thereof, it shall be publicly opened by the judge of probate, and be retained by him.

1194. The judge of probate shall give notice of such will being in his possession to the executor therein appointed, if there be one; otherwise to the persons interested in the provisions of the same, to be presented for probate in such court.

1195. Every person other than the judge of probate, having the custody of any will, shall, within thirty days after he has a knowledge of the death of the testator, deliver the same into the probate court which has jurisdiction of the case, or to the person named in the will as executor.

1196. Every person named as executor in any will shall, within thirty days after the death of the testator, or within thirty days after he has a knowledge that he is named as executor, if he obtains such knowledge after the death of the testator, present such will to the probate court, which has jurisdiction of the case, unless the will shall have been otherwise deposited with the judge of probate, and shall, within the period above mentioned, signify to the court his acceptance of the trust, or make known in writing to such court his refusal to accept it.

1197. Every person who shall neglect to perform any of the duties required in the last two preceding sections, without reasonable cause, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be liable to each and every person interested in such will, for the damages which each person may sustain thereby.

1198. If any person having the custody of any will after the death of the testator, shall, without reasonable cause, neglect to deliver the same to the probate court having jurisdiction of it, after he shall have been duly notified by such court for that purpose, he may be committed to the jail of the county by warrant issued by such court, and there be kept in close confinement until he shall deliver the will as above directed.

1199. When any will shall have been delivered into or deposited in any probate court having jurisdiction of the same, such court shall appoint a time and place for proving it, when all concerned may appear and contest the probate of the will, and shall cause public notice thereof to be given by personal service on all persons interested, or by publication under an order of such court, in such newspaper printed in this state as the judge shall direct, three weeks successively, previous to the time appointed, and no will shall be proved until notice shall be given as herein provided.

1200. If no person shall appear to contest the probate of a will at the time appointed for that purpose, the court may, in its discretion, grant probate thereof on the testimony of one of the subscribing witnesses only, if such a witness shall testify that such will was executed in all the particulars as required in this chapter [1186], and that the testator was of a sound mind at the time of the execution thereof.

Form of order not material. Kirk v. Bowling, 20, 264 (29 N. W., 928). Cited, Pettit v. Black, 13, 151 (12 N. W., 841); Roberts v. Flanagan, 21, 509 (32 N. W., 563). A will can only be probated when it is shown to the satisfaction of the court that the testator was of sound mind. If contested, the burden is on the proponent. Seebrock v. Fedawa, 30, 431 (46 N. W., 650).

1201. If none of the subscribing witnesses shall reside in the state at the time appointed for proving the will, the court may, in its discretion, admit the testimony of other witnesses to prove the sanity of the testator and the execution of the will, and, as evidence of the execution of the will, may admit proof of the handwriting of the testator, and of the subscribing witnesses.

1202. No will shall be effectual to pass either real or personal estate, unless it shall have been duly proved and allowed in the probate court, as provided in this chapter, or on appeal in the district court; and the probate of the will of real or personal estate as above mentioned shall be conclusive as to its due execution.

Will is not admissible in evidence unless probated. Pettit v. Black, 13, 150 (12 N. W., 841). County court has exclusive jurisdiction in probate of wills, and its order admitting a will to probate is conclusive unless set aside in a direct proceeding. Loosemore v. Smith, 12, 344 (11 N. W., 493). Failure to probate a Nebraska will made in Iowa, but devising lands in this state will not preclude a legatee thereunder from disposing of his interest in such lands. Walton v. Ambler, 29, 626, 644 (45 N. W., 931, 936). In Nebraska the probate of a will is conclusive only as to its due execution, and does not determine the title of property claimed under it. C., B. & Q. R. R. Co. v. Wasserman (Circ. Ct.), 22 Fed. Rep., 872.

1203. All wills which shall have been duly proved and allowed in any of the United States, or in any foreign country or state, according to the laws of such state or country, may be allowed, filed and recorded in the probate court of any county in which the testator shall have real and personal estate on which such will may operate, in the manner mentioned in the following sections.

1204. When a copy of such will, and the probate thereof, duly authenticated, shall be produced by the executor or other person interested in such will, to the probate court, such court shall appoint a time and place of hearing, and notice shall be given in the same manner as in case of an original will presented for probate [1199].

Cited, F., E. & M. V. R. Co. v. Setright, 34, 255 (51 N. W., 833).

1205. If, on hearing the case, it shall appear to the court that the instrument ought to be allowed in this state as the last will and testament of the deceased, the copy shall be filed and recorded, and the will shall have the same force and effect as if it had originally been proved and allowed in the same court; Provided*, That all decrees heretofore made in this state allowing wills and admitting the same to probate, under the provisions of this and the two preceding sections, without the previous filing of the copy of the probate mentioned in section one hundred and forty-five (145) of this chapter [1204], shall be as legal and valid and shall have the same force and effect as if such copy had been duly filed prior to the making of such decree and the allowing of such will.

All after * added 1885, p. 246. Walton v. Ambler, 29, 643 (45 N. W., 935).

1206. When any will shall be allowed as mentioned in the preceding section, the probate court shall grant letters testamentary or letters of administration with the will annexed, and such letters testamentary or letters of administration shall extend to all the estate of the testator in this state; and such estate, after payment of his just debts and expenses of administration, shall be disposed of according to such will, so far as such will may operate upon it, and the residue shall be disposed of as is provided by law in cases of estates in this state, belonging to persons who are inhabitants of any other territory, state, or country.

1207. When any child shall be born after the making of his parent's will, and no provision shall be made therein for him, such child shall have the same share in the estate of the testator as if he had died intestate, and the share of such child shall be assigned to him as provided by law in cases of intestate estate, unless it shall be apparent from the will that it was the intention of the testator that no provision should be made for such child.

1208. When any testator shall omit to provide in his will for any of his children, or for the issue of any deceased child, and it shall appear that such omission was not intentional, but was made by mistake or accident, such child, or the issue of such child, shall have the same share in the estate of the testator as if he had died intestate, to be assigned as provided in the preceding section.

An heir need not resort to a suit for contribution, but may claim the property itself. C., B. & Q. R. Co. v. Wasserman (Circ. Ct.) 22 Fed. Rep., 877.

1209. When any share of the estate of the testator shall be assigned to a child born after the making of a will, or to a child, or the issue of a child, omitted in the will as hereinbefore mentioned, the same shall first be taken from the estate not disposed of by the will, if any; if that shall not be sufficient, so much as shall be necessary shall be taken from all the devisees or legatees, in proportion to the value of the estate they may respectively receive under the will, unless the obvious intention of the testator in relation to some specific devise or bequest, or other provision in the will, would thereby be defeated, in which case such specific devise, legacy, or provision may be exempted from such apportionment, and a different apportionment may be adopted, in the discretion of the probate court.

1210. When a devise or any legacy shall be made to any child or other relation of the testator, and the devisee or legatee shall die before the testator, having issue who shall survive the testator, such issue shall take the estate so given by the will in the same manner as the devisee or legatee would have done if he had survived the testator, unless a different disposition shall be made or directed by the will.

1212. If the testator shall make provision by his will, or designate the estate to be appropriated for the payment of his debts, the expenses of administration, or family expenses, they shall be paid according to the provisions of the will, and out of the estate thus appropriated, or so far as the same may be sufficient.

1213. If the provisions made by the will, or the estate appropriated, shall not be sufficient to pay the debts, expenses of administration, and family expenses, such part of the estate, real or personal, as shall not have been disposed of by the will, if any, shall be appropriated according to the provisions of the law for that purpose.

1214. The estate, real or personal, given by will to any devisees or legatees, shall be held liable to the payment of the debts, expenses of administration, and family expenses, in proportion to the amount of the several devises or legacies, except that specific devises and legacies, and the persons to whom they shall be made, may be exempted, if it shall appear to the court necessary in order to carry into effect the intention of the testator, if there shall be other sufficient estate.

1215. When the estate given by any will shall be liable for the payment of debts and expenses, as mentioned in the preceding section, or is liable to be taken to make up the share of a child born after the execution of the will, or of a child or of the issue of a child not provided for in the will, as hereinbefore provided, the executor shall have a right to retain possession of the same until such liability shall be settled by order of the probate court, and until the devises and legacies so liable shall be accordingly assigned by order of such court; and when the same can properly be done, any devisee or legatee may make his claim to such court to have such liability settled, and his devise or legacy assigned to him.

1216. All the devisees and legatees who shall, with the consent of the executor, or otherwise, have possession of the estate given to them by will, before such liability shall be settled by the probate court, shall hold the same, subject to the several liabilities mentioned in the preceding section, and shall be held to contribute, according to their respective liabilities, to the executor or to any devisee or legatee from whom the estate devised to him may have been taken, for the payment of debts or expenses, or to make up the share of a child born after the making of the will, or of a child or the issue of a child omitted in the will; and the persons who may, as heirs, have received the estate not disposed of by the will as provided in this subdivision, shall be liable to contribute in like manner as the devisees or legatees.

1217. If any of the persons liable to contribute, according to the provisions of the preceding section, shall be insolvent, and unable to pay his share, the others shall be severally liable for the loss occasioned by such insolvency in proportion to and to the extent of the estate they may have received; and if any of the persons so liable to contribute shall die before having paid his share, the claim shall be valid against his estate, in the same manner as if it had been his proper debt.

1218. The probate court may, by decree for that purpose, settle the amount of the several liabilities as provided in the preceding sections, and decree how much, and in what manner, each person shall contribute, and may issue execution as circumstances may require, and the claimant may also have a remedy in any proper action or complaint in law or equity.

1219. Every will, when proved as provided in this subdivision, shall have a certificate of such proof indorsed thereon or annexed thereto, signed by the judge of probate and attested by his seal; and every will so certified, and the record thereof, or a transcript of such record, certified by the judge of probate and attested by his seal, may be read in evidence in all courts within this state without further proof.

Certificate not essential to the validity of the probate of a will, merely entitles it to be read in evidence. Roberts v. Flanagan, 21, 503 (32 N. W., 563). Will not admissible in evidence unless probated. New England Mortgage Security Co. v. Hendrickson, 13, 160 (12 N. W.,916). A certified copy of a will, with transcript of the probate record, is admissible in evidence without further identification. F., E. & M. V. R. Co. v. Setright, 34, 255 (51 N. W., 833).

1220. An attested copy of every will devising lands or any interest in lands, and of the probate thereof, shall be recorded in the registry of deeds of the county in which the lands thereby devised are situated; Provided,* That all conveyances of lands or any interest in lands within this state, which have been heretofore made by any executor prior to the filing of such attested copy, shall be as legal and valid and shall have the same force and effect as if such attested copy had been duly filed prior to the making of such conveyance.

All after * added 1885, p. 247.

1221. The word "executor" in this chapter shall be construed to include an administrator with the will annexed. [1254].

LETTERS TESTAMENTARY AND OTHER PROCEEDINGS ON THE PROBATE OF A WILL.

1222. When a will shall have been duly proved and allowed the probate court shall issue letters testamentary thereon to the person named executor therein, if he is legally competent, and he shall accept the trust and give bond as required by law.

1223. Every executor, before he shall enter upon the execution of his trust and before letters testamentary shall issue, shall give bond to the judge of probate in such reasonable sum as he may direct, with one or more sufficient sureties, with conditions as follows: To make and return to the probate court, within three months, a true and perfect inventory of all the goods, chattels, rights, credits, and estate of the deceased which shall come to his possession or knowledge, or to the possession of any other person for him; to administer according to law and to the will of the testator all his goods, chattels, rights, credits, and estate which shall at any time come to his possession, or to the possession of any other person for him, and out of the same to pay and discharge all debts, legacies, and charges chargeable on the same, or such dividends thereon as shall be ordered and decreed by the probate court; to render a true and just account of his administration to the probate court within one year, and at any other time when required by such court; and to perform all orders and decrees of the probate court by the executor to be performed in the premises.

1224. If, however, the executor shall be a residuary legatee, instead of the bond described in the preceding section, he may give a bond in such sum and with such sureties as the court may direct, with a condition only to pay all the debts and legacies of the testator, and in such case he shall not be required to return an inventory.

1225. No person named as executor in any will who shall refuse to accept the trust, or shall neglect to give bond as prescribed in this subdivision, for twenty days after the probate of such will, shall intermeddle or act as executor.

1226. If a person named executor in any will shall refuse to accept the trust, or shall, for the space of twenty days after the probate of the same, neglect to give bond as required by law, the probate court may grant letters testamentary to the other executors, if there be any who are capable and willing to accept the trust, and if there be no such other executor who will give bond, the court may commit administration of estate, with the will annexed, to such person as would have been entitled to the same if the testator had died intestate.

1227. When the person named executor in any will is under age at the time of proving the will, administration shall be granted, with the will annexed, during the minority of the executor, unless there shall be another executor who shall accept the trust and give bond, and in that case the executor who shall give bond shall have letters testamentary, and shall administer the estate until the minor shall arrive at full age, when he may be admitted as joint executor on giving bond according to law.

1228. Every person who shall be appointed administrator with the will annexed, shall, before entering upon the execution of his trust, give bond to the judge of probate in the same manner and with the same condition as is required of an executor, and shall proceed in all things to execute the trust in the same manner as an excutor would be required to do.

1229. When an unmarried woman, appointed an executrix alone or jointly, with another person, shall marry, her marriage shall extinguish her authority as executrix, and her husband shall not be executor in her right.

1230. If an executor shall reside out of this state, or shall neglect, after dne notice given by the judge of probate, to render his account and settle the estate according to law, or to perform any decree of the court, or shall abscond, or become insane, or otherwise incapable or unsuitable to discharge the trust, the probate court may remove such executor.

1231. When an executor shall die or be removed, or his authority shall be extinguished, the remaining executor, if there be any, may execute the trust; and if there shall be no other executor, administration with the will annexed may be granted of the estate not already administered.

1232. When an executor appointed in any will shall not be authorized, according to the provisions of this subdivision, to act as such, such as are authorized shall have the same authority to perform every act and discharge every trust required and allowed by the will, and their acts shall be as valid and effectual for every purpose as if all were authorized and should act together; and administrators with the will annexed shall have the same authority to perform every act and discharge every trust as the executor named in the will would have had, and their acts shall be as valid and effectual for any purpose.

1233. The executor of an executor shall not, as such, have any authority to administer the estate of the first testator, but on the death of the only surviving executor of any will, administration of the estate of the first testator, not already administered, may be granted, with the will annexed, to such person as the probate court may judge proper.

1234. When two or more persons shall be appointed executors of any will, the judge of probate may take a separate bond from each of them, with sureties, or a joint bond from all of them, with sureties.

ADMINISTRATION AND DISTRIBUTION OF THE ESTATES OF INTESTATES.

1235. When any person shall die possessed of any personal estate, or of any right of interest therein not lawfully disposed of by his last will, the same shall be applied and distributed as follows: First—The widow, if any, shall be allowed all the articles of apparel and ornament, and all the wearing apparel and ornaments, of the deceased, the household furniture of the deceased, and other personal property, to be selected by her, not exceeding in value two hundred dollars; and this allowance shall be made as well when the widow receives the provisions made for her in the will of her husband as when he dies intestate. Second—The widow and children constituting the family of the deceased shall have such reasonable allowance out of the personal estate, or out of the income of the real estate, as the county court may judge necessary for their maintenance during the progress of the settlement of the estate, according to their circumstances, which, in the case of an insolvent estate, shall not be longer than one year after granting administration, nor for any time after the personal estate shall be assigned to the widow. And when the personal estate and the income from the real estate shall be insufficient to meet the allowance made, or any other allowance made as provided by law, such an allowance shall be deemed a debt against the estate, to be paid out of the proceeds of the sale of any real estate, and to take its preference for payment next after debts due this estate, and before the claims of general creditors. Third—When a person shall die leaving children under fourteen years of age, having no mother, or when the mother shall die before the children shall arrive at the age of fourteen years, an allowance shall be made for the necessary maintenance of such children until they arrive at the age of fourteen years, out of such part of the personal estate and the income of such part of the real estate as would have been assigned to their mother if she had been living. Fourth—If, on the return of the inventory of any estate, it shall appear that the value of the salable estate does not exceed the sum of two hundred and fifty dollars, the county court may, by decree for that purpose, assign for the use and support of the widow and children of such intestate, or for the support of the children under fourteen years of age, if there be no widow, the whole of such estate, after the payment of the funeral charges, and the expenses of administration. Fifth—If the personal estate shall amount to more than two hundred and fifty dollars, and more than the allowance mentioned in the preceding subdivision of this section, the same shall be applied to the payment of debts of the deceased, with the charges of his funeral and the settling of his estate. Sixth—The residue, if any, of the personal estate shall be distributed in the same proportion, to the same persons, as prescribed for the descent and distribution of real estate in this act, except that if the intestates leave no homestead, then one thousand dollars of the residue referred to in this division shall be set apart to the widow; and it is further enacted that the widow's share cannot be affected by any will of her husband, unless she consents thereto in writing within six months after notice to her of the provisions of the will by parties interested in the estate, which consent shall be entered on the records of the county court; all provisions made in this section in regard to the widow of a deceased husband shall be applicable and shall apply to the surviving husband of a deceased wife.

1235*a*. When any person shall die possessed of any personal estate, or of any right or interest therein not lawfully disposed of by his last will, the same shall be applied and distributed as follows: First—The widow, if any, shall be allowed all the articles of apparel and ornament, and all the wearing apparel and ornaments of the deceased, the household furniture of the deceased, not exceeding in value two hundred and fifty dollars, and other personal property, to be selected by her, not exceeding in value two hundred dollars; and this allowance shall be made as well when the widow receives the provision made for her in the will of her husband as when he dies intestate. Second—The widow and children constituting the family of the deceased shall have such reasonable allowance out of the personal estate, or out of the income of the real estate, as the court of probate may judge necessary for their maintenance during the progress of the settlement of the estate, according to their circumstances, which in case of an insolvent estate shall not be longer than one year after granting administration, nor for any time after the dower and personal estate shall be assigned to the widow. And when the personal estate and the income from the real estate shall be insufficient to meet the allowances made, or any other allowance made as provided by law, such an allowance shall be deemed a debt against the estate, to be paid out of the proceeds of the sale of any real estate, and to take its preference for payment next after debts due this state, and before the claims of general creditors. Third—When a person shall die, leaving children under seven years of age, having no mother, or when the mother shall die before the children shall arrive at the age of seven years, an allowance shall be made for the necessary maintenance of such children, until they arrive at the age of seven years, out of such part of the personal estate and the income of such part of the real estate as would have been assigned to their mother if she had been living. Fourth—If, on the return of the inventory of any estate, it shall appear that the value of the saleable estate does not exceed the sum of one hundred and fifty dollars, the probate court may, by a decree for that purpose, assign for the use and support of the widow and children of such intestate, or for the support of the children under seven years of age if there be no widow, the whole of such estate, after the payment of the funeral charges, and expenses of administration. Fifth—If the personal estate shall amount to more than one hundred and fifty dollars, and more than the allowances mentioned in the preceding subdivisions of this section, the same shall be applied to the payment of the debts of the deceased, with the charges of his funeral, and of settling his estate. Sixth—The residue, if any, of the personal estate shall be distributed in the same proportion, to the same persons, and for the same purposes as prescribed for the descent and disposition of the real estate, except that the widow, if any, shall be entitled to receive the same share of such residue, as a child of the intestate would be entitled to.

1235*a* formed sec. 176 of ch. 14 R. S., p. 92, as amended, G. S., 309, and was attempted to be repealed by the act of 1889, p. 473, but the repealing act has been held void and the old law in force. Trumble v. Trumble, — Neb., — (— N. W., —). Husband does not inherit personal estate of wife, and cannot sue for damage for death of wife unless there are next of kin to whom the amount recovered would go. Warren v. Englehart, 13, 283 (13 N. W., 401).

1236. When any person shall die intestate, being an inhabitant of this state, letters of administration of his estate shall be granted by the probate court of the county of which he was an inhabitant or resident at the time of his death. If such deceased person, at the time of death, resided in any other territory, state, or country, leaving estate to be administered in this state, administration thereof shall be granted by any probate court of any county in which there shall be estate to be administered; and the administration first legally granted shall extend to all the estate of the deceased in this state, and shall exclude the jurisdiction of the probate court of every other country.

Widow of intestate, killed in Kansas, and whose sole assets consist of a claim against a railroad company for causing his death, may take out letters of administration in this state, and maintain action here. M. P. R. R. Co. v. Lewis, 24, 858 (40 N. W., 401). Special administrator should be appointed by court having authority to grant letters testamentary or of administration. Cadman v. Richards, 13, 386 (14 N. W., 159). Cited and construed, Estate of Moore v. Moore, 33, 509 (50 N. W., 443).

1237. Administration of the estate of a person dying intestate shall be granted to some one or more of the persons hereinafter mentioned, and they shall be respectively entitled to the same in the following order: First—The widow, or next of kin, or both, as the judge of probate may think proper, or such person as the widow or next of kin may request to have appointed, if suitable and competent to discharge the trust. Second—If the widow, or next of kin, or the person selected by them, shall be unsuitable or incompetent, or if the widow or next of kin shall neglect, for thirty days after the death of the intestate, to apply for administration, or to request that administration be granted to some other person, the same may be granted to one or more of the principal creditors, if any such are competent and willing to take it. Third—If there be no such creditor competent and willing to take administration, the same may be committed to such other person or persons as the judge of probate may think proper.

Appointment of administrators is in the discretion of the county judge. Atkinson v. Hasty, 21, 665 (33 N. W., 206). An order appointing an administrator, without a finding of fact based on a proper petition and notice, is erroneous but not void. In re Miller, 32, 485 (49 N. W., 427).

1238. Every administrator, before he enters upon the execution of his trust, and before letters of administration shall be granted to him, shall give a bond to the judge of probate, with such surety or sureties as he shall direct and approve, with the same conditions as required in case of an executor [1223], with such variations only as may be necessary to make it applicable to the case of an administrator.

1239. When there shall be a delay in the granting letters testamentary, or of administration, occasioned by an appeal from the allowance or disallowance of the will, or from any other cause, the judge of probate may appoint an administrator to act in collecting and taking charge of the estate of the deceased, until the question on the allowance of the will, or such other question as shall occasion the delay, shall be terminated, and an executor or administrator be thereupon appointed, and no appeal shall be allowed from the appointment of such special administration.

Change of administrator does not abate action by. B. & M. R. R. Co. v. Crockett, 17, 574 (24 N. W., 219). See Cadman v. Richards, 13, 384 (14 N. W., 159). Special administrator may defend suit. Cadman v. Richards, 13, 385 (14 N. W., 159).

1240. [Duties.]—An administrator, appointed according to the provisions of the preceding section, shall collect the goods, chattels, and debts of the deceased, and preserve the same for the executor or administrator who may afterwards be appointed, and for that purpose may commence and maintain suits as an administrator, and may sell such perishable and other personal estate as the probate court may order to be sold.

1241. [Liability.]—Such special administrator shall not be liable to an action by any creditor, to be called upon in any other way to pay the debts against the deceased.

1242. Every such special administrator shall, before entering upon the duties of his trust, give a bond to the judge of probate, as he shall direct, with a condition that he will make and return a true inventory of all the goods, chattels, rights, credits, and effects of the deceased which shall come to his possession or knowledge, and that he will truly account for all the goods, chattels, debts, and effects of the deceased which shall be received by him, whenever required by the probate court, and will deliver the same to the person who shall afterwards be appointed executor or administrator of the deceased, or to such other person as shall be legally authorized to receive the same.

1243. Upon granting letters testamentary, or of administration, on the estate of the deceased, the power of such special administrator shall cease, and he shall forthwith deliver to the executor or administrator all the goods, chattels, money, and effects of the deceased in his hands; and the executor or administrator may be admitted to prosecute to final judgment any suit commenced by such special administrator.

1244. If any person or persons, before the granting of letters testamentary or of administration, shall convert to his or their own use, or shall embezzle, alienate, or destroy any of the moneys, goods, chattels, or effects of any deceased person, such person or persons shall stand chargeable and be liable to the executor or administrator of the estate of such deceased person for the value of the moneys, goods, chattels, or effects so converted, embezzled, alienated, or destroyed, and for all damages sustained to be recovered by such executor or administrator, for the benefit of such estate, by a civil action in any court of competent jurisdiction, and no property whatever shall be exempt from levy and sale under process issued on the judgment obtained by such executor or administrator in such action.

1245. When any such executor or administrator shall die without having fully administered the estate, the probate court may grant letters of administration with the will annexed, or otherwise, as the case may require, to some suitable person, to administer the goods and estate of the deceased not already administered.

1246. If any administrator shall reside out of this state, or shall neglect, after due notice by the judge of probate, to render his account and to settle the estate according to law, or to perform any decree of such court, or shall abscond, or become insane, or otherwise unsuitable and incapable to discharge the trust, the probate court may, by an order therefor, remove such administrator.

Court may accept resignation of administrator about to remove. Trumble v. Williams, 18, 148 (24 N. W., 716).

1247. When an unmarried woman who is administratrix alone, or jointly with another person, shall marry, her marriage shall extinguish her authority as administratrix.

1248. When an administrator shall be removed, or his authority shall be extinguished, the remaining administrator may execute the trust; if there shall be no other, the court of probate may commit administration of the estate not already administered to some suitable person, as in case of the death of a sole administrator.

1249. An administrator appointed in the place of any former executor, or administrator, for the purpose of administering the estate not already administered, shall have the same powers, and shall proceed in settling the estate in the same manner as the former executor or administrator should have had or done, and may prosecute or defend any action commenced by or against the former executor or administrator, and may have execution on any judgment recovered in the name of such former executor or administrator.

The office of administrator is a continuous office, though the person in the office may change. Trumble v. Williams, 18, 149 (24 N. W., 716).

1250. If, after the granting of letters of administration by any probate court on the estate of any deceased person, as if he had died intestate, a will of such deceased person shall be duly proved and allowed by such court, the first administration shall, by decree of said court, be revoked, and the powers of the administrator shall cease, and he shall thereupon surrender his letters of administration into the probate court, and render an account of his administration within such time as the court shall direct.

1251. The executor of the will shall, in such case, be entitled to demand, sue for, and collect all the goods, chattels, rights, and credits of the deceased remaining unadministered, and may be admitted to prosecute to final judgment any suit commenced by the administrator before the revocation of his letters of administration.

1252. All acts of an executor or administrator as such, before the revocation of his letters testamentary or of administration, shall be as valid to all intents and purposes as if such executor or administrator had continued lawfully to execute the duties of his trust.

1253. When two or more persons shall be appointed administrators on any estate, the judge of probate may take a separate bond from each, with sureties, or a joint bond, with sureties from all.

1254. When application shall be made to the judge of probate for the appointment of an administrator of an intestate estate, or for letters of administration with the will annexed, he shall cause the notice of the same, and of the time and place of the hearing thereof, to be given by personal service on all persons interested, or by publication, under an order of such court, in such newspaper printed in this state as he may direct; *and when, upon such hearing, the grant of such administration shall be refused for any cause, the court of probate may, if all the parties interested were duly notified of such hearing, proceed to take the allegations and proofs to determine the party entitled to such administration, and to grant administration without further notice.

Amended and all after * added 1873, G. S., p. 313.

INVENTORY AND COLLECTION OF THE EFFECTS OF DECEASED PERSONS.

1255. Every executor or administrator shall, within three months after his appointment, make and return, under oath, into the probate court from which he received his letters, a true inventory of the real estate, and of all the goods, chattels, rights, and credits of the deceased which shall have come into his possession or knowledge; excepting, only, that an executor or administrator with the will annexed, who shall be a residuary legatee, and shall have given bond to pay all the debts and legacies as provided by law, shall not be required to return an inventory; Provided, however,* That the inventory of a special administrator shall be made out and returned, as aforesaid, within two weeks after his appointment.

Amended and all after * added 1873, G. S., p. 314.

1256. The personal estate and effects comprised in the inventory shall be appraised by two or more disinterested persons of the county, who shall be appointed by the probate court. The judge of probate may at any time appoint new appraisers to take the place of such as have already been appointed; and when a vacancy occurs by the neglect or refusal of an appraiser to serve, or by absence, death, or removal from the state, a new appraiser may in like manner be appointed.

Amended 1873, G. S., p. 314.

1257. When appraisers shall be appointed by a justice of the peace, he shall issue an order to them in substance as follows: State of Nebraska, ——— county, ss. To ———, of ———, in said county: You are hereby appointed to appraise, on oath, the estate and effects of ———, late of ———, deceased, which may be in said county, and when you have performed that service you are required to deliver this order, and your doings in pursuance thereof, to ———, executor or administrator, as the case may be, of said deceased. Given under my hand this —— day of ——, in the year A. D. 18—. ———, Justice of the Peace.

1258. The appraisers shall set down opposite to each item in such inventory, distinctly, in figures, the value thereof in money, and deliver the same, certified by them, together with their appointment, if made by a justice of the peace, to the executor or administrator.

1259. A separate and distinct inventory and appraisement shall be made and returned, as aforesaid, of all the household furniture and other personal property which may be allowed to the widow, pursuant to the provisions of this chapter, but the same shall not be considered assets in the hands of the executors or administrators.

1260. The personal estate of the deceased which shall come into the hands of the executor or administrator shall be first chargeable with the payment of the debts and expenses; and if the goods, chattels, rights, and credits in the hands of the executor or administrator shall not be sufficient to pay the debts of the deceased, and the expenses of administration, the whole of his real estate, except the widow's dower, or so much thereof as may be necessary, may be sold for that purpose by the executor or administrator, after obtaining license therefor in the manner provided by law.

1261. The executor or administrator shall have a right to the possession of all the real as well as personal estate of the deceased, and may receive the rents, issues, and profits of the real estate, until the estate shall have been settled, or until delivered over, by order of the probate court, to the heirs or devisees, and shall keep in good tenantable repair all houses, buildings, and fences thereon which are under his control.

Administrator may maintain ejectment. Dundas v. Carson, 27, 641 (43 N. W., 399). See Stevenson v. Valentine. 27, 344 (43 N. W., 107).

1262. If any executor or administrator, heir, legatee, creditor, or other person interested in the estate of any deceased person shall complain to the judge of probate, on oath, that any person is suspected to have concealed, embezzled, carried away, or disposed of any money, goods, or chattels of the deceased, or that such person has in his possession or knowledge any deeds, conveyances, bonds, contracts, or other writings which contain evidence of or tend to disclose the right, title, interest, or claim of the deceased to any real or personal estate, or any claim or demand, or any last will and testament of the deceased, the said judge may cite such suspected person to appear before the court of probate, and may examine him on oath upon the matter of such complaint.

1263. If the person so cited shall refuse to appear and submit to such examination, or to answer such interrogatories as may be put to him touching the matter of such complaint, the court may, by warrant for that purpose, commit him to the county jail of the county, there to remain in close custody until he shall submit to the order of the court; and all such interrogatories and answers shall be in writing, and shall be signed by the party examined, and filed in the probate court.

1264. The judge of probate, upon the complaint on oath of any executor or administrator, may cite any person who shall have been entrusted by such executor or administrator with any part of the estate of the deceased person, to appear before such court, and may require such person to render a full account, on oath, of any money, goods, chattels, bonds, accounts, or other papers belonging to such estate which shall have come to his possession, in trust for such executor or administrator, and of his proceedings thereon, and if the person so cited shall refuse to appear and render such account, the court may proceed against him as provided in the preceding section.

1265. When any debtor of any deceased person shall be unable to pay all his debts, the executor or administrator, with the approbation of the judge of probate, may compromise with such debtor and give him a discharge, upon receiving a fair and just dividend of his effects.

1266. When any mortgagee of real estate, or any assignee of such mortgagee, shall die without having foreclosed the right of redemption, all the interest in the mortgaged premises conveyed by such mortgage, and the debt secured thereby, shall be considered as personal assets in the hands of the executor or administrator, and he may foreclose the same and have any other remedy for the collection of such debt which the deceased would have had if living, or may continue any proceedings commenced by the deceased for that purpose.

1267. In case of the redemption of any such mortgage, or the sale of the mortgaged premises, by virtue of a power of sale contained therein, or otherwise, the money paid thereon shall be received by the executor or administrator, and he shall thereupon give all necessary releases and receipts; and if, upon a sale of the mortgaged premises, the same shall be bid in by the executor or administrator for such debt, he shall be seized of the same for the same persons, whether creditors, next of kin, or others, who would have been entitled to the money if the premises had been redeemed or purchased at such sale by some other person.

1268. Any real estate so held by an executor or administrator, or which may be purchased by him as such, upon a sale on execution, for the recovery of a debt due the estate, may be sold for the payment of debts or legacies and the charges of administration, in the same manner as if the deceased had died seized thereof, upon obtaining a license therefor in the manner provided by law.

1269. If any land so hled by an executor or administrator, as mentioned in the preceding section, shall not be sold by him as therein provided, it shall be assigned and distributed to the same persons and in the same proportions as if it had been part of the personal estate of the deceased; and if, upon such distribution, the estate shall come to two or more persons, partition thereof may be made between them in like manner as if it were real estate which the deceased held in his lifetime.

1270. When there shall be a deficiency of assets in the hands of an executor or administrator, and when the deceased shall, in his lifetime, have conveyed any real estate or any right or interest therein, with the intent to defraud his creditors, or to avoid any right, debt, or duty of any person, or shall have so conveyed such estate that by law the deeds or conveyances are void as against creditors, the executor or administrator may, and it shall be his duty to commence and prosecute to final judgment any proper action or suit at law, or in chancery, for the recovery of the same, and may recover, for the benefit of the creditors, all such real estate so fraudulently conveyed, and may also, for the benefit of the creditors, sue and recover for all goods, chattels, rights, or credits which may have been so fraudulently conveyed by the deceased in his lifetime, whatever may have been the manner of such fraudulent conveyance.

Creditors of deceased may bring action against the executor who claims to have a chattel mortgage on effects of the estate and who is about to sell the same, and injunction will lie. Becker v. Anderson, 6, 503.

1271. No executor or administrator shall be bound to sue for such estate as mentioned in the preceding section, for the benefit of the creditors, unless on application of creditors of the deceased, nor unless the creditors making the application shall pay such part of the costs and expenses, or give such security to the executor or administrator therefor, as the probate court shall judge just and equitable.

1272. All real estate so recovered as provided in the two hundred and eleventh section of this chapter [1270] shall be sold for the payment of debts in the same manner as if the deceased had died seized thereof, upon obtaining a license therefor from the probate court, and the proceeds of all goods, chattels, rights, and credits received as aforesaid shall be appropriated in payment of the debts of the deceased, in the same manner as other debts in the hands of the executor or administrator.

PAYMENT OF DEBTS AND LEGACIES OF DECEASED PERSONS.

1273. When letters testamentary or of administration shall be granted by any probate court, it shall be the duty of the probate judge to receive, examine, adjust, and allow all claims and demands of all persons against the deceased, giving the same notice as is required to be given by commissioners in this subdivision; Provided, That the parties interested, or either of them, shall have the right to demand that two or more suitable persons be appointed commissioners, in which case said commissioners shall receive, examine, and adjust all claims and demands against the estate, as provided for in this subdivision, except when the value of the whole estate, exclusive of the furniture and other personal property allowed to the widow, shall not exceed one hundred and fifty dollars, and shall be assigned for the support of the widow and children, as provided by law, in which case such assignment shall be deemed a full and final administration and bar to all claims against the estate. When such commissioners shall be appointed, it shall be their duty to appoint convenient times and places when and where they will meet for the purpose of examining and allowing claims; and within sixty days after their appointment they shall give notice of the times and places of their meeting, and of the time limited for creditors to present their claims, by posting a notice thereof in four public places in the same county, and by publishing the same at least four weeks successively in some newspaper printed in this state, or in any other manner which the court may direct.

Taxes on personal property may be filed as a claim against his estate. Millett v. Early, 16, 268 (20 N. W., 352). A judgment of account in a foreign state is "a claim." Creighton v. Murphy, Neal & Co., 8, 356.

1274. The judge of probate, in the commission issued to the commissioners, shall designate the paper in which such notice shall be published and the number of places in the several towns in which it shall be required to be posted, or other mode of notifying which he may deem necessary and proper.

1275. If any commissioner appointed by the probate court shall at any time die, remove out of the state, refuse, or become in any other way incapacitated to perform the duties of his appointment, the court may appoint another commissioner in his place, and no further notice of the meetings of the commissioners shall be required in consequence of such appointment.

1276. The probate court shall allow such time as the circumstances of the case shall require for the creditors to present their claims to the commissioners for examination and allowance, which time shall not, in the first instance, exceed eighteen months, nor be less than six months, and the time allowed shall be stated in the commission.

1277. The probate court may extend the time allowed to creditors to present their claims, as the circumstances of the case may require; but not so that the whole time shall exceed two years from the time of appointing such commissioners.

1278. On the application of a creditor who has failed to present his claim, if made within six months from the time previously limited, the court may, for good cause shown, renew the commission and allow further time, not exceeding three months, for the commissioners to examine such claims, in which case the commissioners shall personally notify the parties of the time and place of hearing, and, as soon as may be, make return of their doings to the probate court.

1279. In the case mentioned in the preceding section, if the judge of probate shall think proper, instead of renewing the commission he may appoint a time and place for examination and adjustment of such claim before himself, and cause personal notice thereof to be given to the parties, and in that case he shall proceed to examine and adjust such claim in like manner as the same might have been done by such commissioners.

1280. When a creditor against whom the deceased has had claims shall present a claim to the commissioners, the executor or administrator shall exhibit the claim of the deceased in offset to the claims of the creditor, and the commissioners shall ascertain and allow the balance against or in favor of the estate, as they shall find the same to be, but no claim barred by the statute of limitation shall be allowed by the commissioners in favor of or against the estate as a set-off or otherwise.

1281. The commissioners shall be sworn to the faithful discharge of their duties, and any one of them shall be authorized to administer oaths to parties and witnesses, when the same shall be required or proper for the investigation and trial of questions before them.

1282. At the expiration of the time limited, or as soon thereafter as they shall have time to complete the hearing of the claims presented, the commissioners shall make up a report of their doings to the probate court, embracing lists of the claims presented or exhibited in offset, and stating how much was allowed and how much was disallowed, together with the final balance, whether in favor of the creditor or the estate, and the report shall state particularly the manner of giving notice to the claimants.

1283. The commissioners shall have power to try and decide upon all claims which by law survive against or in favor of executors and administrators except claims for the possession or title of real estate, and may examine and allow all demands at their present value which may be payable at a future day, including claims payable in specific articles, and may set off such demands in the same manner in favor of the estate.

1284. Nothing in the preceding section shall be construed to prevent any executor or administrator from paying any debt which shall be payable at a future day according to the terms and at the time specified in the contract.

* "Judge or" added 1873, G. S., p. 320.

1286. No action shall be commenced against the executor or administrator except actions to recover the possession of real or personal property, and actions for relief other than for the recovery of money only, and such actions as are permitted in this chapter; nor shall any attachment or execution be issued against the estate of the deceased until the expiration of the time limited by the court for the payment of the debts, except in the actions mentioned in this section, and in the cases provided for in section two hundred and seventy-two of this chapter [1331].

Amended 1873, G. S., p. 320. A mortgagee may foreclose his mortgage after the death of the mortgagor. Jones v. Null, 9, 60 (1 N. W., 867). Null v. Jones, 5, 504.

1287. All actions and suits which may be pending against a deceased person at the time of his death may, if the cause of action survives, be prosecuted to final judgment, and the executor or administrator may be admitted to defend the same; and if the judgment shall be rendered against the executor or administrator, the court rendering it shall certify the same to the probate court, and the amount thereof shall be paid in the same manner as other claims duly allowed against the estate.

See Creighton v. Murphy, Neal & Co., 8, 356.

1288. Nothing in this chapter shall be construed to prevent an executor or administrator, when he shall think it necessary, from commencing and prosecuting any action against any other person, or from prosecuting any action commenced by the deceased in his lifetime, for the recovery of any debt or claim, to final judgment, or from having execution on any judgment.

1289. In such case the defendant may set off any claim he may have against the deceased, instead of presenting it to the commissioners, and all mutual claims will be set off in such action; and if final judgment shall be rendered in favor of the defendant, the same shall be certified; by the court rendering it, to the probate court, and the judgment shall be considered the true balance.

1290. When two or more persons shall be indebted on any joint contract or upon a judgment founded on a joint contract, and either of them shall die, his estate shall be liable therefor, and it may be allowed by the commissioners as if the contract had been joint and several, or as if the judgment had been against him alone; and the other parties to such joint contract may be compelled to contribute or pay the same, if they would have been liable to do so upon payment thereof by the deceased.

1291. The commissioners provided for by this subdivision shall receive two dollars per day as compensation for every day of actual service.

1292*. Any executor, administrator, or creditor may appeal from the decision of the judge or commissioners to the district court for the same county, if application for such appeal be made in writing and filed in the probate court within ten days after the entry of the decision in the records of the probate court.

These sections are in part repealed by implication by secs. 1114 to 1117 of ch. 11, "Courts." Appeal bond can be filed within thirty days, and no notice of appeal is necessary. Malick v. McDermot's Estate, 25, 267 (41 N. W., 157). Davis v. Davis, 27, 861 (44 N. W., 40).

1293. In case of an appeal by a claimant against the estate, he shall, within ten days, give a bond to the adverse party, with sufficient security, to be approved by the probate judge and filed in his office, with a condition that he shall prosecute his appeal to effect and without unnecessary delay, and pay all damages and costs which may be awarded against him on the appeal. No executor or administrator shall be required to enter into bond to entitle him to appeal.

1294. No appeal shall be allowed from the decision of the judge or commissioners except in the following cases: I. When such judge or the commissioners shall disallow any claim or set-off in whole or in part, to the amount of twenty dollars. II. When the judge or commissioners shall allow any claim or set-off in whole or in part, and the sum allowed being objected to shall amount to twenty dollars.

1295. The party appealing shall, after the appeal is taken, give notice of such appeal and of the hearing thereof in the district court, by service of notice on the adverse party, or if personal service cannot be had, by causing the same to be published for two successive weeks in some weekly newspaper of general circulation in the county, which service or publication must be complete at least ten days before the next term of such court, otherwise the notice must be given for the next succeeding term thereafter.

*Secs. 1292 to 1301 amended 1873, G. S., pp. 321-3.

1296. The party appealing shall, on or before the first day of the term of said court next after the expiration of the time within which notice might have been given as required in the last preceding section, procure and file in the district court a certified copy of the bond, if any given on appeal, and of the record of the allowance or disallowance appealed from, and of the claim or set-off filed, together with the proper evidence that notice has been given as aforesaid to the adverse party.

1297. The district court shall proceed to a trial and determination of the case in like manner as upon appeals brought from the judgments of justices of the peace; and such court may direct an issue to be made up between the parties when it shall be deemed necessary; and questions of law may be carried to the supreme court, and costs may be allowed or denied in the discretion of the court.

1299. If any claimant, appealing on account of the disallowance of his claim by the judge or commissioners, shall fail to enter such appeal in the district court as herein required, or shall in any way fail to prosecute his action on his claim in the district court, such court may dismiss the appeal, or a certificate may be filed in the probate court, as the case may require, in like manner as in cases of appeals from judgments of justices of the peace [5483] and thereupon such claim shall be forever barred, and the probate court shall proceed in the same manner as if such appeal had never been taken.

1300. If the person objecting to a claim and appealing on account of the allowance thereof shall neglect to prosecute his appeal as aforesaid, the court to which the appeal shall be taken may dismiss the appeal, or a certificate may be filed as aforesaid, as the case may require, and thereupon the probate court may proceed in the same manner as if the appeal had never been taken, or on motion of the adverse party, and upon his producing an attested copy of the record and papers showing such appeal, the district court shall cause the appeal to be docketed and affirm the allowance appealed from, and enter judgment for costs against the appellant.

1301. When an executor or administrator declines to appeal from the decision of the judge or commissioners, any person interested in the estate as creditor, devisee, legatee, or heir may appeal from such decision by filing a written application therefor, within ten days after the expiration of the time allowed to such executor or administrator for the filing of his application as hereinbefore provided; and the same proceedings shall be had in the name of the executor or administrator as if the appeal had been taken by him; Provided, That the person appealing in such case shall give bond, to be approved by the judge of probate and filed in his office, as well to secure the estate from damages and costs as to secure the intervening damages and costs to the adverse party; and actions upon such bond may be maintained by the party sustaining damages thereby.

1302. The said commissioners shall file with their report all the claims and offsets presented to and passed upon by them, and in the hearing and determination upon such claims and offsets the judge or commissioners shall be governed by the same rules of evidence as prescribed in civil actions in the district court, and depositions may be taken, filed, and used in evidence before the probate court as in actions in the district court; and such depositions shall be transmitted to the district court with the transcript used in cases taken by appeal to said court, if such depositions are sought to be used upon the trial of such cause in the district court.

LIMITATION OF TIME FOR PAYING DEBTS.

1303. The probate court, at the time of granting letters testamentary or letters of administration, shall make an order allowing to the executor or administrator a time for disposing of the estate and paying the debts and legacies of the deceased person, which time shall not, in the first instance, exceed one year and six months.

1304. The county court may, on application of the executor or administrator, from time to time, as the circumstances of the estate may require, extend the time for the payment of debts and legacies, not exceeding six months at a time, nor so that the whole time allowed the original executor or administrator shall exceed three years *and at the expiration of three years such executor or administrator shall at once settle such estate as provided in section 282 of this act [1341].

All after * added 1887. p. 386.

1305. When an executor or administrator shall make application to have the time for paying debts and legacies extended beyond one year and six months from the time of granting letters testamentary or of administration, the probate court shall appoint a time for hearing and deciding on such application, and shall cause notice of application and of the time and place of hearing to be given to all persons interested, by publication, three weeks successively, in some newspaper to be designated by the court, and no such order extending the time shall be granted unless such notice shall have been previously given.

1306. When an executor or administrator shall die, be removed, or become incapable of discharging his trust, and a new administrator of the same estate shall be appointed, the probate court shall, when necessary, make an order allowing to such new administrator a time for the disposing of the estate unadministered, and paying the debts and legacies, which time shall not, in the first instance, exceed one year from the time such new administrator shall be appointed; but such time may be extended in like manner and upon like notice as required in case of the original executor or administrator; and nothing contained in this subdivision shall be construed to take away the liability of an executor or administrator to make immediate payment when demanded, upon a decree for the distribution of assets among creditors, legatees, or heirs at law.

OF THE DISTRIBUTION OF ASSETS AMONG THE CREDITORS, AND OF INSOLVENT ESTATES.

1307. If, after the report of the commissioners and ascertaining the claims against any estate, it shall appear that the executor or administrator has in his possession sufficient to pay all the debts, he shall pay the same in full within the time limited or appointed for that purpose.

1308. If the assets which the executor or administrator may have received and which can be appropriated to the payment of debts shall not be sufficient, he shall, after paying the necessary expenses of administration, pay the debts against the estate in the following order: First—The necessary funeral expenses. Second—The expenses of the last sickness. Third—Debts having a preference by the laws of the United States. Fourth—Debts due to other creditors.

Treasurer cannot distrain personal property for taxes due from deceased in his lifetime. Hedman v. Anderson, 8, 185.

1309. If there shall not be assets enough to pay all the debts of any one class, each creditor shall be paid a dividend in proportion to his claim, and no creditor of any one class shall receive any payment until all those of the preceding class shall be fully paid.

1310. After the return of the report of the commissioners, and at or before the expiration limited for the payment of debts, the probate court shall make an order or decree for the payment of the debts and the distribution of the assets which may have been received by the executor or administrator at the time fixed for that purpose, among the creditors, as the circumstances of the estate shall require, according to the provisions of this subdivision.

1311. If an appeal shall have been taken from the decision of the commissioners, and shall remain undetermined, the probate court may suspend the decree for the payment of debts mentioned in the preceding section, or may order a distribution among the creditors whose claims have been allowed, leaving in the hands of the executor or administrator sufficient assets to pay the claim which may have been disputed and appealed.

1312. When the disputed claim shall have been finally settled, the probate court shall order the same to be paid out of the assets retained, to the same extent and in the same proportion as the claims of other creditors.

1313. If the whole of the debts shall not have been paid by the first distribution, and if the whole assets shall not have been distributed, or if other assets shall afterwards come to the hands of the executor or administrator, the probate court may, from time to time, according to the circumstances of the case, make further decree for the distribution of assets.

1314. Whenever a decree shall have been made by the probate court for the distribution of the assets among the creditors, the executor or administrator of the estate, after the time of payment shall arrive, shall be personally liable to the creditors for their debts, or the dividend thereon, as for his own debts, or he shall be liable on his bond, and the same may be put in suit on the application of the creditor whose debt or dividend shall not be paid as above mentioned.

1315. When the time for paying the debts of a deceased person shall be finally limited by order of the probate court or by the expiration of the time allowed for that purpose, whether the estate shall be insolvent or not, the probate court may, on the application of the executor or administrator, by an order for that purpose, cause notice to be given to the creditors of the time appointed or limited for the payment of such debts, which notice shall be given by publishing the same at least three weeks successively in some paper to be designated by the court, or in such other manner as the court may direct.

1316. If, after notice shall have been given, as provided in the preceding section, any creditor shall neglect to demand from the executor or administrator his debt or the dividend thereon within two years from the time so limited for the payment of the debts, or if the notice shall have been given after such time, within two years from the last publication, the claim of such creditor shall be forever barred.

Does not apply to mortgages. Null v. Jones, 5, 504.

CONTINGENT CLAIMS.

1317. If any person shall be liable as security for the deceased, or have any other contingent claim against his estate which cannot be proved as a debt before the commissioners, or allowed by them, the same may be presented, with the proper proof, to the probate court or to the commissioners, who shall state the same in their report, if such claim was presented to them.

1318. If the court shall be satisfied, from the report of the commissioners, or by the proof exhibited, said court may order the executor or administrator to retain in his hands sufficient to pay such contingent claim, when the same shall become absolute; or, if the estate shall be insolvent, sufficient to pay a proportion equal to the dividends of other creditors.

1319. If such contingent claim shall become absolute, and shall be presented to the probate court, or to the executor or administrator, at any time within two years from the time limited for other creditors to present their claims to the commissioners, it may be allowed by the probate court upon due proof, or it may be proved before the commissioners already appointed or before others to be appointed for that purpose, in the same manner as if presented for allowance before the commissioners had made their report; and the persons interested shall have the same right of appeal as in other cases.

1320. If such contingent claim shall be allowed, as mentioned in the preceding section, or established on appeal, the creditors shall be entitled to receive payment to the same extent as other creditors, if the estate retained by the executor or administrator shall be sufficient for that purpose; but if the claim shall not be finally established, as provided in the preceding section, or if the assets retained in the hands of the executor or administrator shall not be wholly exhausted in payment of such claim, such assets, or the residue of them, shall be disposed of, by order of the probate court, to the persons entitled to the same according to law.

1321. If the claim of any person shall accrue or become absolute at any time after the time limited for creditors to present their claims, the person having such claim may present it to the probate court, and prove the same at any time within one year after it shall accrue or become absolute; and if established in the manner provided in this subdivision, the executor or administrator shall be required to pay it, if he shall have sufficient assets for that purpose, and shall be required to pay such part as he shall have assets to pay, and if real or personal estate shall afterwards come to his possession, he shall be required to pay such claim, or such part as he may have assets sufficient to pay, not exceeding the proportion of the other creditors, in such time as the probate court may prescribe.

1322. When a claim shall be presented within one year from the time when it shall accrue and be established, as mentioned in the preceding section, and the executor or administrator shall not have sufficient to pay the whole of such claim, the creditor shall have the right to recover such part of his claim as the executor or administrator has not assets to pay, against the heirs, devisees, or legatees who shall have received sufficient real or personal property from the estate.

1323. If any action shall be commenced against an executor or administrator on such claim as mentioned in section two hundred and sixty-two [1321], and for the payment of which sufficient assets shall not have been retained, as before provided, the executor or administrator may give notice, under his plea to such action, that he has fully administered the estate which has come to his possession or knowledge.

1324. If it shall appear on the trial of such action that the defendant had fully administered at the time the claim was presented, and had no assets which could lawfully be appropriated for that purpose, he shall be discharged, and shall have judgment for his costs; but if it shall be found that he had assets sufficient to pay only a part of such claim, judgment shall be rendered against him for such sum only as shall be equal to the amount of assets in his hands.

1325. When the heirs, devisees, or legatees shall have received real or personal estate, and shall be liable for any debts, as mentioned in this subdivision, they shall be liable in proportion to the estate they may have respectively received; and the creditor may have any proper action or suit in law or equity, and shall have a right to recover his claim against a part or all of such heirs, devisees, or legatees, to the amount of the estate they may have respectively received; but no such action shall be maintained unless commenced within one year from the time the claim shall be allowed or established.

Where a claim allowed in county court, an appeal taken to district court by the administrator, claim again allowed and certified back, held that the one year's time commenced to run upon the entry of such certification in the county court. Horst v. McCormick Co., 30, 558 (46 N. W., 717).

1326. If, by the will of the deceased, any part of his estate, or any devisees or legatees, shall be made exclusively liable for the debt, the devisees or legatees shall be liable to contribute among themselves only, according to the will.

An action to recover under this section is not an original action, but a special proceeding of which the district court has jurisdiction. Horst v. McCormick Co., 30, 558 (46 N. W., 717).

1327. If all the persons liable for the payment of any such debt shall not be included in any such action or suit as defendants, the suit or action shall not thereby be in any way dismissed or barred, but the court before which it shall be pending may order any other parties brought in, by any proper process, and may allow such amendments as may be necessary to make them defendants, on such terms as the court shall prescribe.

1328. If more than one person shall be liable, as aforesaid, and the creditor shall bring a suit in chancery against all or a part of the persons so liable, and the persons liable shall dispute the debts or the amount claimed, the court of chancery may order an issue to be formed, and direct that the amount may be ascertained by a jury in the district court of the county in which the estate is settled; and the court of chancery shall ascertain and determine how much each is liable to pay, and may award execution therefor.

1329. If any of the heirs, devisees, or legatees shall die without having paid his just share of the debts, his estate shall be liable therefor, as for his own debt, to the extent to which he would have been liable if living.

1330. When any of the heirs, devisees, or legatees shall pay more than his share of such debt, the other persons liable shall be holden and compelled to contribute their just proportion of the same, as is provided in the cases of devisees and legatees in this chapter.

1331. If the giving of notice for the examination and allowance of claims against the estate, before the judge or commissioners, shall in any case be omitted for the period of one year after the granting of letters testamentary or administration, any person having any contingent or other lawful claim against a deceased person may at once commence an action therein, and prosecute the same against the executor, administrator, heirs, devisees, or legatees, as the same may be, who shall have received real or personal property from the estate; Provided, That in case notice to creditors shall have not been given for the period of one year, as above provided, any person having any contingent or other lawful claim against a deceased person, and shall neglect to commence action thereon against the executor, administrator, heirs, devisees, or legatees, as the same may be, who shall have received real or personal property from the estate within five years next after the granting of letters testamentary or administration, the same shall be forever barred; and in all cases a creditor having a lien upon the real or personal estate of the deceased by judgment, execution, or attachment previous to his death may proceed to enforce said lien the same as if such death had not occurred.

Rewritten 1887, p. 386. Mortgagee cannot be compelled to relinquish his mortgage and share in general assets of the estate. Jones v. Null, 9, 60 (1 N. W., 867).

1332. In no other case, except such as are expressly provided for in this chapter, shall any action be commenced or prosecuted against an executor or administrator; nor shall any writ of attachment or execution issue against such executor or administrator, or against the estate of the deceased in his hands, during the time allowed him for the payments, except in the case provided for in the preceding section.

RENDERING ACCOUNTS BY EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

1333. Every executor and administrator shall be chargeable in his account with the whole of the goods, chattels, rights, and credits of the deceased which may come to his possession; also, with all the proceeds of the real estate which may be sold for the payment of debts and legacies, and with all the interest, profit, and income that shall in any way come to his hands from the estate of the deceased.

1334. Every executor and administrator shall account for the personal estate of the deceased as the same shall be appraised, except as provided in the following section.

1335. An executor or administrator shall not make profit by increase, nor suffer loss by the decrease or destruction without his fault, of any part of the personal estate, and he shall account for the excess when he shall sell any part of the personal estate for more than the appraisal, and if he shall sell any for less than the appraisal he shall not be responsible for the loss, if it shall appear to be beneficial to the estate to sell it.

1336. The probate court, on the application of the executor or administrator, may, at any time, order the personal estate to be sold at private sale, or at public auction, when it shall appear to be necessary for the purpose of paying debts or legacies, or expenses of administration, or for the preservation of the property, or when it shall be requested by all the heirs residing in this state; or the court may order such personal estate to be sold, either at private sale, or public auction, as the executor or administrator may find most beneficial. If the order be to sell at public auction, the probate court shall direct the mode of giving notice of the time and place of sale.

1337. When the executor or administrator shall sell personal estate under an order of the probate court, he shall account for the same at the price for which it shall be sold.

1339. The executor or administrator shall also be accountable for the income of the real estate while it shall remain in his possession; and if he shall use or occupy a part of it, he shall account for it as shall be agreed upon between him and the parties interested, or adjudged by the court with their assent; and if the parties shall not agree upon the sum to be allowed, the same may be ascertained by one or more disinterested persons to be appointed by the probate court, whose award, being accepted by such court, shall be final.

1340. When an executor or administrator shall neglect or unreasonably delay to raise money, by collecting the debts, or selling the real or personal estate of the deceased, or shall neglect to pay over the money he shall have in his hands, and the value of the estate shall thereby be lessened, or unnecessary cost or interest shall accrue, or the persons interested shall suffer loss, the same shall be deemed waste, and the damages sustained may be charged against the executor or administrator in his account, or he shall be liable therefor on his administration bond.

1341. Every executor or administrator shall render an account of his administration within one year from the time of his receiving letters testamentary or of administration, unless the court shall give permission to delay, in consideration that the time for selling the estate and paying debts shall be extended; and he shall render such further account of his administration from time to time as shall be required by the court, until the estate shall be wholly settled; Provided, That at the expiration of the year from the time of the granting of letters testamentary or administration, such executor or administrator shall at once, and the court is hereby directed to compel such executor or administrator to at once make final settlement in such estate; Provided further, That if by reason of any suit at law or equity, then pending in any court of law in which said estate is interested, and by reason thereof a full settlement of such estate cannot then be had, a settlement of such estate shall be had as far as may be, and the administration of such estate may be continued for the purpose only of contesting such suits to a full settlement. Upon the hearing of the accounts of any executor or administrator he may be examined on oath upon any matter relating to his account, and witnesses in like manner may be examined on behalf of such executor or administrator, or other party interested in such account. Such accounts shall have annexed thereto the oath of the executor or administrator to the effect that such account is in all respects just and true, and that to the best of his knowledge and belief he has therein accounted for all the estate and effects of the deceased that have come into his possession or knowledge. Such executor or administrator shall, at least seven days before the time fixed for hearing such account, file in the county court all vouchers to be used in support thereof, and any voucher not so filed cannot be used in support of such account. Nothing contained in this section shall be construed to take away the power of the county court to settle and allow an account not certified as aforesaid, but in such case the burden of proof as to the correctness of such account and of each item thereof shall rest upon such executor or administrator.

1342. The executor or administrator shall be allowed all necessary expenses in the care, management, and settlement of the estate, and for his services such fees as the law provides, together with all extra expenses; Provided, That when the deceased shall, by his will, make some other provision for the compensation of his executor, that shall be deemed full compensation for his services, unless he shall, by a written instrument filed in the probate court, renounce all claim to the compensation provided by the will.

1343. When no such compensation shall be provided by the will, or the executor shall renounce all claim thereto, he shall be allowed commission upon the amount of personal estate collected and accounted for by him, and of the proceeds of real estate sold under an order of the court for the payment of debts, as follows: For the first thousand dollars, at the rate of five per cent; for all above that sum and not exceeding five thousand dollars, at the rate of two and one-half per cent; and for all above five thousand dollars, at the rate of one per cent; and the same commissions shall be allowed to administrators; and in all cases such further allowances may be made as the judge of probate shall deem just and reasonable for any extraordinary services not required of an executor or administrator in the common course of his duty.

1344. Every executor or administrator may be cited by the probate court to render account of his administration at any time after the expiration of six months from the time of his receiving letters testamentary or of administration, when it is made to appear to the satisfaction of the probate court, by the application, under oath, of any party interested in the estate, that there are assets in the hands of such executor or administrator, the whole or any portion of which ought to be immediately decreed to be paid to such applicant. Every executor or administrator failing to render his account within one year, as required by section two hundred and eighty-two of this chapter [1341], may be cited by such court to render such account upon the application, under oath, of any party interested in the estate. When a new administrator shall be appointed in the place of any former executor or administrator of the same estate, the probate court shall have power, upon the application of such new administrator, to cite such former executor or administrator to render account of his administration; and such order or decree thereupon as may be proper shall be made by such court, requiring such former executor or administrator to turn over and deliver to such new administrator any estate or effects remaining in the hands of such former executor or administrator unadministered. When an executor or administrator, after being duly cited by the probate court, shall neglect to render his account, or shall render a false account, he shall be liable on his bond for all damages that may accrue, and such court may also proceed against him as for a contempt, in like manner as in cases in other courts of record. An executor or administrator shall not be cited as herein provided, when there shall be in force an order of such court giving him permission to delay the rendering of his account.

Rewritten 1873, G. S., p. 332.

1345. When costs are allowed in any case against an executor or administrator, execution shall not issue against tne estate of the deceased in his hands therefor, but shall be awarded against him as his own debt; and the amount paid by him shall be allowed in his administration account, unless it shall appear that the suit or proceeding in which the costs shall be taxed shall have been prosecuted or resisted without just cause.

All after * added 1887, p. 389.

PARTITION AND DISTRIBUTION OF ESTATES.

1347. Before any partition or division of any estate among the heirs, devisees, or legatees, as provided in this subdivision, the probate court shall make an allowance for the necessary expenses of the support of any children of the deceased under seven years of age; and it shall be the duty of the executor or administrator to retain in his hands sufficient estate for that purpose, except when some provision is made by will for their support.

Amended 1873, G. S., p. 333. See Alexander v. Alexander, 26, 68 (41 N. W., 1065).

1348. After the payment of the debts, funeral charges, and the expenses of administration, and after the allowances made for the expense of the maintenance of the family of the deceased, and for the support of the children under seven years of age, and after the assignment to the widow of her dower, and of her share in the personal estate, or when sufficient assets shall be reserved in the hands of the executor or administrator for the above purposes, the county court shall, by a decree for that purpose, assign the residue of the estate, if any, to such other persons as are by law entitled to the same.

Amended 1881, p. 234. Is constitutional. In re Creighton, 12, 280 (11 N. W., 313).

1349. In such decree the court shall name the persons, and the proportions or parts to which each shall be entitled, and such persons shall have the right to demand and recover their respective shares from the executor or administrator, or any person having the same.

1350. Such decree may be made on the application of the executor or administrator or of any person interested; but no heir, devisee, or legatee shall be entitled to a decree for his share until payment of the debts and allowances and expenses mentioned in the preceding section shall have been made or provided for, unless he shall give a bond to the county judge, with such surety or sureties as he may direct, to secure the payment of the just proportion of such heir, devisee, or legatee of such debts and expenses, or such part thereof as shall remain unprovided for, and to indemnify the executor or administrator against the same.

Amended 1881, p. 234, and secs. 293 to 310, except secs. 304 and 305, of old law repealed.

1351. When such estate shall consist in part of real estate, and shall descend to two or more heirs, devisees, or legatees, and the respective shares shall not be separate and distinguished, partition thereof may be made as provided by law.

Rewritten 1881, p. 235.

1352. Any person aggrieved by an order, decree, or denial of a court in pursuance of the provisions of this subdivision, may appeal therefrom as provided for in other cases.

1353. The partition, when finally confirmed and established, shall be conclusive on all the heirs and devisees, and all persons claiming under them, and upon all persons interested.

PROBATE BONDS, AND THE PROSECUTION OF THEM.

1354. All bonds required by law to be taken in or by order of the probate court shall be for such sum and with such sureties as the judge of probate shall direct, except when the law otherwise prescribes; and such bonds shall be for the security and benefit of all persons interested, and shall be taken to the judge of probate, except where they are required by law to be taken to the adverse party.

Omission to personally name judge not fatal. Buel v. Dickey, 9, 293 (2 N. W., 884). Principal's name may be signed by agent authorized in writing. Morgan v. Burgen, 3, 213.

1355. A suit may be brought on the bond of an executor or administrator by any creditor, when the amount due to him has been ascertained and ordered by the decree of distribution to be paid, if the executor or administrator shall neglect to pay the same when demanded.

1356. Such a suit may be brought by any person as next of kin to recover his share of the personal estate, after a decree of the probate court declaring the amount due to him, if the executor or administrator shall fail to pay the same when demanded.

Suit may be brought in the name of the probate judge. Buel v. Dickey, 9, 290 (2 N. W., 884).

1357. When it shall appear, on the representation of any person interested in the estate, that the executor or administrator has failed to perform his duty in any other particular than those before specified, the judge of probate may authorize any creditor, next of kin, legatee, or other person aggrieved by such maladmintstration to bring an action on the bond.

1358. Whenever an executor or administrator shall refuse or omit to perform any order or decree made by a judge of probate having jurisdiction, for rendering an account or upon a settlement of any account, or for the payment of debts, legacies, or distributive shares, or for the delivery of specific legacies, such probate judge may authorize the party aggrieved by such refusal or omission to bring an action on the bond of such executor or administrator.

Amended 1873, G. S., p. 338.

1359. In all suits upon such bonds as are mentioned in this subdivision the action shall be brought in the name of the party authorized to bring the same, or in the name of the guardian of such party; and in such action the plaintiff shall be entitled to recover such damages as he may have sustained, to the amount of the bond and no more; and a judgment in favor of a party for one delinquency shall not preclude the same, or another party, from an account on the same bond for other delinquencies; but the aggregate of all the recoveries on such bond cannot exceed the amount for which the bond was given.

Action was formerly brought in name of probate judge. Amended 1873, G. S., p. 338.

1360. On the application of any person authorized by this subdivision to commence a suit on such bond, the judge of probate may grant permission to such person to prosecute the same, and shall thereupon furnish to the applicant, on his paying the legal fee, a certified copy of the bond, together with a certificate that permission has been granted to prosecute it, and the name and residence of the applicant.

1361.* When an executor or administrator shall, for any of the causes mentioned in this chapter, be removed from his trust, or shall die, or his authority shall otherwise be extinguished, and a new administrator shall be appointed, such new administrator shall be the party entitled to bring an action upon the bond of the former executor or administrator, for any damages sustained by reason of his neglect or refusal, or the neglect or refusal of his representatives, to turn over to such new administrator, pursuant to the order or decree of the probate court, or according to law, any estate remaining unadministered.

Administrator de bonis non should charge himself with amount of penalty, original administrator's bond, and hold the same as assets in his hands for the payments of the debts of the estate. Jacobs v Morrow, 21, 239 (31 N. W., 739). Under facts stated, held that estate of former administrator liable to new, would be liable only after settlement of former's accounts and allowance of just credits. Brown v. Jacobs, 24, 713 (40 N. W., 137).

1362. When the guardian of a minor, insane person, or spendthrift shall be removed from his trust, shall die, or his authority shall otherwise be extinguished, and a new guardian shall be appointed, such new guardian shall be the party entitled to bring an action upon the bond of the former guardian, for any damages sustained by reason of his neglect or refusal, or the neglect or refusal of his representatives, to turn over to such new guardian, according to the order or decree of the probate court, or according to law, any estate of the ward.

1363. When an action is brought by any creditor, heir at law, next of kin, or legatee, or devisee, upon the bond of any executor or administrator, as provided in this chapter, the judgment thereon, if in favor of the plaintiff, shall be deemed a satisfaction, so far as such plaintiff is concerned, of so much of such order or decree, for the omission or refusal to perform which the judgment was rendered.

*Secs. 1361 to 1365, rewritten 1873, G. S., pp. 338-9.

1364. When an action is brought pursuant to section three hundred and eighteen of this chapter [1361], by any new administrator, the money collected therein by such new administrator shall be assets in his hands, to be administered according to law; and the probate court may make such new order or decree for the distribution thereof as the circumstances of the case may require.

1365. Whenever an action is rightfully brought by any creditor, heir at law, next of kin, or legatee, pursuant to the provisions of this chapter, the same shall, so far as the causes of action therein are concerned, be a bar to any other cause of action which might have accrued under the provisions of this chapter, but no farther; nor shall such bar arise from the failure of any such creditor, heir at law, next of kin, legatee, [or] devisee to bring an action after the same shall have accrued and before the appointment of an administrator.

CONVEYANCE OF REAL ESTATE BY EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS IN CERTAIN CASES.

1366. When any person who is bound by a contract in writing to convey any real estate shall die before making the conveyance, the court may make a decree authorizing and directing the executor or administrator to convey such real estate to the person entitled thereto, in all cases where such deceased person, if living, might be compelled to execute such conveyance.

In this and following sections of the act, jurisdiction changed from probate to district court. 1867, p. 127.

1367. On the presentation of a petition, by any person claiming to be entitled to such conveyance from any executor or administrator, setting forth the facts upon which such claim is predicated, the judge shall appoint a time and place of hearing such petition, and shall order notice of the pendency thereof, and of the time and place of hearing, to be published at least six successive weeks before such hearing, in such newspaper or newspapers in this state as he may deem necessary.

1368. At the time and place appointed for such hearing, or at such other time as the same may be adjourned to, upon proof by affidavit of the due publication of the notice, the court shall proceed to a hearing, and all persons interested in the estate may appear before the court and defend against such petition, and the court may examine on oath the petitioner, and all others who may be produced before them for that purpose.

1369. After a full hearing upon such petition, and examination of the facts and circumstances of such claim, if the judge of the district court shall be satisfied that the petitioner is entitled to a conveyance of the real estate described in his petition, according to the provisions of this subdivision, he shall thereupon make a decree authorizing and directing the executor or administrator to make and execute a conveyance thereof to the petitioner.

1370. Any person interested may appeal from such decree to the district court for the same county, as in other cases, but if no appeal be taken from such decree within the time limited therefor by law, or if such decree be affirmed on appeal, it shall be the duty of the executor or administrator to execute the conveyance according to the direction contained in such decree; and a certified copy of the decree shall be recorded with the deed, in the office of the register of deeds in the county where the lands lie, and shall be evidence of the correctness of the proceedings, and of the authority of the executor or administrator to make the conveyance.

1371. If, upon a hearing in the district court as heretofore provided, the judge shall doubt the right of the petitioner to have a specific performance of the contract, he shall dismiss the petition without prejudice to the rights of the petitioner, who may at any time thereafter have a bill in chancery to enforce a specific performance of the contract, as hereinafter provided.

1372. Whenever any person who is bound by any contract to convey any real estate shall die before making the conveyance, the person entitled thereto may have a bill in the court of chancery to enforce a specific performance of the contract, by his heirs, devisees, or the executor or administrator of the deceased party who made such contract.

Where agent of creditors bids in property at execution sale and afterwards receives a sum of money for releasing the property to the judgment debtor, though sale confirmed and deed made to agents, courts will decree a conveyance. Stevens v. Cooper, 2, 375.

1373. The court of chancery shall hear and determine every such case brought in said court, according to the course of proceedings in chancery, and shall make such decree therein as justice and equity shall require.

1374. If it shall appear that the complainant is entitled to have a conveyance, the court may authorize and require the executor or administrator of the deceased party to convey the estate in like manner as the deceased party might and ought to have done if living; and if the heirs or devisees of such deceased person, or any of them, shall be within this state, and competent to act, the court may require them, or either of them, instead of the executor or administrator, to join in such conveyance with the executor or administrator.

1375. Every conveyance made in pursuance of a decree of the district court, or the court of chancery, as provided in this subdivision, shall be effectual to pass the estate contracted for as fully as if the contracting party himself was still living and then executed the conveyance.

1376. A copy of the decree for conveyance, made by the court and duly certified and recorded in the office of the county clerk in the county where the lands lie, or a copy of the decree of the court of chancery for that purpose, duly certified by the clerk or register of that court, and recorded as aforesaid, shall give the person entitled to such conveyance a right to the possession of the lands contracted for and to hold the same according to the terms of the intended conveyance, in like manner as if they had been conveyed in pursuance of the decree.

1377. The recording of any decree, as provided in the preceding section, shall not prevent the court making such decree from enforcing the same by any proper process according to the course of proceedings therein.

1378. If the person to whom the conveyance was to be made shall die before the commencement of proceedings according to the provisions of this subdivision, or before the conveyance is completed, any person who would have been entitled to the estate under him as heir, devisee, or otherwise, in case the conveyance had been made according to the terms of the contract, or the executor or administrator of such deceased person, for the benefit of the person so entitled, may commence such proceedings, or may prosecute the same, if already commenced, and the conveyance shall thereupon be so made as to vest the estate in the same persons who would have been so entitled to it, or in the executor or administrator for their benefit.

Secs. 1379 to 1381. "An act providing for the conveyance of real estate by executors and administrators in certain cases." 1889, p. 490. In force March 12.

1379. When a person who has entered into a written contract for the sale and conveyance of an interest in land dies before the completion thereof, and his executor, administrator, or other legal representative desires to complete the contract, he may file a petition therefor in the district court of the county in which the land or any part thereof is situated; the application for hearing on such petition, and service of notice of the pendency of such action, shall be made in the same manner as in actions against the representatives of a decedent to compel the conveyance of land, as provided in section 324 of chapter 23 of the Compiled Statutes, entitled "Decedents" [1367], and the heirs at law, devisees, or other legal representatives of the deceased vendor, when not plaintiffs, must be made defendants in the action.

1380. When there is more than one of such contracts so made by such deceased vendor in his lifetime, although with different persons, and for different tracts of land, which the legal representatives of such deceased vendor desire to complete, such contracts may all be described and included in one petition, and deeds may be ordered to the different persons entitled thereto, as provided in the next section.

1381. The court, after causing to be secured to, and for the benefit of the estate of the deceased its just part and proportion of the consideration of the contract or contracts, may authorize the executors, administrator, or other legal representative, to complete the same, and to execute a deed or deeds, for and on behalf of the heirs at law, to the purchaser or purchasers which shall recite the order, and be as binding on the heirs at law, and all other persons interested, as if it or they had been made by the deceased in his lifetime.

Secs. 1382 to 1385. "An act in reference to executors and administrators and probate judges, and for disposing of the real estate of decedents, spendthrifts, or minors." 1869, p. 169. In force February 15.

1382. When an executor or administrator shall die, be removed from office, or resign, or when his letters shall be revoked during the pendency of any suit in which he is a party, the suit may be prosecuted by or against the executor or administrator appointed in his place, if any shall be appointed, in like manner as if it had originally been commenced by or against such last executor or administrator.

1383. An executor or administrator duly appointed in any other state or county may commence and prosecute any action or suit in any court in this state, in his capacity of executor or administrator, in like manner and under like restrictions as a non-resident may be permitted to sue; Provided*, That in case any executor or administrator shall have been appointed in this state, such person only shall be entitled to commence and prosecute actions or suits within this state in his capacity as such executor or administrator.

All after * added 1885, p. 247. Administrator may commence suit and action may be revived in name of his executor or administrator. Hendrix v. Rieman, 6, 522. See McAnulty v. McClay, 16, 420 (20 N. W., 266). A foreign executor may sue in this state, and the production of his letters is sufficient authority. Cheney, Ex'r, v. Stone (Dist. Neb.), 29 Fed. Rep., 885.

1384. Every executor or administrator who may have given bond in this state, with surety agreeably to law, shall be authorized in all cases of appeal from one court to another, by him made, to prosecute the same without filing an appeal bond, such appeal to be prosecuted to the district court as appeals are now taken from courts of justices of the peace.

1385. The judge of the district court of the state may, upon the application of an executor, administrator, or guardian, to sell or dispose of the real estate of decedents, spendthrifts, or minors, hear and determine the same at chambers in vacation; Provided, That in all cases where the judge shall order a sale of any real estate, while sitting at chambers, he shall make out in writing a copy of said order, and cause the same to be filed in the office of the clerk of said court, and said clerk shallthere upon record said order, in the record book of said court, before any sale shall be made as aforesaid.

Cited and construed, Stack v. Royce, 34, 563 (52 N. W., 675).

Secs. 1386 to 1389. "An act providing for selling the interests of a deceased partner and settling the accounts between him and his surviving partners." 1883, p. 223. In force February 28.

1386. The county court which shall have issued letters testamentary or of administration upon the estate of a deceased partner may, upon due notice to all parties interested, authorize the executor or administrator of such deceased partner to sell at public auction his interest in the partnership property, and the surviving partner may be a purchaser at such sale the same as any disinterested party. The administrator or executor making such sale shall report his proceedings thereon to the court, and upon due notice to all persons interested, the court may confirm the sale, or, good reason therefor appearing, may set the same aside and order another sale. The court shall also direct the execution of such paper titles to the property sold as the circumstances require.

1387. The executor or administrator making such sale shall account for the partnership interest so sold at the price at which it shall be sold.

1388. The executor or administrator of a deceased partner shall settle with the surviving partner all the dealings and transactions of the partnership, as well as those remaining unsettled before the death of the deceased partner, as of the said parties thereafter, and shall present to the county court appointing such executor or administrator a full statement of the matter and manner of such settlement, and upon due notice to all parties interested, the said court shall examine, review, correct, approve, or disallow such settlement. But if the said legal representatives of such deceased partner and the surviving partner cannot agree upon such settlement, the accounts of the dealings and transactions of the partnership shall be settled as heretofore.

1389. In case the executor or administrator of a deceased partner be also his surviving partner, the county court appointing him shall appoint a special administrator to discharge the duties herein provided, and his powers shall be limited thereto. Such appointment shall be made upon the same proceedings as are provided by law for the appointment of special administrators, when there is delay in the granting general letters testamentary or of administration.

Secs. 1390 and 1391. "An act to permit county judges to grant authority to administrators of intestate estates to mortgage real estate for certain purposes and if necessary appoint special administrators therefor." 1887, p. 390. In force April 2.

1390. The county judge, upon proper showing by petition, supported by competent testimony, showing that the best interests of the estate demand it, grant authority to the administrator of intestate estates, and guardians of estates of minor children to mortgage any real estate, belonging to such estates, where mortgages existing on such real estate are due, or are about to become due, and there is no money belonging to such estate with which to pay or redeem such mortgage; Provided, That in no instance shall authority be granted by such county judge to such administrator or guardians to mortgage such real estate for a greater sum than the amount secured by the original mortgage.

Amended and guardian added 1893, ch. 17, p. 151. In force April 7.

Secs. 1392 and 1393. "An act authorizing a recovery of damages by the personal representatives of a person whose death is caused by the wrongful act of a person, company, or corporation."[*] 1873. In force February 25. G. S., p. 272.

1392. That whenever the death of a person shall be caused by the wrongful act, neglect, or default, and the act, neglect, or default is such as would, if death had not ensued, have entitled the party injured to maintain an action and recover damages, in respect thereof, then, and in every such case, the person who, or company or corporation which, would have been liable if death had not ensued, shall be liable to an action for damages, notwithstanding the death of the person injured, and although the death shall have been caused under such circumstances as amount in law to felony.

[] This statute is substantially a re-enactment of Lord Campbell's act of 1846 (9 and 10 Vict., ch. 93), which is the model of nearly all American legislation on the subject. See Cooley, Torts, 263.

1393. That every such action shall be brought by and in the names of the personal representatives of such deceased person, and the amount recovered in every such action shall be for the exclusive benefit of the widow and next of kin of such deceased person, and shall be distributed to such widow and next of kin in the proportion provided by law in relation to the distribution of personal property left by persons dying intestate; and in every such action the jury may give such damages as they shall deem a fair and just compensation with reference to the pecuniary injuries, resulting from such death, to the wife, and next of kin of such deceased person, not exceeding the sum of five thousand dollars; Provided, That every such action shall be commenced within two years after the death of such person.

Petition under this section must allege what relatives left. B. & M. R. R. Co. v. Crockett, 17, 573 (24 N. W., 219). Action for causing death must be brought by personal representatives of deceased. Wilson v. Bumstead, 12, 3 (10 N. W., 411). Husband is not "next of kin." It must appear that there is a widow, or some person "next of kin," to entitle the administrator to recover. Warren v. Englehart, 13, 284 (13 N. W., 401). It is no defense that the deceased came to his death while working for defendant on Sunday. Johnson v. M. P. R. R. Co., 18, 700 (26 N. W., 347). Damages are not to be established by the value of the life lost, but at such sum as will compensate the next of kin for the pecuniary injury. Anderson v. C., B. & Q. R. Co., 35, 101 (52 N. W., 840).

CHAPTER 13.—DOMESTIC RELATIONS.

Secs. 1394 to 1410 formed ch. 34. R. S. 1866, p. 251, entitled "Marriage."

1394. In law, marriage is considered a civil contract, to which the consent of the parties capable of contracting is essential.

The consent of the contracting parties is the essential of the contract. Bailey v. State, — Neb., — (55 N. W., 242).

1395. At the time of the marriage the male must be of the age of eighteen years or upwards, and the female of the age of sixteen years or upwards.

1396. Marriages are void: First—When one party is a white person and the other is possessed of one-fourth or more negro blood. Second—When either party has a husband or wife living at the time of marriage. Third—When either party is insane, or an idiot, at the time of marriage. Fourth—When the parties stand to the relation to each other of parents and children, grandparents and grandchildren, brother and sister, of half as well as whole blood, uncle and niece, aunt and nephew; and this subdivision extends to illegitimate as well as legitimate children and relatives.

1398. When either party is a minor, no license shall be granted without the verbal consent, if present, or written consent, if absent, of the father, if living, if not, then of the mother, of such minor, or of the guardian or person under whose care and government such minor may be, which written consent shall be proved by the testimony of at least one competent witness.

1399. When application shall be made for a license to the probate judge he shall upon the granting of such license state therein the Christian and surnames of the fathers of both parties, the Christian and maiden names of the mothers of both parties, the Christian and surnames of the parties, the residence of both parties, their places of birth, their respective ages, their color, which license shall, prior to the issuing thereof, be entered of record, in the office of the probate judge, in a suitable book to be provided for that purpose.

1400. If, on such testimony being given, it shall appear that either of the parties is legally incompetent to enter into such contract, or that there is any impediment in the way, or, if either party is a minor, and the consent mentioned in section five shall not be given, the said judge shall refuse to grant a license.

1401. Every judge and justice of the peace, and every preacher of the gospel, authorized by the usages of the church to which he belongs, to solemnize marriages, may perform the marriage ceremony in this state; *and every such person performing the marriage ceremony shall enter upon the said license a full return of his proceedings in the premises, which return shall be made to the probate judge of the proper county, within three months after such marriage ceremony has been performed, and which return the said probate judge shall record or cause to be recorded in the same book where the said marriage license is recorded.

Amended and all after * added 1869, p. 168.

1402. In the solemnization of marriage no particular form shall be required except that the parties shall solemnly declare, in the presence of the magistrate or minister and the attending witnesses, that they take each other as husband and wife; and in any case there shall be at least two witnesses, besides the minister or magistrate present at the ceremony.

Not indispensable that clergyman or magistrate should be present to authorize contract; it may be made in one state and if followed by celebration and cohabitation in another, is valid. Gibson v. Gibson, 24, 434 (39 N. W., 450).

1403. Whenever a marriage shall have been solemnized pursuant to the provisions of this chapter, the minister or magistrate who solemnized the same shall give to each of the parties, on request, a certificate, under his hand, specifying the names, ages, and places of residence of the parties married, the names and residence of at least two witnesses who were present at such marriage, and the time and place thereof.

1404. Every person having authority to join others in marriage shall, within three months after the solemnization of any such marriage, make and deliver to the probate judge of the county in which the marriage took place, a certificate containing the particulars mentioned in the preceding section.

1405. The probate judge of each county in the state shall record all such returns of such marriages in a book to be kept for that purpose, within one month after receiving the same.

1406. [Violation of act—Penalty.]—If any justice, minister, or other person whose duty it is to make and transmit to the probate judge such certificate, shall neglect to make and deliver the same; or if the probate judge shall neglect to to record such certificate; or if any person shall undertake to join others in marriage, knowing that he is not legally authorized so to do, or knowing of any legal impediment to the proposed marriage; or if any person authorized to solemnize any marriage shall willfully and knowingly make a false certificate of any marriage to the probate judge; or if the said probate judge shall willfully and knowingly make a false record of any certificate of marriage to him made, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or imprisonment for a period not exceeding one year, at the discretion of the court.

1407. No marriage solemnized before any person professing to be a justice of the peace, or a minister of the gospel, shall be deemed or adjudged to be void, nor shall the validity thereof be in any way affected on account of any want of jurisdiction or authority in such supposed justice or minister; Provided, The marriage be consummated with a full belief on the part of the persons so married, or either of them, that they have been lawfully joined in marriage.

A marriage entered into in good faith is valid, though no license issued, and person performing was unauthorized. Haggin v. Haggin, 35, 379 (53 N. W., 209).

1408. It shall be lawful for every religious society to join together in marriage such persons as are of the said society, according to the rites and customs of such society to which they belong; the clerk or keeper of the minutes, proceedings, or other book of the religious society wherein such marriage shall be had, or if there be no such clerk or keeper of the minutes, then the moderator or person presiding in such society, shall make out and transmit to the probate judge of the county a certificate of the marriage, and the same shall be recorded in like manner as is provided in the preceding section of this chapter.

1409. The original certificate and record of marriage made by the minister, officer, or person, as prescribed in this chapter, and the record thereof, made as prescribed, or a copy of such record, duly certified by such officer, shall be received in all courts and places as presumptive evidence of the fact of such marriage.

May be proved by an eye witness of ceremony. Lord v. State, 17, 529 (23 N. W., 507).

1410. All marriages contracted without this state, which would be valid by the laws of the country in which the same were contracted, shall be valid in all courts and places in this state.

Private marriage in Illinois held not invalid in that state and hence binding in Nebraska. Gibson v. Gibson, 24, 429 (39 N. W., 450). A marriage valid in state where contracted will be held valid here. Bailey v. State, — Neb., — (55 N. W., 242).

Secs. 1411 to 1416. "An act respecting the rights of married women." 1871, p. 68. In force June 1.

1411. The property, real and personal, which any woman in this state may own at the time of her marriage, and the rents, issues, profits, or proceeds thereof, and any real, personal, or mixed property, which shall come to her by descent, devise, or the gift of any person except her husband, or which she shall acquire by purchase or otherwise, shall remain her sole and separate property, notwithstanding her marriage, and shall not be subject to the disposal of her husband, or liable for his debts; Provided*, That all property of a married woman not exempt by law from sale on execution or attachment shall be liable for the payment of all debts contracted for necessaries furnished the family of said married woman after execution against the husband for such indebtedness has been returned unsatisfied for want of goods and chattels, lands and tenements whereon to levy and make the same.

Words "or bequest" after devise omitted and * to * added 1875, p. 88; and all after last * added 1887, p. 478. Wife's separate property not liable for husband's debts, although he had reduced it to his possession so it would be liable under the common law. Deck v. Smith, 12. 389 (11 N. W., 852). Since the act of 1875 there is no law subjecting the separate property of a married woman to execution or sale for any debt of her husband whatever. Spellman v. Davis, 14, 264 (15 N. W., 336). Female marrying under sixteen years can convey her real estate after arriving at that age. Ward v. Laverty, 19, 431 (27 N. W., 393). Wife may become creditor of husband. Montieth v. Bax, 4, 170. In contest between creditors, presumption against wife. First National Bank v. Bartlett, 8, 329. Exempt property cannot be taken for necessaries. Schaller v. Kurtz, 25, 658 (41 N. W., 642). The wife is in fact surety for her husband for necessaries, but judgment must be recovered against her before her property can be levied on therefor. George v. Edney et ux., 36, — (54 N. W., 986). No presumption of law that personalty in possession of wife while living with her husband belongs to latter. Oberfelder v. Kavanaugh, 29, 428 (45 N. W., 471). See Davis v. First National Bank of Cheyenne, 5, 246; Edgerly v. Gregory, 17, 348 (22 N. W., 776); Reed v. Morton, 24, 760 (40 N. W., 282); Bowen v. Foss, 28, 373 (44 N. W., 450); Howell v. Hathaway, 28, 807 (44 N. W., 1136).

1412. A married woman, while the marriage relation subsists, may bargain, sell, and convey her real and personal property, and enter into any contract with reference to the same in the same manner, to the same extent, and with like effect as a married man may in relation to his real and personal property.

Common law rule adopted. Aultman, Taylor & Co. v. Obermeyer, 6, 264. Wife bound by her contracts regarding her separate estate. Stalnaker v. Morrisson, 6, 363. Married woman may make the same disposition of her individual property as may a married man. Webb v. Hoselton, 4, 315. A married woman is liable upon her contract of warranty for her property. Real v. Hollister, 17, 667 (24 N. W., 333). Married woman may bind her separate property to secure her husband's debts. Stevenson v. Craig, 12, 468 (12 N. W., 1). Mortgage given by a married woman to secure her husband's note made three months before, there being no new consideration, cannot be enforced. Kansas Mfg. Co. v. Gandy, 11, 448 (9 N. W., 569). Married woman is not liable on note signed by her unless it was given with reference to and upon the faith and credit of her separate property. Barnum v. Young, 10, 311 (4 N. W., 1054). Where husband transacts business for his wife and she ratifies his acts, she is bound. McMurtry v. Brown, 6, 377. Making and delivering of a promissory note by husband to wife for a valuable consideration, a valid contract. May v. May, 9, 22 (2 N. W., 221). Bona fide contract between husband and wife will not be declared fraudulent, from the mere fact that years afterward the husband was unable to pay his debts. Van Deuzer v. Peacock, 11, 249 (9 N. W., 90). Wife not liable for medical services for family. Spaun v. Mercer, 8, 359. See Shortel v. Young, 23, 420 (36 N. W., 572).

1413. A woman may, while married, sue and be sued, in the same manner as if she were unmarried.

Wife may maintain suit against her husband on promissory note. May v. May, 9, 25 (2 N. W., 221). Wife may maintain an action for an injury to her person. Omaha Horse Ry. Co. v. Doolittle, 7, 486.

1414. Any married woman may carry on trade or business, and perform any labor or services on her sole and separate account; and the earnings of any married woman, from her trade, business, labor, or services, shall be her sole and separate property, and may be used and invested by her in her own name.

To enable a married woman to avoid payment of note executed by her as security for another it is not sufficient to allege that the notes are not a charge on her separate estate; she must allege that the contract did not concern her separate property, trade, or business. Gillespie v. Smith, 20, 457 (30 N. W., 526). The earnings of the wife, while living with her husband and engaged in no separate business, are the property of the husband and liable for his debts. Brittain v. Crowther (Circ. Ct. App.), 54 Fed. Rep., 295.

1415. Any woman who shall have been married out of this state shall, if her husband afterwards become a resident of this state, enjoy all the rights as to property which she may have acquired by the laws of any other state, territory, or country, or which she may have acquired by virtue of any marriage contract or settlement made out of this state.

1416. Nothing in this act contained shall invalidate any marriage settlement or contract now made, or to be made hereafter.

Sec. 1417. "An act to exempt the property of the husband from liability of the debts contracted by the wife before marriage." 1877, p. 33. In force June 1.

1417. The property of the husband shall not be liable for any debts contracted by the wife before marriage.

Secs. 1418 to 1460, except secs. 1440 and 1441, formed ch. 16, R. S. 1866, p. 128, entitled "Divorce and Alimony."

1418. Marriages which are declared void by section three of chapter 34 [1396], entitled "Marriages," are void without any decree of divorce.

1419. In case of a marriage solemnized when either of the parties are under the age of legal consent, if they shall separate during such nonage, and not cohabit together afterwards, or in case the consent of one of the parties was obtained by force or fraud, and there shall have been no subsequent voluntary cohabitation of the parties, the marriage shall be deemed voidable.

1420. When a marriage is supposed to be void, or the validity thereof is doubted, for any of the causes mentioned or referred to in the two preceding sections, either party, excepting in the cases where a contrary provision is hereinafter made, may file a petition in the district court of the county where the parties, or one of them, reside, for annulling the same, and such petition shall be filed, and proceedings shall be had thereon, as in the case of a petition filed in said court for a divorce; and upon due proof thereof, it shall be declared void by a decree or sentence of nullity.

1421. When the validity of any marriage shall be denied or doubted by either of the parties, the other may file a petition in the manner aforesaid, for affirming the marriage, and upon due proof of the validity thereof it shall be declared valid by a decree or sentence of the court, and such decree, unless reversed on appeal, shall be conclusive upon all parties concerned.

Woman competent to testify against her alleged husband; her testimony corroborated by letters, etc., held sufficient in case stated to prove marriage when opposed to unsupported denial of husband. Gibson v. Gibson, 24, 424, 434 (39 N. W., 450).

1422. A divorce from the bonds of matrimony may be decreed by the district court of the county where the parties, or one of them, reside, on the application by the petition of the aggrieved party in either of the following cases: First—When adultery has been committed by any husband or wife. Second—When one of the parties was physically incompetent at the time of the marriage. Third—When one of the parties has been sentenced to imprisonment in any prison, jail, or house of correction, for three years or more; and no pardon granted, after a divorce for that cause, shall restore such party to his or her conjugal rights. Fourth—Where either party shall willfully abandon the other without just cause, for the term of two years. Fifth—When the husband or wife shall have become an habitual drunkard. Sixth*—When either party shall be sentenced to imprisonment for life; and no pardon shall effect a decree of divorce for that cause rendered.

*Amended and sixth clause added 1875, p. 79. Action may be brought in county where plaintiff resides and summons issued to and served upon defendant in another county. Brown v. Brown, 10, 349 (6 N. W., 397). General denial, good answer to allegation of adultery. Oades v.

Oades, 6, 306. See Powers v. Powers, 20, 536 (31 N. W., 1); Paden v. Paden 28, 275 (44 N. W., 228); James v. James, 29, 533 (45 N. W., 777). In divorce proceedings each party may reside in a county different from that in which the other resides. McConnell v. McConnell, — Neb., — (55 N. W., 293).

1423. A divorce from the bonds of matrimony or from bed and board may be decreed for the cause of extreme cruelty, whether practiced by using personal violence, or by other means; or for utter desertion of either party for the term of two years; and a like divorce may be decreed, on complaint of the wife, when the husband, being of sufficient ability to provide suitable maintenance for her, shall grossly or wantonly and cruelly refuse or neglect so to do.

Mere rudeness of language, austerity of temper, etc., not sufficient. Gleason v. Gleason, 16, 15 (19 N. W., 784). Husband must grossly or wantonly refuse or neglect to support the wife to entitle her to a divorce. Faller v. Faller, 10, 145 (4 N. W., 1036).

1424. No divorce shall be granted unless the complainant shall have resided in this state for six months immediately preceding the time of filing the complaint, or unless the marriage was solemnized in this state, and the applicant shall have resided therein from the time of the marriage to the time of filing the complaint.

At least one of the parties must be bona fide resident of place where divorce is granted. Smith v. Smith, 19, 706 (28 N. W., 296).

1425. No divorce shall be decreed in any case when it shall appear that the petition therefor was founded in or exhibited by collusion between the parties, nor where the party complaining shall be guilty of the same crime or misconduct charged against the respondent.

Courts of general jurisdiction can vacate decree after term at which rendered, if obtained by fraud. Wisdom v. Wisdom, 24, 551 (39 N. W., 594).

1426. A petition or bill of divorce, alimony, and maintenance may be exhibited by a wife in her own name, as well as a husband; and in all cases the respondent may answer such petition or bill without oath; *and in all cases of divorce, alimony, and maintenance, when personal service cannot be had, service by publication may be made as is provided by law in other civil cases under the Code of Civil Procedure.

Amended and all after * added 1869, p. 28. Affidavit for service by publication defective, court acquires no jurisdiction. Atkins v. Atkins, 9, 191 (2 N. W., 466). See Shedenhelm v. Shedenhelm, 21, 390 (32 N. W., 170).

1427. Either party may be a witness as in other civil cases.

This section added 1869, p. 28.

1428. Suits to annul or affirm a marriage, or for a divorce, shall be conducted in the same manner as other suits in courts of equity; and the court shall have the power to award issues, to decree costs, and enforce its decrees as in other cases.

1429. In every suit brought, either for a divorce or for a separation, the court may, in its discretion, require the husband to pay any sum necessary to enable the wife to carry on or defend the suit during its pendency; and it may decree costs against either party, and award execution for the same; or it may direct such costs to be paid out of any property sequestered, or in the power of the court, or in the hands of a receiver.

See Eckhard v. Eckhard, 29, 459 (45 N. W., 466). The amount allowed the wife's attorney in the divorce proceedings is conclusive. He cannot afterwards sue the husband for additional fees. Burnham v. Tizard, 31, 783 (48 N. W., 823).

1430. After the exhibition of the petition in a suit to annul a marriage, or for a divorce, whether from the bonds of matrimony or from bed and board, the court may at any time, either in term or vacation, on the petition of the wife, prohibit the husband from imposing any restraint upon her personal liberty during the pendency of the cause.

1431. The court may in like manner, on the application of either party, make such order concerning the care and custody of the minor children of the parties, and their suitable maintenance, during the pendency of such suit, as shall be deemed proper and necessary, and for the benefit of the children.

Custody of children taken from grandparents, with whom erring wife lived, and awarded to husband. Eckhard v. Eckhard, 29, 459 (45 N. W., 466).

1432. Upon pronouncing a sentence or decree of nullity of a marriage, and also upon decreeing a divorce, whether from the bonds of matrimony or from bed and board, the court may make such further decree as it shall deem just and proper concerning the care, custody, and maintenance of the minor children of the parties, and may determine with which of the parents the children or any of them shall remain.

1433. The court may from time to time, afterwards, on the petition of either of the parents, revise and alter such decree concerning the care, custody, and maintenance of the children, or any of them, and make a new decree concerning the same, as the circumstances of the parents and the benefit of the children shall require.

1434. Whenever nullity of a marriage or a divorce from the bonds of matrimony for any cause* shall be decreed, or when the husband shall be sentenced to imprisonment for life, and also upon every divorce from bed and board, the wife shall be entitled to the immediate possession of all her real estate in like manner as if her husband were dead.

*Exception in case of adultery of wife omitted 1887, p. 391.

1435. Upon every such dissolution of a marriage, as is specified in the preceding section, and also upon every divorce from bed and board, the court may make a further decree for restoring to the wife the whole, or such part as it shall deem just and reasonable, of the personal estate that shall have come to the husband by reason of the marriage, or for awarding to her the value thereof, to be paid by her husband in money.

1436. Upon every divorce for adultery committed by the husband, and upon every divorce from bed and board for any cause, when any personal estate of the wife, or money in lieu thereof, shall be awarded to her, as provided in the preceding section, the court, instead of ordering the same to be delivered or paid into the hands of the wife, may order it to be delivered or paid into the hands of a trustee or trustees, to be appointed by the court, upon trust, to invest the same, and to apply the income thereof to the support and maintenance of the wife, and of the minor children of the marriage, or any of them, in such manner as the court shall direct.

1437. Such trustees shall also pay over the principal sum to the wife and children of the marriage, when ordered by the court, in such proportions and at such times as the court shall direct, regard being had in the disposition of said income, as well as of the principal sum, to the situation and circumstances of the wife and children; and the said trustees shall give such bonds as the court shall require for the faithful performance of their trust.

1438. Whenever the court shall think proper to award to the wife any of her personal estate, or any money in lieu thereof, in pursuance to the foregoing provisions, such court may require the husband to disclose, on oath, what personal estate has come to him, by reason of the marriage, and how the same has been disposed of, and what portion thereof still remains in his hands.

1439. Upon every divorce from the bonds of matrimony for any cause excepting that of adultery committed by the wife, and also upon every divorce from bed and board, from any cause, if the estate and effects restored or awarded to the wife shall be insufficient for the suitable support and maintenance of herself and such children of the marriage as shall be committed to her care and custody, the court may further decree to her such part of the personal estate of the husband and such alimony out of his estate as it shall deem just and reasonable, having regard to the ability of the husband, the character and situation of the parties, and all other circumstances of the case.

Wife entitled to alimony in every case except adultery. Alimony may be granted after the divorce. Dickerson v. Dickerson, 26, 322 (42 N. W., 9). Court may decree alimony in a suit therefor, independent of divorce. Earle v. Earle, 27, 283 (43 N. W., 118). An order for alimony and suit money cannot be taken to supreme court before final judgment on the application for divorce. Aspinwall v. Aspinwall, 18, 463 (25 N. W., 623). A ruling on a motion to retax costs is reviewable. Whitall v. Cressman, 18, 509 (26 N. W., 245). See Swansen v. Swansen, 12, 212 (10 N. W., 713; Reno v. Hale, 28, 646 (44 N. W., 996).

Secs. 1440 and 1441. "An act to provide additional remedies for enforcement and collection of judgments and orders for alimony or maintenance." 1883, p. 224. In force June 1.

1440. All judgments and orders for payment of alimony or of maintenance in actions of divorce or maintenance shall be liens upon property in like manner as in other actions, and may in the same manner be enforced and collected by executions and proceedings in aid thereof, or other action or process as other judgments.

A non-resident wife can have no claim for alimony against land transferred by her husband during her lifetime. Atkins v. Atkins, 18, 476 (25 N. W., 724). This remedy to enforce judgment for alimony is exclusive; failure to pay is not a contempt. Segear v. Segear, 23, 308 (36 N. W., 536).

1441. The remedy given by this act shall be held to be cumulative and in no respect to take away or abridge any subsisting remedy or power of the court for the enforcement of such judgments and orders; Provided, Nothing in this act shall affect the title of any bona fide purchaser for value holding by reason of such bona fide purchase at the date of its passage.

1442. When the marriage shall be dissolved by the husband being sentenced to imprisonment for life, and when a divorce shall be decreed for the cause of adultery committed by the husband, or misconduct or drunkeness of the husband, or on account of his being sentenced to imprisonment for a term of three years or more, the wife shall be entitled to her dower in his lands in the same manner as if he were dead; but she shall not be entitled to dower in any other case of divorce.

Wife entitled to dower where divorced on ground of misconduct of husband, but decree for permanent alimony bars dower. Tatro v. Tatro, 18, 396 (25 N. W., 571).

1443. When a divorce shall be decreed for the cause of adultery committed by his wife, the husband may hold such of her personal estate as the court shall deem just and reasonable under all the circumstances in the case, and the same shall be determined and decreed by the court at the time of the granting of such divorce.

Amended 1887, p. 392.

1444. In all cases where alimony or other allowance shall be decreed for the wife or for the children, the court may require sufficient security to be given by the husband for the payment thereof, according to the terms of the decree. And upon the neglect or refusal of the husband to give such security, or upon his failure to pay such alimony or allowance, his real or personal estate may be sold as upon execution for the payment of any sums due upon such decree. And in default of security for the payment of installments in future to fall due, the court may also appoint a receiver to take charge of his real or personal estate, or both, and hold the same, and the rents, issues, interests, and profits thereof, for security for the payment of installments in future falling due. *And judgments and decrees for alimony or maintenance shall be liens upon the property of the husband, and may be enforced and collected in the same manner as other judgments of the court wherein they are rendered.

Amended and all after * added 1883, p. 225. See Swansen v. Swansen, 12, 212 (10 N. W., 713).

1445. After a a decree for alimony or other allowance for the wife and children, or either of them, and also after a decree for the appointment of trustees to receive and hold any property for the use of the wife or children, as before provided, the court may from time to time, on the petition of either of the parties, revise and alter such decree respecting the amount of such alimony or allowance, or the payment thereof, and also respecting the appropriation and payment of the principal and income of the property so held in trust, and may make any decree respecting any of the said matters which such court might have made in the original suit.

Notice of filing of petition to set aside former decree for alimony cannot be served on former attorney in the case—a new summons is required. Ellis v. Ellis, 13, 96 (13 N. W., 29).

1446. A divorce for the cause of adultery committed by the wife shall not affect the legitimacy of the issue of the marriage, but the legitimacy of such children, if questioned, may be determined by the court upon the proofs in the case; and in every case the legitimacy of all children begotten before the commencement of the suit shall be presumed until the contrary be shown.

1447. Upon the dissolution of a marriage on account of the nonage, insanity, or idiocy of either party, the issue of the marriage shall be deemed to be, in all respects, the legitimate issue of the parent who, at the time of the marriage, was capable of contracting.

1448. When a marriage is dissolved on account of a prior marriage of either, and it shall appear that the second marriage was contracted in good faith and with the full belief of the parties that the former wife or husband was dead, the fact shall be stated in the decree of divorce or nullity, and the issue of such second marriage, born or begotten before the commencement of the suit, shall be deemed to be the legitimate issue of the parent who, at the time of the marriage, was capable of contracting.

1449. Upon the dissolution by decree or sentence of nullity of any marriage that is prohibited on account of consanguinity between the parties, or of any marriage between a white person and a negro, the issue of the marriage shall be deemed to be illegitimate.

1450. If any persons, after being divorced from the bonds of matrimony, for any cause whatever, shall cohabit together, they shall be liable for all the penalties provided by law against adultery.

1451. A petition to annul a marriage on the ground that one of the parties was under the age of legal consent may be exhibited by the parent or guardian entitled to the custody of such minor, but in no case shall such marriage be annulled on the application of a party who was of the age of legal consent at the time of the marriage, nor when it shall appear that the parties, after they had obtained the age of consent, had freely cohabited as man and wife.

1452. A petition to annul a marriage on the ground of insanity or idiocy may be exhibited by any person admitted by the court to prosecute as the next friend to such idiot or lunatic.

1453. The marriage of a lunatic may also be declared void upon the application of the lunatic after the restoration of reason, but in such case no sentence of nullity shall be pronounced if it shall appear that the parties freely cohabited as husband and wife after the lunatic was restored to a sound mind.

1454. If there shall be any issue of a marriage, annulled on the ground of force or fraud, the court shall decree their custody to the innocent person, and may also decree a provision for their education and maintenance out of the estate and property of the guilty party.

1455. A suit to annul the marriage on the ground of the physical incapacity of one of the parties shall only be maintained by the injured party against the party whose incapacity is alleged, and shall, in all cases, be brought within two years from the solemnization of the marriage.

1456. No decree of divorce and of the nullity of a marriage shall be made solely on the declarations, confessions, or admissions of the parties, but the court shall in all cases require other satisfactory evidence of the facts alleged in the petition for that purpose.

1457. In any suit brought for a divorce on the ground of adultery, although the fact of adultery be established, the court may deny a divorce in the following cases: First—When the offense shall appear to have been committed by the procurement or with the connivance of the complainant. Second—When the offense charged shall have been forgiven by the injured party, and such forgiveness be proved by express proof, or by the voluntary cohabitation of the parties with the knowledge of the offense. Third—When there shall have been no express forgiveness, and no voluntary cohabitation of the parties, but the suit shall not have been brought within five years after the discovery by the complainant of the offense charged.

1458. In case of an application for a divorce from bed and board, although a decree for such divorce be not made, the court may make such order or decree for the support and maintenance of the wife and children, or any of them, by the husband, or out of his property, as the nature of the case may render suitable and proper.

1459. When a decree of divorce from bed and board forever, or for a limited time, shall have been pronounced, it may be revoked at any time thereafter, under such regulations and restrictions as the court may impose, upon the joint application of the parties, and their producing satisfactory evidence of their reconciliation.

1460. If any married woman, at the time of exhibiting a petition against her husband, under the provisions of either of the last two sections, shall reside in this state, she shall be deemed an inhabitant thereof, although her husband may reside elsewhere.

Secs. 1461 and 1462. "An act relating to the custody of children in certain cases." 1867 (Ter.), p. 18. In force February 16.

1461. When, from any cause, a husband and wife shall separate, and the wife shall claim possession of any child or children who may be the fruit of such marriage, not exceeding twelve years of age, said wife shall apply to the probate judge of the county wherein said husband and wife resided at the time of their separation, or in which the mother may reside at the time of said application for the custody of said child or children, the probate judge shall give said husband notice of the application, together with the time set for hearing the cause, which time shall not be less than three days from the service of the notice, and the notice may be served by leaving a copy at the usual place of residence of the husband.

1462. If it shall appear that said mother is able to provide for the maintenance of such child or children, and should, under the proof presented be awarded the custody of such child or children, the probate judge shall order that such child or children shall remain in the custody of the mother until the custody of such children shall be otherwise ordered by the district court; Provided, That such order shall never be made when it shall appear by the proof [that] the wife is the offending party.

Secs. 1463 and 1464. "An act to prevent the marriage of divorced persons during the time allowed for proceedings to reverse the decree of divorce and during the pendency of such proceedings and to fix the time within which such proceedings may be commenced." 1885, p. 248. In force June 5.

1463. It shall be unlawful for any person who shall obtain a decree of divorce to marry again during the time allowed by law for commencing proceedings in error or by appeal for the reversal of such decree, and in case such proceedings shall be instituted, it shall be unlawful for the defendant in error or appellee to marry again during the pendency of such proceedings, and a violation of this act shall subject the party violating it to all the penalties of other cases of bigamy.

It is not the policy of the law to enlarge this restriction. Tatro v. Tatro, 18, 400 (25 N. W., 571).

1464. No proceedings for reversing, vacating, or modifying any decree of divorce, except in so far as such proceedings shall affect only questions of alimony, property rights, custody of children, and other matters not affecting the marital relations of the parties, shall be commenced unless within six months after the rendition of such decree, or in case the person entitled to such proceedings is an infant, a person of unsound mind, within six months, exclusive of the time of such disability.

Secs. 1465 to 1504 originally formed ch. 23, R. S. 1866, p. 178, entitled "Guardians and Wards."

1465. All male children under twenty-one and all females under eighteen years of age are declared to be minors; but in case a female marries between the ages of sixteen and eighteen, her minority ends.

Insolvent parent may emancipate sons and give them their earnings. Shortel v. Young, 23, 420 (36 N. W., 572). See Parker v. Starr, 21, 683 (33 N. W., 424).

1466. The court of probate in each county, when it shall appear to him necessary or convenient, may appoint guardians to minors and others being inhabitants or residents in the same county, and also to such as shall reside without the state, and have an estate within the same.

1467. If the minor is under the age of fourteen years, the court of probate may appoint his guardian, and if he is above the age of fourteen years he may nominate his own guardian, who, if approved by the court, shall be appointed accordingly.

1468. If the guardian nominated by such minor shall not be approved by the court, or if the minor shall reside out of the state, or if, after being cited by the court, he shall neglect to nominate a suitable person, the court may appoint the guardian in the same manner as if the minor were under the age of fourteen years.

1469. When such minor, being above the age of fourteen years, shall reside more than ten miles from the place of holding the court, his nomination of a guardian may be certified to the court of probate by a justice of the peace, which shall have the same effect as if made in the presence of the court.

1470. The father and mother are the natural guardians of their minor children, and are equally entitled to their custody, and to care for their education, being themselves competent to transact their own business, and not otherwise unsuitable. If either dies, or is disqualified for acting, the guardianship devolves upon the other.

1471. If the minor have no father or mother living, and competent to have the custody and care of the education of such minor, the guardian so appointed shall have the custody and tuition of his ward.

1472. Every guardian appointed as aforesaid shall have the care and management of the estate of the minor, and shall continue in office until such minor shall arrive at the age of twenty-one if a male, or eighteen years if a female, or until the guardian shall be discharged according to law.

1473. Every such guardian shall give bond, with surety or sureties, to the judge of probate, in such sum as the court shall order, with condition as follows: First—To make a true inventory of all the real and personal estate of the ward that shall come to his possession or knowledge, and to return the same into the court at such time as the law directs. Second—To dispose of and manage all such estate and effects according to law, and for the best interests of the ward, and faithfully to discharge his trust as such guardian. Third—To render an account on oath of the property in his hands, including the proceeds of all the real estate which may be sold by him, and of the management and disposition of such property within one year after his appointment, and at such other times as the court shall direct. Fourth—At the expiration of his trust, to settle his accounts with the court, or with the ward, or his legal representatives, and to pay over and deliver all the estate and effects remaining in his hands, or due from him on such settlement, to the person or persons who shall be lawfully entitled thereto.

Action upon guardian's bond accrues to ward when amount in hands of guardian is ascertained by county court on final settlement of guardian's account, not before. Bisbee v. Gleason, 21, 538 (32 N. W., 578).

1474. If any minor, who has a father living, has property, the income of which is sufficient for his maintenance and education in a manner more expensive than such father can reasonably afford, regard being had to the situation of the father's family, and to all the circumstances of the case, the expenses of the education and maintenance of such minor may be defrayed out of the income of his own property, in whole or in part, as shall be judged reasonable, and shall be directed by the court, and the charges therefor may be allowed accordingly in the settlement of the accounts of such guardian.

1475. The surviving parent may by last will, in writing, appoint a guardian, being competent to transact their own business, and not otherwise unsuitable, for any of the children, whether born at the time of making the will or afterwards, and every such testamentary guardian shall have the same powers and shall perform the same duties with regard to the person and estate of the ward as a guardian appointed by the court.

1476. Every such testamentary guardian shall give bond in like manner and with like condition as is hereinbefore required of a guardian appointed by the court; Provided, That when the testator, in the will appointing the guardian, shall have ordered or requested that such bond shall not be given, the bond shall not be required, unless, from a change in the situation or circumstances of the guardian, or for other sufficient cause, the court shall think proper to require it.

1477. [Guardian ad litem.]—Nothing contained in this chapter shall impair or affect the power of any court to appoint guardians to defend the interests of minors, impleaded in such court, or interested in any matter then pending, nor their power to appoint or allow any person, as next friend for a minor, to commence, prosecute, or defend any suit in his behalf.

It is the duty of the general guardian to defend for his ward, but this does not prevent an appointment by the court. McAllister v. Lancaster Co. Bank, 15, 297 (18 N. W., 57).

1478. When the relations or friends of any insane person, or of any person who, by reason of extreme old age, or other cause, is mentally incompetent to have the charge and management of his property, shall apply to the court of probate to have a guardian appointed for him, the court shall cause a notice to be given to the supposed insane or incompetent person of the time and place of hearing the cause, not less than fourteen days before the time so appointed.

1479. If, after a full hearing and examination, upon any such application, it shall appear to the court that the person in question is incapable of taking care of him or herself and managing his or her property, he shall appoint a guardian of his or her person and estate, with the powers and duties hereinafter specified; Provided*, That when a person has been declared insane by the commission of insanity, and no one applies to have a guardian appointed for such person for thirty days thereafter, it shall be the duty of the clerk of the district court to make application to the county court of such county to appoint a guardian for such persons.

Amended and all after * added 1889, p. 577. An insane person may be sued without the appointment of a guardian ad litem. McAllister v. Lancaster Co. Bank, 15, 297 (18 N. W., 57).

1480. Every guardian so appointed, as provided in the preceding section, shall have the care and custody of the person of his ward, and the management of all his estate, until such guardian shall be legally discharged, and he shall give bond to the judge of probate, in like manner and with the like condition as is before prescribed with respect to the guardian of the minor.

1481. When any person, by excessive drinking, or by gaming, idleness, or debauchery of any kind, shall so spend, waste, or lessen his estate as to expose himself or family to danger of want or suffering, or the county to charge or expense for the support of himself or family, any officer having charge of the poor of the county, or justice of the peace of the county of which such spendthrift is an inhabitant, or in which he resides, may present a complaint to the court of probate, setting forth the facts and circumstances in the case, and praying to have a guardian appointed for him.

1482. The court shall cause notice to be given to such supposed spendthrift of the time and place of hearing the case, not less than ten days before the time so appointed, and if, after a full hearing, it shall appear to the court that the person complained of comes within the provision contained in the preceding section, he shall appoint a guardian of his person and estate, with the powers and duties hereinafter specified.

1483. After the order for notice has been issued, the complainant may cause a copy of the complaint, with the order for such notice, to be filed in the office of the county clerk of the county, and a minute thereof be entered on the lien book in said office; and if a guardian shall be appointed on such application, all contracts, except for necessaries at reasonable prices, and all gifts, sales, and transfers of real or personal estate, made by such spendthrift, after the filing of a copy of such complaint and order, as aforesaid, and before the termination of the guardianship, shall be utterly void.

1484. When a guardian shall be appointed for an insane person, or a spendthrift, the court shall make an allowance to be paid by the guardian for all reasonable expenses incurred by the ward, in defending himself against the complaint.

1485. Every guardian appointed for a spendthrift shall have the care and custody of the person of the ward and the management of all his estate until the guardian shall be legally discharged, and he shall give bond to the judge of probate in like manner and with like condition as is hereinbefore directed with respect to the guardian of an insane person.

1486. Every guardian appointed under the provisions of this chapter, whether for a minor or for any other person, shall pay all just debts due from the ward out of his personal estate and the income of his real estate, if sufficient; or if not, then out of his real estate, upon obtaining license for the sale thereof, and disposing of the same in the manner provided by law.

1487. Every such guardian shall also settle all accounts of the ward, and demand, sue for, and receive all debts due him, or may, with the approbation of the court, compound for the same, and give a discharge to the debtor on receiving a fair and just dividend of his estate and effects, and he shall appear for and represent his ward in all legal suits and proceedings, unless where another person is appointed for that purpose, as guardian or next friend.

1488. Every guardian shall manage the estate of his ward frugally and without waste, and apply the income and profit thereof, as far as may be necessary, for the comfortable and suitable maintenance and support of the ward and his family, if there be any, and if such income and profits shall be insufficient for that purpose, the guardian may sell the real estate, upon obtaining a license therefor, as provided by law, and shall apply the proceeds of such sale, as far as may be necessary, for the maintenance and support of the ward and his family, if there be any.

1489. The guardian may join in and assent to a partition of the real estate of the ward, in the cases and in the manner provided by law, and he may also assign and set out dower in the said estate to any widow entitled thereto.

1490. Every guardian appointed by virtue of this chapter shall, before entering upon his duties, take and subscribe an oath or affirmation before the probate judge that he will faithfully perform the duties of guardian to such ward, according to law and the best of his ability. Every such guardian shall, within three months after his appointment, make out and return under oath, into the probate court from which he received his appointment, a true and perfect inventory of all the property of his ward in this state which shall come to his knowledge or possession, and shall within that time cause the same to be appraised in like manner as is required with respect to the estate of a deceased person; and every guardian shall, except as otherwise provided in this chapter, account for and dispose of the estate of his ward in like manner as is directed with respect to executors and administrators, as near as may be; and similar proceedings may be had to obtain such account or punish such guardian for contempt in not rendering the same.

1491. The courts of probate in their respective counties, on the application of a guardian, or of any person interested in the estate of any ward, after such notice to all persons interested therein as the court shall direct, may authorize or require the guardian to sell and transfer any stock in public funds, or in any bank or corporation, or any other personal estate or effects held by him as guardian, and to invest the proceeds of such sale, and also any other moneys in his hands in real estate, or in any other manner that shall be most for the interest of all concerned therein, and the said court may make such further orders and give such directions as the case may require for managing, investing, and disposing of the estate and effects in the hands of the guardian.

1492. When any guardian, appointed either by the testator or court of probate, shall become insane, or otherwise incapable of discharging his trust, or evidently unsuitable therefor, the court, after notice to such guardian and all others interested, may remove him; and every guardian may, upon his request, be allowed to resign his trust when it shall appear to the court proper to allow the same; and upon every such resignation or removal, and upon the death of any guardian, the court may appoint another in his place.

1493. If any guardian, having the care and custody of such minor, shall neglect to well feed and clothe him or her, or in any way maltreat or abuse him or her, he shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined not exceeding one hundred dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding sixty days, or both, at the discretion of the court.

1494. Proceedings may be commenced by any one against such person who shall have such minor in charge, by filing an information under oath with the probate judge in the county where the guardian was appointed; and such judge shall, if any of the particulars mentioned in the preceding section appear to be proved by such information, issue his warrant requiring such guardian forthwith to be arrested and brought before him to answer such charge.

Amended 1873, G. S., p. 401.

1495. Before being brought before the judge upon such warrant, the party arrested shall have a reasonable opportunity of making a defense, and the plea of " not guilty" made by him, or entered by the court in case he refused to plead, shall be the only plea necessary.* If, upon the testimony adduced, it appears to the probate judge that the guardian is unfit for the trust, and that the condition of such minor would be ameliorated by the removal of such guardian, the judge shall remove him and appoint another in his place.

Amended, and all before * added 1873, G. S., p. 401.

1496. No action shall be maintained against the sureties in any bond given by the guardian unless it be commenced within four years from the time when the guardian shall have been discharged; Provided, That if at the time of such discharge the person entitled to bring such action shall be out of the state, or under any legal disability to sue, the action may be commenced at any time within five years after the return of such person to the state, or before such disability shall be removed.

1497. Upon complaint made to the court by any guardian or by the ward, or by any creditor or other person interested in the estate, or by any person having any prospective interest therein, as heir or otherwise, against any person, as having concealed, embezzled, or conveyed away any of the money, goods, or effects, or any instrument in writing belonging to the ward, the court may cite and examine such suspected person, and proceed with him, as to such charge, in the same manner as is provided with respect to persons suspected of concealing or embezzling the effects of a deceased testator or intestate.

1498. When any minor or other person liable to be put under guardianship according to the provisions of this chapter shall reside without this state, and shall have any real estate therein, any friend of such person, or any one interested in his estate, in expectancy or otherwise, may apply to the court of probate of any county in which there may be any estate of such absent person; and after notice given to all persons interested, in such manner as the court shall order, and after a full hearing and examination, if it shall appear to him proper, he may appoint a guardian for such absent person.

1499. Every guardian appointed according to the provisions of the preceding section shall have the same powers, and perform the same duties, with respect to any estate of the ward, that shall be found within this state, and also with respect to the person of the ward, if he shall come to reside therein, as are prescribed with respect to any other guardian appointed by virtue of this chapter.

1500. Every such guardian shall give bond to the judge of probate, in like manner and with like condition as is hereinbefore prescribed with respect to other guardians, excepting that the provisions respecting the inventory, the disposal of the estate and effects, and the account to be rendered by the guardian, shall be confined to such estate and effects as shall come to his hands in this state.

1501. The guardianship which shall be first lawfully granted to any person residing without the state shall extend to all the estate of the ward within the same, and shall exclude the jurisdiction of the probate court in every other county.

1502. Every guardian shall be allowed the amount of his reasonable expenses, incurred in the execution of his trust, and shall also have such compensation for his services as the court in which his accounts are settled shall deem to be just and reasonable.

1503. When an account is rendered by two or more joint guardians, the court may in its discretion allow the same, upon the oath of any one of them.

1504. The word "spendthrift" in all its provisions relating to guardians and wards, contained in this or in any other statute, is intended to include every person who is liable to be put under guardianship, on account of excessive drinking, gaming, idleness, or debauchery.

SALE OF LANDS OF MINORS AND OTHER PERSONS UNDER GUARDIANSHIP, AND SECURING THE PROCEEDS FOR THEIR USE.

Secs. 1505 to 1529 formed secs. 42 to 66, ch. 14, R. S. 1866, entitled "Decedents."

1506. When it shall satisfactorily appear to the court, upon the petition of any such guardian, that it would be for the benefit of his ward that his real estate, or any part thereof, should be sold, and the proceeds thereof put out at interest or invested in some productive stock, his guardian may sell the same for that purpose, upon obtaining a license therefor, and proceeding therein as hereinafter provided.

1507. If the estate is sold for the purpose mentioned in the forty-second section of this chapter [1505], the guardian shall apply the proceeds of the sale to such purpose, so far as necessary, and shall put out the residue, if any, on interest, or invest in the best manner in his power, until the capital shall be wanted for the maintenance of the ward and his family, for the education of the ward when a minor, or the children of such insane person or spendthrift, in which case the capital may be used for that purpose, as far as may be necessary, in like manner as if it had been personal estate of the ward.

1508. If the estate is sold for the purpose of putting out or investing the proceeds as provided in the forty-third section of this chapter [1506], the guardian shall make the investment according to his best judgment, or in pursuance of any order that may be made by the district court.

1509. In every case of the sale of real estate, as provided in this subdivision, the residue of the proceeds, if any, remaining upon the final settlement of the account of the guardianship, shall be considered as real estate of the ward, and shall be disposed of among the same persons, and in the same proportions as the real estate would have been if it had not been sold.

1510. In order to obtain a license for such sale, the guardian shall present to the district court of the county in which he was appointed guardian a petition therefor, setting forth the condition of the estate of his ward, and the facts and circumstances on which the petition is founded, tending to show the necessity or expediency of a sale, which petition shall be verified by the oath of the petitioner.

Changed from probate court 1867, p. 111. Stewart v. Daggy, 13, 290 (13 N. W., 399). State v. Dodge County, 20, 602 (31 N. W., 117).

1511. If it shall appear to the court from such petition that it is necessary or would be beneficial to the ward that such real estate or some part of it should be sold, the court shall thereupon make an order directing the next of kin of the ward, and all persons interested in the estate, to appear before such court at a time and place therein to be specified, not less than four nor more than eight weeks from the time of making such order, to show cause why a license should not be granted for the sale of such estate.

1512. A copy of such order shall be personally served on the next of kin of such ward, and on all persons interested in the estate, at least fourteen days before the hearing of the petition, or shall be published at least three successive weeks in such newspaper circulating in the county as the court shall specify in the order.

1513. No such license shall be granted for the sale of any real estate of a ward, excepting that of a minor, unless the commissioners of the county in which the ward is an inhabitant shall certify in writing their approbation of the proposed sale.

1514. The judge of the district court, at the time and place appointed in such order, or at such other time as the hearing shall be adjourned to, upon proof of the due service of the order, and upon filing the certificate of approbation of the commissioners of the county when necessary, shall hear and examine the proofs and allegations of the petitioner, and of the next of kin, and of all other persons interested in the estate, who shall think proper to oppose the application.

Changed from probate court 1867, p. 112.

1515. On such hearing the guardian may be examined on oath and witnesses may be produced and examined by either party, and process to compel their attendance and testimony may be issued by the judge of the district court in the same manner and with the like effect as in other cases.

Changed from probate court 1867, p. 112.

1516. If, after a full examination, it shall appear to the court either that it is necessary or that it would be for the benefit of the ward that the real estate, or any part of it, should be sold, such court may grant a license therefor, specifying therein whether the sale is to be made for the maintenance of the ward and his family, or for the education of the ward or his children, or in order that the proceeds may be put out or invested as aforesaid.

Judge can grant license at chambers Stewart v. Daggy, 13, 290 (13 N. W., 399).

1517. Every guardian licensed to sell real estate, as aforesaid, shall, before the sale, give bond to the judge of the district court with sufficient surety or sureties, to be approved by such judge, with condition to sell the same in the manner prescribed by law for sales of real estate by executors and administrators, and to account for and dispose of the proceeds of the sale in the manner provided by law.

1518. Such guardian shall also, before fixing on the time and place of sale, take and subscribe an oath, in substance like that required in the succeeding subdivision [1145], to be taken by an executor, administrator, or guardian, when licensed to sell real estate pursuant to the provisions of that subdivision.

1519. He shall also give public notice of the time and place of sale, and shall proceed therein in like manner as is prescribed in the case of a sale by a guardian, and the evidence of the giving of such notice may be perpetuated in like manner and with the same effect as is provided in case of sale of real estate by guardians.

1520. The license granted in pursuance of this subdivision shall be in force no more than one year after granting the same.

1521. When any minor, insane person, or spendthrift, residing without this state, shall be put under guardinship in the territory or country in which he resides, and shall have no guardian appointed in this state, the foreign guardian may file an authenticated copy of his appointment in the district court in any county in which there may be any real estate of the ward.

1522. After filing such authenticated copy of his appointment, such foreign guardian may be licensed by the district court of the same county to sell the real estate of the ward in this state, in the same manner and upon the same terms and conditions as are prescribed in this subdivision in the case of a guardian appointed in this state, excepting in the particulars hereinafter mentioned.

1523. Every foreign guardian so licensed to sell real estate shall take and subscribe the oath required in the like case of guardians appointed in this state, and shall give notice of the time and place of sale, and conduct the same in the manner prescribed for guardians appointed here, and may perpetuate the evidence of notice in the same manner.

1524. Upon every such sale by a foreign guardian, the proceeds of the sale, or as much thereof as may remain upon the final settlement of the accounts of the guardianship, shall be considered as real estate of the ward, and shall be disposed of among the same persons, and in the same proportions, as the real estate would have been according to the laws of this state if it had not been sold; and such foreign guardians shall, in every case, before making the sale, give bond, with satisfactory surety or sureties, to the judge of the district court, with conditions to account for and dispose of the same accordingly.

1525. If any person shall appear and object to the granting of any license prayed for under the provisions of this subdivision, and it shall appear to the court that either the petition or the objection thereto is unreasonable, said court may, in its discretion, award costs to the party prevailing, and enforce the payment thereof.

1526. No action for the recovery of any estate sold by a guardian, under the provisions of this subdivision, shall be maintained by the ward, or by any person claiming under him, unless it shall be commenced within five years next after the termination of the guardianship, excepting only that persons out of the state, and minors and others under legal disablility to sue at the time when the cause of action shall accrue, may commence their action at any time within five years next after the removal of the disability, or after their return to the state.

1527. In case of an action relating to any estate sold by a guardian, under the provisions of this subdivision, in which the ward or any person claiming under him shall contest the validity of the sale, the same shall not be avoided on account of any irregularity in the proceedings; Provided, It shall appear: First—That the guardian was licensed to make the sale by a district court of competent jurisdiction. Second—That he gave a bond which was approved by the judge of the district court, in case any bond was required by the court upon granting the license. Third—That he took the oath prescribed in this subdivision. Fourth—That he gave notice of the time and place of sale, as prescribed by law. Fifth—That the premises were sold accordingly, at public auction, and are held by one who purchased in good faith.

1528. If, in relation to such sale, there should be any neglect or misconduct in the proceedings of the guardian, by which any person interested in the estate shall suffer damage, such aggrieved party may recover such damage in a suit on the bond of such guardian, or otherwise, as the case may require.

1529. If the validity of any sale made by a guardian under the provisions of this subdivision shall be drawn in question by any person claiming adversely to the title of the ward, or claiming under any title that is not derived from or through the ward, the sale shall not be held void on account of any irregularity in the proceedings, provided it shall appear that the guardian was licensed to make the sale by the proper district court, and that he did accordingly execute and acknowledge, in legal form, a deed for the conveyance of the premises.

Secs. 1530 to 1538 formed secs. 105 to 113, ch. 14, R. S. 1866.

1530. When the goods, chattels, rights, and credits in the hands of the guardian of any minor, or of any idiot or insane person, or of any person under guardianship on account of excessive drinking, gaming, idleness, or debauchery, shall be insufficient to pay all the just debts of his ward, with the charges of managing his estate, the guardian may be licensed by the district court of the county in which such guardian was appointed, to sell his real estate for that purpose, in like manner and upon the same terms and conditions as are prescribed in this subdivision, in the case of a sale by an executor or administrator, except as to the particulars in which a different provision is hereinafter made.

1531. If it shall be represented to the court that it is necessary to sell some part of the real estate of the ward, and by such partial sale the residue of the real estate or some specific piece or part thereof would be greatly injured, the court may license the sale of the whole of the estate, or of such part thereof as the court shall judge necessary, and most for the interest of all concerned.

1532. The guardian shall give bond to the judge of the district court, to account for the surplus of the proceeds of the sale in like manner as is prescribed in this subdivision in the case of a like sale by an executor or administrator.

1533. No license shall be granted to any guardian to sell real estate of his ward, as provided in this subdivision, in any case excepting that of minors, unless the commissioners of the county of which the ward is an inhabitant, or in which he resides, shall certify to the judge of the district court, in writing, their approbation of such proposed sale, and that they deem it necessary.

1534. All those who are next of kin and heirs apparent or presumptive of the ward shall be considered as interested in the estate, and may appear and answer to the petition of the guardian, and when personal notice of the time and place of hearing the petition is required to be given, they shall be notified as persons interested according to the provisions respecting similar sales by executors and administrators, contained in this subdivision.

1535. When any minor, insane person, or spendthrift, residing out of this state, shall be put under guardianship in the state or country in which he resides, and shall have no guardian appointed in this state, the foreign guardian may file an authenticated copy of his appointment in the district court of any county in which there may be any real estate of the ward.

1536. After filing an authenticated copy of his appointment, such foreign guardian may be licensed to sell the real estate for the payment of the debts of the ward, and the charges of managing his estate, in the same manner and upon the same terms and conditions as are prescribed in this subdivision, in the case of a guardian appointed in this state, excepting in the particulars wherein a different provision is hereinafter made.

1537. When it shall appear to the judge of the district court that the foreign guardian is bound, with sufficient surety or sureties in the state or country where he was appointed, to account for the proceeds of such sale, and an authenticated copy of such bond shall be filed in the district court, no further bond shall be required here; otherwise he shall give bond in like manner as is prescribed in this subdivision, in case of sales by foreign executors or administrators [1171].

1538. When such foreign guardian is authorized to sell more than is necessary to pay the debts and charges, he shall, before making the sale, give bond with sufficient surety or sureties to the judge of the district court, with condition to account, before such judge, for all the proceeds of the sale that shall remain after payment of the said debts and charges, and to dispose of the same according to law.

CHAPTER 14.—DRAINAGE.

(See Irrigation, 2032 to 2061.)

Secs. 1539 to 1556. "An act to provide for draining marsh or swamp lands in the state of Nebraska, and to repeal an act entitled 'An act to drain marsh or swamp lands,'" passed March 3, 1873. Took effect June 1, 1873. 1881, p. 236. In force June 1.

1539. The board of commissioners of any county may, at any reguler or special session, cause to be located and constructed, straightened, widened, altered, or deepened, any ditch, drain, or water-course, as hereinafter provided, when the same is necessary to drain any lots, lands, public or corporate road, or railroad, and will be conducive to the public health, convenience, or welfare.

See County of Dakota v. Cheney, 22, 445 (35 N. W., 211).

1540. The word "ditch," as used in the act, shall be held to include a drain or water-course. The petition for any such improvement shall be held to include any side lateral spur or branch ditch, drain, or water-course necessary to secure the object of the improvement, whether the same is mentioned therein or not; but no improvement shall be located unless a sufficient outlet is provided.

1541. When the proposed improvement will drain the whole, or any part of any public or corporate road, or railroad, or will so benefit any such road that the traveled track or road bed thereof will be improved by its construction, there shall be apportioned to the county, if the road is a state or county road, or to the corporation, if a corporate road or railroad, a proper share of the costs and expenses thereof, as hereinafter provided.

1542. A petition for any such improvement shall be made to the board of commissioners of the county, signed by one or more owners of lots or lands which will be benefited thereby, which said petition shall be filed with the county clerk, and shall set forth the necessity of the proposed improvement, and describe the route and termini thereof with reasonable certainty, and shall be accompanied by a good and sufficient bond signed by two or more sureties, to be approved by the county clerk, conditioned for the payment of all costs that may occur in case said board of county commissioners find against such improvement.

1543. The county clerk shall deliver a copy of said petition to the board of county commissioners, at their next meeting, who shall thereupon take to their assistance a competent surveyor or engineer, if in their opinion his services are necessary, and at once proceed to view the line of the proposed improvement, and determine by actual view of the premises along and in the vicinity thereof, whether the improvement is necessary, or will be conducive to the public health, convenience, or welfare, and whether the line described is the best route, and they shall report their finding in writing, and order the clerk to enter the same on their journal.

1544. If the commissioners, upon actual view, find that the route proposed is not such as to best effect the object sought, they shall change the same and establish the route and determine the dimensions of the proposed improvements; Provided, Any change so made shall not in any case exceed one hundred and sixty rods from the route described in the petition.

1545. If the board of commissioners find for the improvement they shall cause to be entered on their journal an order directing the county surveyor, or an engineer, to go upon the line described in said petition, or as changed by them in accordance with section six, and survey and level the same and set a stake at every hundred feet, numbering down stream; note the intersection of section lines, road crossings, boundary lines, precinct, and county lines and make a report, profile, and plat of the same, and estimate the number of cubic yards for each working section as hereinafter provided.

1546. The commissioners shall also by their order direct the surveyor or engineer to make and return a schedule of all lots, lands, public or corporate roads, or railroads that will be benefited by the proposed improvement, whether the same are abutting upon the line of the proposed improvement or not, and an apportionment of a number of lineal feet and cubic yards to each lot, tract of land, road, or railroad, according to the benefits which will result to each from the improvement, and an estimate of the cost of location and construction to each, and a specification of the manner in which the improvement shall be made and completed.

1548. Upon the filing of the report of a surveyor or engineer, the county clerk shall, without delay, fix a day for the hearing of the same, which shall not be more than forty days from the time of the filing of said report, and shall prepare a notice in writing, directed to the resident lot or land owners, and to the authorities or municipal or private corporations affected by the improvement, setting forth the pendency, substance, and prayer of said petition, together with a tabular statement of the apportionment as made by the surveyor or engineer in his report, and shall deliver the same to the sheriff, who shall serve a copy of the same upon each resident lot or land owner, and each member of such public board or authority, and upon an officer or agent of such private corporation at least ten days before the time fixed for said hearing; Provided, Said copies need contain only so much of the original notice as affects the interests of the person so served; and the county clerk shall in like manner notify each non-resident lot or land owner, or by publication in a newspaper printed and of general circulation in the county, for at least three consecutive weeks before the day set for the hearing, which said notice shall be verified in the manner now provided by law for the verification of notices by publication.

1549. The county commissioners shall meet at the office of the county clerk on the day fixed for the hearing, and shall first determine whether the requisite notice has been given. If they find that due notice has not been given, they shall continue the hearing to a day to be fixed by them, and order the notices to be served as hereinbefore provided, and when they find that due notice has been given, they shall examine the report of the surveyor or engineer, and the apportionment made by him, and if it is in all respects fair and just, according to benefits, they shall approve and confirm the same; but if they find said apportionment to be unfair or unjust, they shall so order and so amend it as to make it fair and just according to benefits.

The jurisdictional requisites are, a petition properly signed, a bond that the improvement is necessary and conducive to the welfare of the public, and the statutory notice. Darst v. Griffin, 31, 668 (48 N. W., 819).

1550. At any time before the day set for hearing, after persons are notified as provided in section eleven, any person or corporation whose lands are taken or affected in any way by the improvement may make application to the commissioners in writing for compensation and damages, and a failure to make such application shall be held as a waiver of all right thereto.

1551. The commissioners on actual view of the premises shall fix and allow such compensation for land appropriated, and assess such damages as will in their judgment accrue from the construction of the improvement to each person or corporation making application as provided in section twelve [1550], and without such application to each idiot, insane person, or minor owning lands taken or affected by such improvement.

1552. A person or corporation party to the proceedings may file exceptions to the apportionment, or to any claim for compensation or damages at any time before the time set for the final hearing of the report and apportionment. The commissioners may hear testimony and examine witnesses upon all questions made by the exceptions, and for that purpose may compel the attendance of witnesses by subpœna, which the county clerk shall issue on demand, and their decisions on the exceptions shall be entered on their journal, and if they sustain the exceptions, the cost of the hearing thereon shall be paid out of the county treasury, and if they overrule the same, such costs shall be paid by the person or corporation filing the same.

1553. Any person or corporation feeling aggrieved thereby may appeal to the district court within and for the proper county from any final order or judgment of the commissioners made in the proceedings and entered upon their journal determining either of the following matters, to-wit: First—Whether said ditch will be conducive to the public health, convenience, or welfare. Second—Whether the route thereof is practicable. Third—The compensation for land appropriated. Fourth—The damage claimed to property affected by the improvement, which appeal may be taken and prosecuted in the manner provided by law for appeals from the decision of the county board on claims against the county.

1554. No appeal taken in pursuance of the provisions of section fifteen [1553] shall in any manner affect the progress of the construction of the proposed improvement; Provided, The petitioners shall enter into a good and sufficient bond to be approved by the said district court as [or] by the judge thereof at chambers, and filed with the clerk of said court, conditioned for the payment of all damages and costs that the appellant may sustain on the trial of said appeal.

1555. The clerk of the district court, immediately after the close of the term at which the appeal is tried, as provided for in the preceding section, shall certify to the board of county commissioners a full and complete transcript of the proceedings had upon such appeal in said district court, and the commissioners shall make such entry on their journals as may be necessary to give effect to the judgment of the district court.

1556. Immediately after the transcript mentioned in the preceding section is returned to the county clerk, or immediately upon the filing of the bond mentioned in section sixteen, or in case there is no appeal as hereinbefore provided, then immediately after the hearing of the report mentioned in section eleven, the commissioners shall proceed to advertise for sealed bids for the construction of said ditch in working sections not less in extent than the number of lineal feet apportioned to each lot or tract of land, public or corporate road, or railroad, and shall fix a time when said bids will be opened, giving not less than twenty days, notice thereof, and they shall attend at the time and place of opening the bids, and shall let the contract or contracts to the lowest responsible bidder, and shall take good and sufficient security for the faithful performance of such contract or contracts, and they shall fix the time for the completion of each contract, not exceeding in any case one hundred and fifty days from the time of entering into the same, and no bid shall be entertained which exceeds the estimated cost of construction of the working section or sections upon which the bid is made.

1557. The work shall be done under the supervision of the surveyor or engineer appointed by the commissioners, and when a part, not less than one-fourth of the portion included in any contract, is completed according to the specifications, he shall give the contractor a certificate thereof, showing the proportional amount which the contractor is entitled to be paid according to the terms of the contract, and the county clerk shall, upon presentation of such certificate, draw his warrant upon the treasurer for seventy-five per cent of said amount, and the treasurer will pay the same out of any funds in the treasury applicable to such purposes; Provided, That no proportional amounts shall be certified or paid unless the whole of such contract exceeds two thousand lineal feet.

1558. Any contract not completed within the time specified, shall be re-estimated and relet to the lowest responsible bidder, but not for a sum greater than the estimate, nor a second time to the same party; Provided, The board of commissioners may, for a good cause, extend the time of any contractor not to exceed *two years.

* Former act read "one;" amended 1885, p. 373.

1559. When the working sections are let, as hereinbefore provided, and the cost and expenses of location and construction, and all compensation and damages are ascertained, the commissioners shall meet and determine at what time and in what number of assessments they will require the same to be paid, and order that the assessments as made by them be placed on the duplicate tax list against the lots and lands so assessed.

1560. Where the commissioners make an assessment they shall cause an entry to be made directing the clerk to make and furnish to the treasurer a special duplicate, with the assessment arranged thereon, as required by their order. The clerk shall retain a copy thereof in his office, and all assessments shall be collected and accounted for by the treasurer; and in case such assessments, or any part thereof, are not paid by the party or parties owning or controlling the lots or lands against which such assessments are made in the manner contemplated by this act, such assessments shall be and remain a perpetual lien against the premises so assessed; and the county treasurer shall proceed to advertise and sell said lots and lands, or such portions thereof as shall be necessary to pay said assessments, together with the costs, in the same manner as real estate is now by law advertised and sold by him for the payment of delinquent taxes; Provided, That the commissioners may extend the time of payment (without interest) of said assessments, to correspond with any extension of time that may be granted to any contractor under the provisions of section one of this act, and in case said assessments are not paid when due, they shall draw ten per cent interest until paid; And provided further, That the provisions of this act shall apply to all contracts entered into and assessments made, under the provisions of [the act hereby amended] as well as to such contracts and assessments hereafter to be made.

Amended 1885, p. 373. Mere irregularities by the board will not render the assessment void Darst v. Griffin, 31, 668 (48 N. W., 819)

1561. Any officer mentioned in the act who shall neglect or refuse to perform any duty imposed upon him by the provisions of this act, shall forfeit and pay a fine of twenty-five dollars for every such offense, to be recovered before any court of competent jurisdiction in the name of the state of Nebraska, for the benefit of the common school fund of the county, at the suit of any person aggrieved thereby.

Application for damages shall be made, and appeals from the finding of the commissioners in joint session locating and establishing such ditch, and from the assessment of damages or compensation shall be taken to the district court in the county in which the lots or lands which are immediately affected are located. A majority of the commissioners of each county, when in joint session, shall be competent to locate and establish such ditch.

1563. The commissioners, shall, if necessary, at their June session levy a tax, not exceeding one mill on the dollar of the assessed valuation of the county, sufficient to pay for the location and construction of such portions of the respective ditches located by them or by the commissioners of two or more counties as may be apportioned to the county, and the removal of any obstructions that may accumulate in any portion of any ditch. When any improvement shall have been completed under the provisions of this act, it shall be and remain under the direct control and supervision of the county commissioners or board of supervisors, and at any time the same in their opinion require repairing or the removal of obstructions in any part thereof, they shall cause the same to be done, and shall pay for the same out of the county ditch fund; Provided, That nothing in this act shall be construed to apply to any irrigating ditches in this state.

Amended 1891, p. 360.

1564. The board of county commissioners of any county in this state are hereby authorized, whenever they deem it necessary, to create a county ditch fund, to consist of taxes collected on county levies, and all balances remaining unexpended of special ditch funds arising from excess of assessments made on ditch improvements after the expenses thereof have been fully paid; and the commissioners are hereby authorized, whenever necessary, to borrow from the county general fund for the benefit of the above named ditch fund, and all moneys so borrowed shall be, as soon as practicable, returned to the county general fund.

1565. Whoever willfully obstructs any ditch shall forfeit to the county in which such ditch is located the sum of twenty-five dollars, to be recovered before any court having competent jurisdiction in the name of the state, and shall moreover be liable in damages to the party injured.

1566. The collection of assessments to be levied to pay for the location or construction of any ditch shall not be enjoined nor declared void; nor shall said assessment be set aside in consequence of any error or irregularity committed or appearing in any of the proceedings provided by this act, and no injunction shall be allowed restraining the collection of any assessment until the party complaining shall first pay to the county treasurer the amount of his assessment, which amount so paid may be recovered from the county in an action brought for that purpose in case such injunction is made perpetual.

Secs. 1567 to 1581. "An act to authorize the construction of levees, dikes, and drains, and for the reclaimation of wet and overflowed lands by incorporated companies." 1877, p. 160. In force June 1.

1567. That any number of persons, not less than three, being owners of lands wet or liable to be overflowed, may organize a company for the purpose of draining, reclaiming, and protecting such lands which shall have power to straighten, widen, deepen, and make new channels for the whole or any part of any river, or water-course, and to construct any dikes, drains, levees, and breakwaters, and do everything which they shall deem proper to accomplish the purpose for which the company shall have been organized.

Drains or levees for the reclamation of wet or overflowed lands can be constructed across the lands of others, and the costs assessed thereon, except by consent, only in cases where the public welfare will be subserved. Jenal v. Green Island Draining Co., 12, 163 (10 N. W., 547).

1568. Such persons shall sign articles of association, specifying the name and purposes of the company, and shall elect from their number not less than three nor more than seven directors, of the time and place of which election the members shall be notified by notices signed by three members, and posted in three public places near the work five days before the election, but notice may be waived by the members. Vacancies in the offices of directors may be filled by the appointments made by the remaining members.

1569. Said articles of association shall be recorded in the county clerk's office of the several counties in which any part of the work shall be situated, and from the date of filing the same for record in either of such counties such company shall be a body corporate, with all powers incident to such bodies and to consummate the purposes for which it was organized; and to buy, receive donations of, and hold, and sell and convey any lands benefited or to be benefited by the proposed work of the company; and any person owning land supposed to be liable to be affected by said work may become a member of the company by signing the articles of association. The corporate existence of the company shall be judicially recognized, and the company's records shall be prima facie evidence of its acts.

1570. An annual election shall be held by the company at such time and place as the company shall appoint for the election of directors, of which twenty day's notice shall be given by one week's publication in one newspaper of general circulation in each county in which any part of the work shall be situated, if such paper shall be printed and published in such county, and if there be none, then by posting notices in three public places near the work.

1571. A majority of the directors shall form a quorum, and shall have control and management of the business and affairs of the company. They shall appoint one of their number president, and shall appoint a secretary, treasurer, and such other officers and agents as they may see fit; and all officers and agents shall be entitled to fair compensation for their services. The treasurer shall give bond to the company with proper penalties and sureties, for the faithful discharge of his duties, and the safe keeping and prompt payment, according to the orders of the board of directors, of all moneys that may come into his hands. The president, directors, secretary, and treasurer shall hold their respective offices for one year, and until their successors shall be elected and qualified, and shall be sworn to the faithful discharge of their duties. The secretary may administer all official oaths.

1572. The company may apply to the district court or county court, in term time, or to a judge thereof in vacation, of any county in which any part of the proposed work shall be situated, which court or judge, as the case may be, shall immediately appoint three disinterested appraisers, and such appraisers shall examine all lands, the intrinsic or market value of which may be by them supposed to be liable to be affected by the construction of the proposed work, or by the appropriation of all or any part of it for right of way or other purpose of the company, or of any stone, timber, gravel, or other material required by the company, and shall make out separate schedules in the smallest United States government subdivisions of all such lands situated in each county, and shall assess to each tract the full and entire amount of such benefit which it will, in the opinion of a majority of them, receive, without any regard to the cost of such work, and the injury which, in the opinion of a majority of them, it will sustain; and append to each schedule their affidavit that the same is a true assessment, and return the same to the secretary of the company, who shall cause it to be filed for record and recorded in the office of the county clerk of the county in which the land therein described shall be situated, and from the date of filing thereof such assessments shall respectively be a lien on the lands upon which they were assessed, for the amount of such assessments of benefits, less the amount of injury assessed. And when, and as often as it shall become necessary or desirable to re-assess any tract of land for the correction of any mistake, or to enable the company to appropriate any part of the same for right of way, or any stone, timber, gravel, or other material for the construction of the work; and whenever, and as often as it shall be desired by the company to make a re-assessment of any tract or tracts of land for any purpose, said appraisers shall, upon request of the company, make such re-assessments, and so, from time to time, when, and as often as they shall be requested, and shall make and return schedules of the same, and such schedules shall be filed for record and recorded in the county clerk's office as aforesaid, and shall constitute liens, shall be collected, and shall in all respects be governed by the same rules, and have the same force and effect as the original assessments above provided for; and if any appraiser appointed as aforesaid shall die, resign, or fail to act as such, when the interest of the company shall, in the opinion of the president, require it, his appointment as such appraiser shall thereby be vacated, and upon representation of such vacation to such court or judge by the president, such court or judge shall, upon the application of the company, immediately fill such vacancy by the appointment of a like disinterested person, who shall qualify by and in the manner above provided, and the same shall be done when and as often as the company may request; Provided, That upon filing such schedule for record, the secretary shall give notice thereof by posting a notice in a conspicuous place in the county clerk's office, and any party aggrieved by any such assessment may, within thirty days thereafter, appeal therefrom to the district court or county court of said county; And provided further, That any person who is under legal disabilities at the time of the making and filing of such schedule, shall have the right of appeal as aforesaid at any time within thirty days after the removal of such disabilities; And provided further, That any two appraisers may perform all the services required by this section, and that all acts concurred in by any two shall be valid, binding, and effectual.

1573. Before the actual construction of the work shall be begun, surveys of it and estimates of its costs shall be made, and the appraisers' schedules of assessments returned to the secretary, and if the estimated cost of the work shall exceed the aggregate amounts of the assessments, the work shall not be further prosecuted.

1574. Before the actual construction of the work shall be begun, the company shall divide the main line of their work into as many sections, of not exceeding six miles in length, as may be convenient, and each of such sections, with its auxiliaries, branches, and tributaries, shall form a separate division of the work; and they shall also appropriate and set apart as applicable to, and hold the same inviolate for, the construction of each of such divisions respectively, a portion of their resources bearing the same ratio to the whole of their resources properly applicable to the construction of the work as the estimated cost of such division shall bear to the estimated cost of the whole work; and so much thereof as shall be necessary shall be applied for the purpose for which it was appropriated and set apart, and the surplus may be applied to other legitimate purposes of the company, and the work of construction shall be prosecuted as simultaneously upon the whole line as may seem to the directors consistent with proper economy.

1575. The owners of land liable to be affected by the work of a company shall have notice of the time and place when and where the appraisers will begin the examination of lands and the assessments of benefits and injuries thereto, and of the order in which it shall be intended to proceed with the same, which notice need not specify what lands are to be examined or assessed, but may be general, and addressed to the public, and shall be sufficient if published for three successive weeks in a newspaper published in the county in which the lands are situated, and proof of its publication may be made by affidavit of the printer or publisher of the paper in which it is published, or of the secretary of the company.

1576. The board of directors may order the payment of said assessments in installments not exceeding ten per centum per month, and payment thereof shall be made to the treasurer in compliance with such order; Provided, That no more shall be collected than shall, in the opinion of the directors, be required for the legitimate purposes of the company in the prosecution of the work; And provided further, That unless the main line of the company's proposed work shall exceed twenty miles in length, no part of the assessments shall be collected by the company until the company shall have given bond, payable to the state of Nebraska, with surety approved by the clerk of the district court, or judge thereof, of a county in which the work, or some part of it, is situated, conditioned for the faithful application to the legitimate purposes of the company of all money which shall be received by them for the construction of the work, which bond shall be filed in the clerk's office of the district court in the county where it was approved, and a copy thereof in the clerk's office of such court in each of the other counties in which any part of the work is situated; and any person or persons aggrieved by any breach of the conditions of said bond shall have an action thereon in any court of competent jurisdiction for the recovery of all damages thereby sustained by him or them.

1577. Payment of assessments of benefits may be enforced by foreclosure of the lien in any court of competent jurisdiction, in the same manner as is provided by law for the foreclosure of mortgages, and the sale of mortgaged premises for the collection of debts, and payment of damages assessed for injuries to lands may be enforced by an action in a like court.

1578. The company may appropriate any land, stone, timber, gravel, or other materials necessary for the right of way, or the construction, maintenance, or improvement of their proposed work, by first paying into the county treasury of the county where the land is situated, for the use of the owner of the land, the amount of damages assessed by said appraisers to him therefor.

1579. Any company where work shall be estimated to cost three thousand dollars or more, may issue their bonds, with or without coupons, not exceeding in the aggregate the estimated cost of their work, which bonds may each be of any denomination, and payable at any time and place, and bear any rate of interest, not exceeding ten per centum, payable annually or semi-annually, and may secure the payment thereof by pledge or pledges, or mortgage or mortgages, upon said assessments for benefits to lands or any part thereof, or any other property of the company, which pledges and mortgages may each provide for a sinking fund for the gradual extinguishment of the debts; and such company may, from time to time, negotiate said bonds in any market or place, at any rate of discount not exceeding ten per centum; and after any such bonds shall have been negotiated, no action or proceeding shall be instituted, nor any defense to any action be interposed, by the company or any other person or persons, the object or tendency of which shall be to impair the validity or security, or to depress the value of such bonds, any provisions of law to the contrary notwithstanding.

1580. After the expiration of three years from the recording of the appraisers' schedule of assessments in any county, no action shall be instituted to foreclose any lien on land situated in said county, unless the assessments secured by such lien shall have been pledged or mortgaged as security for one or more bonds then outstanding; and in such cases no tract of land shall, after the lapse of said three years, be liable for more than its fair proportion of the assessments pledged or mortgaged as security for bonds of the company, and required for the extinguishment thereof.

1581. No informality, irregularity, or omission, which shall have occurred, or which may occur, in the organization or proceedings of any company, or in the appointment or proceedings of any of them, officers, agents, or the appraisers, shall affect the rights or privileges of any such company, or invalidate the assessment of the appraisers, nor any sale of land which shall be made under any foreclosure of any lien for the assessment thereon; Provided, The amount of the assessment shall be clearly set forth in the appraisers' schedule, and the schedule shall have been duly recorded, and notice of the recording thereof given as hereinbefore provided.

SECS. 1581*a* to 1581*w*. "An act to provide for ditching and draining wet or swamp land and to protect the same by levees and to repeal all acts in conflict with the same." 1893, ch. 39, p. 370. In force August 1.

1581*a*. When any one or more owner or owners or occupants of any lands, in this state, shall desire to construct a ditch or drain or ditches across the lands of another or others for agricultural or sanitary purposes, or for either of said purposes, and which tends to the benefit or advantage of the public, and no agreement or arrangement can be made between them and the owners or occupants of said land to make or establish the ditch or drain, the person or persons may then file a petition in the county court of the county in which said ditch or ditches, drain or drains, shall be proposed to be constructed, setting forth the necessity for the same, with the description of its or their proposed starting point, route and terminus, and if it shall be necessary for the drainage of the land or for sanitary purposes, or either, that a drain, ditch, or levee, or other similar work, be constructed and to the public interest that the work shall be so constructed, the petition or petitioners shall state in the petition and shall set forth the general description of the same as proposed, and shall ask for the condemnation of so much of the lands as may be sufficient to construct and build said ditch or ditches, drain or drains, levee or levees.

1581*b*. If the petition is for the draining wet land, and it is practicable for the ditch or drain to be made under the surface of the ground, and to the advantage of the owner, and it shall be so required in writing by the owner or occupant of the land over which the same shall be constructed, then the person or persons so constructing such drain or ditch shall so construct and build the same by laying tiling, in a good and substantial manner, a sufficient distance under the surface of the ground to avoid obstruction or inconvenience to the owner or occupant of the lands; but if it cannot be so done, or is unnecessary, then said drain or ditch may be erected upon the surface of the ground, doing as little injury to the owner or occupant as possible.

1581*c*. Private property shall not be taken or damaged for the purpose of erecting such ditch, drain or levee, without just compensation, if claimed by the owner or occupants, and said compensation shall be ascertained by a jury as hereinafter provided; but if such ditch, drain or levee shall be of benefit to the lands over which it shall be constructed, then the benefits and advantages shall be set off against compensation that may be claimed by the owner or occupants of such land; but no benefits or advantages shall be set off against the value of the land actually taken.

1581*d*. The petition shall set forth the names of all persons owning the land over which such drain, ditch, or levee, shall be constructed, and the names of all persons occupying the same, as appearing of record in the office of the county clerk or register of deeds of said county, or otherwise known, or if not known, stating that fact, and praying such court or judge to cause the compensation to be paid to the owners of such land or to the person or persons entitled to the same.

1581*e*. If the proceedings seek to effect the property of minors or persons under guardianship or conservatorship, idiots or lunatics, the guardian or conservator shall be made party defendant to the proceedings, if any, and if none the court shall appoint such to defend; and all parties interested whose names are unknown shall be made parties defendant by the name and description of unknown owners but in all such cases an affidavit shall be filed by or on behalf of one or more of the petitioners, setting forth that the names of said parties are unknown to him, her or them.

1581*f*. Said petition may be filed, summons issued and made returnable, and the issue made up in the same manner as is now provided by law for other cases brought in the county court in which case the hearing may be had during term time as in other cases, or said petition may be presented to the judge, and the judge shall note thereon the day of the presentation of the petition to him, and shall note thereon the day when he will hear the same, and shall order the issuance of summonses and publication to non-resident defendants, which summons shall be served at least ten days before the hearing.

1581*g*. Service upon non-residents may be had in the same manner as is now provided by law for the service of non-residents in cases in the district court; Provided, That three weekly publications of such notice shall be sufficient in all cases of service by publication under this act; And provided further, That the hearing shall not be had until ten days after the last publication of such notice.

1581*h*. Causes may be heard by such judge at any time, but no cause shall be heard earlier than ten days after service upon the defendants or ten days after the last publication against non-residents or unknown defendants or owners.

1581*i*. Any number of separate parcels of land situated in the same county may be included in one petition, and if part of the land is situated in one county and part in another, said action may be maintained in either, and the owners or persons interested therein may be joined as petitioners or defendants therein, and the compensation for each may be assessed separately by the same or different juries as the court or judge may direct.

1581*j*. Amendments to the petition or any part of the record in the case may be permitted whenever necessary to a fair trial and final determination of the question involved.

1581*k*. No adjournment or continuance of said cause shall be had by either party for a longer period than ten days except by consent; Provided, That the court may in its discretion for good cause shown upon affidavit or otherwise adjourn said cause for a period not exceeding thirty days.

1581*l*. Should it be necessary at any time or stage of the proceedings to bring a new party before the judge or court, the judge shall have the power to make such rule or order in relation thereto as may be deemed reasonable and just, and shall have power to make all such necessary rules and orders for notice to parties of the pendency of the proceedings, and to issue all necessary process for the execution of orders and judgments as may be considered necessary by the court.

1581*m*. In cases fixed for hearing petitions, it shall be the duty of the county judge at the time of issuing summons or making publication, to write the names of eighteen disinterested freeholders of the county on eighteen separate slips of paper and in the presence of two disinterested freeholders of the county, cause to be selected from the eighteen names, six of such persons to act as jurors, such selection to be made by him by lots and without choice or discrimination; and the county judge shall thereupon issue a venire directed to the sheriff of his county commanding him to summon the six persons so selected as jurors to appear at the court house at such county at the time set for the hearing.

1581*n*. The petitioner or petitioners and every party to the proceedings interested in ascertaining the amount of compensation shall have the same right of challenge of jurors as in other civil cases in the county court. If the panel be not filled by reason of non-attendance or by being exhausted by challenge, the judge hearing such petition shall designate by name the necessary number of persons having the qualifications of jurors prescribed by this act, and the judge shall issue another venire returnable instanter until the jury be filled.

1581*o*. When the jury is so selected the court shall cause the following oath to be administered to them: "You and each of you, do solemnly swear (or affirm) that you will well and truly ascertain and report just compensation to the owners (and each owner) of the property that is sought to be damaged in this case and to each person therein interested according to the facts in the case as the same may appear by the evidence in the case, and that you will truly report such compensation as ascertained: So help you God."

1581*p*. The jury shall go upon the land sought to be taken, in person and examine the same, and after hearing the evidence in the case, that may be offered, make their report in writing to the court, and the same may be subject to amendment by the jury, under the direction of the court, so as to be clearly set forth and shown, the compensation ascertained to each person thereto entitled.

1581*q*. The judge shall upon such report proceed to adjudge and make such order as to right and justice shall pertain, ordering the petitioner or petitioners or persons authorized by law to enter upon said property, and the use of the same upon the petitioner or petitioners, or other persons interested, paying the full compensation as ascertained as aforesaid, if any is found by the jury; and such order, with evidence of payment, shall constitute complete justification for the taking of such property for the purposes aforesaid.

1581*r*. Any person not made a party, may become such by filing his cross-petition, setting forth and showing that he is the owner of or has an interest in the property which is asked to be taken or damaged by the proposed work, and the right of such last named petitioner or petitioners shall thereupon be fully considered and determined.

1581*s*. In all cases an appeal may be taken from the county court to the district court and from the district court to the supreme court on error as in other cases of appeals, and error from said courts as now provided for by law.

1581*t*. In cases in which compensation shall be ascertained as aforesaid, if the party in whose favor the same is ascertained shall appeal, or take error from such proceedings, the petitioner or petitioners shall, notwithstanding, have a right to enter upon the use of the property upon entering into a bond with sufficient security, payable to the party interested in such compensation, conditioned for the payment of such compensation as shall be finally adjudged in the case, and in case of appeal or error by petitioner or petitioners they shall enter into like bond with approved security; said bond shall be approved by the judge before whom the proceedings were had, or the clerk of said court, and executed and filed with said judge or clerk at such time as is now fixed by law in other cases.

1581*u*. Compensation so adjudged may in all cases be paid into the court, before whom the proceedings were had, and the clerk or county judge shall, on demand, pay the same to the party entitled thereto, taking a receipt for the same; or payment may be made directly to the party entitled to receive the same by the petitioner or petitioners or persons adjudged to pay the same.

1581*v*. The judge shall cause the verdict of the jury and the proceedings of the court to be entered upon the records of said court.

1581*w*. The person or persons constructing such drain or ditch or levee may go upon the lands of the owners with their servants, teams, tools, and instruments, and may forever thereafter go upon said lands as aforesaid for the purpose of repairing and keeping such ditch or drain in order, doing no more damage than the necessity of the occasion shall require.

CHAPTER 15.—ELECTIONS.

Secs. 1582 to 1693, except sec. 1628. "An act to provide a general election law, the procedure relative to contested elections, and the filling of vacancies in office." 1879, p. 240. In force September 1.

1582. The general election of this state shall be held on Tuesday succeeding the first Monday in November of each year.

1583. All state, district, county, precinct, and township officers, by the constitution and laws made elective by the people, except school district officers, and municipal officers in cities and villages, shall be elected at a general election to be held at the time provided in the preceding section.

1584. Every male person of the age of twenty-one years or upwards, belonging to either of the following classes, who shall have resided in the state six months, in the county forty days, and in the precinct, township, or ward ten days, shall be an elector: First—Citizens of the United States. Second—Persons of foreign birth who shall have declared their intention to become citizens conformably to the laws of the United States on the subject of naturalization at least thirty days prior to an election.

Winnebago Indians held not to be entitled to vote. State, ex rel. Fair, v. Frazier, 28, 466 (44 N. W., 471). See Hart v. State, 14, 574 (16 N. W., 905).

1585. No person shall be qualified to vote who is non compos mentis, or who has been convicted of treason or felony under the law of the state, or of the United States, unless restored to civil rights.

1586. No soldier, seaman, or marine in the army and navy of the United States shall be deemed a resident of the state in consequence of being stationed therein.

1587. Electors shall in all cases, except treason, felony, or breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at elections, and going to and returning from the same, and no elector shall be obliged to do military duty on the days of election, except in time of war and public danger.

1588. [Officers chosen.]—One (1) judge of the supreme court and two (2) regents of the university shall be elected in the year eighteen hundred and seventy-nine (1879), and every second year thereafter, who shall serve for the term of six (6) years. Judges of the district court shall be elected in the year eighteen hundred and seventy-nine (1879), and every four years thereafter. The governor, lieutenant governor, congressmen, state treasurer, auditor of public accounts, secretary of state, attorney general, commissioner of public lands and buildings, superintendent of public instruction, and members of the legislature shall be elected in the year eighteen hundred and eighty (1880), and every second year thereafter. In counties not under township organization one (1) county judge, one (1) sheriff, one (1) coroner, one (1) county treasurer, one (1) county clerk, one (1) county surveyor, one (1) county superintendent of public instruction shall be elected in the year eighteen hundred and seventy-nine (1879), and every second year thereafter; and in each precinct two (2) justices of the peace and two (2) constables shall be elected in the year eighteen hundred and seventy-nine (1879), and every second year thereafter, except as hereinafter provided; and three (3) judges of election and two (2) clerks of election, one (1) assessor, and one (1) overseer of highways for each road district shall be elected in the year eighteen hundred and seventy-nine (1879), and annually thereafter, and one (1) county commissioner shall be elected annually, who shall serve three (3) years. In counties under township organization, one (1) county judge, one (1) sheriff, one (1) coroner, one (1) county treasurer, one (1) county clerk, one (1) county surveyor, and one (1) county superintendent of public instruction shall be elected at the first general election after the adoption of township organization, and every second year thereafter. At the first general election in each township after the adoption of township organization, one (1) town clerk, one (1) town treasurer, three (3) judges and two (2) clerks of election, one (1) assessor, and one (1) overseer of highways for each road district shall be elected annually thereafter; and two (2) justices of the peace and two (2) constables shall be elected at said election, and every second year thereafter, except as hereinafter provided; and at said election one (1) supervisor shall be elected in each township and thereafter each odd numbered year in the odd numbered township and each even numbered year in the even numbered townships, said townships to be numbered by the county board at their first regular meeting after the passage of this act or the subsequent adoption of township organization, as nearly as practicable in the same manner as government sections are numbered in a government township. And at the first general election after the adoption of the township organization in any county, in each city and each village having one thousand (1,000) inhabitants or over, one (1) supervisor at large and one (1) additional supervisor for each four thousand (4,000) inhabitants therein, one (1) assessor, three (3) judges and two (2) clerks of election, and annually thereafter; and in each city and in each village having more than five hundred (500) inhabitants, two (2) justices of the peace and two (2) constables shall be elected at said election, and every second year thereafter; Provided, however, That in all cities of the metropolitan class there shall be six (6) justices of the peace, and six (6) constables for each of said metropolitan cities, and no more; and in all cities of the first class having less than eighty thousand (80,000) and more than twenty-five thousand (25,000) inhabitants there shall be elected three (3) justices of the peace and three (3) constables for each of such cities, and no more. In each county having a population of eight thousand (8,000) inhabitants or more, there shall be elected in the year eighteen hundred and seventy-nine (1879), and every four (4) years thereafter, a clerk of the district court in and for such county, and in each county having a population less than eight thousand (8,000) inhabitants the county clerk shall be ex-officio clerk of the district court and perform the duties devolving upon the officer by law. All county, precinct, and township officers created by statute or that may be hereinafter created shall be elected at such general election as may be provided in the law creating the office or offices.

Amended 1885, p. 249; 1889, p. 361; 1891, p. 235. County clerk is ex-officio clerk of the district court in counties having a population of less than 8,000, and the election of a person as clerk of the district court in such a county does not entitle him to the office. State v. Steuffer, 10, 507 (6 N. W., 604). Does not have to give additional bond as clerk of the district court. People v. McCallum, 1, 202. Clerk district court can only be elected in 1871 and every four years thereafter in counties having 8,000 or more population, and cannot be elected in counties attaining that population in intervening years. State v. Stauffer, 11, 174 (8 N. W., 432). "First general election" means first election at which county officers are elected. State v. Hedlund, 16, 567 (20 N. W., 876). Cities of second class under township organization elect two justices for each ward. State, ex rel. McKinney, v. Partridge, 28, 748 (45 N. W., 169). Cities of first class entitled to three justices only. State, ex rel. Easterday, v. Howe, 28, 628 (44 N. W., 874). Election of justices in cities of first class. State v. Berka, 20, 379 (30 N. W., 267). If the requisite population is had thirty days before any general election, it is sufficient. State v. Long, 17, 503 (23 N. W., 337). See State v. Dodson, 21, 220 (31 N. W., 784). The several township organization laws are valid and are to be construed together. This section is not affected by section 948. Albert v. Twohig, 35, 563 (53 N. W., 582). Vacancy in office of supervisor, in city may be filled by mayor and council. State v. Planbeck, 36, — (54 N. W., 669). Cited and construed, State, ex rel. Snell, v. Westcott, 34, 84 (51 N. W., 599).

1589. Electors of president and vice president shall be elected at the general election in the year 1880, and every four years thereafter, on such day as congress may appoint, said electors to be chosen from the state at large.

1591. A county treasurer shall be ineligible to office for more than two consecutive terms.

This section has no retroactive effect. State v. Stein, 13, 533 (14 N. W., 481).

1592. Thirty days previous to any election at which any state officer is to be elected, the governor shall issue his proclamation designating all the offices to be filled by the vote of all the electors of the state, or by those of any congressional, legislative, or judicial district, and transmit a copy thereof by mail to the county clerk of each county.

This section is directory merely. A failure to issue would not invalidate the election. Nor does the omission of an office therefrom deprive the party elected of the right to hold. State, ex rel. Bates, v. Thayer, 31, 83 (47 N. W., 704).

1593. At least twenty days previous to any election, the county clerk, in counties not under township organization, shall make out and deliver to the sheriff of his county, or in counties under township organization, to the several town clerks, and to city clerks in cities of the first and second class, three notices thereof for each precinct, township, or ward in which the election in such county is to be held. The notices shall be substantially as follows: Notice is hereby given, that on Tuesday, the ——— day of November, ———, next, at the house of ———, in ———, an election will be held for governor, etc. (naming all the state and other officers to be balloted for), which election will be open at eight o'clock in the morning, and will continue open until six o'clock in the afternoon of the same day. Dated this ——— day of ———, A. D. 18—. A. B., County Clerk.

1594. The said sheriff or town or city clerk to whom the notices are delivered shall post up in three of the most public places in each precinct, township, or ward the three notices therefor, at least ten days before the time of holding any election.

The only fee allowed the sheriff for this service is mileage, under sec. 3006. County of Logan v. Doan, 34, 105 (51 N. W., 598).

1595. At all elections the polls shall be opened at eight o'clock in the morning, and close at six o'clock in the afternoon of the same day; but if the judges and clerks shall not attend at the hour of eight o'clock in the morning, or if it shall be necessary for the electors present to appoint judges and clerks, or any of them, as hereinafter prescribed, the polls may, in that case, be opened at any time before the time for closing the same shall arrive, as the case may require.

1596. Previous to any vote being taken the judges and clerks of election shall severally take an oath or affirmation according to the form prescribed in chapter on official bonds [2978].

1597. In case there shall be no judge or justice of the peace present at the opening of the polls, it shall be lawful for the judges of election to administer the oath or affirmation to each other and the clerks of election; and the person administering such oath or affirmation shall cause an entry thereof to be made and subscribed by him, and prefix to each poll book.

1598. [Vacancies.]—In the event of any person or persons elected, or that have been appointed as herein provided for, shall not attend at the time and place of holding such election, the electors present shall choose the requisite number of persons to fill the respective offices of clerks and judges of election, and the person or persons thus chosen shall qualify as provided in the last two preceding sections.

1599. Upon opening the polls, one of the judges of election shall make proclamation of the same, and at least thirty minutes before the closing of the polls proclamation shall be made in like manner that the polls will be closed in half an hour.

1600. Before any ballot shall be deposited in the ballot-box, the ballot-box shall be publicly opened and exhibited, and the judges and clerks shall see that no ballot is in such box; after which the box shall be locked and the key delivered to one of the judges, and shall not be again opened until the close of the polls; and the ballot-box shall not be removed from the view of the electors present until the polls are closed and all the votes shall have been counted and canvassed; nor shall two of the judges be absent from the room or building in which the election is held, at the same time, during such voting and canvassing.

1601. The county clerk, previous to the opening of the polls, shall prepare duplicate poll books, in the manner and form following:

Poll books of an election, held in ——— precinct, ——— township, or ——— ward, in ——— county, on the —— day of ———, A. D. ——, at which time, A. B., C. D., and E. F. were judges, and G. H. and I. K. were clerks of said election—the following named persons voted thereat:

NUMBERS AND NAMES OF ELECTORS.

No. 1. A. B.
No. 2. C. D.
No. 3. E. F.
No. 4. G. H.

We do hereby certify that the above is a true list of the persons voting at the named election. G. H., I. K., Clerks.

TALLY LIST OF PERSONS VOTED FOR, AND FOR WHAT OFFICE, CONTAINING THE NUMBER OF VOTES FOR EACH CANDIDATE.

GOVERNOR.	MEMBER OF CONGRESS.	COUNTY CLERK.

We hereby certify that A. B. had —— votes for governor, and C. D. had —— votes for governor; that E. F. had —— votes for member of congress, etc.

G. H., I. K., Clerks.

1602. The ballots shall designate the office for which the persons therein named are voted for.

See State, ex rel. Valentine, v. Griffey. 5, 166.

1603. One of the judges of election shall receive each ballot from the person offering to vote, at the same time announcing the name of such person in a clear, distinct voice, and if his right to vote be not challenged, or in cities of the first and second class if the name of the person offering to vote is on the register list, his ticket shall be placed in the ballot-box without inspecting the names written or printed thereon, and the clerks of election shall enter the name of the voter and the number in each poll book when his ballot is received.

1604. The county board shall provide a sufficient number of ballot-boxes, with secure locks and keys, at the expense of the county, for the several precincts or districts; and each ballot-box at the close of each election shall be deposited with one of the judges of election, who shall take charge of the same, and be responsible for its safe keeping; and he shall convey said ballot-box, or cause it to be conveyed, to the place of holding elections in his precinct, township, or ward, at the next general or special election, and deliver, or cause the same to be delivered, to one of the judges of said election.

1605. Any constable of the precinct, township, or ward, who may be designated by the judges of election, is directed to attend at the place of election, and he is authorized and required to preserve order and peace at and about the same;

and if no constable be in attendance, the judges of election may appoint one or more specially, by writing, who shall have all the powers of a regular constable.

1606. If any person conducts [himself] in a noisy, riotous, or tumultuous manner at or about the polls, so as disturb the election, or insults or abuses the judges or clerks of election, and persists in such conduct after being warned to desist, the constable shall forthwith arrest him without warrant, and bring him before the nearest justice of the peace, to be dealt with according to law, but such person shall be permitted to vote.

1607. The judges in cities of the first and second class where the registry law is in force shall designate one of their number to check on the register the name of every person voting; and no vote shall be received from any person whose name does not appear there, unless he shall furnish the judges his affidavit showing that he is a qualified elector, and a sufficient reason for not appearing before the registrar, and shall also prove by the affidavit of one elector whose name is on the register that such affiant knows him to be a resident of that city, giving his residence by street and number, as the same is in such case required to appear on the register. Said affidavit shall be kept by the judges, and by them filed in the office of the county clerk, and all such affidavits may be administered by either of the judges or clerks of election.

1608. Any person offering to vote, whether his name be on the register or not, may be challenged as unqualified by any judge or elector; and it is the duty of each of the judges to challenge any person offering to vote whom he knows or suspects not to be duly qualified.

1609. If any person offering to vote is challenged by one of the judges of the election, or by any elector, one of the judges shall tender to him the following oath or affirmation: "You do solemnly swear (or affirm) that you will fully and truly answer all such questions as shall be put to you, touching your place of residence, and qualifications as an elector at this election."

1610. If the person be challenged on the ground that he has not made his declaration of intention to become a citizen of the United States, the judges, or one of them, shall put the following question, provided that the person so challenged does not produce his intention papers: "Have you made your declaration of intention to become a citizen of the United States?" If the person be challenged on the ground that he has not resided in this state for six months immediately preceding the election, the judges, or any one of them, shall put the following questions: First—"Have you resided in this state for six months immediately preceding this election?" Second—"Have you been absent from this state within six months immediately preceding this election?" If he answers "Yes," then, Third—"When you left, did you leave for a temporary purpose, with the design of returning, or for the purpose of remaining away?" Fourth—"Did you, while absent, look upon and regard this state as your home?" Fifth—"Did you, while absent, vote in any other state or territory?" If the person be challenged on the ground that he is not a resident of the county, precinct, township, or ward where he offers to vote, the judges, or one of them, shall put the following questions: First—"Have you resided in this county for forty days last past?" Second—"Have you resided in this precinct (or ward) for the last ten days?" Third—"When did you last come into this county?" Fourth—"When you came into this county, was it for temporary purposes merely, or for the purpose of making it your home?" Fifth—"Did you come into this county for the purpose of voting therein?" Sixth—"Are you now an actual resident of this precinct or ward?" If the person be challenged on the ground that he is not twenty-one years of age, the following question shall be put: "Are you twenty-one years of age, to the best of your knowledge and belief?" The judges of the election, or one of them, shall put all such other questions to the person challenged, under the respective provisions of section two of this chapter, as may be necessary to test his qualifications as an elector at that election.

1611. If any person shall refuse to take the oath or affirmation provided for in this chapter, his vote shall be rejected.

1612. If a person's vote be challenged, and such challenge be not withdrawn after he shall have answered the foregoing questions, or such of them as may be necessary, one of the judges shall tender to him the following oath: "You do solemnly swear (or affirm) that you are a citizen of the United States (or have declared your intention to become such); that you have been an inhabitant of the state of Nebraska for the last six months, and of the county of ——— for the last forty days, and of this precinct for the last ten days; that you have attained the age of twenty-one years, to the best of your knowledge and belief." And it shall be the duty of the clerks of election to write on the poll books, at the end of such person's name, "sworn."

1613. The judges of election, or in cities of the first and second class the registrars of voters, in determining the residence of a person offering to vote, shall be governed by the following rules, so far as the same may be applicable: First—That place shall be considered and held to be the residence of a person in which his habitation is fixed, without any present intention of removing therefrom, and to which, whenever he is absent, he has the intention of returning. Second—A person shall not be considered or held to have lost his residence who shall leave his home and go into another territory or state, or county of this state, for temporary purposes merely, with the intention of returning; Provided, That six months' consecutive residence in this state shall be necessary to establish a residence within the meaning of this chapter. Third—A person shall not be considered and held to have acquired a residence in any county of this state into which he shall have come for temporary purposes merely without the intention of making it his residence. Fourth—If a person remove to another territory or state, intending to make it his permanent residence, he shall be considered and held to have lost his residence in this state. Fifth—If a person remove to another state or territory, intending to remain there for an indefinite time, and as a place of present residence, he shall be considered and held to have lost his residence in this state, notwithstanding he may intend to return at some future period. Sixth—The place where a married man's family resides shall generally be considered and held to be his residence; but if it is a place of temporary establishment only, or for transient purposes, it shall be otherwise. Seventh—If a married man have his family fixed in one place, and he does business in another, the former shall be considered and held to be the place of his residence. Eighth—The mere intention to acquire a new residence, without the fact of removal, shall avail nothing, nor shall the fact of removal, without intention. Ninth—If a person shall go into another territory or state, and while there shall exercise the right of citizen by voting, he shall be considered and held to have lost his residence in this state.

See Hart v. State, 14, 574 (16 N. W., 905).

1614. When the poll is closed the judges shall immediately proceed to canvass and ascertain the result of the election.

1615. The canvass shall be public, and shall commence by a comparison of the poll lists from the beginning, and a correction of any errors that may be found therein until they agree. The poll books shall then be signed by the judges and attested by the clerks, and the names therein contained shall be counted, and the number set down at the foot of the poll books.

1616. The ballot-box shall then be opened, and the ballots, without being unfolded, shall be counted by the judges. If the whole number of votes cast shall exceed the number of persons voting, as shown by the poll books, the said ballots shall then be replaced in the ballot-box, the box locked, and the ballots therein thoroughly shaken. The box shall then be opened, and one of the judges shall draw from the box as many ballots as there shall have been cast exceeding the number as shown by the poll books, and the number so withdrawn shall, without unfolding, be placed in a separate envelope, sealed, marked "excessive ballots," and sent with other returns of election to the county clerk in the manner hereinafter provided.

1617. After the poll books have been examined, compared, and signed, and the excessive ballots, if any, shall have been withdrawn, sealed up, and endorsed, the ballots remaining in the box shall be taken out by one of the judges, and the canvass shall be continued by the judges announcing to the clerk the number of votes each candidate balloted for shall have received, after which the ballots shall be strung upon a strong thread.

1618. The clerks shall enter upon the tally list of the poll books, in columns under the names of persons voted for, all the votes as declared read by the judges.

1619. If two or more ballots are found so folded together as to convince the judges that they were cast as one, they shall not be counted, but they shall have the words "rejected as double" written upon them, be folded together again, and kept as herein directed.

1620. If, at any stage of the canvass, a ballot not stating for what office the person therein named is voted for is found in the box, when officers of different kinds are to be elected, it is to be rejected and disposed of as hereinafter directed.

1621. [Excess of names.]—Whenever a ballot shall contain a greater number of names for any one office than the number of persons required to fill that office, it shall be deemed fraudulent as to the whole of the names for that office, but no further; and shall be endorsed "Rejected as to office of ————," and disposed of as hereinafter directed; and no ballot shall be deemed fraudulent because it contains a less number of names than are authorized to be inserted.

Extrinsic evidence not admissible to contradict or explain such ballot. State, ex rel. Stearns, v. Foxworthy, 29, 345–7 (45 N. W., 632). But ballots containing names of three candidates for justices of the peace, each for a separate district, not void. State, ex rel. Stearns, v. Foxworthy, 29, 345 (45 N. W., 632).

1622. If at any stage of the canvass a ballot shall be found having correctly written or printed thereon the surname of any person for any office, who shall be a candidate for such office at said election, and there shall be no other candidate for the same office having the same surname, such ballot shall be counted for such candidate, although the initial letter or letters or first name or names written or printed before his surname may not be those properly belonging thereto; but if there shall be two or more candidates at said election for the same office having the same surname, and such initial letter or letters or first name or names, written or printed on said ballot, shall properly belong to neither of the candidates, such ballot shall be rejected and disposed of as hereinafter directed. A candidate within the meaning of this section is any person intentionally voted for at any election.

1623. [Result—How expressed.]—When all the votes shall have been examined and counted, the clerks shall set down in the form in their poll books the name of every person voted for, written at full length, the office for which such person received such vote or votes, and the number of votes he received, which number shall be expressed in words at full length.

Hagge v. State, 10, 52 (4 N. W., 375).

1625. In counties not under township organization, the other poll book shall be deposited with one of the judges, to be appointed by the said judges to receive the same, and it shall be subject to the inspection of any elector who may wish to examine the same during the period of six months after such election shall have been held. In counties under township organization, in townships constituting a single precinct, the judges of election shall certify the result as to township officers immediately after footing up the result of the canvass on the poll books, and file such certificate, together with the other poll books, in the office of the town clerk; but where there are two or more election precincts in a township, the township board shall meet on the day after the election, and canvass the vote given for township officers as shown by the returns from the precincts, and the township board shall issue certificates of election accordingly.

1626. Where there is a tie between two persons for a township office, the clerk shall notify them to appear at his office at a given time to determine the same by lot before the board, and the certificate of election is to [be] given accordingly. If either party fail to appear, or to take part in the lot, the clerk shall draw for him.

1627. Upon the reception of the returns of each election precinct, township, or ward by the county clerk, directed to him as hereinbefore provided, and within six days after the closing of the polls, he, together with two disinterested electors of the county, to be chosen by himself, shall open the poll books and from the returns therein make abstracts of the votes cast, in the following manner: Of votes for governor, lieutenant governor, members of congress, secretary of state, auditor of public accounts, state treasurer, attorney general, state superintendent of public instruction, commissioner of public lands and buildings, and district attorneys on one sheet; of votes for presidential electors on another sheet; of votes expressing the choice of electors for United States senator on another sheet; of votes for judges of the supreme and district courts and regents of the university on another sheet; of votes for members of the legislature from the county alone on another sheet; of votes for members of the legislature by districts comprising more than one county on another sheet; and of votes for county, precinct, and township officers on another sheet. The foregoing abstracts shall be preserved by the county clerk in his office.

Amended 1889, p. 470. When canvassers refuse to do their duty, mandamus will lie to compel them to perform. Eaton v. Ryan, 5, 47. Board of canvassers have no judicial power whatever; their duty is to count the votes and declare the result. They cannot look beyond the returns. Hagge v. State, 10, 53 (4 N. W., 375). State v. Hill, 10, 61 (4 N. W., 514). State v. Stearns, 11, 106 (7 N. W., 743). Wilcox v. Saunders, 4, 575. Board has no power to classify the votes received by candidate into democratic; people's party, or otherwise. State, ex rel. Christy, v. Stein, 35, 857 (53 N. W., 999). Remedy by contest is not exclusive, and in many cases is not an adequate remedy. State v. Stearns, 11, .07 (7 N. W., 743). Cited, Sawyer v. Sweet, 33, 633 (50 N. W., 954).

Sec. 1628. "An act to provide for canvassing votes in certain cases." 1867 (Ter.), p. 18. In force June 1.

1628. Whenever the county clerk of any organized county of this state shall be a candidate for any office created by the laws of this state, or for member of the legislature of this state, it shall be the duty of the probate judge of the proper county to select two qualified electors of the county, who, together with himself, shall constitute a board of canvassers to canvass the vote polled for the office for which the then county clerk was a candidate; Provided, That in the event of the probate judge being a candidate for any office at said election, the county clerk shall canvass the votes as provided by law. The votes shall be so canvassed within the time and in the manner now prescribed by law.

1629. Upon the completion of the canvass the poll books shall be again sealed up, and together with the sealed packages of ballots, still unopened, securely bound in one package, shall be deposited in the office of the county clerk, where they shall be safely kept for twelve months, and the county clerk shall not allow the same to be inspected, unless in case of contested elections, or the same become necessary to be used in evidence in the courts, and then only by the person and in the manner provided by law.

1630. The county clerk shall make out a certificate of election to each of the persons having the highest number of votes for the several county, precinct, and *township officers, and members of the legislature from the county alone.

* "Townships" added 1889, p. 471. Certificate must be issued to party having the highest number of votes, regardless of what party casts them. State, ex rel. Christy, v. Stein, 35, 857 (53 N. W., 999).

1631. When there is a tie between two persons for an office to be filled by the county alone, or by any precinct therein, the clerk shall notify them to appear at his office at a given time to determine the same by lot before the canvassing board, and the certificate of election is to be given accordingly. If either party fail to appear, or take part in the lot, the county clerk shall draw for him.

In such case certificate should show manner of determining between the two. State v. Wilkinson, 23, 716 (37 N. W., 617).

1632. When two or more counties are embraced in one senatorial or representative district, the clerks of the several counties in said district shall, within seven days after the election, transmit by mail or otherwise to the clerk of the county first named in the law designating the district a copy of the abstract of all the votes cast in the several counties composing such district, for senator or representative, and the clerk of the county first named in the law designating the district, on the reception of such abstracts shall select two disinterested electors, and the three shall compare the votes given in the several counties as shown by the abstracts returned, and the said clerk shall make out and deliver to the person having the highest number of votes for the senate or house of representatives a certificate of election, which shall be delivered to the proper person, or his agent when called for.

1633. The votes cast for governor, lieutenant governor, members of congress, secretary of state, auditor of public accounts, state treasurer, state superintendent of public instruction, attorney general, commissioner of public lands and buildings, and district attorneys, and votes cast expressing the choice of electors for United States senators, shall be canvassed by the legislature at its next regular session. A copy of the abstract of votes cast for such officers shall be sealed up by the county clerk immediately upon the completion of the canvass, endorsed "Abstract of votes cast for officers of the executive department, from ——— county, "or, "Abstract of votes cast expressing the choice of electors for United States senator, from ——— county," and addressed to "the speaker of the house of representatives."

1634. The county clerk shall at the same time envelope and seal up a duplicate copy of the same abstracts directed to the secretary of state, and all of the abstracts shall be placed in one envelope and addressed to the secretary of state, who shall preserve the ones addressed to "the speaker of the house of representatives" unopened, until the meeting of the legislature, and from the duplicate copies prepare a tabular sheet of the votes cast for such officers and preserve the same for the use of the legislature in making the official canvass as required by the constitution.

1635. The votes cast for presidential electors, judges of the supreme and district courts, and regents of the university shall be canvassed by a board of state canvassers consisting of the governor, secretary of state, auditor of public accounts, treasurer, and attorney general, and a copy of the abstracts of votes cast for such officers shall be made by the county clerks, sealed up, directed to the secretary of state, and endorsed, "Election returns for the offices of ———."

1636. If the abstracts from any county are not received at the office of the secretary of state by the second Monday after the day of election, the secretary is authorized to send a messenger to the clerk of such county, at the expense of such county, who shall furnish such messenger with the abstracts, or, if they have been sent, with a copy of them, and he shall return them to the secretary without delay. If the abstracts were delayed by reason of the fault or neglect of the clerk, he shall be responsible to the county for the costs of the messenger.

1637. The abstracts of votes to be canvassed by the board of state canvassers shall be kept in the office of the secretary of state, and shall only be opened in the presence of such board at the time provided in the following section.

1638. The board of state canvassers shall meet at the office of the secretary of state on the third Monday after the election; and in case all of said returns shall not have then be[en] received at the office of the secretary of state, the board may adjourn from day to day, until the same shall have been received, not exceeding five days.

1639. They shall make an abstract stating the number of ballots cast for each office, the names of all the persons voted for, for what office they respectively received the votes, and the number of votes each received, in words at length, and stating whom they declare to be elected to the office, which abstract shall be signed by the canvassers in their official capacity, and as state canvassers, and have the seal of the state affixed, but should any two or more persons be returned with an equal and the highest vote, the board shall decide by lot which of said persons is elected.

Mandamus will lie against the governor and the board to compel them to meet and perform the duty imposed under this act. State, ex rel. Bates, v. Thayer, 31, 96 (47 N. W., 704).

1640. The secretary shall record the abstract in a book to be kept by him for recording the result of the state elections and to be called the election book, and also file the abstract.

1641. A certificate shall be prepared for each person elected, in substance as follows: State of Nebraska: At an election holden on the —— day of ——— A. B. was elected to the office of ———, for the term of —— years from the ——— (or, if to fill a vacancy, say, for the residue of the term ending on the —— day of ———, A. D. ——). Given at Lincoln this —— day of ———, A. D. ——. Such certificate shall be signed by the governor, under the seal of the state, and countersigned by the secretary of state.

ELECTORS OF PRESIDENT AND VICE-PRESIDENT.

1642. The certificate of election for presidential electors shall be served on each person elected, notifying him to attend at the seat of government at noon of the Saturday preceding the second Monday of January next after his election, and report himself to the governor as in attendance.

Time of meeting changed 1889, p. 472.

1643. The electors so attending shall meet at noon of the said Saturday, and the governor shall provide each of them a list of all the electors, and in case of the absence of any elector, or if the proper number of electors shall for any cause be deficient, those present shall forthwith elect from the citizens of the state so many persons as will supply the deficiency, and immediately issue a certificate of election, signed by those present, or a majority of them, to the person so chosen. In case of failure to elect by noon of the following day, the governor shall fill the vacancies by appointment.

Time changed 1889, p. 472.

1644. The college of electors, being full, shall meet at the capitol at noon of the said second Monday of January, and proceed to the election in conformity with the constitution of the United States.

Time changed 1889, p. 472.

1645. The electors shall receive a compensation of five dollars for every day's attendance, and the same mileage as members of the legislature.

ON CONTESTING ELECTIONS.

1646. The election of any person to any public office, the location or relocation of a county seat, or any proposition submitted to a vote of the people may be contested: 1. For malconduct, fraud, or corruption on the part of the judges of election in any precinct, township, or ward, or of any board of canvassers, or any member of either board sufficient to change the result. 2. When the incumbent was not eligible to the office at the time of the election. 3. When the incumbent has been convicted of felony, unless at the time of the election he shall have been restored to civil rights. 4. When the incumbent has given or offered to any elector, or any judge, clerk, or canvasser of the election, any bribe or reward in money, property, or anything of value for the purpose of procuring his election. 5. When illegal votes have been received or legal votes rejected at the polls sufficient to change the result. 6. For any error in any board of canvassers in counting the votes, or in declaring the result of the election if the error would change the result. 7. When the incumbent is in default as a collector and custodian of public money or property. 8. For any other cause which shows that another person was legally elected.

A contest is a legal remedy. Scott v. McGuire, 15, 304 (18 N. W., 93). Under subdivision 6, a remedy by contest may not be adequate and is not exclusive. State v. Stearns, 11, 107 (7 N. W., 743). Extrinsic evidence may be received to show intention of voter. State, ex rel. Valentine, v. Griffev, 5, 170. Must be eligible at the time of election. State v. McMillen, 23, 385 (36 N. W., 587). This remedy is cumulative and not exclusive of quo warranto. State, ex rel. Fair, v. Frazier, 28, 456 (44 N. W., 471). Or the holding of a second illegal county seat election may be enjoined, instead of waiting to contest it after it is held. Soloman v. Flemming, 34, 44 (51 N. W., 304). Military post at Valley not a reservation of the United States and residents thereof entitled to vote at county elections. State, ex rel Valentine, v. Griffey 5, 172.

1647. The term "incumbent" in this chapter means the person whom the canvassers declare elected.

1648. When the misconduct complained of is on the part of the judges of election, it shall not be held sufficient to set aside the election unless the vote of the precinct, township, or ward would change the result as to that office.

1649. The legislature in joint meeting shall hear and determine cases of contested election for all officers of the executive department. The meeting of the two houses, to decide upon such elections, shall be held in the hall of the house of representatives, and the speaker of the house shall preside.

1650. The senate and house of representatives shall severally hear and determine contests of the election of their respective members.

1651. The supreme court shall hear and determine contests of the election of judges of the supreme court, judges of the district courts, district attorneys, and regents of the university; and in case they shall disagree, the governor shall act with them in determining the contest, but no judge of the supreme court shall sit upon the hearing of any case in which he is a party.

1652. The district courts of the respective counties shall hear and determine contests of the election of county judge, and in regard to the removal of county seats, and in regard to any other subject which may by law be submitted to the vote of the people of the county, and the proceedings therein shall be conducted as near as may be hereinafter provided for contesting the election of county officers.

County court has no jurisdiction to try contest of election in city on question of voting aid to a work of internal improvement. Foxworthy v. L. & F. R. R., 13, 399 (14 N. W., 394). County court has exclusive original jurisdiction of contest over office of county attorney. Bell v. Templin, 26, 252 (41 N. W., 1093).

1654. Whenever any elector of this state chooses to contest the validity of the election of any of the officers of the executive department of the state, or whenever any elector of the proper county or district chooses to contest the election of any member of the legislature from such county or district, such person shall give notice thereof in writing, read such notice to and leave a copy thereof with the person whose election he intends to contest, within twenty days after the election; if the person cannot be found in his district, then a copy to be left at his last place of residence in the district, naming the points on which the election shall be contested, and the name of some person authorized by law to administer oaths, selected by him to take the depositions, and the time and place for the taking of the same; the adverse party may also select one such person on his part to attend at the time and place of taking such depositions.

If the persons selected to take depositions refuse to take testimony offered relating to the points of contest, they may, after entering upon their duties, be compelled, by mandamus, to proceed. State v. Peniston, 11, 103 (7 N. W., 753). Cited, In re Contest Proceedings, 31, 267 (47 N. W., 923).

1655. The notice provided for in the preceding section shall be served at least ten days before the day fixed for the taking of depositions. The said two persons selected as aforesaid to take the depositions shall proceed jointly, or in default of either one of such persons to attend at the time and place fixed upon, the one attending shall proceed to hear and reduce to writing the testimony of all witnesses who may be produced by either of said parties, and may adjourn from day to day until all said testimony shall have been taken and reduced to writing; Provided, That such testimony shall be finally closed on or before the 29th of December following.

Notice held sufficient. State v. Peniston, 11, 102 (7 N. W., 753).

1656. No testimony shall be received by the person officiating at the taking of the depositions on the part of the contestant which does not relate to the points specified in the notice, a copy of which notice shall be delivered to the person or persons so officiating, and said testimony, together with a copy of the notice, when taken, shall be certified by the person or persons before whom the same is taken, enveloped, sealed up, endorsed "Depositions taken in the matter of the contest of the election of A. B. to the office of ———," and directed to the secretary of state, who shall preserve the same, unopened, till the meeting of the legislature.

It seems that the persons selected to take depositions have power to determine what testimony is applicable to the points specified in the notice. State v. Peniston, 11, 103 (7 N. W., 753).

1657. If, at the time of taking depositions to be used before the legislature, or either branch thereof, in the case of a contested election, the notice shall allege that it is necessary for the determination of such contest that the ballots or the poll books of any election district or districts should be inspected, the officer or officers before whom such despositions shall be taken shall, on request of either party to the contest, issue an order requiring the county clerk, or other person in whose custody or possession the ballots or poll books may be, naming the district or districts mentioned in the notice, to deliver them to the person or persons therein named, who shall deliver them to the person or persons issuing such order. Such officer or officers shall transmit such ballots or poll books, unopened, in the same envelope with the depositions as provided in the preceding section.

1658. On the second day of the organization of the legislature, the secretary of state shall deliver to the speaker of [the] house all papers relating to contested elections of executive officers, and to the presiding officers of each house all papers relating to contested elections of the members of their respective houses.

1659. [Meeting of houses.]—Upon the reception by such presiding officers of papers relating to contested elections, they shall immediately give notice to their respective houses that such papers are in their possession. Where the papers relate to the contest of any executive state officer, the house of representatives shall notify the senate, and a day shall be fixed by both houses by concurrent resolution for the uniting of the two houses to decide upon the same, in which decision the yeas and nays shall be taken and entered upon the journal.

Such concurrent resolution must be signed by the presiding officer of both houses. In re Contest Proceedings, 31, 262 (47 N. W., 923).

1660. The papers relating to any such contest shall be opened only in the presence of the body by the presiding officer to whom the same shall be delivered. If ballots or poll books are contained therein, they shall, after being opened, remain in the custody of such presiding officer, subject to the inspection of the members, unless they shall by vote be temporarily committed to the chairman of a committee, in which case such chairman shall return them to the proper presiding officer; and they shall, upon the decision of the contest, be again sealed up in an envelope and returned by mail or otherwise to the office of the county clerk in which they were first required to be filed.

1661. All the evidence in any contest provided for in the last preceding section, except ballots or poll books, shall, after a decision thereof, be preserved in the office of the secretary of state.

1662. The election of any person declared elected to any office, other than executive state officers and members of the legislature, may be contested by any elector of the state, judicial district, county, township, precinct, city, or incorporated village in and for which the person is declared elected.

In case stated, held that mandamus would lie notwithstanding this statute. State v. Hill, 10, 63 (4 N. W., 514). Cited, Barnd v. Hunt, 32, 119 (49 N. W., 222).

1663. The contestants shall file in the proper court, within twenty days after the votes are canvassed, a complaint, setting forth the name of the contestant, and that he is an elector competent to contest such election, the name of the incumbent, the office contested, the time of the election, and the particular causes of contest, which complaint shall be verified by the affidavit of the contestant that the causes set forth are true as he verily believes. The contestant must also file a bond, with security to be approved by the clerk of the court, or county judge, as the case may be, conditioned to pay all costs in case the election be confirmed, the complaint dismissed, or the prosecution fail.

Held sufficient if statute prescribing it followed; must show an adverse interest. Burke v. Perry, 26, 419 (42 N. W., 401).

1664. When the reception of illegal or the rejection of legal votes is alleged as a cause of contest, the names of the persons who so voted, or whose votes were rejected, if known, with the precinct, township, or ward where they voted or offered to vote, shall be set forth in the complaint.

1665. Upon the filing of such complaint, summons shall issue against the person whose office is contested, in the same manner as in civil actions, and a copy of the complaint shall in all cases accompany the summons.

1666. The cause shall stand for trial at the expiration of thirty days from the time of service of the summons and complaint, if the court shall then be in session; otherwise, on the first day of the next term thereafter.

1667. The trial shall proceed at the time appointed unless postponed for good cause shown by affidavit, the terms of which postponement are in the discretion of the court.

1668. The proceedings shall be assimilated to those in an action, so far as practicable, but shall be under the control and direction of the court, which shall have all the powers necessary to the right hearing and determination of the matter, to compel the attendance of witnesses, swear them and direct their examination; to punish for contempt in its presence, or by disobedience to its lawful mandate, to adjourn from day to day, to make any order concerning immediate costs, and to enforce its orders by attachment. It shall be governed by the rules of law and evidence applicable to the case.

1669. The testimony may be oral, or by depositions taken as in other actions in the court where the cause is tried. Subpœnas for witnesses may be issued as in other cases, any time after the filing of the complaint.

1670. The proceedings shall not be dismissed for want of form, if the particular causes of contest are alleged with such certainty as will sufficiently advise the incumbent of the real grounds of contest. If any part of the causes are held insufficient, they may be amended, but the incumbent will be entitled to an adjournment if he state on oath that he has matter of answer to the amended causes, for the preparation of which he needs further time. Such adjournment shall be upon such terms as the court deem reasonable; but if all the causes are held insufficient, and an amendment is asked, the adjournment shall be at the cost of the contestant. If no amendment is asked for or made, or in case of entire failure to prosecute, the proceedings may be dismissed.

1671. The style, form, and manner of service of process and papers, and the fees of officers and witnesses shall be the same as in other cases in the court where the cause is tried.

1672. The court may require any person called as a witness who voted at such election to answer touching his qualifications as a voter; and if he was not a qualified voter in the county where he voted, then to answer for whom he voted; and if the witness answer such questions, no part of his testimony on that trial shall be used against him in any criminal action.

1673. If an inspection of the ballots or poll books of any election district in this state shall become necessary for the determination of any election contest before any court, the presiding judge thereof may by order, naming the district or districts, require the proper officer to procure the same from the county clerk, or other person in whose possession or custody the same may be, and such clerk or person shall deliver the same to said officer, who shall deliver them unopened to such presiding judge.

1674. The presiding judge shall open and inspect the same in open court, in the presence of the parties or their attorneys, and immediately after such inspection shall again seal them in an envelope and return them by mail or otherwise to the office of the county clerk in which they were first required to be filed.

1675. The contestant and the incumbent are liable to the officers and witnesses for the costs made by them respectively. But if the election be confirmed, or the complaint be dismissed, or the prosecution fail, judgment shall be rendered against the contestant for costs; and if the judgment be against the incumbent, or the election be set aside, it shall be against him for costs.

1676. The judgment of the court in cases of contested election shall confirm or annul the election according to the right of the matter; or, in case the contest is in relation to the election of some person to an office, shall declare as elected the person who shall appear to be duly elected.

If the election is void, court should so declare. Laws v. Vincent, 16, 215 (20 N. W., 213).

1677. If it appears that two or more persons have—or would have had if the legal ballots cast or intended to be cast for them had been counted—the highest and an equal number of votes for the same office, the persons receiving such votes shall decide by lot, in such manner as the court shall by written order direct, which of them shall be declared duly elected; and the judgment shall be entered accordingly.

1678. [Judgment of ouster.]—When either the contestant or incumbent shall be in possession of the office, by holding over or otherwise, the court shall, if the judgment be against the party so in possession of the office and in favor of his antagonist, issue an order to carry into effect the judgment of the court, which order shall be under the seal of the court, and shall command the sheriff of the county to put the successful party into possession of the office without delay, and to deliver to him all books and papers belonging to the same; and the sheriff shall execute such order as other writs.

A supersedeas bond will not stay the judgment of district court in contest for office of councilman; nor will injunction against the successful party lie. State, ex rel. Hunt, v. Mayor, etc., of Kearney, 28, 103 (44 N. W., 90).

1679. When the person whose election is contested is found to have received the highest number of legal votes, but the election is declared null by reason of legal disqualification on his part, or for other causes, the person receiving the next highest number of votes shall not be declared elected, but the election shall be declared void.

1680. The party against whom judgment is rendered in cases tried in the county and district court may appeal to the district or supreme court, and if the appellant be in possession of the office, such appeal shall not supersede the execution of the judgment of the court as provided in the preceding section unless he give a bond with security, to be approved by the court, in a sum to be fixed by the court and which shall be at least double the probable compensation of such officer for six months, which bond shall be conditioned that he will prosecute his appeal without delay, and that if the judgment appealed from be affirmed, he will pay over to the successful party all compensation received by him while in possession of said office after the judgment appealed from was rendered; and said bond shall contain the express consent that judgment may be rendered against the sureties on the appeal as provided in the following section.

Not necessary that appellant should himself sign appeal bond. Clark v. Strong, 14, 231 (15 N. W., 236). A motion for a new trial in an appeal under this section is not necessary. Barnd v. Hunt, 32, 119 (49 N. W., 222).

1681. If upon the appeal the judgment be affirmed, the appellant court shall render judgment against the appellant and the sureties on his bond, or either of them, for the amount which the appellee is entitled to recover from the appellant on account of such contest, together with costs; but in such case the sureties, or either of them, shall be entitled to produce and examine witnesses concerning the amount of such recovery.

1682. If upon appeal the appellant shall not be in possession of the office, he shall give bond, with security to be approved by the court where the judgment is rendered, conditioned to pay all costs that may be adjudged against him upon such appeal.

Appeal bond held to be in due form and valid though not signed by appellant himself. Clark v. Strong, 14, 231 (15 N. W., 236).

1683. Every civil office shall be vacant upon the happening of either of the following events at any time before the expiration of the term of such office, as follows: 1. The resignation of the incumbent. 2. His death. 3. His removal from office. 4. The decision of a competent tribunal declaring his office vacant. 5. His ceasing to be a resident of the state, district, county, township, precinct, or ward in which the duties of his office are to [be] exercised, or for which he may have been elected. 6. A failure to elect at a proper election, there being no incumbent to continue in office until his successor is elected and qualified, nor other provisions relating thereto. 7. A forfeiture of office as provided by any law of the state. 8. Conviction of an infamous crime, or of any public offense involving the violation of his oath of office. 9. The acceptance of a commission to any military office, either in the militia of this state, or in the service of the United States, which requires the incumbent in the civil office to exercise his military duties out of the state for a period not less than sixty days.

A vacancy may exist though the duties of the office are being performed temporarily by an appointee. Prather v. Hart, 17, 599 (24 N. W., 282). See State v. Field, 26, 399 (41 N. W., 988). Cited and construed, Richards v. McMillan, 36, (54 N. W., 567).

1684. Resignations of civil officers may be made as follows: 1. By the governor, to the legislature, if in session; if not, to the secretary of state. 2. By senators and representatives in congress, and by all officers elected by the qualified voters of the state, and by judges of the supreme and district courts, district attorneys, and regents of the university, to the governor. 3. By members of the senate and house of representatives, to the presiding officers of their respective bodies, if in session, who shall immediately transmit information of the same to the governer; if such bodies are not in session, to the governor. 4. By all county and precinct officers, to the county board; and by members of the board, to the county clerk. 5. By all township officers, to the township clerk; and by the township clerk, to the town board. 6. By all officers holding appointments, to the officer or body by whom they were appointed. Such resignation shall not take effect until accepted by the board or officer to whom the same is made.

A supervisor is a township officer, resignation of addressed to town clerk. State v. Taylor, 26, 586 (42 N. W., 729).

1685. Vacancies shall be filled in the following manner: In the office of the reporter of the supreme court, by the supreme court. In all other state and judicial district offices, and in the membership of any board or commission created by the state, where no other method is especially provided, by the governor. In county and * precinct offices, by the county board; and in the membership of such board, by the county clerk, treasurer, and judge. In township offices, by the town board, but where the offices of the town board are all vacant the clerk shall appoint, and if there be no town clerk, the county clerk shall appoint. In city and village offices, by the mayor and council or board of trustees.

* "Precinct offices" added 1883, p. 226. The county board cannot declare an office vacant on the ground of the ineligibility of the party elected thereto. Richards v. McMillan, 36, — (54 N. W., 567). Vacancy in office of supervisor in city may be filled by mayor and council. State v. Planbeck, 36, — (54 N. W., 669).

1686. Every officer elected or appointed for a fixed term shall hold office until his successor is elected, or appointed and qualified, unless the statute under which he is elected or appointed expressly declares the contrary. This section shall not be construed in any way to prevent the removal or suspension of such officer during or after his term in cases provided by law.

1687. Appointments under the provisions of this chapter shall be in writing, and continue until the next election at which the vacancy can be filled, and until a successor is elected and qualified, and be filed with the secretary of state or proper township clerk, or proper county clerk respectively.

1688. When a vacancy occurs in a public office, possession shall be taken of the office room and of the books, papers, and all things pertaining to the office, to be held until the election or appointment and qualification of a successor, as follows: Of the office of county clerk, by his deputy, if there be one; if not, by the county judge; and in case of any delay in the election or appointment of a successor to the county clerk, his deputy shall continue to discharge the duties of the office, being responsible for the conduct and management thereof upon his official bond. Of the office of county treasurer, by the sheriff. Of any of the state officers, by the governor; or in his absence or inability at the time of the occurrence, as follows: Of the secretary of state, by the treasurer. Of the auditor of public accounts, commissioner of public lands and buildings, and superintendent of public instruction, by the secretary of state. Of the treasurer, by the secretary of state and auditor of public accounts, who shall make an inventory of the money and warrants therein, sign the same, and transmit it to the governor, if he be in the state; and the secretary of state shall take the keys of the safes and desks, after depositing the books, papers, money, and warrants therein, and the auditor shall take the key of the office room.

1689. Vacancies occurring in any state, judicial district, county, precinct, township, or any public elective office, thirty days prior to any general election, shall be filled thereat. Vacancies occurring in the office of county judge or justice of the peace shall be filled by election, but when the unexpired term does not exceed one year the vacancy shall be filled by appointment, as provided in section one hundred and three [1685]. Vacancies occurring in the office of any police magistrate in cities where the unexpired term does not exceed one year shall be filled by appointment, but vacancies occurring in such office less than thirty days prior to any city election, and where the unexpired term exceeds one year, shall be filled by special election. And any person so appointed or elected under the provisions of this section shall hold his office for the unexpired term.

Amended 1883, p. 227. This general provision does not apply where there is a special provision in an act providing for the filling of vacancies, as in sec. 3115. State, ex rel. Hull, v. Walker, 30, 501 (46 N. W., 618). State, ex rel. Easterling, v. Rankin, 33, 269 (49 N. W., 1121). A vacancy in office of county attorney is filled under sec. 3115, not under this general provision. State, ex rel. Hull, v. Walker, 30, 501 (46 N. W., 648). Vacancy in office of councilman of city of first class, occurring less than thirty days before city election, cannot be filled thereat. State, ex rel. Cooper, v. Hamilton, 29, 206 (45 N. W., 279). See State v. Forney, 21, 223 (31 N. W., 802). Where a district judge resigned in December, 1889, and the place was filled by appointment, held that there was a vacancy which should be filled at the general election of 1890. State, ex rel. Bates, v. Thayer, 31, 96 (47 N. W., 704).

1690. When a vacancy occurs in the office of representative in congress, or members of the legislature, and the body in which such vacancy exists will convene prior to the next general election, the governor shall order a special election to fill such vacancy at the earliest practicable time, and ten days' notice of such election shall be given.

1691. The provisions relating to general elections shall govern special elections, except where otherwise provided for.

1692. In all cases where special elections are held to fill vacancies in offices mentioned in the preceding subdivision, the board of canvassers shall meet at twelve o'clock M., on the third day after said election, to canvass the votes cast at such election, and the county clerk, within four days after any special election for a member of the legislature, or representative in congress, shall transmit to the secretary of state an abstract of the votes cast at said election, if there be more than one county in the district.

1693. Within ten days after said election in the case last mentioned, the board of state canvassers shall meet and canvass the votes cast to fill such vacancy, and if the returns have not been received from all the counties composing said district, they may adjourn to such day as they deem necessary, not exceeding five, for the purpose of receiving said returns.

Secs. 1694 to 1702. "An act to protect primary elections and conventions of political parties and punish offenses committed thereat." 1887, p. 454. In force March 26.

1694. If at any political primary election, held by any political party, organization, or association in the state, any individual shall falsely personate and vote under the name of any other person, or shall intentionally vote without the right to do so, or shall willfully and wrongfully obstruct and prevent others from voting who have the right to do so at such primary, or shall fraudulently and wrongfully deposit ballots in the ballot-box, or take them therefrom, or shall commit any other fraud or wrong, tending to defeat or affect the result of the election, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

1695. Political parties, organizations, or associations in this state may adopt such rules and regulations, and appoint presiding officers and inspectors of election, at any primary election that they deem just and proper; Provided, That in all cities of the metropolitan, first, and second class the polls at all such primary elections shall be opened at 12 o'clock noon, and closed at 7 o'clock in the afternoon, standard time, on the day on which such elections are held.

1696. The vote or ballot of any person offered at any such election shall, upon challenge by any lawful voter thereat, be rejected, unless he be sworn as to his qualifications as such voter; and the presiding officer or any inspector of such primary is hereby empowered, and it shall be his duty, to administer an oath to such person and to any other person offering to vote, as he may deem advisable, which oath shall be as follows: "You do solemnly swear (or affirm) that you will true answers make to such questions as shall be put to you, by the presiding officer, or either of the inspectors of this primary election touching your name and residence, and your qualifications as a voter in this district, ward, or precinct, and whether you have before voted at this primary election." And it shall be the duty of the presiding officer, or one of the inspectors at such primary election (if required by the person challenging), to keep a correct record of the interrogatories propounded by said presiding officer or inspector, to any person who shall have been duly sworn, as provided by this act, and also a correct record of the answers to all such interrogatories, which record shall be forthwith deposited by him or them with the clerk of the county in which said primary election is held.

1697. In case the person so swearing shall intentionally make false answer to any questions so put to him by the presiding officer or any inspector, or either of them, at such primary election, he shall, upon conviction, be adjudged guilty of perjury, and shall be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary for a term not less than one year, nor more than three years.

1698. If any person, acting as an officer, inspector, teller, or canvasser at any such primary election shall knowingly receive the vote of any individual who shall have been challenged, or who is known to him not to be entitled by the rules or regulations of the association, organization, or political party holding the primary election, to vote at such primary, unless the same shall first be sworn in as aforesaid, or shall in any manner fraudulently and wrongfully deposit or put any ballots into or take any from the ballot-box of any primary election, or shall fraudulently and wrongfully mix any ballots with those cast at any primary election, or shall knowingly make any false count, canvass, statement, certificate, or return of the ballots cast or vote taken at said primary election, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

1699. [Bribery.]—If any person who is entitled to vote, or is elected a delegate at any such primary or convention, shall accept or receive any money or valuable thing as a consideration for his vote he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

1700. The words "primary election," as used in this act, shall be construed so as to embrace all elections, held by any political party, convention, organization, or association, or delegates therefrom, for the purpose of choosing candidates for office or the election of delegates to other conventions, or for the purpose of any political party, organization, convention, or association.

1701. No person shall be entitled to vote at any primary election unless of the age of twenty-one years, and a duly qualified voter under the laws of this state, and the prescribed rules and regulations of the political party, organization, or association holding the primary election.

1702. The punishment of any of the offenses in this act declared to be misdemeanors shall be a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or imprisonment not exceeding one year, or both such fine and imprisonment.

Secs. 1703 to 1745. "An act to require and regulate the registration of voters for election purposes in metropolitan cities, cities of the first class, and cities of the second class, which shall include all portions of the voting precincts in which said city is situated, in the state of Nebraska." 1889, p. 431. In force July 1.* (Baker's registration law.)

1703. It shall be the duty of the mayor and council of any metropolitan city or city of the first class or city of the second class having over two thousand five hundred (2,500) inhabitants, which shall include all portions of the voting precinct in which said city is situated, to cause to be prepared books for the registration of names and facts required by this act. Said books to be known by the general name of registers, and to be so arranged as to admit of the entering, under the name of each street or avenue in each election precinct and the number of each dwelling on any such street or avenue, if there be a number thereto, and if there be no number, then under such definite description of the location of the dwelling place as shall enable it to be readily ascertained and found, the names of all legal voters in each dwelling in each of said precincts, who shall apply for registration. Such register shall be ruled in parallel columns, in which, opposite the name of every applicant for registration, shall be entered the words and figures hereinafter provided in this act, and shall be of such size as to contain not less than eight hundred (800) names, and so prepared that they may be used at each election in any city governed by the provisions of this act, until such time as in this act provided for the succeeding general registration, and shall on the inside be in form as follows, to-wit:

Residence.	Room No.	Address.	Sworn.	Nativity.	Color.		Term of Residence.					Court.	Qualified Voter.	Date of Application.	Why Disqualified.	Date of Erasing Name.	Voted November.	Month Voted.	Challenged.	Remarks.
							Precinct.	County.	State.	Naturalized.	Date of Papers.

Registration laws are to be used as a shield to protect voters, not as a sword to disfranchise them. State v. Piper, 17, 614 (24 N. W., 204). The powers of the board of registration are confined to voters residing within the city. State, ex rel. Eble, v. Leavitt, 33, 289 (49 N. W., 1097).

1704. All supervisors of registration in said cities shall hereafter be selected and appointed by the city council, and the said council shall have the power to make all necessary removals in the office of supervisors of registration. It shall be the duty of said council, annually in the month of September in each year, for each election precinct in any such cities to select to serve as supervisors of registration, three (3) persons, two of whom, on state issues, shall be of political faith and opinion different from their associate, and the supervisor appointed to represent the political party in the minority on state issues shall be named solely by such members of said city council; the said supervisors shall be citizens of the United States and of state of Nebraska, of good character, and able to read, write, and speak the English language understandingly, qualified voters in said city, and not candidates for any office to be voted for by the electors of the precinct for which they shall be selected, and residents of the precincts for which they shall be appointed. [*] Act of 1887, p. 392, providing for elections in cities, and requiring registration on one of four days, the last being ten days prior to election, held unconstitutional. State v. Corner, 22, 265 (31 N. W., 499).

persons so selected as supervisors shall be notified by the city clerk to appear before the mayor, who shall examine them as to their qualifications, and if he shall be satisfied that they are qualified to serve, they shall each take and subscribe before the city clerk within ten days of the notice of the appointment, the following oath of office: "I, ———, residing at No. —— in the city of ———, do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support the constitution of the United States and of the state of Nebraska, and that I will faithfully and impartially discharge the duties of the office of supervisor of registration for the election precinct (or ward) No. ——, of the city of ———, according to the laws of the state and the best of my ability; and that I am a citizen of the United States and of the state of Nebraska, a qualified voter in election precinct (or ward) No. ——, in the city of ———, and not a candidate for any office to be voted for by the voters of the precinct for which I am appointed supervisor." Whoever shall be nominated and sworn into office as a supervisor of registration shall receive a certificate of appointment from said city clerk, and said certificate shall be in such form as shall be prescribed by the city council, and to specify the election precinct or ward in and for which the person to whom the same is issued is appointed to serve, and the date of the expiration of his term of office. The supervisors of registration appointed under the provision of this act shall hold office for one year, unless sooner removed by the mayor for want of requisite qualifications, or by said council for cause, in either of which cases such removal, unless made while the supervisor is actually on duty on the day of registration or revision of registration, and for improper conduct as registration officer, shall only be made after notice in writing to the officer sought to be removed, which notice shall set forth clearly the reason for his removal; Provided, That any supervisor of registration who shall at any time be appointed to fill a vacancy, which fact shall be stated in his certificate of appointment, shall hold office only during the unexpired term of his predecessor. The said supervisor of registration shall have charge and control of the registration of voters and the revision of any registration in their respective precincts.

The prohibition is against holding the office of supervisor, not the office to which the party may be elected. State, ex rel. Roche, v. Cosgrove, 34, 391 (51 N. W., 974).

1705. Any person applying to register may, on any day of any general registration or revision of registration, be challenged in the said cities, and either of the said supervisors in any election precinct may, at any authorized meeting of said supervisors, and one of them shall administer to any person so challenged, the oath or oaths provided by law to test the qualifications of challenged voters, and either of said supervisors may, at any such meetings, administer to any applicant for registration the oath or oaths provided in this act to be administered to any such applicant, and may also administer to any elector of the election precinct who may be offered as a witness to prove the qualifications of any person claiming the right to be registered the following oath:

FORM OF OATH TO WITNESS.

"You do solemnly swear (or affirm) that you are a voter in this election precinct; that you will fully and truly answer all such questions as shall be put to you touching the place of residence and other qualifications as a voter of (name to be given) now claiming the right to be registered as a voter in this precinct."

1706. Whenever, from any cause, there shall exist a vacancy in the office of supervisor of registration, the person appointed to fill such vacancy shall be named by the council as hereinbefore provided.

1707. Supervisors of registration appointed in pursuance of the provisions of this act shall each be entitled to receive three (3) dollars per day for each day's service at any registration, or revision of any registration, which compensation shall be allowed by the city council on the certificate of the city clerk as to the time of service; but no payment shall be made to any person as a supervisor as aforesaid who shall not have taken, subscribed, and filed the oath or affirmation herein required, and who shall not, during the period of his service, have fully complied with all the requirements of law in anywise relating to his duties; and it shall be unlawful for any person to act as such supervisor without having taken, subscribed, and filed the said oath or affirmation, and any person so unlawfully acting shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, on conviction thereof, be fined in any sum not less than fifty ($50) dollars, nor more than one hundred ($100) dollars, or imprisoned in county jail for not less than ten (10) days, nor more than sixty (60) days, or both, and shall stand committed until all fines and costs are paid. Said supervisors, during the time that they hold such office, shall be exempt from the performance of jury duty.

1708. Each and every person appointed by the city council for supervisor of registration, under this act, shall, on receipt of notice thereof from the city clerk, appear within five (5) days thereafter before the mayor for examination, and if found qualified shall, unless excused by the mayor by reason of ill health or other good and sufficient cause, be bound to serve as such officer for the term of one year from the date of his appointment, and in case of the neglect or refusal of any such person to comply with the above requirement, or to serve or act, unless excused as aforesaid, the said person shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof, shall be fined in any sum not less than fifty ($50) dollars, nor more than two hundred ($200) dollars, and shall stand committed until such fine and the costs are paid, and said fines shall be for the use of the police fund.

1709. The said supervisors of registration in each election precinct in any city governed by this act, while discharging any of the duties imposed upon them by this act, shall have full authority to preserve order and enforce obedience to their lawful commands, at and around the place of registration, or revision of registration, during the time of registration, or revision of registration; to keep the access to such place open and unobstructed; to prevent and suppress riots, tumults, violence, disorder, and all improper conduct tending to the intimidation or obstruction of voters; to prevent the disturbance or interruption of the work of registration, or revision of registration, and the registers from violence or fraud, and to appoint or deputize, if necessary, one or more voters to communicate their orders and directions, and to assist in the enforcement thereof, and any person neglecting or refusing to act when so appointed or deputized shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, on conviction thereof, be fined in any sum not less than ten ($10) dollars, nor more than one hundred ($100) dollars, and shall stand committed until such fine and the costs are paid.

1710. Hereafter there shall, in the cities governed by the provisions of this act, be a general registration of the qualified voters resident in each election precinct in said cities, at the times hereinbelow provided, and then only on Tuesday, four weeks, the Wednesday of the third week the Thursday of the second week, and the Friday and Saturday of the first week, preceding the day of the November election in each year. For each and every election held in any of the said cities, other than such as are above designated in this section, there shall be a revision of the general registration had, as provided in this act, which revision shall be made on the Friday and Saturday of the second week, and on the Saturday of the first week preceding the day of each and every such election.

1711. The supervisors of registration appointed pursuant to the provisions of this act shall, at the times in this act designated for general registration, meet in their respective election precincts, at the places which, as provided in this act, shall be selected for such meetings, and at such times in each election precinct the said supervisors of registration shall openly and publicly do and perform the following acts, viz: 1st. They shall organize as a board by selecting one of their number to act as chairman, but in case of failure to so organize within fifteen minutes after the time fixed for the meeting, the chairman shall be selected by lot. 2d. They shall receive the application of registration of such legal voters of their several election precincts as then are, or on the day of election next following the day of making such applications would be, entitled to vote therein, and who shall personally present themselves for registration, and such only. 3d. They shall remain in session on each of said days of registration, or revision of registration, from the hour of 8 o'clock in the morning until 9 o'clock in the evening and administer to all persons who may personally apply to register the following oath or affirmation, viz: "You do solemnly swear (or affirm) that you will fully and truly answer all such questions as shall be put to you, touching your place of residence, name, place of birth, your qualifications as an elector, and your right as such to register and vote under the laws of this state." 4th. They shall then examine the applicant as to his qualifications as an elector, and, unless otherwise provided herein, shall immediately, in the presence of the applicant, enter in the registers to be made and furnished, as provided in this act, the statements and acts as above set forth, and in the manner following, viz: First—Under the column "Residence," the name and number of the street, avenue, or other location of the dwelling if there be a number; but if there shall not be a number, then such clear and definite description of the location of such dwelling as shall enable it to be readily found; and if there be more than one family residing in the dwelling named by the applicant, in such case the said applicant shall give the floor on which he resided (every floor below the level of the ground being designated as the basement, the first floor on or above such level the first floor, and each floor above that as the second or such other floor as it may be), or the number or location of the rooms occupied by the applicant and whether front or rear. Second—Under the column "Address," the name of the applicant, giving the surname and Christian name in full, and said names shall be kept by streets and avenues as far as the same can be done. Third—Under the column "Sworn," the word "Yes" or "No" as the case may be. Fourth—Under the column "Nativity," the state, country, kingdom, empire, or dominion, as the facts shall be stated by the applicant. Fifth—Under the column "Color," the word "White" or "Black" as the case may be. Sixth—Under the subdivision of the general column of "Term of Residence," the periods by months or years stated by the applicant in response to the inquiries made for the purposes of ascertaining his qualifications and filling such columns. Seventh—Under the column "Naturalized," the word "Yes" or "No" or "Native" as the fact may be stated. Eighth—Under the column "Date of Papers," the date of naturalization if naturalized, as the same shall appear by the evidence of citizenship submitted or presented by the applicant in compliance with the requirements of this act. Ninth—Under the column "Court," the designation of the court in which, if naturalized, such naturalization was done, as the same shall appear by the evidence of citizenship presented or submitted by the applicant in compliance with the requirements of this act. Tenth—Under the column "Qualified Voter," the word "Yes" or "No" as the fact shall appear and be determined by at least two (2) of the said supervisors, it being, however, required of said supervisors to designate as a qualified voter any person, who, being otherwise qualified, shall not, at the time of making the application, be of age, provided the time when such applicant shall be of the age of twenty-one (21) shall be subsequent to the date of his making application, and not later than the day of the election immediately following such time of applying. Eleventh—Under the column "Date of Application," the month, day, and year when the applicant presented himself for registration.

1712. On the days and at the times in this act designated for any revision of any general registration, the duly qualified supervisors of registration shall meet in their respective election precincts, at the places which, in accordance with the requirements of this act, shall have been provided for such meetings, and shall openly and publicly do and perform the following acts, viz: Each and every one of the duties and requirements set forth in subdivisions one (1) and three (3) of section nine (9) of this act [1711]. They shall in each election precinct receive the application for registration of such legal voters of the election precinct, whose names are not then borne upon the registers thereof as qualified voters therein, as shall personally present themselves, and who, on the day of election next ensuing, would be entitled to vote therein, and as to all applications made to them, they shall proceed therewith in the manner provided in subdivision four (4) of section nine (9) of this act; Provided, That upon the examination, as in this act provided for, of any applicant for registration, it shall appear that he has, since the last day of any general registration of voters or any revision thereof, in cities governed by this act, moved into or become a resident of said election precinct, the said supervisors shall inquire from where such applicant removed or came; and if it shall appear that such removal was from a place within the said city, they shall inquire if, in the election precinct in which he resided at the time of the last preceding general registration (naming such time), or in which he has resided at any time subsequent thereto, he has been registered, or has applied for registration; and if he shall swear that he has not, then the said supervisors shall proceed with said application as with that of any other person who may apply to them; but if he shall swear that he has been so registered, the said supervisors shall, before proceeding further, require him to present them a certificate of removal as provided for in this act, so that his name shall not be on the registers of two election precincts; and upon presentation to any board of supervisors of any certificate of removal, the said board shall treat the person presenting the same, in the same manner provided in subdivision four (4) of section nine (9) of this act [1711] for applicants for registration.

1713. Any person who shall at any time, as provided in this act, have personally applied to the said supervisors in any such election precinct for registration, and shall have, in the register thereof, been entered as a qualified voter, and who shall at any time prior to the close of any general registration, or revision of registration, have removed from the dwelling place under which he shall, as a resident, be borne upon the register, may, upon any day provided in this act for the meeting of said supervisors, personally appear before the supervisors in any election precinct in which he resided at the time his name was entered upon said register, during the hours provided in this act for the meetings of said supervisors, and publicly take and subscribe before one of said supervisors the following oath or affirmation, which shall be known as the oath of removal, viz: "I, ———, residing at No. ——, in election precinct No. ——, of the city of ———, do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I am duly entered on the registers of said election precinct, from said residence as a qualified voter, and that I have removed my place of residence to No. ——, in election precinct No. ——, in said city, and I do hereby request that the proper entries and records be made as the same are provided for by law, and that a certificate of removal be furnished me at this time." Upon such oath or affirmation being made and subscribed as herein provided, it shall be the duty of said supervisors to carefully preserve the same and file it within twenty-four (24) hours after the close of any registration or revision, with the city clerk; and upon any such person taking and subscribing said oath of removal the said supervisors, if satisfied of the identity of the person making the same with the person he claims to be, as the description of said last mentioned person shall appear on the registers; (and if not satisfied therewith, shall at once, by a police officer, or by any one whom said board shall especially authorize, make an examination and enquire at the residence of said person, as the same shall be entered upon the registers as to the fact of the removal of such person from said dwelling place; when, if his removal therefrom shall be found by the report of such person to be a fact), shall immediately proceed to strike from said registers the name of such person, by entering in each of the registers, opposite to and against the name of such person, and in the column headed "why disqualified," the word "removed," and in the column headed "date of erasing name," the month, day, and year of such striking from said registers such name, and in the column headed, "remarks" the words "transferred to," together with the number of the election precinct to which such person shall, in his oath of removal, state he has removed, and the initial letters of the name of each supervisor who shall, in each of said registers, make such entry, and shall through the name of such person as the same shall appear on such registers, and there only, draw a red line indicative that such name is erased from the registers of that election precinct, and the name of any such person so found stricken and erased from said registers shall, as to his name entered under the column "residence," be thereafter considered by all election officers to be stricken from the rolls of that election precinct, and shall be treated as if never entered thereon. If the dwelling place to which any such person shall have removed be within the boundaries of the same election precinct as was his former residence as shown by the registers in said election precinct, the said supervisors shall, in said registers under the number or other description of the dwelling place in which such person has removed, enter his name, and in the several columns opposite and against the same, such words and figures as, prior to the striking from or erasing of the name of such person in the manner in this section above provided, were in the column similarly headed and opposite to and against the name of such person as upon said register it appeared under the dwelling from which he shall have declared he has removed; and if the dwelling place to which he shall have removed shall be within the boundaries of any other election precinct than was the residence under which he was previously entered on said registers, the said supervisors shall fill up, sign, and deliver to such person a certificate, which shall be known as the certificate of removal, and shall be in form as follows, viz:

CERTIFICATE OF REMOVAL.

Registration place of election precinct No. ——, in the city of ———, this —— day ——, 18—. To the board of supervisors of election precinct No. ——, in the city of ———: This is to certify that the name of ———, heretofore residing at No. ——, in this election precinct, has been by us, the supervisors of registration in this precinct, stricken from the registers of this precinct and the proper erasures made, upon oath of removal and at the request of said above named persons; and that upon said registers in this election precinct were entered as to him the following statement, viz: Name, ——; Residence, ——; Sworn, ——; Nativity, ——; Color, ——.

LEGISLATIVE DISTRICT ——.

Term of residence, ——; County, ——; State, ——; Naturalized, ——; Date of papers, ——; Court, ——; Qualified voter, ——; Date of application, ——.

1714. [Entries on registers.]—The said supervisors of registration in each election precinct shall, on each day of any general registration before adjournment, enter in each of two books prepared for that purpose, one of which shall be known as the public copy of the registers, and the other of which shall be known as the election bureau copy of the registers, all such names and residences, and all such dates, information, and statements as during the day have been entered by the said supervisors in the registers provided in this act, and the whole five books shall on each of said days, after a completion of said copies of the registers, be carefully compared throughout, so that each of said registers, and the copies thereof, shall in every respect agree with each other and contain the name and residence of each person who shall have applied for registration and the facts respecting him, as the same shall have been stated by him and entered in said registers, as provided in this act. The said supervisors shall, in the last day of any general registration, certify each of said copies in the same manner as if it were an original register, and within thirty-six hours after their adjournment on said last day of any general registration, the said supervisors shall file with the city clerk the election bureau copy of said registers at his office where the same shall be carefully preserved, and the said supervisors shall on the last day of any revision of registration, and before adjournment, make a copy of the registers as they shall then be made up for the election next ensuing, which copy shall be marked and known as a public copy of the original registers as then existing for the election next ensuing; and the said supervisors shall also make, fill, and certify, on blanks to be prepared and furnished by the city clerk for that purpose, the name and all other particulars as shall be entered against or opposite to the name of any person which, having been once entered upon said registers, shall have been on the days of any such revision of registrations for any reason stricken therefrom as provided in this act, together with the name and all other such particulars as shall be entered against or opposite the name of any person who shall on any day of any such revision have been added to said registers, and said blanks so filled and certified shall within twenty-four hours after the close of the the last day of any revision of registration be left by said supervisors with the city clerk, and it shall be the duty of the city clerk to immediately enter, or cause to be entered, in the election bureau copy of the registers of each election precinct on file in his office, all the proper and necessary entries requisite to make said copy conform to said registers and be always a copy thereof.

1715. It shall be the duty of the city clerks in said cities, under the direction of the mayor and council, to prepare and furnish all necessary registers, books, maps, oaths, certificates, blanks, and instructions for the use of supervisors of registration, and to provide said officers with all necessary supplies, to have and retain the custody of all registers, copies thereof, records, papers, and certificates of every kind required by this act, to be filed and kept in his office. The said city clerk shall, for any revision of any general registration, issue to each of said judges in each election precinct in said cities one of the registers of said precinct in use therein at the preceding election, and returned to and filed by him in his office.

1716. The said supervisors of registration in each election precinct in any city governed by the provisions of this act, on each day of any general registration, or revision of registration, and before adjournment, shall, on each of the registers and on each copy thereof, as in this act provided, shall on each of said days be kept and made, draw in red ink immediately bolow the last name underneath each dwelling place and below the last figures and words entered opposite to or against such last name in each column, save that of residence, a heavy line as indicating that the entering of names on said registers for the day mentioned in the column headed "date of application," and opposite to or against the name of the last person entered under any dwelling place there ceased, and immediately under said red line on each of said registers, said supervisors shall each sign his name, so that no new name can be added without discovery.

1717. The said supervisors of registration shall, in a place to be provided therefor in each of the registers required by this act, fill up, date, and each sign with his name and place of residence, the appropriate and proper certificate, which shall be either printed or written, or partly printed and partly written, and for a general registration shall be in the form following, to-wit: "We, the undersigned, supervisors of registration in election precinct No. ——, in the city of ———, do jointly and severally certify that at the general registration of voters, held in said election precinct on the —— days of ———, 18—, and on the —— days of ———, 18—, and on the —— days of ——, 18—, there was registered by us as qualified voters in the said election precinct the names which in this register are entered as of said days, and that the number of such registered qualified voters was and is ———. ———, ———, ———, Supervisors of said election precinct No. —. Dated ———, 18—." And said certificates shall be made immediately after the last day of any general registration. And for a revision of any general registration, said certificate shall be in the following form, to-wit: "We, the undersigned supervisors of registration in election precinct No. —, in the city of ———, do jointly and severally certify that at a revision of the last general registration of voters held in said election precinct on the —— days of ———, 18—, and on the —— day of ———, 18—, there were by us added to the list of qualified voters of said election precinct the names which in the said registers are so entered as of said days, and that such number was and is ———, and that there were stricken from the registered qualified voters of said election precinct the names which in the said registers appear on said days to have been stricken off and erased in the manner prescribed by law, and that said number was and is ———, leaving the total number of registered qualified voters in said election precinct for the next ensuing year in said city ———, which is the number of names now borne in said registers, as such qualified voters for such election. ———, ———, ———, Supervisors of said election precinct No. —. Dated ———, 18—."

1718. The said supervisors of registration in each election precinct shall, after making and signing the said certificates named in section fifteen hereof, deliver all of said registers to the city clerk of such city, who shall retain and carefully preserve all the said registers and on the day of any election the said city clerk shall deliver said registers to the judges of election in the precinct named in said register The public copies of the register.—The said supervisors shall, at the close of their proceedings on the last day of any registration, or revision of registration, leave with the said city clerk, where said public copy shall be and remain until the next meeting of said supervisors for the purpose of registration, or revision of registration, to the end that they may be inspected and copied by any voter in said city. But on the day of any election, the judges of election shall take possession of said public copy and they shall closely retain the same throughout the said day, returning the same to the city clerk, and shall also, at the close of the canvass and return of the votes at any election, deliver to said city clerk the registers of each election precinct, which public copy and said registers shall be carefully kept and preserved by said city clerk. On the first day of any general registration, or revision of registration, the said city clerk shall deliver to said supervisors of registration the said public copy and the registers of their election precinct, and the said supervisors shall retain and preserve the said registers until after the completion of the general registration, or revision of registration, when the same shall be returned to said city clerk.

1719. It shall be the duty of the said supervisors of registration in each election precinct, on each day of general registration, or revision of registration, and before adjourning, to copy from the registers the names and residences of all persons registered upon that day, and to make such copy so that the names of those persons having the same residence shall appear together in form as follows:

List of voters in election precinct No. —— of the city of ——— on the —— day of ———, 18—.

NAMES.	RESIDENCES.
....	....
....	....
....	....
....	....

And they shall append thereto a certificate signed by each of said supervisors in the form following, to-wit:

"We, the undersigned, supervisors of registration in election precinct No. —— of the city of ———, do jointly and severally certify that the list hereto annexed is a true and correct copy of all the names and residences upon the registers, of all persons who have been registered by us as qualified voters in said election precinct, this —— day of ———, 18—.

——— ———,
——— ———,
"Supervisors of said election precinct No. ——."

And said supervisors shall immediately post said copy in some conspicuous place in the room or building where such registration, or revision of registration is had, and said copy shall be for public inspection and may be copied by any voter of said city. The city clerk shall prepare and furnish to said supervisors the necessary blanks and forms prescribed in this section.

1720. The judges of election in each of said election precincts shall, on the day of any election therein, have with them, at the polling place in said precinct, the registers provided for in this act. They shall each make use of one of said registers for guidance on said day, and no vote shall be received from any person unless the name of the person offering to vote be found by at least two of said judges to be upon at least two of said registers as a qualified voter; except that the person offering to vote, whose name is not on two of said registers, shall furnish to the said judges his affidavit, subscribed and sworn to before the city clerk, or some person designated therefor by the mayor, of any city governed by this act, giving his reasons for not appearing before the supervisors of registration on any day of registration, or revision of registration, and shall also set forth in said affidavit his place of residence and the facts necessary to show that he is a qualified voter in said precinct, and shall prove before said judges, by the affidavit or oath of at least two freeholders, residents of said precinct in which he offers his vote, for at least one year immediately preceding said election, that they know such person to be an inhabitant and qualified voter of said precinct; and upon filing said affidavit and making the proof herein required, the said person shall be entitled to vote. And any person offering to vote at any election may be challenged, and the same oaths shall be put as are prescribed by law. It is hereby made the duty of the city clerk of any such city, on request, to take and certify the affidavits herein required, without fee or reward, and on the day of any election in any such city, the said clerk shall be in his office and keep the same open from 8 o'clock A. M. until 7 o'clock P. M., on said day, for the purpose of taking said affidavits as herein provided. In case of the absence, on account of sickness or other cause, of the city clerk, the mayor of any such city shall designate some person, authorized to administer oaths, to take and certify said affidavits, at the office of the city clerk only, said person so designated by the mayor shall receive as compensation for each day's service the sum of five ($5) dollars, which shall be allowed by the city council on the certificate of said mayor. The chairman of judges in each election precinct, shall, if present, and if absent, then one of the other judges, shall upon any person offering to vote, announce, in a loud, clear, and distinct manner, the name of such person, and before any ballots shall be deposited in any of the ballot-boxes, at least two of said judges shall examine at least two of said registry lists, and if the name of said voter shall be found on at least two of said registry lists, as a qualified voter, then said judges shall receive and deposit the ballot in the proper ballot-box, and at least two of said judges shall write in the appropriate column in said registers, the word "Voted," and opposite to the name and residence of such person, the word "Yes." And no ballot shall be received by either of said judges, and deposited in any of the ballot-boxes at any election, unless the name of the person offering to vote shall be found on at least two of the said registers, or such person shall file with said judges the affidavit herein required, and shall also furnish to said judges the proof as in this section required. It shall be the duty of each of said judges to enter on the register in his possession, in a suitable and separate part thereof, the name and residence of each person voting whose name does not appear on at least two of said registers. It shall further be the duty of each of said judges, immediately on the close of the polls on the day of election, to compare the said registers as kept by them, as herein provided, and attach to them a certificate in writing that the same are correctly checked, and within twenty-four hours after the completion of the canvass of the votes cast in the election precinct in which they served, to leave all of said registers at the office of the city clerk, whose duty it shall be to file and preserve the same, and in no election precinct in any such city shall any judge, who has custody or charge of either or any of said registers in this act provided for, ever permit said register to leave his possession from the time of receiving custody of the same until he shall file the same as herein provided.

1721. Any person who is a qualified voter in any such city may, upon the date of any registration or revision of registration, challenge and contest the right of any person to be registered in any election precinct, or may require the name of any registered person to be marked for challenge, and on any such day or days shall be entitled to be heard by the supervisors of registration in any election precinct in relation to the correctness of or additions to any of said registers.

1722. Hereafter the mayor and council of any city governed by the provisions of this act, shall designate and appoint the place of registry in each election precinct in said city, and shall hire all such places as may be necessary and cause the same to be fitted up, warmed, lighted, and cleaned, and the work of registration shall be carried on at the places so designated. But in each election precinct such place shall be in a public, orderly, and convenient portion of the precinct, and no building or part of building shall be designated or used as a place of registration, or revision of registration, in which, or in any part of which, intoxicating liquors of any kind are sold or have been sold within ten days next preceding the time of using the same, and no place shall be designated or used for any such purpose without the same shall be well lighted with gas, unless there shall be no such place in the precinct attainable which is so lighted.

1723. At each place of registration, or revision of registration in any such city, each political party shall have the right to designate place and keep a chal- lenger, who shall be assigned such position as will enable him to see each person as he offers to register, and who shall be protected in the discharge of his duties by the supervisors and the police. Each political party may remove any challenger appointed by it, and any vacancies which from any cause arise, shall be filled by the same party, power, and authority that conferred the original appointment.

1724. No person who is registered in one election precinct, in any such city, shall register in any other precinct while any prior registration remains unerased, or in any other manner than is in this act provided; but if in the event of the revision of any registration in such city, any person shall present himself for the purpose of being registered as a voter, and it shall appear that the name of said person is borne upon the registers of any election precinct other than that in which he shall at the time of such revision make application for registration, and that since the day of the preceding election or registration he has removed from the precinct in which he was then registered to the precinct in which he shall at the time of any such revision apply for registration, and it shall also appear that there is no meeting of the board of supervisors in the precinct in which his name shall be borne upon the register, then, and in such event, the oath of removal may be made before any member of the board of supervisors in any precinct to which he shall have removed, and the person so appearing at any such revision shall be entitled to all the rights and privileges to which he would be entitled were the registration a general registration, and the said person making an original application for registration.

1725. For all powers, authority, and duties, in this act prescribed for or conferred upon, and all actions required of supervisors of registration, or a board of supervisors, save where such authority is specifically allowed to each of said supervisors, the concurrence or assent of a majority of all the supervisors of registration in any election precinct must in all cases be obtained.

1726. The several officers of supervisors of registration, in this act named and created, are and shall be, in all courts and proceedings, deemed and held respectively to be election precinct officers, and it shall be the duty of said supervisors of registration respectively, or a majority of the said supervisors, to be in constant attendance during the hours and time fixed for the discharge of their several duties.

1727. All data, statistics, and all registers, poll books, and records of every kind and nature, which, under this act, or under any laws of this state, or which, in compliance with any ordinance, resolution, order, or direction of the mayor and council of any of said cities, are or may be required to be made, ascertained, or kept by, or returned to, or filed with the city clerk, shall, at all times during office hours, be open to inspection, examination, comparison, and copying by any voter of said city, free from any charge.

1728. If at any time a special election shall be held in any city governed by the provisions of this act, or in any portion of any such city, the same revision of registration shall be had and made for any such special election, and in the same manner as if the said election was a municipal election, for and throughout said city, and each and every of the provisions of this act, not inconsistent with the terms of this section, shall apply with as full force and effect to any such revision of registration therefor as if the same was for a municipal election in, for, and throughout said city.

1729. In each election precinct in said cities, it shall be the duty of the judges of election in each election precinct, immediately after the close of the polls on the day of any election, before proceeding with the canvass of the ballots in any box, and while the clerks of election are canvassing their books, to write in ink opposite to and against the name of each person entered in said registers, who is not shown by said registers to have voted, and in the column headed "vote," the word "no," so that the said column may be wholly filled up, and the said judges shall then compare said registers, and make them agree and ascertain the number of persons who by them are shown to have voted at that polling place that day; and when they have made comparisons and ascertained such fact, the chairman of the board of judges, or in his absence, one of the other judges, shall announce the same in a loud voice.

1730. The term "precinct," as used in this act, shall be construed to mean and include any precinct, ward, or other division of territory in any city governed by this act, created, designated, and made by ordinance, for election purposes.

1731. If at any registration of voters, or at any meeting of supervisors of registration held for such purposes, or for a revision thereof as provided in this act, any person shall falsely personate an elector or other person, and register, or attempt or offer to register in the name of such elector or other person; or if any person shall knowingly or fraudulently register, or offer, or attempt, or make application to register, in or under the name of any other person, or in or under any false, assumed, or fictitious name, or in or under any name not his own; or shall knowingly or fraudulently register in two election districts; or, having registered in one district, shall fraudulently attempt, or offer to register at any election district not having a lawful right to register therein; or shall knowingly or willfully do any unlawful act to secure registration for himself or any other person; or shall knowingly, willfully, or fraudulently, by false personation, or otherwise, or by any unlawful means, cause or procure, or attempt to cause or procure, the name of any qualified voter in any election precinct to be erased, or stricken from any register of the voters of such precinct, made in pursuance of this act, or otherwise than in this act provided; or by force, threat, menace, intimidation, bribery, reward, or offer or promise thereof, or other unlawful means, prevent, hinder, or delay any person having a lawful right to register, or to be registered, from duly exercising such right; or who shall knowingly, willfully, or fraudulently compel or induce, or attempt, or offer to compel or induce, by such means, or any unlawful means, any supervisor of registration, or other officer of registration, to register any person not lawfully entitled to registration in such precinct, or to register any false, assumed, or fictitious name, or any name of any person, except as provided in this act; or shall knowingly, or willfully, or fraudulently interfere with, hinder, or delay any supervisor of registration, or other officer of registration, in the discharge of his duties, or counsel, advise, or induce, or attempt to induce any such supervisor, or other officer to refuse, or neglect to comply with, or to perform his duties, or to violate any law prescribing or regulating the same, or shall aid, counsel, procure, or advise any voter, person, supervisor, or other officer of registration, to do any act forbidden by this act, or in this act constituted an offense, or to omit to do any act by law directed to be done, every such person shall, upon conviction thereof, be adjudged guilty of a felony, and shall be punished by imprisonment in a state prison not less than one nor more than five years.

1732. If any supervisor of registration, or revision of registration, shall be guilty of any willful neglect of his duty, under this act, or of any corrupt or fraudulent conduct or practice in the execution of the same, he shall, on conviction thereof, be adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, on conviction thereof, be ed by imprisonment in the county jail for not less than ten days nor more city, sixty days, or by fine of not less than one hundred ($100) dollars nor more wo hundred ($200) dollars, or both.

1733. Every supervisor of registration, clerk, or other officer, having the custody of any records, registers, or copy thereof, oaths, certificates, or any paper, document or evidence of any description in this act directed to be made, filed, or preserved, who is guilty of stealing, willfully destroying, mutilating, defacing, falsifying, or fraudulently removing or secreting the whole or any part thereof, or who shall fraudulently make an entry, erasure, or alteration therein, except as allowed and directed by the provisions of this act, or who permits any other person so to do, shall, upon the conviction thereof, be adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor and shall, be punished for each and every such offense by imprisonment in the county jail for not less than ten days nor more than sixty days, and shall, in addition thereto, forfeit his office.

1734. Every person not an officer, such as is mentioned in the last preceding section, who is guilty of any of the acts specified in the preceding section, or who advises, procures, or abets the commission of the same, or any of them, shall, upon conviction thereof, be adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor, and for each and every such offense shall, on conviction thereof, be punished by imprisonment in the county jail for not less than ten days nor more than sixty, or by fine of not less than fifty dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, or both.

1735. Any person who shall be convicted of willful or corrupt false swearing or affirming in taking an oath or affirmation prescribed by, or upon any examination provided for in this act, or upon being challenged as unqualified upon offering to register, shall be adjudged guilty of willful and corrupt perjury, and shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary, not less than one year, nor more than ten years.

1736. Every person who shall willfully and corruptly instigate, advise, induce, or procure any person to swear or affirm falsely, as aforesaid, or attempt or offer so to do, shall be adjudged guilty of subornation of perjury, and shall, upon conviction thereof, suffer the punishment directed by law in cases of willful and corrupt perjury.

1737. If at any general registration of voters, or revision thereof, any person shall cause any breach of the peace, or use any disorderly violence, or threats of violence, whereby any such registration or revision shall be impeded or hindered, or whereby the lawful proceedings of any supervisor of registration or challenger are interfered with, every such person shall, upon conviction thereof, be adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by imprisonment in the county jail not less than ten days nor more than six months, or by a fine, of not less than fifty ($50) dollars nor more than five hundred ($500) dollars, or both.

1738. If any person shall knowingly or willfully obstruct, hinder, assault, or by bribery, solicitation, or otherwise interfere with any supervisor of registration, or other person designated, as provided in this act, to be present at any registration, in the performance of any duty required of him, or which he may by law be authorized and permitted to perform; or if any person, by any of the means before mentioned, or otherwise unlawfully, shall on the day of registration, or revision of registion, hinder or prevent any supervisor of registration, or any person designated as provided in this act to be present at such registration, in his free attendance and presence at the place of registration in and for which he is appointed or designated to serve, or in his full and free access and egress to and from any such place of registration or revision of registration, or to and from any room in which any such registration or revision of registration may be had, or shall unlawfully molest, interfere with, remove, or eject from any such place of registration or revision of registration any such supervisor of registration or person designated, as provided in this act, or shall unlawfully threaten or attempt or offer so to do, every such person shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall be punished by imprisonment in a county jail for not less than thirty days nor more than six months, or shall be fined not less than two hundred ($200) dollars nor more than one thousand ($1,000) dollars, or both, and shall stand committed until the fine and costs are paid.

1739. Any supervisor of registration who shall willfully neglect, or when called upon shall willfully decline to exercise the powers conferred on him in this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by imprisonment in the county jail for not less than thirty days nor more than six months, or by a fine of not less than two hundred and fifty ($250) dollars, nor more than one thousand ($1,000) dollars, or by both fine and imprisonment.

1740. If in any election precinct at any general registration of voters, or revision thereof, in any city governed by the provisions of this act, any supervisor of registration shall knowingly or willfully admit any person to registration, or make any entry upon any register of voters, or shall consent thereto, unless a majority of all supervisors of registration in said election precinct are present and concur, he shall, upon conviction thereof, be adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by imprisonment in the county jail not less than thirty nor more than sixty days, or be fined not less than one hundred ($100) dollars nor more than one thousand ($1,000) dollars, or by both such fine and imprisonment. And if any supervisor of registration in any election district shall, without urgent necessity, absent himself from the place of registration in said precinct upon any day of registration, whereby less than a majority of all the supervisors in such election precinct shall be present during the hours of registration or revision of registration, he shall, upon conviction thereof, be adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by imprisonment in a county jail not less than thirty days nor more than six months, or shall be fined not less than one hundred ($100) dollars nor more than one thousand ($1,000) dollars, or both.

1741. It is hereby made the special duty of the county attorney of any county in this state to immediately prosecute all complaints which may be made of violations of any of the provisions of this act to final judgment; and the court before which any conviction for such violation shall be had shall not in any case suspend sentence or judgment for more than twenty days; but no indictment or information for such violation shall be brought to trial unless the complainant, if any, if he shall be found, shall have at least two days' notice, in writing, from the said county attorney, of the day when he intends to try the same.

1742. Whoever during the sitting of any board of supervisors of registration in any election precinct in any city governed by the provisions of this act, whether held for the purpose of registration, or revision of registration, shall bring, take, order, or send into, or shall cause to be taken, brought, ordered, or sent into, or shall attempt to bring, take, or send into any place of registration, or revision of registration, any intoxicating liquors whatever, or shall at any such time or place drink or partake of any such liquor shall be deemed and held guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, on conviction thereof, be punished by imprisonment in the county jail not less than thirty days nor more than six months, or by a fine of not less than one hundred ($100) dollars nor more than five hundred ($500) dollars, or both, and shall stand committed until the fine and costs are paid.

1743. Irregularities or defects in the mode of noticing, convening, holding or conducting any registration, or revision of registration, authorized by law, shall constitute no defense to a prosecution for the violation of the provisions of this act.

1744. The boundaries of all election precincts and the location of all places of registration, or revision of registration, shall be publicly advertised in at least one newspaper published and of general circulation in said city in the last issue of the paper selected preceding the first day of any general registration, or revision of registration, and one notice in the last issue of the paper so selected prior to each day of registration, or revision of registration, and on such day or days only. All advertising provided for in this section shall be done in one newspaper only published in the city, to be designated by the city council; and all matters advertised shall be prepared and furnished the journals in which it is to be inserted free from unnecessary verbiage or repetition; Provided, The boundaries of all election precincts, and the location of all places of registration, or revision of registration, shall be publicly advertised in at least two newspapers published and of general circulation in said city, in the last issue of each of the papers selected preceding the first day of any general registration, or revision of registration, and one notice in the last issue of each of the papers so selected prior to each day of registration, or revision of registration, and on such days only.

1745. The legal compensation of all supervisors of registration, the costs and expenses of all necessary notices, posters, maps, advertisements, registers and books, blanks and stationery, the rent and cost of fitting up, warming, lighting, cleaning, and safe keeping of all places of registration, or revision of registration, and of all supplies of all kinds and nature for all registration in such city shall be a charge, and shall, upon proper certificates and vouchers, be paid out of the general fund of such city, in the same manner as by law provided for the payment of other city expenses out of such fund.

Secs. 1746 to 1776. "An act to promote the independence of voters at public elections, to enforce the secrecy of the ballot, and to provide for the printing and distribution of ballots at public expense." 1891, p. 238. In force March 4. (Porter's Australian ballot law.)

1746. All ballots cast in elections for public officers within this state shall be printed and distributed at public expense as hereinafter provided. The printing of ballots and cards of instruction for the electors in each county, and the delivery of the same to the election officers as hereinafter provided, shall be a county charge, the payment of which shall be provided for in the same manner as the payment of other county expenses; but the expense of printing and delivering the ballots and cards of instruction to be used in municipal elections shall be a charge upon the city or village in which such municipal election shall be held.

1747. Nomination of Candidates.—Any convention, or primary meeting, as hereinafter defined, held for the purpose of making nominations to public office, and also voters to the number hereinafter specified, may nominate candidates for public office to be filled by election within the state. A convention or primary meeting within the meaning of this act is an organized assemblage of voters or delegates representing a political party which, at the last election before the holding of such convention or primary meeting, polled at least one per centum of the entire vote cast in the state, county, or other division or district for which the nomination is made. A committee appointed by any such convention or primary meeting may also make nominations to public office, when authorized to do so by resolution duly passed by the convention or meeting at which such committee was appointed.

Cited, State, ex rel. Christy, v. Stein, 35, 859 (53 N. W., 999).

1748. All nominations made by such convention, committee, or primary meeting shall be certified as follows: the certificate of nomination, which shall be in writing, shall contain the name of the office for which each person is nominated, the name and residence of each person, and, if in a city, the street, number of residence, and of place of business, if any, and shall designate, in not more than five words, the party or principle which such convention, committee, or primary meeting represents. It shall be signed by the presiding officer and secretary of such convention, committee, or primary meeting, who shall add to their signatures their respective places of residence, and make oath before an officer, qualified to administer the same, that the affiants were such officers of such convention, committee, or primary meeting, and that said certificates and the statements therein contained are true to the best of their knowledge and belief. A certificate that such oath has been administered shall be made and signed by the officer before whom the same was taken, and attached to such certificate of nomination. When the nomination is made by a committee, the certificate of nomination shall also contain a copy of the resolution passed at the convention or primary meeting which authorized the committee to make such nomination.

1749. Certificates of nomination of candidates for offices to be filled by the voters of the entire state, or any division or district greater than a county, including candidates for congress, shall be filed with the secretary of state, except as in this section otherwise provided. Certificates of nomination for all county, township, and precinct offices, including members of both branches of the legislature, shall be filed with the county clerk of the respective counties wherein the officers are to be elected, and in case the legistative district from which such candidate is to be elected embraces more than one county, then, and in that case, the certificates shall be filed with the county clerk of each county included in such district. Certificates of nomination for judges of the district court shall be filed with the county clerk of each county embraced in such judicial district. Certificates of nomination for municipal officers shall be filed with the clerks of the respective municipal corporations wherein the officers are to be elected.

1750. Candidates for public office may be nominated otherwise than by convention, committee, or primary meeting, in the manner following: A certificate of nomination, containing the name of a candidate for the office to be filled, with such information as is required to be given in certificates provided for in section three (3) of this act [1748], shall be signed by electors residing within the district or political division in and for which the officer or officers are to be elected, in the following numbers: The number of signatures shall not be less than five hundred (500) when the nomination is for an office to be filled by the electors of the entire state, and need not exceed fifty (50) when the election is for an office to be filled by the electors of a city, county, district, or other division less than the state, and need not exceed twenty (20) when the nomination is for an office to be filled by the electors of a township, precinct, or ward; Provided, That the number of signatures need not in any instance exceed one-fourth (¼) of the total number of voters when the nomination is for an office to be filled by the electors of a county, township, precinct, village, or ward, and that the said signatures need not all be appended to one paper. Each elector signing a certificate shall add to his signature his place of residence, his business, and his business address. Such certificate may be filed as provided for in section four (4) of this act, in the same manner and with the same effect as a certificate of nomination made by a party convention, committee, or primary meeting. Women qualified to vote for any public officer may sign nomination papers for candidates for such office.

1751. No certificate of nomination shall contain the names of more candidates for any office than there are persons to be elected to such office. No person shall sign more than one certificate of nomination for any office.

1752. The secretary of state shall cause to be preserved in his office for the period of two (2) years all certificates of nomination filed therein under the provisions of this act; and each county and municipal clerk shall cause to be preserved in his office for the period of two (2) years all certificates of nomination filed therein under the provisions of this act. All such certificates shall be open to public inspection.

1753. When nominations are made by a convention, committee, or primary meeting, as provided for in section three (3) of this act [1748], the certificates of nomination to be filed with the secretary of state shall be filed not less than twenty-five (25) days before the day fixed by law for the election of the persons in nomination; and the certificates of nomination herein directed to be filed with a county clerk shall be filed not less than twenty (20) days before election, and the certificates of nomination herein directed to be filed with a municipal clerk shall be filed not less than fifteen (15) days before election. Certificates of nomination otherwise than by a convention, committee, or primary meeting, made according to the provisions of section five (5) of this act [1750], shall, when required to be filed with the secretary of state, be filed not less than fifteen (15) days before election; and when required to be filed with the county clerk, shall be filed not less than twelve (12) days before election; and when required to be filed with a municipal clerk, shall be filed not less than ten (10) days before election.

1754. The secretary of state shall, immediately upon the expiration of the time within which certificates of nomination may be filed with him, certify to the county clerk of each county, within which any of the voters may by law vote for a candidate or candidates named in the certificate, the name and description of each of such candidates, together with the other details mentioned in the certificate of nomination so filed with the secretary of state, and also any proposed constitutional amendment, or other question to be submitted to the people of the state for popular vote.

1755. Whenever any person nominated for public office, as in this act provided, shall, at least twelve (12) days before the day of election, if he shall have been nominated as provided in section three (3) of this act, or at least ten (10) days before the day of election if he shall have been nominated as provided in section five (5) of this act [1750], notify the officer with whom the original certificate of his nomination was filed, in a writing signed by him and duly acknowledged, that he declines such nomination, the same shall be void, and his name shall not be printed upon the ballots. The officer to whom such notification is given shall forthwith inform, by mail or otherwise, one or more persons whose names are attached to the original certificates of nomination that such nomination has been declined.

Cited, State, ex rel. Christy, v. Stein, 35, 859 (53 N. W., 999).

1756. All certificates of nomination which are in apparent conformity with the provisions of this act shall be deemed to be valid, unless objection thereto shall be duly made in writing within three (3) days after the filing of the same. In case such objection is made, notice thereof shall forthwith be mailed to all candidates who may be affected thereby, addressed to them at their respective places of residence, as given in the certificate of nomination. The officer with whom the original certificate was filed shall in the first instance pass upon the validity of such objection, and his decision shall be final unless an order shall be made in the matter by a county court, or by a judge of the district court, or by a justice of the supreme court at chambers, on or before the Wednesday preceding the election. Such order may be made summarily upon application of any party interested, and upon such notice as the court or judge may require.

1757. Should any person so nominated die before election day, or decline the nomination, as in this act provided, or should any certificate of nomination be insufficient or inoperative, the vacancy or vacancies thus occasioned may be filled in the manner required for original nominations. If the original nomination was made by a party convention which had delegated to a committee the power to fill vacancies, such committee may, upon the occurring of such vacancies, proceed to fill the same. The chairman and secretary of such committee shall thereupon make and file with the proper officer a certificate setting forth the cause of the vacancy, the name of the person nominated, the office for which he was nominated, the name of the person for whom the new nominee is to be substituted, the fact that the committee was authorized to fill vacancies, and such further information as is required to be given in an original certificate of nomination. The certificate so made shall be executed and sworn to in the manner prescribed for the original certificate of nomination, and shall, upon being filed at least eight (8) days before election, have the same force and effect as an original certificate of nomination. When such certificate shall be filed with the secretary of state, he shall, in certifying the nominations to the various county clerks, insert the name of the person who has thus been nominated to fill a vacancy in place of that of the original nominee; and in the event that he has already sent forward his certificate, he shall forthwith certify to the clerks of the proper counties the name and description of the person so nominated to fill a vacancy, the office he is nominated for, together with the other details mentioned in the certificate of nomination so filed with the secretary of state, and the name of the person for whom such nominee is substituted.

1758. Except as in this act otherwise provided, it shall be the duty of the county clerk of each county to provide printed ballots for every election for public officers in which electors, or any of the electors within the county, participate, and to cause to be printed in the ballot the name of every candidate whose name has been certified to, or filed with the county clerk in the manner provided for in this act. But in municipal elections the city or village clerk shall provide printed ballots. Ballots other than the official white ballot printed by the respective county or municipal clerks, according to the provisions of this act, shall not be cast or counted in any election. Nothing in this act contained shall prevent any voter from writing on his ballot the name of any person for whom he desires to vote, for any office, and such vote shall be counted the same as if printed upon the ballot and marked by the voter, and any voter may take with him into the polling place any printed or written memorandum or paper to assist him in making or preparing his ballot, except as hereinafter otherwise provided. Elections for school district officers, except for members of the boards of education in cities, are excepted from the provisions of this act.

Cited and construed. State, ex rel. Waggoner, v. Russell, 34, 119 (51 N. W., 465).

1759. All official ballots prepared under the provisions of this act shall be white in color and of a good quality of news printing paper, and the names shall be printed thereon in black ink. Every ballot shall contain the name of every candidate whose nomination for any office specified in the ballot has been certified or filed according to the provisions of this act, and no other names. The names of candidates for each office shall be arranged under the designation of the office in alphabetical order according to surnames, except that the names of electors of president and vice president of the United States presented in one certificate of nominations shall be arranged in a separate group. Every ballot shall also contain the name of the party or principle which the candidates represent, as contained in the certificates of nomination. At the end of the list of candidates for each office shall be left a blank space large enough to contain as many written names of candidates as there are offices to be filled. There shall be a margin on each side at least half an inch wide, and a reasonable space between the names to be printed thereon, so that the voter may clearly indicate, in the way hereinafter provided, the candidate or candidates for whom he wishes to cast his ballot. Whenever the secretary of state has duly certified to the county clerk any question to be submitted to a vote of the people, the county clerk shall have printed on the regular ballots the question in such form as will enable the electors to vote upon the question so presented in the manner hereinafter provided. The county clerk shall also prepare the necessary ballots whenever any question is required by law to be submitted to the vote of the electors of any locality, and not to the state generally. Provided, however, That in all questions submitted to the voters of a municipal corporation alone, it shall be the duty of the municipal clerk to provide the necessary ballots. Sample ballots, printed upon red or green paper, but in the form of those to be used on election day, each containing the names of the candidates and all questions submitted to a popular vote which are to be printed upon the appropriate official ballot, shall be printed and in possession of the county or municipal clerk six days before the day of election, subject to public inspection. The official ballots shall be printed and in possession of the county or municipal clerks at least four days before election, and subject also to inspection by the candidates and their agents. At the top of official ballots shall be printed the words "official ballot," and at the top of sample ballots shall be printed the words "sample ballot." Any elector of any election precinct or district, or municipality may obtain from the county or municipal clerk not to exceed three sample ballots on or before the day of election. No person other than the county or municipal clerk shall print or cause to be printed any ballot or ballots marked "official ballot," nor shall any person except said clerk print or cause to be printed any ballot or ballots upon white paper.

1760. The county or municipal clerk, charged by this act with the duty of printing and providing ballots, shall provide for each election precinct or district in the county or municipality two hundred ballots of each kind for every fifty (50), or fraction of fifty (50), voters registered at the last preceding election in the district. If there is no registry in the precinct, district, or municipality, such ballot shall be provided to the number of two hundred (200) of each kind for every fifty (50), or fraction of fifty (50), voters who voted at the last general election in the district. When a precinct or district shall be divided or the boundaries changed the clerk must ascertain, as nearly as possible, the number of voters in the new district or districts, and provide therefor a sufficient number of ballots in the above proportion.

1761. Whenever it shall appear by affidavit that an error or omission has occurred in the names or description of the candidates nominated for office, or in the printing of the sample or official ballots, the county judge or a judge of the district court sitting at chambers may, upon application of any voter, by order require the clerk charged with the duty in respect to which such error or omission had occurred, to correct such error, or to show cause why such error should no be corrected. The clerk shall, also, upon his own motion, correct without delay any patent error in the ballots which he may discover, or which shall be brought to his attention, and which can be corrected without interfering with the timely distribution of the ballots as hereinafter provided.

1762. Before the opening of the polls, the county clerk of the county, or the municipal clerk in the case of municipal elections, shall cause to be delivered to the judges of election of each election precinct which is within the county (or within the municipality in case of municipal elections) and in which the election is to be held, at the polling place of the precinct, the proper number of ballots as provided for in section fifteen of this act. The ballots for each precinct or district shall be inclosed in a sealed packet marked with the proper designation of the precinct or district, and at the opening of the polls the package of ballots shall be publicly broken by one of the judges of election. If from any cause the official ballots prepared by the county or municipal clerk, as herein prescribed, shall not be ready for distribution at any polling place, or if the supply of ballots shall be exhausted before the polls are closed, unofficial ballots, printed or written, made as nearly as possible in the form of the official ballots, may be used.

1763. All officers, upon whom is imposed by law the duty of designating the polling places, shall provide in each polling place designated by them a sufficient number of places, booths, or compartments, which shall be furnished with such supplies and conveniences as shall enable the voter conveniently to prepare his ballot for voting, and in which electors may mark their ballots screened from observation, and a guard rail so constructed that only persons within such rail can approach within twelve feet of the ballot-boxes, or the places, booths, or compartments herein provided for; Provided, however, That in country polling places where a sufficiently large room cannot be obtained the guard rail may be placed within six (6) feet of the ballot-box and booths. The number of such places, booths, or compartments shall not be less than one for every fifty voters or fraction thereof registered in the district or precinct, and where there has been no registration of voters, the number of such places, booths, or compartments shall not be less than one for every fifty electors voting in the precinct at the last general election. No person other than electors engaged in receiving, preparing, or depositing their ballots, the judges and clerks of election, and one qualified elector of the voting precinct from each of the political parties for the purpose of challenging illegal votes, shall be permitted to be within said rail. The expense of providing such places or compartments and guard rails shall be a public charge, and shall be provided for in the same manner as the other election expenses. The officers now charged by law with the division or alteration of election districts or precincts, shall, as far as necessary, alter or divide the existing election districts or precincts in such manner that each election district or precinct shall not contain more than three hundred voters.

1764. At any election the judges of election shall designate two of said judges whose duty it shall be to deliver ballots to the qualified electors. At the same time and in the same manner as judges of election are now elected or appointed, two additional judges of election for each election district or precinct in cities where a registration of voters is required shall be elected or appointed. The said additional judges of election shall be paid in the same manner and at the same rate as judges of election are now paid.

1765. [Voting—Procedure.]—When any duly qualified elector shall present himself at the polling place of his election district or precinct, for the purpose of voting at any election then in progress, he shall receive from a member of the election board a ballot upon the back of which two members of the board shall first write their names in ink; the elector shall then forthwith proceed alone into a compartment, if one be then unoccupied, and shall prepare his ballot by marking in the appropriate margin or place a cross (X) with ink opposite the name of the candidate of his choice for each office to be filled, or by filling in with ink the name of the candidate of his choice in the blank space provided therefor, and marking a cross (X) with ink opposite thereto; and in case of a question submitted to the vote of the people, by marking in the appropriate margin or place a cross (X) with ink against the answer he desires to give; he shall then fold the ballot so as to conceal the names and the marks thereon, and to expose the names of the members of the election board upon the back thereof, and shall, without delay, and without exposing the names or marks upon the front or face thereof, and without first leaving the inclosure in which the compartments are placed, deliver the ballot so folded to the judge of election, who shall, without exposing the names or marks upon the front or face thereof, verify the signatures upon the back thereof, and deposit the ballot in the ballot-box in the presence of the elector, and the elector shall forthwith leave the railed inclosure. No elector shall be allowed to occupy a voting compartment already occupied by another, nor to remain within the railed inclosure in which the compartments are situate more than ten minutes, nor to occupy a voting compartment for more than five minutes. In cities where the registration of electors now is, or hereafter may be, required by law, no person shall receive a ballot unless his name duly appears upon the registry list of the election district, or he shall establish in the manner provided by law, his right to vote; when such person receives a ballot a check shall be placed opposite his name upon the registry list, and when he votes his name shall be again checked upon such list. Every elector receiving a ballot shall vote before leaving the polling room, or if he does not wish then to vote, he shall, before leaving the polling room, return the ballot so received to a member of the election board. No person receiving a ballot shall, under any pretext whatever, take the same from the polling room, and any person taking a ballot from the polling room shall forfeit and lose his right to vote at the election, and shall be imprisoned in the county jail not less than thirty (30) days nor more than six (6) months.

If in other respects regular, a ballot marked with pencil should be counted. State, ex rel. Waggoner, v. Russell, 34,116 (51 N. W., 465). Cited, State, ex rel. Christy, v. Stein, 35, 860 (53 N. W., 999).

1766. Any voter who shall by accident or mistake spoil his ballot may, on returning said spoiled ballot, receive another in place thereof; Provided, He shall not receive to exceed four (4) in all. The judges of election shall cause the unused and spoiled ballots to be made up in a sealed packet, and shall endorse the same with the words "unused and spoiled ballots," with the proper designation of the election district, and shall sign such endorsement and shall return such packet to the clerk of their respective county or municipality, with a statement made up by the members of the election board of the district, showing the number of ballots received for such district and accounting for them as follows: First—Number counted in ballot box. Second—Number unused and returned.

1767. Any voter who delares to the judges of election that he cannot read, or that by blindness or other physical disability he is unable to mark his ballot, shall, upon request, receive the assistance of one (1) or two (2) of the election officers in the marking thereof, and such officer or officers shall certify on the outside thereof that it was so marked with his or their assistance, and shall thereafter give no information regarding the same. The judges shall require such declaration of disability to be made by the voter under oath before them, and they are hereby qualified to administer the same. No elector, other than one who may because of his inability to read or physical disability be unable to mark his ballot, shall divulge to any one within the polling place the name of any candidate for whom he intends to vote, or to ask or receive the assistance of any person within the polling place in the preparation of his ballot.

1768. No judge of election shall deposit in any ballot-box any ballot unless the same is identified by the signature of two (2) judges of election as hereinbefore provided. Every person violating the provisions of this section shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined not less than ten (10) dollars nor more than one hundred (100) dollars.

1769. The county clerk of each county shall cause to be printed, in large type on cards in English, instructions for the guidance of electors in preparing their ballots. He shall furnish six (6) such cards to the judges of election in each election precinct, and one additional card for each fifty registered electors or fractional part thereof in the precinct, at the same time and in the same manner as the printed ballots. The judges of election shall post not less than one of such cards in each place or compartment provided for the preparation of ballots, and not less than three (3) of such cards elsewhere in and about the polling places upon the day of election. Said cards shall be printed in large, clear type, and shall contain full instructions to the voters, according to schedule "B" of this act.

1770. In the canvass of the votes any ballot which is not endorsed as provided in this act by the signatures of two (2) judges upon the back thereof, shall be void, and shall not be counted, and any ballot or parts of a ballot from which it is impossible to determine the elector's choice shall be void and shall not be counted; Provided, That when a ballot is sufficiently plain to gather therefrom a part of the voter's intention, that it shall be the duty of the judges of election to count such part.

Cited and construed, State, ex rel. Waggoner, v. Russell, 34, 120 (51 N. W., 465). A ballot is not to be rejected because the cross is not placed in the space designated for it, where the intention of the voter is clear. Spurgin v. Thompson, — Neb., — (55 N. W., 299).

1771. No person shall falsely make, or make oath to, or fraudulently deface or fraudulently destroy any certificate of nomination or any part thereof; or file, or receive for filing, any certificate of nomination, knowing the same or any part thereof to be falsely made; or suppress any certificate of nomination which has been duly filed, or any part thereof, or forge or falsely make the official endorsement on any ballot. Every person violating any of the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and, upon conviction thereof in any court of competent jurisdiction, shall be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary for a period of not less than one year nor more than five years.

1772. No person shall, during the election, remove or destroy any of the supplies or other conveniences placed in the booths or compartments for the purpose of enabling the voter to prepare his ballot. No person shall, during an election, tear down or deface the cards printed for the instruction of voters. Every person willfully violating any of the provisions of this section, shall, upon conviction thereof in any court of competent jurisdiction, be fined in any sum not less than ten dollars nor more than one hundred dollars.

1773. Every public officer upon whom any duty is imposed by this act, who shall willfully do or perform any act or thing herein prohibited, or neglect or omit to perform any duty as imposed upon him by the provisions of this act, shall, upon conviction thereof, forfeit his office, and shall be punished by imprisonment in the county jail for a term of not less than one month nor more than six months, or by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars and not more than five hundred dollars, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

1774. No officer of election shall do any electioneering on election day. No person whomsoever shall do any electioneering on election day within any polling place, or any building in which an election is being held, or within one hundred feet thereof, nor obstruct the doors or entries thereto, or prevent free ingress to and egress from said building. Any election officer, sheriff, constable, or other peace officers is hereby authorized and empowered, and it is hereby made his duty to, clear the passage-ways and prevent such obstruction, and to arrest any person so doing. No person shall remove any ballot from the polling place before the closing of the polls. No person shall show his ballot after it is marked to any person in such a way as to reveal the contents thereof, or the name of the candidate or candidates for whom he has marked his vote, nor shall any person solicit the elector to show the same; nor shall any person except a judge of election receive from any elector a ballot prepared for voting. No elector shall, receive a ballot from any other person than one of the judges of election having charge of the ballots, nor shall any person other than such judges of election deliver a ballot to such elector. No elector shall vote or offer to vote any ballot except such as he has received from the judges of election having charge of the ballots. No elector shall place any mark upon his ballot by which it may afterwards be identified as the one voted by him. Every elector who does not vote a ballot delivered to him by the judges of election having charge of the ballots shall, before leaving the polling place, return such ballot to such judges. Whoever shall violate any of the provisions of this section, shall, upon conviction thereof in any court of competent jurisdiction, be fined in any sum not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars, and adjudged to pay the cost of prosecution.

Cited and construed, State, ex rel. Waggoner, v. Russell, 34, 121 (51 N. W., 465). A ballot endorsed with a name other than one of the judges is an illegal ballot. Spurgin v. Thompson, — Neb., — (55 N. W., 299).

1775. It shall be the duty of the secretary of state to cause to be published in pamphlet, form and distribute through the county clerks of the respective counties, a sufficient number of copies of this law, together with the registration law of the state and such other laws as bear upon the subject of election, as will place a copy thereof in the hands of all officers of elections.

1776. The proper authorities of every city shall detail a police officer to each polling place of such city upon the day fixed for holding any election therein, and the special duties of such police officer, in addition to the preservation of the peace, shall be as follows: He shall, as far as possible, remain at, or near the entrance of the inclosure in which the compartments are placed: (a) He shall not permit any person to enter said inclosure unless duly provided with an official ballot, signed with the names of two members of the election board. (b) He shall not permit any person to enter the inclosure while the several compartments therein are occupied. (c) He shall not permit any person to leave the inclosure without first voting or surrendering his ballot to a member of the election board. (d) He shall not permit any person to leave the polling room after receiving a ballot, without first voting or surrendering his ballot.

SCHEDULE B.

FORMS OF CARDS OF INSTRUCTIONS FOR THE GUIDANCE OF VOTERS.

Instructions to Voters.

1. Persons desiring to vote must procure their ballots from a member of the election board.

2. They must then, without leaving the polling place, proceed to a compartment and prepare their ballots.

3. The ballots are prepared as follows:

Make a cross mark (X) with ink in the right margin of the ballot opposite the name of each person for whom you wish to vote;

Be careful that you do not mark the names of persons for whom you do not wish to vote;

Do not make any mark on the ballot, save as above directed, or the ballot will not be counted;

If you spoil a ballot return it to a member of the election board, and obtain from him a new ballot, you cannot get more than four in all, take this to a compartment and mark it properly.

4. Having marked the ballot, fold it so as to conceal the names and marks on the face, and to expose the names on the back.

5. Take it to the judge of the election before leaving the inclosure, and see it deposited in the box.

6. Immediately leave the railed enclosure.

7. If you wish to vote for any person whose name does not appear upon the ballot, write or insert his full name in the blank space on the ballot under the proper office you wish him to hold, and make a cross mark in the proper margin opposite the same.

8. Do not take any ballot from the polling place; you thereby forfeit the right to vote.

Said cards shall also contain sections twenty-six, twenty-seven, twenty-eight, and twenty-nine of this act [1781 to 1774].

Secs. 1777 and 1778. "An act to prevent frauds at elections and to provide punishment therefor." 1883, p. 227. In force June 1.

1777. When at any general or special election a ballot with a designated heading contains printed thereon, in place of another, a name not found on the regular ballot having such heading, such name shall be regarded by the judges as having been placed therein for the purpose of fraud, and the ballot shall not be counted for the name so found.

1778. That any person causing ballots to be printed with a designated heading containing a name or names not found on the regular ballot having such heading, or any person knowingly peddling or distributing any such ballot with intent to have such ballot voted at any such general or special election, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, on conviction thereof, for each offense, be fined in any sum not less than fifty nor more than two hundred dollars, and be imprisoned in the county jail not exceeding sixty days.

CHAPTER 16.—FIRE COMPANIES.

Secs. 1779 to 1781. "An act to exempt firemen from jury, militia, and road duty." 1867 (Ter.), p. 16. In force February 18.

1779. All members in good standing in any fire company, or hook and ladder company, in this state, and all persons who have been members of such company in good standing for five consecutive years in the state of Nebraska, shall be exempt from serving upon grand and petit juries of justice of the peace courts of this state, and from militia duty in time of peace, and from the assessment of any poll tax.

Amended 1871, p. 131; 1873, G. S., p. 390.

1780. [Numbers limited—Fire company defined.]—No fire company shall have upon its rolls at one time more than seventy-five persons, and no hook and ladder company shall have upon its rolls at any one time more than fifty members; and the foreman and secretary of every such company shall, on the first days of April and October in each year, file in the office of the clerk of the district court in and for the respective counties a certified copy of the rolls of their respective companies, so as to obtain for the members thereof the privilege of the exemption herein named; Provided, That no organization shall be deemed to be a bona fide fire, or hook and ladder company until it shall have procured for active service apparatus for the extinguishment or prevention of fires, in case of a fire company to the value of $1,500, and of a hook and ladder company to the value of $500.

Amended 1873, G. S., p. 390.

1781. Members in good standing are hereby defined to be those who keep their dues promptly paid up, and are present and render active service when called out for the legitimate purposes of their organization.

Sec. 1782. "An act to exempt from sale on execution property used and kept to extinguish fires." 1869, p. 17. In force January 22.

1782. That all fire engines, hose, hose carriages, ladders, buckets, and all vehicles, machinery, and appliances of every kind used or kept by incorporate cities, villages, or fire companies for the purpose of extinguishing fire be and the same is hereby exempt from execution and sale to satisfy any debt, judgment, or decree arising upon contract or otherwise; Provided, That the provisions of this act shall not affect any voluntary lien created by bill of sale, mortgage, or otherwise, on such property, by the proper owner; Provided further, That the provisions of this act shall not apply to, or in any way affect the remedy upon any contract now existing, or judgment rendered upon any contract in any court of this state.

CHAPTER 17.—FRAUDS.

FRAUDULENT CONVEYANCES AND CONTRACTS RELATIVE TO REAL ESTATE.

Secs. 1783 to 1807 originally formed secs. 60–84, ch. 43, R. S. 1866, entitled "Real Estate."

1783. Every conveyance of, or charge upon, any estate or interest in lands, or the rents and profits thereof, made or created with intent to defraud prior or subsequent purchasers for a valuable consideration, shall, as against such purchasers, be void.

Deed to bona fide purchasers for value without notice good. Tootle & Maule v. Dunn, 6, 100. Statute does not render a contract void but voidable. It does not require a party to ignore considerations of moral obligation, equity, and good faith by pleading it; and a creditor cannot do so. Cresswell v. McCaig, 11, 223 (9 N. W., 52). Aultman & Taylor Co. v. Steinan, 8, 114. The statute will not enable one who has accepted a conveyance of land to escape paying for it simply because the contract of purchase rested in parol. Galley v. Galley, 14, 177 (15 N. W., 318).

1784. No such conveyance or charge shall be deemed fraudulent in favor of a subsequent purchaser, who shall have actual or legal notice thereof at the time of his purchase, unless it shall appear that the grantor in such conveyance, or person to be benefited by such charge, was privy to the fraud intended.

1785. No estate or interest in land, other than leases for a term not exceeding one year, nor any trust or power over or concerning lands, or in any manner relating thereto, shall hereafter be created, granted, assigned, or surrendered, or declared, unless by act or operation of law, or by a deed of conveyance in writing, subscribed by the party creating, granting, assigning, surrendering, or declaring the same.

Deed, if property executed and delivered, is valid between the parties and persons having notice of it although not acknowledged or recorded. Harrison v. McWhirter, 12, 155 (10 N. W., 545). A letter from a principal to his agent directing a sale of his land, is sufficient authority for the agent to sell. Stadleman v. Fitzgerald, 14, 291 (15 N. W., 234). Part payment of the purchase price of real estate is not such part performance as to take an oral contract of sale out of statute. Baker v. Wiswell, 17, 52 (22 N. W., 111). A parol notice of a surrender of a lease inadmissible. Kittle v. St. John, 7, 74. A lease signed by agent is good. Wheeler v. Walden, 17, 124 (22 N. W., 346). Agreement between judgment creditor and debtor, that in case former purchased at judicial sale land on which his judgment was a lien, he would satisfy judgment therefrom, and restore surplus, if any, to debtor, is sufficient to create a trust. Carter v. Gibson, 29, 324 (45 N. W., 634). See Poland v. O'Connor, 1, 52. An express trust cannot be created by parol agreement to reconvey. Dailey v. Kinsler, 31, 340 (47 N. W., 1045), and 35, 835 (53 N. W., 973). A memorandum of an agent in the form of a receipt describing the land sold, price and time of payment, and the receipt of $25 on the contract, signed by the vendor, is sufficient. Gardels v. Kloke, 36, — (54 N. W., 834). Cited, Hunt v. Lipp, 30, 484 (46 N. W., 632).

1786. The preceding section shall not be construed to affect in any manner the power of a testator in the disposition of his real estate by a last will and testament, nor to prevent any trust from arising or being extinguished by implication or operation of law.

1787. Every contract for the leasing, for a longer period than one year, or for the sale of any lands, or any interest in lands, shall be void unless the contract, or some note or memorandum thereof, be in writing, and signed by the party by whom the lease or sale is to be made.

While a parol lease for two years is void, yet if the tenant enter into possession it is valid as a lease for one year. Friedhoff v. Smith, 13, 6 (12 N. W., 820). Agreement need only to be signed by the party to be charged by it. Gartrell v. Stafford, 12, 552 (11 N. W., 732). It is sufficient if the vendor alone sign memorandum for sale. Ballou v. Sherwood, 32, 666 (49 N. W., 790). An oral acceptance of the option to purchase in a properly executed lease is not within the statute. Smith v. Gibson, 25, 517 (41 N. W., 360). Between parties agreement not within the statute of frauds. McCormick v. Drummett, 9, 389 (2 N. W., 729). See Barton v. Patrick, 20, 662 (31 N. W., 370; Dewey & Stone v. Payne & Co., 19, 541 (26 N. W., 248).

1788. Nothing in this chapter contained shall be construed to abridge the powers of the court of chancery to compel the specific performance of agreement in cases of part performance.

Contract must be clearly established and must unequivocally relate to the identical contract set up. Morgan v. Bergen, 3, 214. Courts will not decree specific performance for the conveyance of a homestead right before settler has obtained patent therefor. Such a contract is against public policy and courts will not enforce. Dawson v. Merrille, 2, 124. Courts will not at all times decree specific performance. Kellogg v. Lavender, 9, 424 (2 N. W., 748). Cited, Hunt v. Lipp, 30, 484 (46 N. W., 632).

FRAUDULENT CONVEYANCES AND CONTRACTS RELATIVE TO GOODS, CHATTELS, AND THINGS IN ACTION.

1789. All deeds of gift, all conveyance, and all transfers or assignments, verbal or written, of goods, chattels, or things in action, made in trust for the use of the person making the same, shall be void as against the creditors, existing or subsequent, of such person.

1790. In the following cases every agreement shall be void unless such agreement, or some note or memorandum thereof, be in writing, and subscribed by the party to be charged therewith: First—Every agreement that by its terms is not to be performed within one year from the making thereof. Second—Every special promise to answer for the debt, default, or misdoings of another person. Third—Every agreement, promise, or undertaking made upon consideration of marriage, except mutual promises to marry. Fourth—Every special promise by an executor or administrator to answer damages out of his own estate.

Promise held void under second clause. Rose v. O'Linn, 10, 364 (6 N. W., 430). Assignment in blank of real estate contracts void. Folsom v. McCague, 29, 129 (45 N. W., 269). Evidence showed a direct promise to pay for goods furnished another, given before delivery, the latter being made upon the faith of the promise, which was therefore an original undertaking. Lindsey v. Heaton, 27, 667 (43 N. W., 420). Parol contract to pay a tenant for certain improvements placed on real estate, not void where there was nothing to prevent it being performed in less than a year. Connolly v. Giddings, 24, 133 (37 N. W., 939). Promise to pay the debt of another as a part of the consideration of property purchased need not be in writing. Clopper v. Poland, 12, 69 (10 N. W., 538). Deed and other writings undelivered not sufficient memorandum to take a contract out of the statute. Wier v. Batdorf, 24, 87 (38 N. W., 22). When the leading object of a party promising to pay the debts of another is to promote his own interests, and not to become a guarantor, it will be valid though not in writing. Fitzgerald v. Morrissey, 14, 201 (15 N. W., 233). Promise of agent in possession of goods of insolvent, in satisfaction of principal's debt, to pay claim of another if he will not disturb him in such possession, not within the statute. Rogers v. Empkie Hardware Co., 24, 655 (39 N. W., 844). See Morrissey v. Kinsey, 16, 17 (19 N. W., 454); DeWitt v. Root, 18, 567 (26 N. W., 360); Kenney v. Hews, 26, 219 (41 N. W., 1006).

1791. Every contract for the sale of any goods, chattels, or things in action, for the price of fifty dollars or more, shall be void unless—First—A note or memorandum of such contract be made in writing, and be subscribed by the party to be charged thereby; or, Second—Unless the buyer shall accept and receive part of such goods or the evidence, or some of them, of such things in action; or, Third—Unless the buyer shall, at the time, pay some part of the purchase money.

Object not to avoid sales but to provide specified proofs in order to enforce them. Eiseley v. Malchow, 9, 180 (2 N. W., 372). The defense given by this section is personal and cannot be interposed by strangers to the agreement. Rickards v. Cunningham, 10, 420 (6 N. W., 475).

1792. Whenever goods shall be sold at public auction, and the auctioneer shall, at the time of sale, enter in a sale book a memorandum specifying the nature and price of the property sold, the terms of the sale, the name of the purchaser, and the name of the person on whose account the sale is made, such memorandum shall be deemed a note of the contract of sale within the meaning of the last section.

1793. Every sale made by a vendor of goods and chattels in his possession or under his control, and every assignment of goods and chattels, by way of mortgage or security, or upon any condition whatever, unless the same be accompanied by an immediate delivery, and be followed by an actual and continued change of possession, of the things sold, mortgaged, or assigned, shall be presumed to be fraudulent and void, as against the creditors of the vendor, or the creditors of the person making such assignment, or subsequent purchasers in good faith; and shall be conclusive evidence of fraud unless it shall be made to appear on the part of the persons claiming under such sale or assignment that the same was made in good faith, and without any intent to defraud such creditors or purchasers.

Mortgage of goods with possession and power of sale in the mortgagor void as against his creditors. Hedman v. Anderson, 6, 399. Chattel mortgage good between parties but void as to creditors and subsequent purchasers in good faith. Gregory v. Whedon, 8, 378. When fraud presumed. Bullis v. Drake, 20, 171 (29 N. W., 292). Chattel mortgage is prima facie fraudulent. Burden of showing that it is not is on mortgagee. Marsh v. Burley, 13, 263 (13 N. W., 279). Sale void unless accompanied by delivery; presumed to be void. Williams v. Evans, 6, 219. Wake v. Griffin, 9, 50 (2 N. W., 461). Retention of possession prima facie evidence of fraud. Burden of proving the sale fair and bona fide is on vendee. Densmore v. Tomer, 11, 118 (7 N. W., 535), and Densmore v. Tomer, 14, 393 (15 N. W., 734). Miller v. Morgan, 11, 122 (7 N. W., 755). Fitzgerald v. Meyer, 25, 77 (41 N. W., 123). First National Bank of Denver v. Lowrey, 36, — (54 N. W., 571). Delivery of possession of goods sold not necessary to protect purchaser from creditors of seller if purchase made in good faith. Possession only prima facie fraud which is a question of fact. Robison v. Uhl, 6, 333. Delivery sufficient when property is separated and counted, though left in charge of vendor, and on his farm, which had been leased to vendee. Bierbower v. Singer, 27, 421 (43 N. W., 254). A failing debtor may secure one creditor by mortgage and hold possession without violation of this section. Lorton v. Fowler, 18, 225 (24 N. W., 685). Question of fraud, how raised. Brunswick v. McClay, 7, 138. The question of fraud can be raised only by creditors and purchasers. Creditors cannot raise it without first obtaining a judgment or process of some sort against the property; and purchasers cannot without first establishing their own good faith. Ransom v. Schmela, 13, 77 (12 N. W., 926). The term "creditors" includes all persons who are creditors of the vendor at any time while the goods remain in his possession or under his control. Densmore v. Tomer, 14, 394 (15 N. W., 734). See Turner, Frazier & Co. v. Killian, 12, 585 (12 N. W., 101). Rule applied. Norton v. Pilger, 30, 856 (47 N. W., 471). Cited and applied, South Omaha National Bank v. Chase, 30, 466 (46 N. W., 513).

1794. The term "creditors," as used in the last section, shall be construed to include all persons who shall be creditors of the vendor or assignor at any time whilst such goods and chattels shall remain in his possession or under his control.

See Turner, Frazier & Co. v. Killian, 12, 586 (12 N. W., 101).

1795. Nothing contained in sections ten and eleven [1392–3] shall be construed to apply to contracts of bottomry or respondentia, nor to assignments or hypothecations of vessels or goods at sea, or in foreign ports, or upon the waters of a navigable stream, if the assignee or mortgagee shall take possession of such vessels or goods as soon as may be after the arrival thereof.

1796. Every mortgage or conveyance intended to operate as a mortgage of goods and chattels hereafter made, which shall not be accompanied by immediate delivery and be followed by an actual and continued change of possession of the things mortgaged, shall be absolutely void as against the creditor of the mortgagor, and as against subsequent purchasers and mortgagors in good faith, unless the mortgage, or a true copy thereof, shall be filed *in the office of the county clerk of the county where the mortgagor executing the same resides, or in case he is a non-resident of the state, then in the office of the clerk of the county where the property mortgaged may be at the time of executing such mortgage, and such clerk shall endorse on such instrument or copy the time of receiving the same, and shall keep the same in his office for the inspection of all persons; and such mortgage or instrument may be so filed, although not acknowledged, and shall be valid as if the same were fully spread at large upon the records of the county.

All after * added 1879, p. 107. Good between parties and those having notice, though unwritten. Sparks v. Wilson, 22, 115 (34 N. W., 111). Conchman v. Wright, 8, 4. Good between parties though not filed, but void as to creditors and purchasers in good faith. Earle v. Burch, 21, 702 (33 N. W., 254). A trifling mistake in copy filed will not vitiate it. Gillespie v. Brown & Ryan Bros., 16, 461 (20 N. W., 632). When filed in county where mortgagor resides not necessary to file in county to which mortgagor removes. Cool v. Roche, Hall & Ray, 20, 555 (31 N. W., 367). When so filed it is a part of the record and a certified copy admissible in evidence. Hall v. Aitkin, 25, 360 (41 N. W., 192). When in form of a bill of sale with defeasance clause, and executed bona fide, though unfiled, valid against subsequent mortgagees with actual notice. Russell v. Longmoor 29, 209 (45 N. W., 624). Party purchasing property before mortgage is recorded is presumed to be a bona fide purchaser, and burden is on other party to show he is not. One purchasing from a bona fide purchaser is not liable for conversion. Rogers v. Pierce, 12, 51 (10 N. W., 535). Unless filed, void as to creditors and subsequent purchasers in good faith. Tallon v. Ellison & Sons, 3, 76. Description of property contained. Price v. McComas, 21, 198 (31 N. W., 511). Legal presumptions are against the bona fides of mortgagees where mortgagors remain in possession of the property with powers of sale in the usual course of trade, yet they may be shown by competent evidence that they were made in good faith. Davis v. Scott, 22, 157 (34 N. W., 353). To take advantage of a failure to file, a party must show that he has been injured by such delay or neglect. Patrick v. Paulson, 34, 418 (51 N. W., 1029). Law as it was in 1875 cited and construed. Becker v. Anderson, 11, 496 (9 N. W., 640). Law of 1877 cited, and held that failure to index mortgage did not render it invalid. Jordan v. Hamilton County Bank, 11, 501 (9 N. W., 654). Effect of senior mortgagee fraudulently releasing a part of the property. Jordan v. Hamilton County Bank, 11, 504 (9 N. W., 654). See Pyle v. Warren, 2, 252; Lamphere et al. v. Lowe, 3, 137; Marsh v. Burley, 13, 263 (13 N. W., 279); Kay v. Noll, 20, 389 (30 N. W., 269); Hamilton v. Lau, 24, 63 (37 N. W., 688).

1797. Such clerk shall also enter in a book to be provided by him for that purpose the names of all the parties to such instrument, arranging the names of such mortgagors alphabetically, and shall note thereon the time of filing such instrument or copy. Such mortgage when satisfied shall be discharged by an entry by the mortgagee, his agent or assignee, on the margin of such index, which shall be attested by the clerk without fee; Provided, also, That the county clerk may discharge a mortgage on the presentation or receipt of an order in writing, signed by the mortgagee thereof and attested by a justice of the peace or some officer with a seal. Any mortgagee, assignee, or their legal personal representatives, after full performance of the conditions of the mortgage, who for the space of ten (10) days after being requested shall refuse or neglect to discharge the same as provided in this section, shall be liable to the mortgagor, his heirs or assigns, in the sum of fifty (50) dollars damages; and also for all actual damages sustained by the mortgagor, occasioned by such neglect or refusal, said damages to be recovered in the proper action.

Amended 1879, p. 108; 1885, p. 260. Tender of amount due on note secured by chattel mortgage divests lien thereof. Knox v. Williams, 24, 634 (39 N. W., 786). Mortgagee cannot withdraw original from files and foreclose. Ward v. Watson, 24, 596 (39 N. W., 615).

1798. Every such mortgage shall cease to be valid as against the creditors of the person making the same, or subsequent purchasers or mortgagees in good faith, after the expiration of five years from the filing of the same copy thereof. Every such clerk shall be entitled to receive the following fees for services under the provisions of this chapter: For filing such instrument or copy thereof, ten (10) cents; for entering the same in a book, ten (10) cents; and for certified copies of such instruments so filed as aforesaid, for every one hundred words, ten (10) cents.

1799. Every conveyance or assignment, in writing or otherwise, of any estate or interest in lands, or in goods or things in action, or of any rents or profits issuing therefrom, and every charge upon lands, goods, or things in action, or upon the rents and profits thereof, made with the intent to hinder, delay or defraud creditors or persons of their lawful rights, damages, forfeitures, debts, or demands, and every bond or other evidence of debt given, suit commenced, or decree or judgment suffered, with the like intent as against the person so hindered, delayed, or defrauded shall be void.

"As against the person so hindered, delayed, and defrauded," excludes volunteers and those who have no interest in the subject-matter. Beels v. Flynn, 28, 581 (44 N. W., 732). Preference of bona fide creditor not fraudulent. Elwood v. May Bros, 24, 375 (38 N. W., 793). Mortgage is fraudulent when given by a failing debtor on all his goods to one creditor for a small debt, and to the prejudice of other creditors. Smith v. Boyer, 29, 79 (45 N. W., 265). Morse v. Steinrod, 29, 111 (46 N. W., 922). Fraudulent transfer made by grantor and being carried into effect by his executor and grantee who is insolvent will be restrained by injunction pending action. Becker v. Anderson, 6, 503. It must be clearly shown that purchaser was ignorant of fraudulent intent and purpose of the vendor in order to set aside sale. Bollman v. Lucas, 22, 815 (36 N. W., 465). Deed executed by one free from debt, but concealed and not recorded, will not be upheld as against subsequent creditors. Conveyance through another between husband and wife upheld to extent of actual consideration. Steele v. Coon, 27, 597 (43 N. W., 411). Creditors not entitled to increment of property fraudulently transferred. Hart v. Dogge, 27, 264 (42 N. W., 1035). See McCleery v. Allen 7, 24. Bretton v. Boyer, 27, 522 (43 N. W., 356).

1800. Every grant or assignment of any existing trust in lands, goods, or things in action, unless the same shall be in writing, subscribed by the party making the same, shall be void.

What constitutes fraudulent assignment. Morgan v. Bogue, 7, 433.

1801. Every conveyance, charge, instrument, or proceeding declared to be void, by the provisions of this chapter, as against creditors or purchasers, shall be equally void against the heirs, successors, personal representatives, or assignees of such creditors or purchasers.

1802. The question of fraudulent intent in all cases arising under the provisions of this chapter shall be deemed a question of fact, and not of law, and no conveyance or charge shall be adjudged fraudulent, as against creditors or purchasers, solely on the ground that it was not founded on a valuable consideration.

A contract for sale and delivery of personal property, the title to remain in the vendor until paid for, to be valid against third parties must have a verified copy of the contract filed under this section. Peterson v. Tufts, 34, 10 (51 N. W., 297). Fraudulent intent is in all cases one of fact, and must be raised by the pleadings. Henry v. Vliet, 33, 133 (49 N. W., 1107). The small consideration expressed in the deed does not of itself raise a presumption of fraud. Kneeling v. Hoyt, 31, 457 (48 N. W., 66). See Montieth v. Bax, 4, 171; Ensign v. Roggencamp, 13, 33 (12 N. W., 811).

1803. The provisions of this chapter shall not be construed in any manner to affect or impair the title of a purchaser for a valuable consideration, unless it shall appear that such purchaser had previous notice of the fraudulent intent of his immediate grantor, or of the fraud rendering void the title of such grantor.

Question of fraudulent intent one of fact, not law. Tootle & Maule v. Dunn, 6, 99.

1804. The term "lands," as used in this chapter, shall be construed as coextensive in meaning with "lands, tenements, and hereditaments," and the terms "estate and interest in lands" shall be construed to embrace every estate and interest, freehold and chattel, legal and equitable, present and future, vested and contingent, in lands as above described.

1805. The term "conveyance," as used in this chapter, shall be construed to embrace every instrument in writing (except a last will and testament), whatever may be its form, and by whatever name it may be known in law, by which any estate or interest in lands is created, aliened, assigned, or surrendered.

See Stadleman v. Fitzgerald, 14, 291 (15 N. W., 234).

1806. The consideration of any contract or agreement, required by the provisions of this chapter to be in writing, need not be set forth in the contract or agreement, or in the note or memorandum thereof, but may be proved by any other legal evidence.

1807. Every instrument required by any of the provisions of this chapter to be subscribed by any party may be subscribed by his agent, thereunto authorized by writing.

Agent may make agreements relating to sale of land when so authorized in writing. Poland v. O'Connor, 1, 52.

Secs. 1808 and 1809. "An act to amend an act entitled 'An act to prevent the fraudulent transfer of property,' approved February 19, 1877." 1879, p. 102. In force June 1.

1808. That no sale, contract, or lease, wherein the transfer of title or ownership of personal property is made to depend upon any condition, shall be valid against any purchaser or judgment creditor of the vendee or lessee in actual possession, obtained in pursuance of such sale, contract, or lease without notice, unless the same be in writing, signed by the vendee or lessee, and a copy thereof filed in the office of the clerk of the county, within which such vendee or lessee resides; said copy shall have attached thereto an affidavit of such vendor or lessor, or his agent or attorney, which shall set forth the names of the vendor and vendee or lessor and lessee, or description of the property transferred and the full and true interest of the vendor or lessor therein. All such sales and transfers shall cease to be valid against purchasers in good faith or judgment or attaching creditors without notice at the expiration of five years, unless such vendor or lessor shall, within thirty days, prior to the expiration of the five years from the date of such sale or transfer, file a copy thereof, verified as aforesaid, in the office of said clerk, and the said vendor or lessor may preserve the validity of his said sale or transfer of personal property by an annual refiling in the manner as aforesaid of such copy.

This only applies in favor of purchasers or judgment creditors in possession without notice, and the person claiming as such must prove the good faith of the transaction. Norton v. Pilger, 30, 860 (47 N. W., 471). A contract for the sale and delivery of personalty, the title to remain in the vendor, is invalid against third parties unless filed. Peterson v. Tufts, 34, 8 (51 N. W., 297). Construed in case of contract of lease with privilege of buying. McClelland v. Scroggin, 35, 536 (53 N. W., 469). See Aultman, Miller & Co. v. Mallory, 5, 180; Blunk v. Kelley, 9, 444 (4 N. W., 57); McCormick v. Stevenson, 13, 72 (12 N. W., 828); Romberg v. Hughes, 18, 581 (26 N. W., 351); Gandy v. Dewey, 28, 175 (44 N. W., 106).

1809. The county clerk, on presentation, shall file such copy in his office, and index the same in the same manner as chattel mortgages are required to be indexed, and he shall receive therefor a fee of twenty-five cents. This act shall not be held to apply to chattel mortgages.

Sec. 1810. "An act to prohibit the fraudulent transfer of property and to declare the same a crime, and to prescribe the punishment thereof." 1883, p. 230. In force June 1.

1810. If any person or persons in this state, with intent to cheat or defraud his creditors or any of them, or with a fraudulent intent to hinder or delay his creditors or any of them in the collection of his or their demands, shall sell, transfer, secrete, incumber, or in any way fraudulently dispose of any of or all of his goods, wares, merchandise, chattels, bills receivable, choses in action, or property of any kind, or who, upon any sale of any goods, wares, merchandise, or property of any kind, with a fraudulent intent to hinder or delay or to cheat or defraud his creditors or any of them, shall secrete, assign, transfer, conceal, or in any way fraudulently dispose of all or any part of the proceeds of any such sale of any property, he or they shall be deemed guilty of a fraudulent transfer of property, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished in the same manner and to the same extent as if he had been convicted of the larceny of the same property.

"An act to prohibit the fraudulent transfer of property and to declare the same a crime and to prescribe the punishment thereof" held constitutional, the act having but one subject. Herold v. State, 21, 53 (31 N. W., 258).

CHAPTER 18—HIGHWAYS.

I. ROADS.

Secs. 1811 to 1916, except secs. 1812 to 1815. "An act to amend chapter 47 of the Revised Statutes of 1866, entitled 'Roads.'" 1879, p. 120. In force June 1. Superseding act of 1867 (state) p. 45; act of 1873, G. S., p. 959; acts of 1875, pp. 113 and 114.

1811. The county board has a general supervision over the public roads of the county, with power to establish and maintain them as herein provided, and to see that the laws in relation to them are carried into effect.

Secs. 1812 to 1815. "An act to authorize the county board of any county in which a city of the metropolitan or cities of the first class having over 25,000 inhabitants is situated, to grade, pave, or otherwise improve roads leading thereto, and to assist such cities in the improvement of such roads within the incorporate limits as are extensions of roads leading thereto." 1889, p. 78. In force March 30. (Repealing laws 1883, ch. 23, p. 183).

1812. The county board of any county in which any city of the metropolitan, or city of the first class having over twenty-five thousand inhabitants, is situated, is hereby authorized and empowered, whenever the road fund of said county will warrant it, to aid in the grading, paving, or otherwise improving of any street, avenue, or boulevard leading into such city and within the corporate limits thereof, by providing for payment of not exceeding one-half of the cost of such grading, and not exceeding the cost of the paving of intersections; and shall also be authorized and empowered to grade, pave, or otherwise improve any street, avenue, boulevard, or road, or any portion thereof leading into and adjacent to any such city, outside of the corporate limits thereof and within two miles from such corporate limits, including any portion thereof leading into or across any village or town and for such improvements outside of the corporate limits of any such city as hereinafter authorized and directed.

1813. Whenever the county board shall contemplate the making of such improvements outside of the corporate limits of any such city, they shall notify the county surveyor, whose duty it shall be to make an examination of the proposed improvement and report an estimate of the cost thereof to said board. If, upon the coming in of such report, the county board determine to make the improvement, they shall cause personal notice to be served on the owners of property abutting on said road, of their intention to make such improvement, and if the owner is a non-resident, then by personal service on the agent of such non-resident, if he have one residing in the county, and in case he has no such agent, by publishing such notice in a newspaper published in and of general circulation in said county, and upon the proof of service or publication of such notice aforesaid, and after giving such owner an opportunity to be heard, the board shall decide upon the material to be used in such improvement and enter an order upon their record for the construction thereof.

1814. Two-thirds of the cost of any improvement outside of the corporate limits of any city authorized by this act shall be paid by said board out of the road fund of said county, one-third by special assessment on all real estate abutting on or adjacent to such improvement to a depth not exceeding 500 feet on each side thereof, to the extent of the special benefits to such real estate by reason of such improvement; the benefits to such real estate to be determined by said board, after publication in a newspaper of general circulation in the county, of notice to the owners of said real estate at least ten days prior to such determination. Such assessment may be according to the front foot of the real estate along the line of such improvement or according to such rule as said board may adopt for the distribution and equalization of the said one-third of the said cost, and the amount so assessed shall be placed upon the tax list for the ensuing year and collected in the same manner and at the same time as the tax on other property, and, when collected, credited to the road fund of said county.

1815. All contracts for the construction of such improvements outside of the corporate limits of any such city shall be let to the lowest responsible bidder, who will enter into bonds for the faithful performance thereof, in such amount and with such securities as the county board may determine. All payments on such contract shall be made by warrants drawn on the road fund of said county.

Shall be let to the lowest responsible bidder. People v. Com'rs of Buffalo Co., 4, 165.

1816. All public roads shall have a width of sixty-six feet, and the staked line marking such road shall be on the northern edge of the said sixty-six feet, if the road is running east and west, and on the western edge, if the course of the road is north and south; Provided, That roads located on the state line, where any adjoining state locates similar roads, may have a width of thirty-three feet; And provided further, That whenever the county board shall deem it necessary, the width of such road, at any point where a bridge is to be located and constructed, may be one hundred and fifty feet for a distance not exceeding three hundred feet on either side, from the center of such bridge.

1817. All roads within this state which have been laid out in pursuance of any law of this state, or of the territory of Nebraska, and which have not been vacated in pursuance of law, are hereby declared to be public roads; Provided, That all roads that have not been used within five years shall be deemed vacated.

There must be a clear and entire abandonment to vacate a road, non-user of a part will not do. O'Dea v. State, 16, 246 (20 N. W., 299). Public may acquire road by user, and such right will not be lost by the non-user of a part thereof. City of Beatrice v. Black, 28, 270 (44 N. W., 189).

1818. Any person desiring the establishment, vacation, or alteration of a public road shall file in the clerk's office of the proper county a petition signed by at least ten electors residing within five miles of the road proposed to be established or vacated, in substance as follows: "To the board of ——— county; The undersigned ask that a public road, commencing at ———, and running thence ———, and terminating at ———, be established, vacated, or altered (as the case may be)."

A petition with affidavit as to residence of signers gives clerk power to appoint appraisers. All after-proceedings construed liberally. Howard v. Dakota County, 25, 229 (41 N. W., 185). In order to show that one has the requisite interest it is only necessary for him to allege that he is a citizen of the county residing within five miles of the proposed road. Throckmorton v. State, 20, 652 (31 N. W., 232). Establishment of road may be by dedication or user; requisites of such establishment discussed. Graham v. Hartnett, 10, 520 (7 N. W., 280). See Doody v. Vaughn, 7, 30.

1819. The petitioners for establishment or alteration of any public road shall at the time of filing their petition therefor, deposit with the county clerk a suffi, cient sum of money to pay for the laying out or alteration of such road, the expense thereof to be paid out of such deposit, unless the road is finally established or altered. If the road is finally established or altered, the money shall be returned to the persons who deposited the same.

1820. Upon compliance with the foregoing requisites, the county clerk shall appoint some suitable and disinterested elector of the county a commissioner to examine into the expediency of the proposed road, alteration, or vacation thereof, and report accordingly.

The appointment of a commissioner is jurisdictional, unless written consent of all land owners is filed. Warren v. Brown, 31, 8 (47 N. W., 633).

1821. The commissioner is not confined to the precise matter of the petition, but may inquire and determine whether that or any road in the vicinity, answering the same purpose and in substance the same, be required; but such road must not be established through any burying ground which is exempt from execution; nor through any garden, orchard, or ornamental ground contiguous to any dwelling house, so as to cause the removal of any building, without the consent of the owner.

1822. In forming his judgment he must take into consideration both the public and private convenience, and also the expense of the proposed road.

1823. After a general examination, if he shall not be in favor of establishing the proposed road, he will so report, and no further proceedings shall be had on that petition.

1824. If he deems such establishment expedient, he may proceed at once to lay out the road as hereinafter directed, and may report accordingly, if the circumstances of the case are such as to enable him to do so, without pursuing the course pointed out in the next section.

1825. If the precise location of the road cannot be otherwise given, he must cause the line of the road to be accurately surveyed and plainly marked out.

1826. Any commissioner other than the county surveyor must be sworn to faithfully and impartially discharge his duty as such commissioner, and, after being thus qualified he shall have power to swear the assistants employed to a faithful and impartial performance of their respective duties in laying out the road described in his commission.

1827. Stakes must be set at each change of direction, on which shall be marked the bearing of the new course. Stakes must also be set at the crossing of fences and streams, and at intervals in the prairie, not exceeding a quarter of a mile each; in the timber the course must be indicated by trees suitably blazed.

1828. Bearing trees must, when convenient, be established at each angle, and the position of the road relative to the corners of sections, and junctions of streams, or any other natural or artificial monument, or conspicuous object, must, as far as convenient, be stated in the field notes, and shown on the plat

1829. A correct plat of the road, together with a copy of the field notes of the surveyor, if one has been employed, must be filed as a part of the commissioner's report, and he shall also state the probable cost of the work in laying out or altering such road, including any necessary bridges, culverts, and ditches. Such report shall be filed with the county clerk.

1830. If the report of the commissioner be in favor of establishing or altering the road, the county clerk must appoint a day, not less than sixty, nor more than ninety days, on or before which day all objections to the establishment or alteration to the road, and claims for damages by reason thereof, must be filed with the clerk.

1831. The time for the commissioner to commence the examination shall be fixed by the clerk, and if he fails to so commence, or report, the clerk may fix another day, or extend the time for making such report, or may appoint another commissioner.

1832. Within twenty days after the day is fixed by the clerk as above provided a notice shall be served on each owner or occupier of land lying in the proposed highway or abutting thereon, as shown by the numerical indexes in the register's office, who reside in the county, in the manner provided for the service of original notices in actions at law; such notice shall also be published for four weeks in some newspaper published in the county if such there be, or if there be no newspaper published in the county then such notice shall be posted in at least three public places along the line of the proposed road, which notice may be in the following form: To whom it may concern: The commissioners appointed to locate, vacate or alter (as the case may be), a road commencing at ———, in ——— county, running thence (describing in general terms all points as in the commissioner's report), and terminating at ———, has reported in favor of the establishment (vacation or alteration) thereof, and all objections thereto or claims for damages must be filed in the county clerk's office on or before noon of the —— day of ———, A. D. ——, or such road will be established, (vacated or altered without reference thereto). A. B., County Clerk.

Amended 1893, ch. 26, p. 352. In force August 1. Constructive notice alone cannot deprive the land owner of the right to recover compensation for land taken. Pawnee County v. Storm, 34, 736 (52 N. W., 696). A proper notice is jurisdictional. Beatty v. Beethe, 23, 211 (36 N. W., 494).

1833. No objections or claims for damages shall be filed or made after noon of the day fixed for filing the same, and if no objections or claims for damages are filed on or before noon of the day fixed for filing the same, and the county clerk is satisfied the provisions of the preceding section have been complied with, he shall report to the county board at their next session all the proceedings hereinbefore provided for.

1834. If objections to the establishment of the road or claims for damages are filed, the further hearing of the application shall stand continued to the next session of the county board held after the commissioners appointed to assess damages have reported.

1835. When claims for damages are filed and on the day appointed for filing the same, the county clerk must appoint three suitable and disinterested electors of the county as appraisers, to view the ground on a day fixed by him, and report upon the amount of damages sustained by the claimants; such report shall be made and filed in the clerk's office within thirty days after the day they are appointed.

1836. All claims for damages and objections to the establishment, vacation, or alteration of the road must be in writing, and the statements in the application for damages shall be considered denied in all the subsequent proceedings.

In supreme court only the objections made before commencing will be considered. Davis v. Boone County, 28, 837 (45 N. W., 249).

1837. The clerk shall cause notice of their appointment to be given to each of the appraisers, fixing the hour at which they are to meet at the office of the clerk, or of some justice of the peace therein named.

1838. If the appraisers are not all present within one hour of the time fixed, the clerk or justice, as the case may be, shall fill the vacancy by the appointment of others. The appraisers must be sworn to discharge their duty faithfully and impartially. Should the report not be filed in time, or should any other good cause for delay exist, the clerk may postpone the time for final action on the subject, and may, if expedient, appoint other commissioners.

1839. Should no damages be awarded the applicant therefor, the whole of the costs growing out of his application shall be paid by him.

1840. At the next meeting of the county board, after the proceedings hereinbefore contemplated have been had, the said board may hear testimony, consider petitions for and remonstrances against the establishment, vacation, or alteration, as the case may be, if such remonstrance be filed within the time provided in section 19 [1833], and may establish, vacate, or alter, or refuse to do so, as in their judgment founded on the testimony the public good may require. Said board may increase or diminish the damages allowed by the appraisers, and may make such establishment, vacation, or alteration, conditioned upon the payment in whole or in part of the damages awarded, or expenses in relation thereto.

Measure of damages shall be the fair market value of the land actually taken, while special benefits may be set off against any local or incidental injury to the residue of the land. Wagner [illegible]age County, 3, 243.

1841. In the latter case a day shall be fixed for the performance of the condi- which must be before the next session of the board, and if the same is not [illegible]ed by the day thus fixed, the board shall, at such session, make some final [illegible]nditional order in the premises.

1842. Any order made or action taken in the establishment of a road shall be entered in the road record, distinguishing between those made or taken by the clerk and those by the county board.

1843. After the road has been finally established, the plat and field notes must be recorded by the county clerk, and the road overseers of the district through which such road passes shall be directed by the clerk to have the same opened and worked; but when crops have been planted or sowed before the road is finally established, the opening thereof shall be delayed until the crop is harvested.

1844. The establishment of a new road on the route of a road already established according to law shall not vacate the road previously established, unless such vacation is prayed for in the petition, and so declared in the order establishing a new road.

1845. Whenever a public road is ordered to be established or altered, according to the provisions of this chapter, which road shall pass through or on inclosed land not planted or sowed with crops, the road overseer shall give the owner or occupant of such land sixty days' notice in writing to remove his fences. If such owner or occupant does not remove his fence within sixty days after such notice, the overseer shall cause the same to be removed, and the road opened and worked; and such owner shall forfeit the sum of one dollar for every day he shall permit his fence to remain after the expiration of said sixty days, and he shall pay all necessary cost of removal, to be collected by said overseer before any justice of the peace having jurisdiction, for the use and benefit of the school fund.

This is not unconstitutional and may be enforced after due notice. Black v. Stein, 23, 303 (36 N. W., 548).

1846. All public streets of villages not incorporated are a part of the public road; and all road overseers or persons having charge of the same, in the respective districts of such villages, shall work the same as provided by law.

1847. Such portions of all roads as lie within the limits of any city or incorporated village, shall conform to the direction and grade, and be subject to all the regulations of other streets in such city or village.

1848. Roads or streets shall not be established or opened across the lands reserved by the state for its various institutions lying adjacent thereto without the express consent of the legislature.

1849. The establishment, vacation, or alteration of a public road, either along or across a county line, may be effected by the concurrent action of the respective county boards in the mode hereinbefore prescribed. The commissioners appointed to locate the road in such cases must act in concert, and the road will not be deemed established, vacated, or altered in either county until it is so in both. All expenses incurred under the provisions of the preceding section, and all expenses in keeping public roads on county lines in repair, shall be paid equally by the counties interested.

1850. Hereafter there shall be no distinction between roads heretofore known as state roads and county roads; both are alike subject to the provisions of this chapter. Roads established by the concurrent action of the county boards of two or more counties can only be discontinued by the concurrent action of the county boards of the several counties in which the same may be situated, but such roads shall be treated in all other respects as provided in this chapter.

1851. Public roads may be established without the appointment of a commissioner, provided the written consent of all the owners of the land to be used for that purpose be first filed in the county clerk's office; and if it is shown to the satisfaction of the county board that the proposed road is of sufficient public importance to be opened and worked by the public, they shall make an order establishing the same, from which time only shall it be regarded as a public road.

1852. If a survey for the establishment of the road named in the preceding section is necessary, the board, before ordering such survey, may require the parties asking for the establishment of such highway to pay, or secure the payment, of the expenses of such survey.

1853. Any applicant for damages claimed to be caused by the establishment of a road may appeal from the final decision of the county board to the district court of the county in which the land lies; but notice of such appeal must be served on the county clerk within twenty days after the decision is made. If the road has been established on condition that the petitioners therefor pay the damages, such notice shall be served on the four persons first named in the petition for the highway, if there are that many who reside in the county.

1854. An appeal may also be taken by the petitioner for the road as to the amount of damages, if the establishment of the road has been made conditional upon his paying the damages, by his serving notice of such appeal on the county clerk and applicant for damages within twenty days after the decision of the board, and filing a bond in the office of such clerk, with sureties to be approved by him, conditioned for the payment of all costs occasioned by such appeal, unless the appellant fails to recover a more favorable judgment in the district court than was allowed him by such board.

Appeals for damages caused by the establishment of a road should be taken under these sections and not under general appeal law. Richardson County v. Miles, 14, 311 (16 N. W., 150).

1855. In the cases contemplated in the two preceding sections, the clerk shall, within ten days after the notices aforesaid are served and filed in his office, make out and file in the office of the clerk of said court a transcript of the papers on file in his office, and the proceedings of the board in relation to such damages. The claimant for damages shall be plaintiff, and the petitioner for the road defendant, except the damages have been ordered paid out of the county treasury, in which case the county shall be defendant.

1856. The amount of damages the claimant is entitled to shall be ascertained by said court in the same manner as in actions by ordinary proceedings, and the amount so ascertained shall be entered of record, but no judgment shall be rendered therefor. The amount thus ascertained shall be certified by the clerk of the county board, who shall thereafter proceed as if such amount had been by them allowed the claimant as damages.

A county cannot take lands for a public road until it has provided for the payment of the damage to the owner. Injunction will lie until such compensation is made. Zimmerman v. County of Kearney, 33, 620 (50 N. W., 1126).

1857. If the appeal has been taken by the claimant and he fails to recover on his appeal an amount greater than the amount allowed him by the board, he shall pay the costs occasioned by the appeal; but if he recovers an amount greater than that allowed him by the board the county shall in all cases pay the costs. If the petitioner for the road appeals he must pay the costs unless the claimant recovers a less amount than was allowed him by the board, in which case the costs shall be paid by the claimant. Judgment shall be rendered in accordance with the foregoing provisions.

Amended 1893, ch. 27, p. 353. In force April 7.

1858. When by the reason of the loss or destruction of the field notes of the original survey, or in cases of defective surveys or record, or in cases of such numerous alterations of any road since the original survey that its location cannot be accurately defined by the papers on file in the proper office, the county board of the proper county may, if they deem it necessary, cause such road to be resurveyed, platted, and recorded as hereinbefore provided.

1859. If the same has not been heretofore done in any other manner, the county clerk shall, within six months after this act shall take effect, cause every road in his county, the legal existence of which is shown by the records and files in his office, to be platted in a book to be obtained and kept for that purpose, and known as the "road-plat book." Each township or precinct shall be platted separately, on a scale of not less than four inches to the mile; and such clerk shall have all changes in or additions to the roads legally established immediately entered upon said plat-book—with appropriate references to the files in which the papers relating to the same may be found.

1860. The section lines are hereby declared to be public roads in each county in this state, and the county board of such county may, whenever the public good requires it, open such roads without any preliminary survey and cause them to be worked in the same manner as other public roads; Provided, That any damages claimed by reason of the opening of any such road shall be appraised and allowed, as nearly as practicable, in manner hereinbefore provided. And provided further*, That the county board before opening such section line road shall direct the county surveyor to perpetuate the existing government corners along such line by planting monuments of some durable material with suitable witnesses whenever practicable, and make a record of the same.

All after * added 1885, p. 316. Discretionary with board whether section line be declared road without petition. Throckmorton v. State, 20, 652 (31 N. W., 232). County board may order any section line opened as a road, but cannot vacate such a road without a hearing. McNair v. State, 26, 260 (41 N. W., 1099).

1861. When the lands of any person shall be surrounded or enclosed, or be shut out and cut off from a public highway by the lands of any other person or persons, who refuse to allow such person a private road to pass to or from his or her said land, it shall be the duty of the county board, on petition of any person whose land is so surrounded or shut out, to appoint three disinterested freeholders of the precinct or township, in counties under township organization, in which the land lies, as commissioners to view and mark out a road from land of the petitioner to the nearest public highway, and assess the damages the person will sustain through whose land the road will pass.

1862. The person desiring to secure the right of way shall give the person or persons through whose lands the road will run at least two days' notice of such intended application, by leaving or causing to be left a written notice at his usual place of abode; and satisfactory evidence that such notice has been given shall be presented to the board before commissioners shall be appointed.

1863. The commissioners shall, before entering upon the discharge of their duties, take and subscribe an oath before some judge or justice of the peace, that they are not interested nor of kin to either of the parties interested in the proposed road, and that they will faithfully and impartially view and mark out said road to the greatest ease and convenience of the parties, and as little as may be to the injury of either, and assess the damages which will be sustained by the party through whose land it will run.

1864. Said commissioners shall make out a report of their proceedings, stating particularly the course and distance of said road, and the amount of damages assessed, which report, together with a certificate of the oath, shall be returned to the county commissioners and filed by the county clerk.

1865. If the report be approved by the county board, and the petitioner shall produce satisfactory evidence that he has paid the damages assessed (or tendered payment, if the party refuse to receive it), and all costs attending the proceedings, the county board shall grant an order to said petitioner to open a road not exceeding fifteen feet in width; and if any person or persons obstruct said road, such person or persons shall be liable to all the penalties for obstructing a public road; Provided, however, If such road shall pass through any inclosure, and it shall be required by the owner thereof, the person applying for such road shall put up and keep at each entrance into such inclosure a good and substantial swinging gate; Provided further, That either party may appeal from the decision of the county board in like manner as prescribed in case of public roads.

1866. Upon the establishment of the right of way, as in this chapter provided, the same shall vest and descend as an easement in the party and his or her heirs or assigns forever.

1867. The county board shall divide the county, except that portion occupied by cities and incorporated villages, into as many road districts as may be necessary, and may alter the boundaries thereof as may seem proper; Provided, however, That in no case shall any road district be so constituted as to be within the limits of two distinct voting precincts, or townships in counties under township organization; and it shall be the duty of the county clerk, upon application, to furnish each supervisor with a particular description of the boundaries of his district.

1868. The overseers of the respective districts are hereby authorized to procure, if they deem it necessary, a plow, and one or more scrapers for the use of the road district, the cost thereof to be paid out of the road fund of the district, and allowed in the settlement with the overseer.

1869. If any overseer shall neglect or refuse to keep the roads of his district in good repair as the number of hands and the amount of road tax under his control would reasonably enable him to do, or otherwise neglect to perform any of the duties imposed upon him by this chapter, he shall be liable on his official bond to pay a fine of not less than five nor more than fifty dollars, to be recovered by civil action before any justice of the peace in the county at the suit of any citizen for the benefit of the school fund.

County not liable. Woods v. Colfax County, 10, 554 (7 N. W., 269). No action lies against overseer. McConnell v. Dewey, 5, 392.

1870. In case of any sudden damage or injury to any bridge, culvert, or road, the overseer may, on one day's notice, call out any and all able-bodied men under fifty years of age in his district (but not more than two days at any one time without their consent), to effect all repairs immediately necessary thereon; and persons so called out shall be entitled to receive $1.50 per day from the fund in the hands of such overseer.

No authority to use contiguous land. McCann v. Otoe County, 9, 331 (2 N. W., 707).

1871. If any able-bodied man when duly summoned as provided in the preceding section fail to appear and labor diligently by himself or his substitute, or send satisfactory excuse thereof, he shall be liable to a penalty of five dollars, to be recovered by civil action before any justice of the peace, at the suit of any citizen for the benefit of the school fund.

1872. The county board may, in their discretion, whenever there is sufficient money on hand in the county road fund, build or repair any bridge or bridges within the limits of any incorporated city or village in their county.

1873. Any public road that is or shall hereafter be laid out on a county or town line, shall be held to be a road on a county or township line, although, owing to the topography of the ground along said county or township line, or at the crossing of any stream of water, the proper authorities, in establishing or locating such road, may have located a portion of the same to one side of such county or township line.

1874. Whenever any persons, traveling with any carriages, shall meet on any road in this state, the persons so meeting shall seasonably turn their carriages to the right of the center of the road, so as to permit each carriage to pass without interfering or interrupting, under the penalty of five dollars for every neglect or offense; Provided, This section shall not be construed to apply to any case, unless some injury to person or property shall occur by the driver of the carriage or wagon refusing to turn to the right of the beaten track; nor shall it be construed to extend to a case where it is impracticable, from the nature of the ground, for the driver of the carriage or wagon to turn to the right of the beaten track.

1875. No person owning any carriage, running or traveling upon any road in this state, for the conveyance of passengers, shall employ, or continue in employment, any person to drive such carriage who is addicted to drunkenness or the excessive use of spirituous liquors, and if any such owner shall violate the provisions of this section, after he shall have had notice and reasonable proof that such driver is addicted to drunkenness, he shall forfeit at the rate of five dollars per day for all the time during which he shall thereafter have kept any such driver in his employment.

1876. If any driver, whilst actually employed in driving any such carriage, shall be guilty of intoxication to such a degree as to endanger the safety of the passengers in the carriage, it shall be the duty of the owner of such carriage, on receiving written notice of the fact, signed by any one of said passengers, and certified by him on oath, forthwith to discharge such driver from his employment; and every such owner who shall retain or have in his employ, within three months after the receipt of such notice, any driver who shall have been so intoxicated, shall forfeit at the rate of five dollars per day for the time during which he shall keep any such driver in his employment after receiving such notice.

1877. No person driving any carriage upon any road within this state, with or without passengers therein, shall run his horses or carriage (or permit the same to be run) upon any occasion, or for any purpose whatever; and no person riding any horse or mule shall run the same on any public road, except in cases of necessity; and every person who shall offend against the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall be fined not exceeding ten dollars, or imprisoned not exceeding sixty days, at the discretion of the court.

1878. It shall not be lawful for any person to leave a horse, mule, or team standing upon any public road, unless the same shall be securely hitched or guarded. Any person offending against the provisions of this section shall be liable to a penalty of $5 for each and every such offense.

1879. It shall not be lawful for the driver of any carriage used for the purpose of conveying passengers for hire to leave the horses attached thereto, while the passengers remain therein, without first making such horses fast with a sufficient halter, rope, or chain, or by placing the lines in the hands of some other person, so as to prevent their running. And if any such driver shall offend against the provisions of this section he shall forfeit the sum of $20, to be recovered by civil action at the suit of any citizen for the benefit of the school fund.

1880. The owners of every carriage running upon any road, for the conveyance of passengers, shall be liable, jointly and severally, to the party injured, in all cases for all injuries and damages done by any person in the employment of such owners as a driver, while driving such carriage, to any person or to the property of any person; and that, whenever the act occasioning such injury or damage be willful, negligent, or otherwise, in the same manner that such driver would be liable. Any driver of any mail stage coach, or any other vehicle for the conveyance of passengers, willfully offending against the provisions of this act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof, shall be imprisoned not exceeding thirty days, or fined not exceeding $100.

1881. The term "carriage," as used in this act, shall be construed to include stage coaches, wagons, carts, sleighs, sleds, and every other carriage or vehicle used for the transportation of passengers and goods, or either of them.

1882. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent additional regulations, or the licensing of hacks and carriages by the corporate authorities of cities and villages, under the ordinances of such corporation.

1883. If any person shall injure or obstruct a public road by falling a tree or trees in, upon, or across the same, or by placing or leaving any other obstruction thereon, or by encroaching upon the same with any fence, or by plowing or digging any ditch or other opening thereon, or by turning a current of water so as to saturate or wash the same, or shall leave the cutting of any hedge thereupon, for more than five days, he shall forfeit for every such offense a sum not less than $3 nor more than $10, and in case of placing any obstruction on the road, an additional sum of not exceeding $3 per day for every day he shall suffer such obstruction to remain after he has been ordered to remove the same, by any of the road overseers, complaint to be made by any person feeling himself aggrieved; Provided, This section shall not apply to any person who shall lawfully fell any tree for use, and will immediately remove the same out of the road, nor to any person through whose land a public road may pass, who shall desire to drain his land, and shall give due notice to the overseer of such intention; And provided further, That any overseer of roads, after having given reasonable notice (to the owners) of the obstruction, or person so obstructing, or plowing or digging ditches upon such road, may remove any such fence or other obstruction, fill up any such ditch or excavation, and recover the necessary cost of such removal from such owner or other person obstructing such road aforesaid, to be collected by said overseer before any justice of the peace having jurisdiction.

1884. If any person shall purposely destroy or injure any sidewalk, public bridge, culvert, or causeway, or remove any of the timber or plank thereof, or obstruct the same, he shall forfeit a sum not less than $3 nor more than $100, and shall be liable for all damages occasioned thereby, and all necessary costs of rebuilding or repairing the same.

1885. It shall be lawful for the owner or occupants of land bordering upon any public road to build sidewalks not to exceed six feet in width, and to plant shade and ornamental trees along and in such road at a distance not exceeding one-tenth of the legal width of the road from its margin, and also to erect and maintain a fence so long as it shall be actually necessary for the purpose of raising a hedge on said margin a distance of six feet from the within said marginal lines.

1886. Whoever shall ride or drive faster than a walk over any bridge, shall forfeit for every such offense the sum of $5.

1887. The overseers of the several road districts are hereby authorized to enter upon any land adjacent to any public road in their respective districts, for the purpose of opening any ditch, drain, necessary sluice, or water-course, whenever it shall be necessary to open a water-course from any road to the natural water-courses, and to dig, open, and clean ditches upon said land, for the purpose of carrying off the water from said road, or to drain any slough or pond on said road; Provided, That unless the owner of such land, or his agent, shall first consent to the cutting of such ditches, the overseer shall call to his assistance three electors of his district, who shall appraise the damages sustained by such person. Such appraisers shall make their award in writing, and the same shall be paid out of any money in the hands of the overseer, out of or belonging to his district, and if there be none such, the same shall be paid by the county board, out of the county road fund.

1888. Justices of the peace shall have jurisdiction in all cases arising under this act, where any fine, penalty, or forfeiture imposed does not exceed their jurisdiction.

* 1889. It shall be the duty of each overseer of roads during the months of June or July in each year to make provision for the prevention and spread of prairie fires in his district by causing at least four furrows to be plowed on each side of such public or main traveled roads in his district, not less than two rods from the center of such roads, where practicable, and at a suitable time and as soon thereafter as the grass becomes sufficiently dry, he shall cause to be burned all grass between said plowing on either side of the roads. The labor to be performed under the provisions of this section shall be a part of the labor to be performed by persons assessed to pay labor or road tax, and they shall be allowed compensation at the rate hereinafter provided for other work on public roads.

Amended 1883, p. 284.

1890. In counties not under township organization, one-half of all moneys paid into the county treasury, from the several road districts, in discharge of road tax, shall constitute a county road fund which shall be at the disposal of the county commissioners for the general benefit of the county for road purposes; the other half of all moneys paid into the county treasury from the several road districts, in discharge of road tax, and all money paid in discharge of labor tax, shall constitute a district road fund, which shall be paid by the county treasurer to the overseer of the road district from which it was collected, and expended by him only for the following purposes: First—For the construction and repair of bridges and culverts and making fire-guards along the line of roads. Second—For the payment of damages of the right of any public road. Third—For the payment of wages of overseers, and for the expense of procuring the necessary guide boards. Fourth—For the payment of wages of commissioners of roads, surveyor, chainmen and other persons engaged in locating or altering any county road, if the road be finally established or altered, as hereinbefore provided. Fifth—For work and repairs upon road. Provided*, That the county commissioners of counties not under township organization may levy the same rate of road tax upon the property within any incorporated city of the metropolitan class and cities of the first class as is levied upon the property situated within the several road districts, and all moneys paid into the county treasury in discharge of road tax levied upon property within the incorporate limits of any such city shall constitute a part of the general road fund of the county, and be subject to the disposal of the county commissioners for the general benefit of the county and city, one-half of which shall go to the county for road purposes and one-half to the council of said cities to be used for road purposes.

All after * added 1891, p. 314. Disposition of funds. State, ex rel. Wessel, v. Weir, 38, 38 (49 N. W., 785).

1891. The county commissioners shall have power, upon receiving a petition signed by at least two-thirds of the qualified electors of any district, to order that any road moneys belonging to the district be expended in any other district, under the direction of the proper overseer thereof; and in such case such overseer shall pay over all moneys in his hands to the overseer of the district in which such money is ordered to be expended and take his receipt for the same.

1892. It shall be the duty of each overseer of roads to give at least three days, notice to all persons residing in his district liable to pay labor and road tax therein, either personally or in writing left at their place of abode, of the time when between the first day of April and the first day of October in each year, and the place where they may appear and pay their labor tax and three-fourths of their road tax in labor, and with what implements. *And it shall be the duty of the county clerk in each county in the state of Nebraska to furnish to each overseer of roads in his county, on or before the first day of March in each year a list of all property subject to road tax in his district, the name of the owner or owners of the same, together with the amount of road tax due thereon, said road tax to be computed upon the assessment of the previous year.

Amended and all after * added 1881, p. 328.

1893. The overseer shall allow all persons who may appear in pursuance to such notice and offering to pay their labor tax and three-fourths [of] their road tax in labor, under his direction, the sum of $1.50 for every day he shall actually work eight hours on such road, $1.50 for each yoke of oxen, and $1.50 for each span of horses he shall furnish agreeably to the requirements of the overseer; and for such labor performed the overseer shall give to such person a certificate, which certificate shall be received by the county treasurer in discharge of the labor tax and three-fourths of the road tax of such person as aforesaid. The one-fourth of the road tax shall be paid in cash; Provided, That any person who is a resident of the district not notified by the overseer to labor upon the roads as hereinbefore provided, shall be discharged from the payment of said labor tax and three-fourths [of] said road tax.

Law as to notice, see B. & M. R. R. Co. v. Lancaster County, 4, 306. Prior to passage of present law failure to give notice would not release lien of the tax, and the provision that notice is to be given to residents only does not invalidate the tax as to non-residents. B. & M. R. R. Co. v. Lancaster County, 4, 306.

1894. Each overseer of roads shall make a return to the county treasurer on or before the first day of November of each year, containing the names of each person liable to pay labor or road tax, or both, in his district, whom he has notified to labor upon the roads, as provided in section 78 [1892]. Such returns shall be made under oath, and shall be conclusive evidence that notice to labor, as aforesaid, upon the persons therein named has been made by said overseer. If said overseer makes a false return he shall be guilty of perjury and be punished accordingly.

1895. Overseers of roads shall make an annual settlement under oath with the board of county commissioners, at their first meeting in January, showing the amount of money which has come into their hands by virtue of their office and how the same has been expended. The county commissioners, if they deem it expedient, shall have power to cite any overseer to appear before them at any other time and make settlement as herein provided, giving him reasonable notice thereof.

1896. The overseer shall be allowed two dollars ($2) per day, including the time necessarily spent in notifying the hands, superintending the work on roads and making out his return, but not to exceed the sum of thirty dollars ($30) in any one year, which sum shall be paid out of the district road fund after deducting his own labor tax and three-fourths (¾) of his road tax. If there is not sufficient money in the district road fund with which to pay said overseer, he shall be entitled to a certificate from the county board, which certificate shall be paid out of the district road fund, and if there be not sufficient money in the district road fund to pay such certificate, then the county treasurer shall register and pay said certificate in the same manner the county warrants are paid a warrant on the county general fund, from the county board, for the amount of labor performed.

Amended 1887, p. 586.

1897. All contracts for the erection and reparation of bridges and approaches thereto, for the building of culverts, and improvements on roads, the cost or expense of which shall exceed one hundred dollars, shall be let by the county commissioners to the lowest competent bidder, but no contract shall be entered into for a greater sum than the amount of money on hand in the county road fund derived from the levy of previous years, and two-thirds of the levy for the current year, together with the amount of money in the district road fund of the district where such work is to be performed; and every bidder, before entering on any work pursuant to contract, shall give bond to the county with at least two good and sufficient sureties, in any sum double the amount of the contract, which bond shall be approved by the county commissioners, conditioned for the faithful execution of the contract.

1898. Before any contracts, as aforesaid, shall be let, the county commissioners shall advertise for bids therefor, and shall require bidders to accompany their bids with plans and specifications of the work, and they may accept the most suitable plan, and award the contract accordingly, or may reject any or all bids.

1899. Such advertisement shall state the general character of the work, and shall be published four consecutive weeks in some newspaper printed and of general circulation in the county; and if there be no newspaper printed in the county, then such advertisement shall be published in some newspaper of general circulation therein. Where the cost of the work exceeds five hundred dollars, such advertisement shall also be published four consecutive weeks in some newspaper printed in and of general circulation throughout the state.

A paper in county of general circulation in the state would be sufficient. Brown v. Merrick County, 18, 360 (25 N. W., 356.)

1900. The cost of the work performed under any contract entered into under the provisions of the preceding sections shall be paid from the money belonging to the district in which such work is performed; or, if that be insufficient, the balance shall be paid from the county road fund; Provided, That where under any law of this state bonds are voted to aid in the building or repairing of any bridge, the expense thereof shall be paid by such bonds, or the proceeds thereof.

1901. Bridges over streams which divide counties, and bridges over streams on roads on county lines, shall be built and repaired at the equal expense of such counties; Provided, That for the building and maintaining of bridges over streams near county lines, in which both are equally interested, the expense of building and maintaining any such bridges shall be borne equally by both counties.

This does not empower one county to build or repair a bridge and collect one-half of the expense from the other. State v. Kearney County, 12, 8 (10 N. W., 413). Brown v. Merrick County, 18, 355 (25 N. W., 356).

1902. For the purpose of building or keeping in repair such bridge or bridges, it shall be lawful for the county boards of such adjoining counties to enter into joint contracts; and such contracts may be enforced, in law or equity, against them jointly, the same as if entered into by individuals, and they may be proceeded against, jointly, by any parties interested in such bridge or bridges, for any neglect of duty in reference to such bridge or bridges, or for any damages growing out of such neglect; Provided*, That if either of such counties shall refuse to enter into contracts to carry out the provisions of this section, for the repair of any such bridge, it shall be lawful for the other of said counties to enter into such contract for all needful repairs, and recover by suit from the county so in default such proportion of the costs of making such repairs as it ought to pay, not exceeding one-half of the full amount so expended; but the provisions of this act shall apply only to those bridges which have been built or may hereafter be built by co-operation of the counties separated by said stream.

All after * added 1881, p. 329.

1903. If the county board of either of such counties, after reasonable notice in writing from the county board of any other such county, shall neglect or refuse to build or repair any such bridge, when any contract or agreement has been made in regard to the same, it shall be lawful for the board so giving notice to build or repair the same, and to recover, by suit, one-half (or such amount as shall have been agreed upon) of the expense of so building or repairing such bridge, with cost of suit and interest from the time of the completion thereof, from the county so neglecting or refusing.

1904. Any judgment so recovered against the county board of either of such counties shall be a charge on such county, unless the jury shall in their verdict certify that the neglect of or refusal of such board was willful or malicious, in which case only the members of such board shall be personally liable for such judgment, and the same may be enforced against them in their personal and individual capacity, and upon their official bonds.

1905. In counties under township organization, all money paid to the township treasurer in discharge of township road tax, and all money paid in discharge of labor tax, shall constitute a township road fund. Which fund shall be divided as follows: All of said fund shall be held by the township treasurer subject to the order of the town board, excepting an amount not to exceed one-fifth of the entire fund aforesaid, shall be paid by the town treasurer to the overseer of the district from which such tax is collected. The amount under the control of the town board as aforesaid shall be expended for the general benefit of the township, for road and bridge purposes, the amount under the control of the overseer shall be applied within his district as follows: First—For the construction and repair of bridges and culverts, and making fireguards along the lines of roads. Second—For the payment of damages for the right of way of any public road. Third—For payment of wages of overseers, and for necessary guideboards. Fourth—For the payment of wages for commissioners of roads, surveyor, chainmen, and other persons engaged in locating or altering any country road, if the road be finally established or altered as hereinbefore provided. Fifth—For work and repairs on roads.

Amended 1893, ch. 28, p. 354. In force April 7.

1906. The town board shall have power, upon receiving a petition signed by at least two-thirds of the qualified electors of any district, to order that any road moneys belong[ing] to the district be expended in any other district in such township, under the direction of the proper overseer thereof, and in such case such overseer shall pay all money in his hands to the overseer of the district in which such money is ordered to be expended, and take his receipt for the same.

1907. It shall be the duty of each overseer of roads to give at least three days' notice to all persons residing in his district liable to pay labor and road tax, either personally or by writing left at their usual place of abode, of the time when between the first day of April and the first day of November in each year, and the place where they may appear and pay their labor tax and three-fourths of their township road tax in labor, and with what implements.

1908. The overseer shall allow all persons who may appear in pursuance of such notice the same allowances as in counties not under township organization, as provided in section 79 of this act [1893], and the certificate thereof shall be received by the treasurer in discharge of the labor tax and three-fourths of the township road tax, of such person; the other one-fourth of such township road tax and the county road tax shall be paid in cash; Provided, That any person not notified by the overseer to labor upon the roads as hereinbefore provided shall be discharged from the payment of said labor tax, and three-fourths of such township road tax.

1909. Each overseer of roads shall make a return to the township treasurer on or before the first day of November in each year, containing the names of each person liable to pay labor or road tax, or both, in his district, whom he has notified to labor upon the roads, as provided in section 93 [1907]. Such return shall be made under oath, and shall be conclusive evidence that notice to labor as aforesaid upon the persons therein named has been made by said overseer. And when the township treasurer returns the duplicate tax list to the county treasurer, as provided by law, he shall accompany the same with the returns made to him by said overseers. If any overseer makes a false return, he shall be guilty of perjury, and be punished accordingly.

1910. Each overseer shall, at the time required by the town board, make a settlement of his accounts, showing the amount of money coming into his hands as such overseer, and how the same has been expended. In such settlement he shall be allowed the same amount for similar services by overseers in counties not under township organization, as provided in section 82 [1896], which sum shall be paid out of any money belonging to his district, after deducting his labor tax, and three-fourths of his township road tax; and if there be not sufficient money belonging to the district with which to pay said overseer, he may be paid in whole or in part out of the town ship road fund, or for any balance due him he may receive from the town board a certificate which may be received in payment of his own township road tax for any succeeding year.

1911. All contracts for the erection and reparation of bridges and approaches thereto, for the building of culverts and improvements on roads, within the limits of any township, the cost or expense of which shall exceed one hundred dollars, shall be let by the town board to the lowest competent bidder; but no contract shall be entered into for a greater sum than the amount of money on hand in the township road fund, derived from the levy of previous years and two-thirds of the levy of the current year, together with the amount of money on hand belonging to the district where such work is to be performed. The contract shall be let and the successful bidder give bond as provided in sections 83, 84, and 85, for the letting of contracts in counties not under township organization; and all the provisions of said sections shall apply, so far as applicable, to the letting of contracts provided for in this section; Provided, That where any work is to be performed or contract let, the cost of which is to be paid by order of the county board entirely out of the county road fund, or by the entire county, the contract therefor shall be let by the county board in the same manner as provided in sections 83, 84, and 85 [1897–9], for the letting of such contracts in counties not under township organization.

1912. Where any contract is let as aforesaid by the town board, the expense of which is to be borne exclusively by the township, it shall be paid from the money belonging to the district in which such work is performed; or, if that be insufficient, the balance shall be paid from the township road fund, and if the work be of general benefit to the entire township, the town board may, in their discretion, cause the same to be entirely paid for from the township road fund, or from the fund of each district pro rata; Provided, That if, under any law of this state, bonds are voted to aid in the building or repairing of any bridge, the expense shall be paid by such bonds or the proceeds thereof.

1913. Where a public road is located on township lines, the county board shall allot the part of such road which such town shall keep in repair, and the part so allotted shall be considered as wholly belonging to such town.

1914. When it shall be necessary to build, construct, or repair any bridge, or road, in any town, which would be an unreasonable burden to the same, the cost of which will be more than can be raised in one year by ordinary road taxes in such town, the town board shall present a petition to the county board of the county in which such town is situated, praying for an appropriation from the county treasury to aid in the building, constructing, or repairing of such bridge or road, and such county board may (a majority of all the members elect voting for the same) make an appropriation of so much for that purpose as in their judgment the nature of the case requires and the funds of the county will justify; said appropriation to be expended under the supervision of an authorized agent or agents of the county, if the county board shall so order. In such case, where the county grants aid, as aforesaid, the contract shall be let by the town board, under the provisions of sections 83, 84, and 85 [1897–9].

1915. Bridges over streams which divide township lines, and bridges over streams on roads on township lines shall, if the expense thereof be not paid by the county board, be built and repaired at the equal expense of such towns; Provided, That for the building and maintaining of bridges over streams near township lines, in which both are equally interested, the expense of building and maintaining such bridges shall be borne equally by the townships so interested.

1916. Contracts for the purposes mentioned in the foregoing section may be entered into and enforced in the same manner as provided in sections 89 and 90 [1903–4], for the enforcement of similar contracts in counties not under township organization.

Sec. 1917. "An act to exempt pensioners, disabled soldiers, and invalids from paying a poll tax or working on the public highways in this state." 1889, p. 579. In force June 30.

1917. That all pensioners of the United States shall be exempt from paying a poll tax or performing labor on any highway in this state.

Secs. 1918 and 1919. "An act to prohibit the obstructing roads and highways." 1885, p. 317. In force June 5.

1918. That from and after the passage of this act it shall be unlawful for any person to build a barbed wire fence across or in any plain traveled road or track in common use, either public or private, in this state, without first putting up sufficient guards to prevent either man or beast from running into said fence.

1919. Any person violating the provisions of the foregoing section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and fined not less than five ($5) nor more than twenty-five ($25) dollars, and shall be liable for all damages that may accrue to the party damaged by reason of said barbed wire fence.

Existence of fence no excuse to bailee of horse for negligence in driving. Floaten v. Ferrell, 24, 352 (38 N. W., 732).

Secs. 1920 to 1923. "An act to compel railroad corporations and others to make and keep in repair crossings." 1887, p. 588. In force March 31.

1920. Any railroad corporation, canal company, mill owner, or any person or persons who now own, or may hereafter own or operate, any railroad, canal, or ditch that crosses any public or private road shall make and keep in good repair good and sufficient crossings on all such roads, including all the grading, bridges, ditches, and culverts that may be necessary, within their right of way.

Act constitutional. Company must maintain suitable crossings in that part of highway within right of way, made necessary by building of railroad. Board of transportation has jurisdiction to hear complaints and make orders in regard to crossings. State, ex rel. Lancaster Co., v. C., B. & Q. R. Co., 29, 412 (45 N. W., 469). A corporation is only liable for damages resulting from a negligent discharge of the duty herein imposed. B. & M. R. R. Co. v. Koonce, 34, 481 (51 N. W., 1033).

1921. That the road supervisor of any road district where any party or corporation mentioned in section 1 [1920] has failed or neglected to comply therewith, shall give thirty days' notice in writing to said corporation, company, or person, or their agent, where such crossing is required; a copy of notice to be sworn to and filed with the county clerk.

1922. If any corporation or party mentioned in section 1 [1920] of this act shall fail or neglect for sixty days from date of filing said notice to make said crossing as required by section 1, then it shall be the duty of the county commissioner or supervisor to bring an action in the name of the county, and compel said corporation, company, or person to make such crossing, and said corporation, company, or person shall pay all costs and damages sustained by the county or any person or persons, together with a reasonable attorney's fee for plaintiff.

This remedy cumulative; does not exclude right to compel by mandamus the construction of crossings. State, ex rel. Lancaster Co., v. C., B. & Q. R. Co., 29, 420 (45 N. W., 469).

1923. All crossings, bridges, and culverts shall be in the center of the road; Provided, That where it is impracticable to make a crossing in the center of the road, said corporation, company, or persons may obtain, by purchase or otherwise, the right of way around any obstruction, which shall be surveyed, platted, and recorded in the county where located, and it shall thereafter be a public highway. All costs shall be paid by such corporation, company, or persons.

Sec. 1924. "An act to prevent the digging of ditches or trenches within less than fifteen feet of the center line of public highways." 1885, p. 318. In force March 5.

1924. It shall be unlawful for any road supervisor, contractor, or other person whose duty it shall be to grade any road, highway, or approach to any bridge or culvert, in any county in this state, to dig any ditch, trench, or other excavation, within less than fifteen feet of the center line of such road, highway, or approach, except in cases where for any cause a bridge or culvert shall have been placed one side of the center line of a road; then and in that case no ditch, trench, or other excavation shall be made within less than fifteen feet of the center line of the approach to such bridge or culvert; Provided, That this act shall not be so construed as to prevent the digging of a ditch or drain across any road, when it bebomes necessary to make a culvert or bridge for the purpose of allowing the water to flow across the line of such road through such culvert or under such bridge.

Secs. 1925 to 1928. "An act to provide for the publication and distribution of the road law to road supervisors." 1875, p. 115. In force February 23.

1925. That the secretary of state is hereby authorized and required to cause to be published in pamphlet form, put up in suitable paper covers, all laws of this state now in force, prescribing the manner of laying out and opening public roads, and the duties of road supervisors under them.

1926. That as soon as said pamphlets shall be prepared and published, the secretary of state shall immediately transmit to the county clerks of each organized county in this state a sufficient number of said pamphlet laws to supply each supervisor in every county with a copy of the same.

1927. It shall be the duty of each supervisor to carefully preserve said copy and at the expiration of his term of office to deliver the same over to his successor in office.

1928. It is hereby made the duty of each county clerk to certify to the secretary of state the number of road districts in his county, and make requisitions for a sufficient number of said pamphlet laws to supply each district.

Secs. 1928*a* and 1928*b*. "An act to provide for the payment of outstanding road district warrants, and to liquidate all indebtedness against road districts." 1893, ch. 29, p. 356. In force August 1.

1928*a*. That in order to provide for the payment of all outstanding road district warrants and to liquidate indebtedness against road districts, the county board of any county where such indebtedness exists be and the same are hereby authorized and empowered to levy a special tax not exceeding five mills upon the dollar of the valuation of said road districts, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay all the outstanding indebtedness of the character hereinbefore mentioned. Said levy to be made by the county board at their regular annual meeting in July while assembled for the purpose of levying other taxes as provided by law. Said tax to be collected by the county treasurer in the same manner as other county taxes are collected, and all warrants to be paid by the county treasurer in the order in which they appear on his warrant register.

1928*b*. In case the five mill levy hereinbefore mentioned shall not be sufficient to pay the entire amount of the indebtedness of the various road districts, the county board in such counties where a deficiency exists shall annually thereafter make other levies for this purpose not exceeding five mills on the dollar in any one year until all the indebtedness against the road districts in such county shall have been paid.

II. BRIDGES.

Secs. 1929 and 1930. "An act to provide for the building, maintaining, and repairing certain bridges in counties under township organization." 1887, p. 587. In force July 1.

1929. That in counties under township organization, the expense of building, maintaining, and repairing bridges on public roads over streams shall be borne exclusively by the counties within which such bridges are located.

Prior to passage of this act, duty of each town, where township organization was in vogue, to maintain bridges. Whitcomb v. Reed, 24, 58 (37 N. W., 684).

1930. The county board of every such county shall build, maintain, and repair every such bridge, and make prompt and adequate provisions for the payment of the expense thereof.

Secs. 1931 to 1934. "An act relating to highways and bridges, and liabilities of counties for not keeping the same in repair." 1889, p. 77. In force June 30.

1931. That whenever any highway or bridge in any county in this state shall be out of repair, or unsafe for travel, any three citizens or taxpayers in the state may notify the county commissioners of the commissioner district within which the said road or bridge is situated, or if the county be under township organization, the supervisor of the town in which it is situated, in writing, setting forth a description of the road or bridge and the defects therein.

1932. It shall then be the duty of the said commissioner of the said county or counties, within twenty-four (24) hours after service of said notice, to commence to make suitable repairs to said highway or bridge, and to place it in a safe condition for travel.

1933. If the said road or bridge shall be on the line between two counties, then the commissioners of the respective districts, within which said road or bridge is located, of the respective counties shall be served with the said notice, or if it be on the line between two townships, in counties under township organization, then the supervisors of both townships in which said road or bridge is situated shall be notified in like manner.

1934. If special damage happens to any person, his team, carriage, or other property by means of insufficiency, or want of repairs of a highway or bridge, which the county or counties are liable to keep in repair, the person sustaining the damage may recover in a case against the county, and if damages accrue in consequence of the insufficiency or want of repair of a road or bridge, erected and maintained by two or more counties, the action can be brought against all of the counties liable for the repairs of the same, and damages and costs shall be paid by the counties in proportion as they are liable for the repairs; Provided, however, That such action is commenced within thirty (30) days of the time of said injury or damage occurring.

A county is liable to a person who, without negligence, sustains injury by reason of public bridge being out of repair. Hollingsworth v. Saunders County, 36, — (51 N. W., 80).

Secs. 1935 to 1945. "An act to authorize townships to purchase toll bridges and to issue their bonds to pay for the same." 1889, p. 573. In force March 30.

1935. Whenever any private bridge owned by any person or corporation shall be situated within or shall be constructed across any river bounding any township, such township may purchase such bridge, and thereupon it shall become a public bridge, and be maintained in the same manner as bridges originally built by such township.

1936. No such bridge shall be purchased, unless sufficient funds are in the treasury, except as hereinafter provided.

1937. If there shall not be sufficient funds in such township treasury to purchase said proposed bridge, the said town may borrow money and issue its bonds therefor, when authorized, in the manner hereinafter provided.

1938. Whenever the owners of any such bridge shall submit to the town board of such township a proposition to sell such bridge, the town board may submit to the voters of such township a proposition to issue the bonds of such township for the purpose of purchasing such bridge in accordance with such offer.

1939. Such proposition shall state the amount of said bonds, the date when they shall mature, and the rate of interest which they bear, which in no case shall exceed eight per cent per annum.

1940. The notice for said election and manner of holding the same shall be governed by the law regulating elections for voting bonds by a county.

1941. If two-thirds of the votes cast at such election shall be in favor of the proposition, the town board shall cause to be prepared and issued the bonds in accordance with the proposition submitted. Said bonds shall be signed by the supervisor, the town clerk, and attested by the clerk of the county under its seal.

1942. Said bonds shall state for what purpose issued, the amount and when payable, interest and when payable, and the number of each bond.

1943. The proposition to issue said bonds, the notice of said election, canvass of vote shall be recorded in the office of the county clerk, and the county clerk shall enter upon the records of the county board the number, amount, and interest, and date at which each bond issued shall become payable, and the county clerk shall cause such bonds to be registered in the office of the secretary of state and state auditor as required by law.

1944. The county board shall each year, until the bonds voted under the authority of this act be paid, levy upon the taxable property in the township a tax sufficient to pay the interest and five per cent of the principal of bonds issued under this act, and at the tax levy preceding the maturity of any of said bonds, levy an amount sufficient to pay the principal and interest due on said bonds.

1945. No bonds shall be issued under this act to an amount exceeding ten per cent of the assessed value of the taxable property at the last assessment within such township.

III. FERRIES.

Secs. 1946 to 1958 formed ch. 20, R. S. 1866, p. 173, entitled "Ferries."

1946. No person shall be permitted to keep a ferry across any stream running through or bounding on any county in this state without having first obtained a license from the board of county commissioners of the proper county for that purpose, as hereinafter provided.

1947. The person applying for such license shall produce satisfactory evidence to the board of county commissioners, by affidavit of the applicant or otherwise, of his having given notice by advertisement, set up in at least three public places in the precinct or neighborhood where the ferry is proposed to be kept, twenty days prior to the sitting of the board of commissioners, of his intention to apply to such board, at their next regular term, for license to keep such ferry.

1948. The board of county commissioners, being satisfied that the notice hereby required has been given, that a ferry is needed at said place, and that the applicant is a suitable person to keep the same, are hereby authorized to grant to the applicant a license to keep the same for a term not less than one year nor more than ten years, on the applicant paying into the county treasury of the proper county a sum to be fixed by the board of county commissioners, not less than two dollars nor more than five hundred dollars annually; and on the applicant producing the county treasurer's receipt for the sum so fixed he or she shall receive from the clerk of the said board of county commissioners a license under the seal of said clerk, for which he or she shall pay the clerk the sum of fifty cents.

1949. The person owning or possessing land on both sides of any stream where a ferry is proposed to be established shall have exclusive right to a license for a ferry at such place, and when the opposite banks are owned by different persons the right to a ferry shall be mutual; but if the owner does not apply to the board of commissioners, the board shall grant a license to any person applying for the same, except where either of the landings are not on a public highway, in which case the consent of the owner of the ground shall first be had in writing; Provided, That nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to prevent any person from ferrying persons across a small stream in high water; and the board of county commissioners are hereby authorized to direct the county clerk to give any person a permit for that purpose, when in their opinion the stream is too small to justify the expense of a license; Provided, also, When any person shall apply for a renewal of his license, at the same place where he kept a ferry the preceding year, the same may be granted or renewed without notice or petition.

1950. When a license shall expire in vacation, and the person who obtained the same shall procure a renewal, the latter license shall include the time from the expiration of the former, as well as the time to which it shall extend in future, and the applicant shall pay a ratable proportion for the whole time therein mentioned, and shall thereupon be exonerated from any penalty to which he would be otherwise liable; Provided, however, That in all applications for license the board of commissioners may grant or refuse the same at their discretion.

1951. Every person obtaining a license to keep a ferry shall provide and keep in good repair a good and sufficient boat for the safe conveyance of persons and property, and when the river or creek over which the ferry is kept is passable, shall, with a sufficient number of hands to work and manage the boat, give due attendance from daylight in the morning until dark in the evening; and shall, moreover, at any hour in the night or day that the creek or river can be passed, when called upon for that purpose, convey the United States mail or other public express across said ferry; and if any person having obtained a license as aforesaid shall fail or neglect to perform the duties herein enjoined, or any of them, the person so offending shall forfeit and pay for every such offense a sum not exceeding five dollars, to be recovered before any justice of the peace of the proper county, at the suit of any person prosecuting for and making due proof of such failure or neglect; and if any keeper of a ferry as aforesaid shall demand or receive a higher rate or sum for ferriages than shall be allowed by the board of county commissioners of the county wherein such ferry is kept, the person so offending shall forfeit and pay for every such offense a fine not exceeding ten dollars, recoverable before any justice of the peace of the proper county by any person making due proof thereof, to be disposed of as hereinafter provided.

1952. Should the county commissioners refuse to renew the license of a ferryman, he shall be exonerated from the penalties of this chapter by paying into the county treasury, previous to any prosecution having been commenced against him, such sum for the time which may have elapsed between the expiration of his license and the next session of the board of county commissioners as shall bear a ratable proportion to the amount charged for the previous year.

1953. The board of county commissioners, at the same time they grant a license to keep a ferry, shall also fix the rate of ferriages which the ferry keeper may demand and receive for the transportation of persons and property; and it shall be the duty of the clerk of the board of said county commissioners to furnish every person taking out a license to keep a ferry, with a list of the rate of ferriages, which list the ferry keeper shall post at the door of his ferry house, or in some conspicuous place convenient to said ferry.

1954. Every county clerk shall, on the first day of the term of the district court, deliver to the grand jury an accurate list of all persons holding license within his county; and it shall be the duty of the judge to give this chapter in charge to the grand jury, whose duty it shall be to make inquiry and give information of any violation thereof, except in cases where jurisdiction is given to justices of the peace.

1955. [Unauthorized ferries.]—If any person shall keep a ferry without being duly authorized, the person so offending shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding fifty dollars, to be recovered by indictment.

1956. If any justice of the peace or other officer shall neglect or fail to comply with the requisitions of this chapter, the person so offending shall forfeit and pay for every such offense a sum not exceeding fifty dollars, at the discretion of any court of competent jurisdiction before whom the same may be recovered, for the use of the county.

1957. All actions or suits brought under the provisions of this chapter shall be in the name of the state of Nebraska, and the court taking cognizance thereof shall keep a record of all fines and forfeitures recovered under the same; and sheriffs, constables, and other officers shall pay all moneys, within thirty days after receiving the same, into the county treasury. Justices of the peace and clerks of courts before whom any fine is recovered shall present an accurate account thereof to the county clerk, on or before the first Monday of July annually; and it shall be the duty of the county clerk to inform against and prosecute all offenders against this statute, especially such offenses as are cognizable before justices of the peace.

1958. Nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to conflict or interfere with any vested right heretofore acquired or secured under any law of this state.

Secs. 1959 and 1960. "An act to limit the amount of ferriage to be charged for ferrying footmen." 1871, p. 123. In force April 1.

1959. [Limit of toll.]—It shall be unlawful for any person or persons, ferry or transfer company, engaged in ferrying or transferring persons across any river in this state, or any river forming the boundary line thereof, to charge, demand of, or receive from any footman, or foot passengers, more than ten cents for any such ferriage or transfer across any of said rivers.

1960. If any person or persons, or company engaged in the business aforesaid, shall demand, charge, or receive a greater sum than ten cents for such transfer, such person or persons, or company shall incur a penalty of ten dollars for such offense, which penalty may be collected by civil action before a justice of the peace whenever service of process can be made; one-half of the said penalty shall be for the use of the plaintiff in any such action, and the other half shall be paid to the county treasurer, and constitute a part of the school fund of such county.

CHAPTER 19.—HOMESTEADS.

Secs. 1961 to 1976. "An act to provide for the selection and disposition of homesteads and to exempt the same from judgment liens, and from attachment levy or sale upon execution or other process." 1879, p. 57. In force September 1. (Sec. 18 repealed 1887, p. 33.)

1961. A homestead not exceeding in value $2,000, consisting of the dwelling house in which the claimant resides, and its appurtenances, and the land on which the same is situated, not exceeding 160 acres of land, to be selected by the owner thereof, and not in any incorporated city or village, or instead thereof, at the option of the claimant, a quantity of contiguous land not exceeding two lots within any incorporated city or village, shall be exempt from judgment liens, and from execution or forced sale, except as in this chapter provided.

Applicable to chapter. Homestead law in force when a contract is entered into is the law applicable to such contract. Legislature cannot diminish these rights. McHugh v. Smiley, 17, 620 (20 N.W., 296); 24 N.W., 277). DeWitt v. Sewing Machine Co., 17, 533 (23 N. W., 506). Galligher v. Smiley, 28, 189 (44 N. W., 187). United States homestead is not liable for any debt contracted prior to the issuing of the patent therefor. Smith v. Schmitz, 10, 602 (7 N. W., 329). Smith & Crittenden v. Steele, 13, 4 (12 N. W., 830). Baldwin v. Boyd, 18, 444 (25 N. W., 580). Claimant need not have the legal title. State v. Townsend, 17, 532 (23 N. W., 509). Exempt property is not susceptible of fradulent alienation. Derby v. Weyrich, 8, 176. Boggs v. Thompson, 13, 405 (14 N. W., 393). A tenant in common is not entitled to a right of homestead upon the common property against a judgment of partition thereof. Lynch v. Lynch, 18, 586 (26 N. W., 390). Leasing barn does not deprive property of its character as a homestead. Guy v. Downs, 12, 532 (12 N. W., 8). Homestead cannot be mortgaged without signature of wife. McCreery v. Schaffer, 26, 177 (41 N. W., 996). Wife is the second head of the family, and homestead cannot be divested without her consent. Betts v. Sims, 25, 175 (41 N. W., 117). Title at death of husband vests in widow, and her removal from premises does not affect their exempt character. Durland v. Seiler, 27, 36 (42 N. W., 741). Widow vested with life estate in homestead, though temporarily absent during husband's life. Lamb v. Wogan, 27, 239 (42 N. W., 1041). Cited, and party held to be head of a family and entitled to his homestead exemptions, Dorrington v. Myers, 11, 390 (9 N. W., 555). Where a husband waives homestead right, and procures a purchaser at judicial sale for a judgment not otherwise a lien on the homestead, rendered on a debt incurred while law of 1867 was in force, such purchaser acquires good title. Jackson v. Creighton, 29, 310 (45 N. W., 638). Judgment lien attaches to homestead, but cannot be made effective while premises occupied as homestead. State Bank v. Carson, 4, 498. Eaton v. Ryan, 5, 49. The purchaser of land held and occupied at the time of the conveyance as the homestead of the grantor, of less value than $2,000 takes the same free from the lien of a judgment docketed prior to such purchase; and such homestead may be claimed in lands held in joint tenancy. Giles v. Miller, 36, — (54 N. W., 551). That the claimant is for some temporary reason not residing on homestead at date of judgment does not make judgment a lien thereon. Hanlon v. Pollard, 17, 368 (22 N. W., 767). Must be owned and occupied as a homestead at the time judgment recovered, else judgment becomes a lien on the property, in satisfaction of which the homestead may be sold. Bowker v. Collins, 4, 497.

1962. If the claimant be married, the homestead may be selected from the separate property of the husband, or with the consent of the wife from her separate property. When the claimant is not married, but is the head of a family, within the meaning of section fifteen [1975], the homestead may be selected from any of his or her property.

1963. The homestead is subject to execution or forced sale in satisfaction of judgments obtained: First—On debts secured by mechanics', laborers', or vendors' liens upon the premises. Second—On debts secured by mortgages upon the premises, executed and acknowledged by both husband and wife, or an unmarried claimant.

May waive right by executing mortgage. Rector v. Rotton & Rotton, 3, 176. Third party who has purchased homestead and assumed a mortgage upon it cannot plead its invalidity as a defense. Skinner v. Reynick, 10, 324 (6 N. W., 369). Securities will not be marshalled so as to impose a greater burden on the homestead. Mitchelson v. Smith, 28, 586 (44 N. W., 871). A homestead is subject to sale on a mechanic's lien duly obtained. Phelps v. Shay, 32, 19 (48 N. W., 896).

1964. The homestead of a married person cannot be conveyed or incumbered unless the instrument by which it is conveyed or incumbered is executed and acknowledged by both husband and wife.

What is proper execution. Cobbey v. Knapp, 23, 590 (37 N. W., 485). Both husband and wife must sign. Swift v. Dewey, 20, 109 (29 N. W., 254). A mortgage of a homestead is of no validity unless signed by both husband and wife; it makes no difference that the wife is insane or absent. Whitlock v. Gosson, 35, 833 (53 N. W., 980). The wife cannot be deprived of her homestead by the husband's mortgage. Her signature without consideration or under a mistake is not good. Phillips v. Bishop, 31, 863 (48 N. W., 1106). Swift v. Dewey, 20, 109 (29 N. W., 254). But see 35, 487 (53 N. W., 375), where this case (Phillips v. Bishop) is reversed. It is settled that the court will not specifically enforce a contract for the sale of the homestead of a married person, unless signed by both husband and wife. Clark v. Koenig, 36, — (54 N. W., 842). In deed from husband to wife, wife need not join. Furrow v. Athey, 21, 672 (33 N. W., 208). This section is constitutional and valid. Bonorden v. Kriz, 13, 122 (12 N. W., 831). See Aultman & Taylor Co. v. Jenkins, 19, 211 (27 N. W., 117). The signature of the husband while mentally incapacitated will not convey the homestead, though the wife join in the conveyance. Dewey v. Algire, — Neb., — (55 N. W., 279).

1965. When an execution for the enforcement of a judgment obtained in a case not within the classes enumerated in section 3 [1963] is levied upon the lands or tenements of a head of a family, such head of a family may notify the officer at the time of making the levy of what he regards as his homestead, with a description thereof, within the limits above prescribed, and the remainder alone shall be subject to such levy, except as otherwise provided in this chapter. The judgment creditor may thereupon apply to the district court in the county in which the homestead is situated, for the appointment of persons to appraise the value thereof.

1966. The application must be made upon a verified petition showing: 1. The fact that an execution has been levied upon property which has been claimed as a homestead. 2. The name of the claimant. 3. That the value of the homestead exceeds the amount of the homestead exemption.

1967. The petition must be filed with the clerk of the district court, and a copy thereof, with notice of the time and place of hearing, be served upon the claimant at least ten days before the hearing.

1968. At the hearing, the court, upon proof of the service of such petition and notice, and of the facts stated in the petition, shall appoint three disinterested residents of the county to appraise the value of the homestead, who must take an oath to impartially appraise the same. They must view the premises, and appraise the value thereof, and if the appraised value exceeds the homestead exemption, they must determine whether the land claimed can be divided without material injury.

1969. Within ten days, or less, if the court so order, from the time of their appointment, they must make to the court a report in writing, showing the appraised value, and their determination upon the matter of a division of the land claimed.

1970. If from the report it appears that the land claimed can be divided without material injury, the court shall, by an order, direct the appraisers to set off to the claimant so much of the land, including the residence, not exceeding the quantity prescribed in section one of this chapter [1961] as will amount in value to the homestead exemption, and the execution may be enforced against the remainder of the land.

1971. If from the report it appears to the court that the land claimed exceeds in value the amount of the homestead exemption, and that it cannot be divided, he must make an order directing its sale under the execution; but at such sale no bid must be received unless it exceeds the amount of the homestead exemption.

1972. If the sale is made, the proceeds thereof, to the amount of the homestead exemption, must be paid to the claimant, and the balance applied to the satisfaction of the execution.

1973. The money paid to the claimant is entitled, for the period of six months thereafter, to the same protection against legal process and the voluntary disposition of the claimant which the law gives to the homestead.

1974. The appraisers shall receive the same fees as jurors in civil cases in the district court, which, with all other costs of these proceedings, must be paid by the execution creditor, in the first instance, but in the cases provided for in sections ten and eleven [1970–1] the amount paid must be added as costs on execution, and collected accordingly.

1975. The phrase "head of a family," as used in this chapter, includes within its meaning: First—The husband, when the claimant is a married person. Second—Every person who has residing on the premises with him or her, and under his care and maintenance, either: 1. His or her minor child, or the minor child of his or her deceased wife or husband. 2. A minor brother or sister, or the minor child of a deceased brother or sister. 3. A father, mother, grandfather or grandmother. 4. The father or mother, grandfather or grandmother of a deceased husband or wife. 5. An unmarried sister, or any other of the relatives mentioned in this section who have attained the age of majority and are unable to take care of or support themselves.

1976. If the homestead be conveyed by the claimant, or sold for the satisfaction of any lien mentioned in section three [1963], the proceeds of such sale, beyond the amount necessary to the satisfaction of such lien, and not exceeding the amount of homestead exemption, shall be entitled, for the period of six months thereafter, to the same protection against legal process and the voluntary disposition of the claimant which the law gives to the homestead. And a sale and disposition of one homestead shall not be held to prevent the selection or purchase of another as provided in this chapter.

1976*a*. If the homestead was selected from the separate property of either husband or wife, it vests, on the death of the person from whose property it was selected, in the survivor for life, and afterwards in his or her heirs forever, subject to the power of the decedent to dispose of the same, except the life estate of the survivor, by will. In either case it is not subject to the payment of any debt or liability contracted by or existing against the husband and wife or either of them, previous to or at the time of the death of such husband or wife, except such as exists or has been created under the provisions of this chapter.

This section was attempted to be repealed 1889, p. 473, but repealing act held void. Trumble v. Trumble, — Neb., — (— N. W., —).

CHAPTER 20.—ILLEGITIMATE CHILDREN.

SECS. 1977 to 1984. "An act for the maintenance and support of illegitimate children." 1875, p. 53. In force February 25. (Repealing act of 1869, p. 80, as corrected 1870, p. 4.)

1977. That on complaint made to any justice of the peace in this state by any unmarried woman resident therein, who shall hereafter be delivered of a bastard child, or being pregnant with a child which, if born alive, may be a bastard, accusing on oath or affirmation any person of being the father of said child, the justice shall take such accusation in writing, and thereupon issue his warrant, directed to the sheriff, coroner, or constable of any county of this state, commanding him forthwith to bring such accused person before said justice, to answer to said complaint; and on return of such warrant the justice, in the presence of the accused person, shall examine the complainant under oath respecting the cause of her complaint, and such accused person shall be allowed to ask the complainant, when under oath, any question he may think necessary for his justification; all of which questions and answers, together with every other part of the examination, shall be reduced to writing by the justice of the peace, and if, on such examination, the party accused shall pay or secure to be paid to the complainant such sum or sums of money or property as she may agree to receive in full satisfaction, and shall further give bonds to the county commissioners of the county in which said complainant shall reside and their successors in office, conditioned to save such county free from all charges toward the maintenance of said child, then and in that case the justice shall discharge the party accused out of custody, or [on] his paying the costs of prosecution; Provided, That the agreement aforesaid shall be made or acknowledged by both parties in the presence of the justice, who shall thereupon enter a memorandum of the same upon his docket.
